All students, whether newly admitted, returning or continuing, must formally enrol in their courses.

Once you have selected and enrolled in courses, the next major step is to register. Registration is the process by which you become listed on the official student records of the University.

In order to register, you must: (i) pay all outstanding financial liabilities owing to the University; (ii) enrol in a program of study for which you are eligible and in courses to which you are entitled; (iii) pay your current academic fees.

Please note: For complete information on enrolment, consult the most recent Undergraduate Lecture Schedule published by the Registrar's Office.

Student Card

Two separate pieces of identification comprise the University's official identification: the University Sessional Identification Card, which is issued to every registered student each academic session and a valid piece of photo-bearing identification, e.g. photo-bearing piece of identification normally accepted by or issued by the government of Canada or Ontario (e.g. Canadian driver's licence). For further information, see the Undergraduate Lecture Schedule.

The College System

A distinguishing feature of York University is the college system that uniquely bridges the large multi-Faculty University to smaller units for a closer relationship between faculty members and students. York colleges are small interdisciplinary communities, with distinctive characters and mandates, that offer a welcoming, innovative and convivial environment supportive of students' successful adjustment to the university and the successful completion of their degree requirements. Each undergraduate student entering York University for the first time becomes affiliated with a college. The seven colleges serving students – Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, Norman Bethune, Stong, Vanier and Winters – provide a wide range of academic and extracurricular activities to complement the instructional programs of the various Faculties and to enrich the experience of the York student. College facilities may include common rooms, dining halls, coffee shops, study areas, computer rooms, seminar and small lecture rooms, in addition to a variety of recreational facilities. Colleges accommodate about 260 out-of-town students, about 10 per cent of the total college enrolment, in well-equipped residences adjacent to college buildings. For further information, please consult the Academic Services and Support section in this Calendar.

The college is self-governed in its day-to-day activities by both faculty members and students. Each college is administered by a master, academic adviser and residence life coordinator, and by dons in the residence. Each college also has a College Council, elected by students, which plans and finances a full range of social, cultural and athletic programs. Advising, especially for first-year students in each college, is coordinated by the college's academic adviser with the support of specially trained upper-level students. Fellows, who are valued members of the college and York community offer additional specialized academic support in accordance with the academic mandate of each college.

Glendon College, which is a constituent Faculty, offers daytime bilingual (French and English) undergraduate programs on a separate campus. Please consult the Glendon section of this Calendar for further information.

College Academic Programs

The college academic programs are associated with courses for academic credit as well as with a variety of co-curricular events and activities that support the distinctive academic mandates of each college. The format and content of credit courses vary according to the Faculty with which a particular college is affiliated. The five Faculty of Arts colleges – Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, Stong and Vanier – support the Faculty of Arts foundations courses for first year students and the Fundamentals of Learning program for continuing students. In both instances these academic courses stress critical skills development and an introduction to interdisciplinary study through the content of the courses being offered. Norman Bethune College offers Faculty of Arts foundations courses as well as a special series of first year courses (first year university seminar: FYUS) linked to the Faculties of Pure and Applied Science and Environmental Studies. Winters College academic offerings are linked to the Faculty of Fine Arts Cultural Studies Program.

Calumet College

Calumet College was founded in 1970, sixth of the seven undergraduate colleges. We were initially housed in the Steacie Library and later at Atkinson. Had there not been the first round of government cutbacks to higher education in the mid-70s, our college and residence buildings would likely have been much like those of Bethune and Stong. The unique character of Calumet College life and governance developed during the many years in Atkinson when Calumet served only commuter students. Master Eric Winter opened the college's first computer lab and introduced computer-related college courses. In 1991, through the leadership of Master Peggy Keall, Calumet College and Calumet Residence buildings were opened. Calumet is affiliated with the Faculty of Arts and the Schulich School of Business.

As do all colleges, Calumet aims to provide services, facilities and opportunities for students in all aspects of university life: academic, social, cultural and recreational. All members of the Calumet community, students, Fellows, alumni, alumnae and administration are encouraged to participate.

Behind all of Calumet's activities there is a fundamental point of view, a theme, which celebrates the individual. We cherish the differences among us; we seek to demonstrate the role of lively discussion and eventual consensus through mutual tolerance and understanding. Calumet College Council (CCC) and Calumet Residence Council (CRC) provide opportunities to get more involved in college life. CCC publishes the college paper, The Pipe, its name suggestive of its role in the flow of information; CRC organizes workshops, symposiums, seminar series, social events and recreational sports. Beyond the college compound are many campus-wide organizations that offer opportunities to pursue extracurricular interests. There are many student clubs linking students in an academic department or program, or to others from the same ethnic or religious background. Many students have positions as student senators, as elected representatives to the York Federation of Students, as members of various Student Centre committees, and in other University roles. We encourage students with all interests and origins to join Calumet.

Our association with the Faculty of Arts is focused around our mandate or theme: Technology and the Arts. The foundations courses associated with the college emphasize computer applications and the social impact of technology. We have ties with programs in Mass Communications, Urban Studies, Environmental Studies, Creative Writing, Entrepreneurial Initiatives and Small Business Administration. Students with particular interests or academic majors in the following areas are encouraged to join Calumet: computer science, economics, geography, communication studies, mathematics, urban studies, information technology and business and society. Several co-curricular events and activities enrich the curriculum of the foundations courses affiliated with Calumet. Students in those courses, and potentially all students, can benefit from help provided by the College Advising Team in the areas of essays and assignments, stress management, time management, course selection and academic policies.

Calumet supports several microcomputer facilities. Bootstrap is a 24-hour drop-in computer lab housing Apple Macintosh computers and a course-support classroom with PCs. It is the home of the Foundations Computer Assistance Program (FCAP) which offers services and resources for students in foundations courses: drop-in access to full computer printing and scanning facilities, one-on-one coaching on assignments Monday to Thursday, e-mail help for questions related to foundations courses and group workshops geared either for specific tutorials or for individuals to attend on a drop-in basis. The FCAP Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/fcap/> includes online resources for computer literacy and research skills. Associated with the Urban Studies and Mass Communications programs are two smaller labs with interactive media hardware using some of the latest advances in technology. Both the college and residence buildings are networked and connected to the fibre-optic backbone of the campus-wide computer facilities. Software support includes word processing, spreadsheets, e-mail, database management, desktop publishing, graphics and bulletin boards.

Recreational activities of the college are extensive. Calumet teams play in a wide range of intramural sports: hockey, broomball, water polo, softball and soccer to name a few. In some sports there are men's and women's teams, while others are coed. Usually there are separate teams for highly competitive and for recreational athletes. All students with a desire to play are encouraged to participate.

The Spot is a pub and coffee shop located adjacent to the common room. The students own it but have it managed by a group under contract. It is a focal point for college members and assists in the provision of some of the college's social programming: dances, movie nights, darts and pool tournaments etc. In addition, the food is excellent, nutritious and often the lowest priced on campus.

The Calumet Residence consists of 43 six-person coeducational suites. Suites normally have four single bedrooms and one double. Each suite also includes a lounge area, a kitchenette and two bathrooms. The suites are grouped into seven houses, each with a don: the entire residence is overseen by the residence life coordinator. Suite members are responsible for cleaning their own room; the cleaning of the common spaces, such as kitchens, lounges, entrances and stairwells, is shared by all suite members. Network drops in each room allow "res" students with their own computers to join the Calumet computer network and enjoy high quality access to e-mail, University library catalogues and the Internet.

Throughout the year, students spend time organizing a variety of social activities including dances, pub nights, gala dinners, dart tournaments and other events. Much of the activity is formed around the interests of involved students.

The student government, Calumet College Council (CCC), is entrusted with the monies collected from the student body and the disbursement of those funds on activities and services for the benefit of all students. Elections for positions on CCC occur in March, and shortly after that planning is initiated for the activities for the next school year. The student government holds regular open meetings (Calumet Open Forum, COF) at which all members of the community are welcome and encouraged to participate.

Founders College

Founders College was the first college established on the Keele campus and it is proud of the part that its Fellows and students have played in the development of York University. The theme of Founders College is "Self, Culture and Society", which reflects the special interests of the college in the disciplines of anthropology, French studies, Italian studies, history and psychology, as well as its strong commitment to internationalism and contemporary issues. Founders College supports and houses African Studies, East Asian Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, South Asian Studies and International Development Studies. Founders has a special affiliation with the undergraduate program of the School of Women's Studies and provides extensive women's studies facilities.

The college's academic offerings consist of a roster of first- and second-year "foundations" courses affiliated with the Divisions of Humanities and Social Science, mostly taught by Founders Fellows and associates. These courses relate to the academic themes of the college, and are designed to equip students with critical skills, as part of York's general education program. Fellows of the college are active in many ways, especially in fostering their academic interests in an interdisciplinary environment, mounting cocurricular events such as seminars and conferences, and participating in the strong advising program for student members of the college, under the direction of an academic adviser.

A rich network of peer advising including student academic resource advisers, is operated by the academic adviser for the benefit of all Founders students. The Fellows of Founders are chiefly professors from a number of different departments who have come together to support the college's goals, but they also include administrators and external people such as journalists, writers and artists. Over 40 of the academic Fellows have their offices in the college, and are available for interaction with Founders students. The Fellows, with the students, are the lifeblood of the community.

The following program-related groups are associated with the college: History Students Association, the African Students Association, the East Asian Studies Students Association at York, the Caribbean Students Association and the Anthropology Students Association. Founders College also houses the East Asian Studies Jerome Ch'en Reading Room, which has recently expanded to include a large collection of Chinese-language texts; the Nellie Langford Rowell Women's Studies Library (also recently enlarged, with a bigger focus on its international collection); the Development Studies Resource Centre; the Institute on Achievement and Motivation which guides and counsels students; the Elia Chair in Italian-Canadian Studies, and the Harriet Tubman Resource Centre on the African Diaspora. The college organizes and supports a variety of activities related to the arts, including art exhibitions in the Arthur Haberman Art Gallery. The gallery and the Reading and Listening Room are amongst the excellent array of academic and social facilities managed by the Founders College Student Council and available for commuter as well as residence students. The college also has an attractive new assembly hall; a small cinema, the Brian Cragg Cinema; a large junior common room; and a historic pub, the Cock and Bull, which provides excellent hot lunches and year-round barbecues, as well as being the recreational hub of the college. An annual festival of the art, Poiesis, involves students and Fellows in a competition including painting, sculpture, photography, poetry and music. Lectures and colloquia are regularly offered in a wide variety of academic and cultural areas associated with the college. Finally, Founders is home to Canada's most prestigious popular/academic feminist journal, Canadian Woman Studies/les cahiers de la femme.

The college is governed by the master, the academic adviser and the residence life coordinator, assisted by an office staff headed by the administrative assistant and by a variety of committees involving Fellows and students. A student council, Founders College Student Council (FCSC), administers an important budget derived from an annual operating grant, organizes a variety of programs and manages services and enterprises in the college, including an excellent gymnasium and sauna, a games room and the junior common room, in addition to the gallery and reading room.

A four-story residence (without elevators) for 250 undergraduate students is composed of seven houses, each named for a painter of the Group of Seven. Five of these houses are coed. We try to maintain a fine balance between a lively environment and one conducive to serious study. The residence is governed by a residence life coordinator, dons and students forming a residence council.

The college encourages in its students both active participation in college life, and academic excellence, through a system of honour awards, book prizes, a prestigious internship program that places 12 students with programs and units in the college, each supported by a University Service Bursary. Founders College tries to remain faithful to what is best in the collegial tradition – hard study, stimulating interaction between Fellows and students, and a lively community spirit.

McLaughlin College

Founded in 1968, McLaughlin College was named in honour of the late Colonel R. S. McLaughlin, business pioneer and philanthropist. Public policy is the academic mandate of the college. The college is dedicated to fostering knowledge and critical attitudes about public policy. Special attention is given to inviting policy analyses and review aimed at improving our society – the local community, the province, Canada, and the global commons. A full range of cocurricular and extracurricular activities fills the college public policy program: panel discussions, lectures and noon-hour seminars on issues of the day. Public policy concerns that are either national or international in scope are included in the series of symposia.

The college is part of the Faculty of Arts' foundations course program. The Divisions of Humanities and Social Science offer first- and second-year courses, which are affiliated with McLaughlin College. Most of the instructors who teach McLaughlin College foundations courses are Fellows of the college. Two-hour tutorials of not more than 25 students are an integral part of each foundations course. These courses cover a wide variety of public policy concerns and stress the learning of critical skills. Each year McLaughlin jointly plans and sponsors with Vanier College a conference entitled "Encounter Canada", on an important issue of the day. The college also features an annual public policy address by a person of distinction in the field of public policy. Other forums on matters important to student life – gender concerns, academic integrity, aboriginal issues – enhance the varied cocurricular program. We try to carry on the ideal of the college's first Master, George Tatham by providing an environment for the development of the all-round, "whole person". The college sponsors a University-wide poetry contest at our annual Burns Night, welcomes jazz sessions in the college pub and encourages students to become active in intramural and intercollegiate athletics. We also organize special art shows and cinema festivals in our combination gallery and screening room.

Social and cultural activities include trips to special musical and theatre events in Toronto organized by the McLaughlin College Student Council. Its athletic program is oriented to winning the York Torch. Social activities include talent nights, special Halloween and Valentine's Day dances, Christmas and year-end dinner formals and an annual ski trip. A well-equipped weight room, Dyna-Macs, is available to students on a membership basis. Locker rooms with showers are adjacent.

Through our affiliation with the Faculty of Arts, student associations representing majors in health and society, law and society, labour studies, political science, public policy and administration, international relations and sociology are invited to make McLaughlin College their base of activities. These groups work with the master and with McLaughlin College Council to develop cocurricular programs for students majoring in those fields and for the wider community.

McLaughlin College has a computer lab, which is located in Room 107 and a study hall located in Room 016 near the junior common room. The college provides offices for Fellows from a wide variety of York's divisions and departments. Fellows are available to students for advice about courses and careers.

McLaughlin College serves both non-residence and residence students. McLaughlin's 13 storey Tatham Hall offers single and double-room accommodation in six houses for men and women. Each house has a common recreation room. The residence life coordinator and dons work closely with house presidents and an active residence council. A full calendar of residence events provides a rounded social and cultural life on campus. The master of McLaughlin, the academic adviser and their administrative staff have an open door policy. They warmly welcome students who drop by for information, advice or a social visit.

Norman Bethune College

Norman Bethune College is named in honour of the famous Canadian physician and social activist who became a Chinese folk hero. Bethune College whose theme is "Science and Society", is affiliated with the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science, the Faculty of Environmental Studies and the Science and Society Program within the Faculty of Arts. We welcome students from these disciplines as well as any York student who is interested in science and society, in our clubs and facilities, our intramural sports teams, our college council and our academic courses.

On the social side, the college houses a number of student clubs, including the Association of Chinese Students and Scholars at York University (ACSSY), Astronomy Club at York University, Kinesiology and Health Science Student Organization (KAHSSO), Students for the Exploration and Development of Space (SEDS), York University Anime and Manga Association (YAMA), York Chemical Society at York University (YCS), York Pre-Med Society (YPMS), Physics Society, Research Society, Engineers Without Borders, Photography Club, Chinese Students Association, Muslim Mosque Student Federation and York University Outing Club (YUOC). The Bethune Athletic Council enters teams in both competitive and recreational sports for the York Torch award. Bethune's College Council is a communal blend of elected and appointed students and representatives from the college's alumni, Fellows and the Master's Office. This council receives a portion of your student activity fees and uses it to fund social events, the college newspaper – The Lexicon, concerts, orientation events, a computer lab, a piano room, a weight-training room and a variety of worthwhile campus activities. We welcome and encourage student participation.

Bethune College also provides friendly and accessible student academic support and cocurricular opportunities – e.g. programs that can help you identify potential careers and professional paths. We host a comprehensive academic orientation for new students as well as a series of one-day summer orientations. All Bethune students are served by the Student Ombuds Service (SOS), a walk-in office and resource centre, staffed by knowledgeable upper-year students who can assist you in all manner of academic and personal issues. The Bethune Writing Centre provides one-on-one tutorial support, by appointment, to help you develop university-level critical writing skills. The Bethune Computer Lab is staffed by helpful monitors who can provide assistance on how to use e-mail and the Internet. Bethune College's Fellows (faculty, staff and community members) are a diverse group who provide a wide range of skills and interests, knowledge and wisdom.

Bethune College offers academic (for credit) elective courses, including the First-Year University Seminars in Science course and an upper-year science writing course. Sections of the Fundamentals of Learning course are also offered by Bethune, in each of the Faculties of Arts and Pure and Applied Science. In the Arts foundations program, Bethune offers first-year courses, including a course in Science and the Humanities. In addition to courses, Bethune offers a rich mix of seminars, speakers, discussion groups and special programs of interest to students and faculty alike.

Our residence has a mix of single rooms, double rooms and apartment-style suites. Save for one female-only floor all floors are coed. An in-house cafeteria offers a full menu of healthy and varied fare.

Stong College

Established in 1969 Stong College is named for the pioneering Stong family, who came to this area from Pennsylvania in 1800 and farmed the lands upon which York University is built. Stong takes pride in its roots in a pioneer heritage, which finds its modern counterpart in the immigrants of today.

Four major themes characterize Stong College, although, like all of the other colleges of York University, we welcome diversity of thought, experience and academic specialization. The first theme includes English language and literature, both past and present, and critical thinking and writing, all of which are seen to be related under the general heading of the arts of discourse. The second principal interest of the college is in other languages, literatures and cultures. The scholarly pursuit of these subjects has given our college a multicultural flavour. Our pride in the rich multiculturalism of Stong College, York University, Metropolitan Toronto and Canada goes well with a third major theme of the college: our strong social commitment. Through programs with a neighbouring school and other projects, we are pleased to acknowledge our inseparable relationship with the society around us and our debt to it. Finally, Stong College has shown a marked interest in physical education and sport. The college houses three of the School of Kinesiology and Health Science's specialized certificate programs: Coaching, Sport Administration and Athletic Therapy. Moreover, our students have participated enthusiastically and successfully in Recreation York's inter-college sports programs.

As a college concerned and involved in all aspects of student life, Stong has a wide variety of facilities and programs that reflect the diversity of life at Stong. The Samuel J. Zacks Art Gallery, whose mandate is to feature student art, has a number of showings throughout the year that feature the work of traditional and native, international and professional artists. The student newspaper, The Flying Walrus, and The Orange Snail pub and coffee shop, provide many opportunities for discussion, debate and celebration of life at Stong and York.

Stong has a rich tradition of supporting the financial needs of its students through a wide and varied bursary and scholarship program. Funded in large part by an active and involved alumni, these awards reflect the caring side of our college and provide evidence that our students' commitment and involvement with Stong continues beyond graduation.

Other important student resources include a darkroom, a music room and the Allen C. Koretsky Computer Lab. The Academic Resource Centre in the college lobby serves as a centre for our peer advising program, and also as a nerve centre for student support resources on campus. Additionally, the academic adviser, the residence life coordinator, the staff of the Master's Office and a long list of Fellows from a variety of disciplines are available and enthusiastic resource people intent on helping you gain the most from your university career.

Stong College is a happy and vibrant college that values and honours diversity, academic endeavours and achievement. We encourage initiative and provide numerous opportunities for fulfillment and invite you to embrace the Stong "way" through a lifestyle of active participation in the rich mosaic of cultural, social and athletic life here in Stong.

Vanier College

Vanier College is proudly named after Governor General Georges Vanier, one of the most distinguished and socially conscientious Canadians of the 20th century who himself embodied the humanistic values of this institution. The college is comprised of students, residents, Fellows and staff who all contribute to the college's academic and social life.

Vanier is affiliated with the Division of Humanities (whose administrative offices are housed in the college), the Faculty of Education, the departments of Philosophy and Psychology, and the programs in Creative Writing, Classical Studies and Religious Studies.

The Fellows of Vanier College are a highly varied group, including humanists, social scientists, many distinguished researchers, award winning teachers, administrators, social activists, artists and writers – all of whom have great knowledge and skills to share with the Vanier community. Vanier provides opportunities for many different kinds of interactions including: co-curricular lectures linked to Vanier foundations courses; a full year of musical and dramatic presentations by Vanier College Productions; a regular symposium, "Encounter Canada," on current Canadian moral ethical issues co-hosted by McLaughlin College; yoga and relaxation courses to promote community well-being; a "Creative Writing" series co-sponsored by the Creative Writing Program which includes opportunities for students not only to meet contemporary writers, but also to present their own work; and on-going scholarly seminars and lectures.

The master, academic adviser, Fellows and staff are readily available to all Vanier students as are the academic resource and peer advisers. In addition, there are faculty members from Classical Studies, Creative Writing, Education, English, History, Humanities, Philosophy, and Psychology who have offices in Vanier. ## Winters College Winters College is named in honour of the late Robert Winters, first Chair of York University’s Board of Governors. The college shares with the Faculty of Fine Arts the common goal of providing an environment where the development and expression of creativity is paramount.

Through the Master’s Office, events are planned with a view to offering both commuter and resident students the chance to be inspired, entertained and challenged. Workshops, performances, film screening, presentations, special lectures and conferences are offered, and tickets are purchased for the ballet, theatre, symphony and opera at special discounted rates.

Wandering around the college is a visual and auditory treat. One can hear a music rehearsal taking place, catch a glimpse of a dance recital or a juggling practice, or see the work of many of York’s visual artists, both student and faculty, hanging on the walls, in the courtyards and in the Eleanor Winters Art Gallery. Music, poetry and spoken word performances are regularly staged here, in the junior and senior common rooms, and the Winters Dining Hall. Similar events also take place in the Absinthe Coffee Shop and Pub, the heart of the college and a popular venue for emerging local bands. The Ab is student run, and is managed by Winters College Council, a lively mix of resident and commuter students who also organize frosh week, the formal and various other events throughout the year. Winters College Council and the Master’s Office work in close collaboration and our primary concern is the creation of a rich social, cultural and academic milieu for all Winters’ students. Ideas and suggestions are always welcome.

But Winters is not exclusively fine arts. Many of the students who are affiliated with us come from a wide variety of disciplines, and this diversity informs and enriches the community. We are also home to the York University English Language Institute, and the York University Portuguese Association, and benefit enormously from their activities in the college.

Winters has long been known for its vitality and creative spirit, and it is also a community of serious scholars where academic excellence is fostered. We have a computer centre, and an Advising Centre where students can come to discuss both academic and personal issues and talk to student peer advisers and our academic adviser. Throughout the college a variety of study spaces – the junior common room, the dining hall, and in the warmer months, the courtyard – offer students a place to talk, to curl up with a book or to simply find a quiet retreat. Winters scholarships, bursaries and book prizes are offered yearly.

IV. Admission

York's Office of Admissions ensures that all qualified applicants are considered for admission in a fair and equitable manner. The University makes offers of admission to the highest qualified candidates.

The following pages address admission information for undergraduate studies. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions> for information about graduate programs and more detailed information about undergraduate studies.

Categories of Admission

There are several ways to achieve your academic goals at York. Different categories of admission are described below. In order to be considered for admission, you must meet the prerequisite(s) and minimum average requirements of the program(s) to which you apply. Requirements vary by program and admission is not guaranteed. For details, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>.

Undergraduate Degree

Individuals with appropriate preparation may apply for admission to an undergraduate degree program at York. Undergraduate direct-entry degrees include the Bachelor of Administrative Studies, Bachelor of Applied Science, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Business Administration, International Bachelor of Business Administration, Bachelor of Design, Bachelor in Environmental Studies, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Health Studies, Bachelor of Human Resources Management and Bachelor of Science.

The Bachelor of Education and Bachelor of Laws require previous postsecondary studies.

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing and Bachelor of Social Work are offered as both direct-entry degree programs and ones which require previous postsecondary studies.

Joint Undergraduate Degree/Diploma

York students have the opportunity to combine a university degree program with a diploma/certificate program at a college of applied arts and technology in a variety of areas. Students can only apply in upper years and enrolment is very limited.

Undergraduate Certificates

Individuals with appropriate preparation may apply for admission to complete an undergraduate certificate. Certificate programs develop skills in specific fields or professional expertise. Certificates are normally completed at the same time as a degree program, although some certificates can be done on their own. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions> for details.

Visiting Student

York will consider for admission individuals who wish to take credit courses, but who do not intend to complete a degree or a certificate at York. Visiting students are individuals who already hold an undergraduate degree or are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take York courses on a Letter of Permission issued by their home institution.

Provisional Student

In very exceptional circumstances, York will admit an individual on a provisional basis, for a maximum of one academic year (normally in anticipation of admission as a degree candidate). Provisional status is granted at the discretion of the University and on the basis of compelling evidence of an applicant's ability to complete the requirements for a degree or certificate.

Admission Requirements

York gives admission consideration to applicants who present successful academic credentials earned at recognized/accredited institutions around the world. The following information describes the types of academic preparation York recognizes. In addition, York requires minimum overall average grade requirements and course prerequisites. Some programs also require supplementary admission information. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions> for further details. Please note that meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission to the University. If you feel that your academic record does not reflect your abilities, you are invited to present documentation outlining circumstances that may have affected your academic performance. All information will be taken into consideration.

- Four full years of study in Canada in English or French at the secondary-school level.
- Four full years of study at the secondary school level in English in a country where English is a primary language.
- One full year of study in an accredited university degree program in English in a country where English is a primary language.
- Two full years of study in an accredited college diploma program in English in a country where English is a primary language.

Note: Time spent in ESL courses will not be counted towards meeting these requirements. Language requirements will not be waived based on letters written by students or as a result of completing senior-level high-school English courses.

These are general guidelines only. York University reserves the right to require a successfully completed language proficiency test.

If you are unsure whether or not you meet York's language requirements, you should submit an acceptable English-language test score as soon as possible to avoid potential delays in the processing of your application for admission.

Language test scores are reviewed in combination with academic credentials to determine your admissibility to the University.

Special Admission Consideration for Students with Disabilities

York has a policy of supporting and accommodating students with physical, learning or psychiatric disabilities who wish to pursue higher education.

If you have a diagnosed disability, it is important to identify yourself during the admissions process.

If you do not meet our minimum admission requirements, you may wish to be considered for modified admission consideration.

If your circumstances do not impact your admissibility to the University (in other words, you meet our admission requirements), we want to make sure you know about the support services we have in place.

In no way will identifying yourself be a disadvantage to you. We want to know who you are so we can ensure you get the support you need both during the admission process and afterwards. Even if you don't presently need any support, this could change.

York provides a number of support services for students with physical, learning or psychiatric disabilities. If you are admitted to York and need support and accommodations, consult with an adviser before the beginning of the academic year. You may request accommodation in teaching style, evaluation methods or other course requirements in all courses. Arrangements should be made before the start of the academic term. Failure to make these arrangements may jeopardize your opportunity to receive academic accommodations.

For more information visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/undergrad/disabilities.html>.

Application Deadlines

Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/undergrad/deadlines.asp> for all deadlines. To ensure a timely response to the program of your choice, you should apply and provide all official documentation much earlier than the final deadlines. Some limited enrolment programs fill much earlier than the deadline.

Faculty of Education: Refer to the Education section of this Calendar for application procedures.

Osgoode Hall Law School: Refer to the Osgoode Calendar published separately.

Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies: Refer to the Atkinson Calendar published separately.

Eligibility for Transfer Credit

All information regarding previously completed postsecondary studies must be provided upon application to York University. Applicants admitted to York University who present accredited previous postsecondary studies may be eligible for transfer credit. The determination of transfer credit eligibility will take into consideration the applicant's complete record of accredited postsecondary study. The amount of transfer credit granted depends on the nature of the program completed, the grades received, and the program to which the student has applied at York. A separate application requesting transfer credit consideration is not required. The receipt of all transfer credit documentation and the evaluation of all possible transfer credits available at the time of admission must be completed within one academic term from the date of admission to the University. (Fall Term and Fall/Winter Session admission: completed by the end of the Fall/Winter Session; Winter Term admission: completed by the end of the Summer Session; Summer Session admission: completed by the end of the Fall Term.) Applicants admitted to York who were not in good standing at all previous postsecondary institutions may be eligible for transfer credit consideration and will be assessed on an individual basis.

Institutionally-prepared, detailed course descriptions are required for all academic work completed outside of Canada at the postsecondary level. These course descriptions must be prepared by the former institution or be available on the institution's Web site. Please provide the exact URL or print out the course descriptions from the Web site. Course descriptions not in English or French can be translated into English or French by the applicant and submitted with the institutionally-prepared copy. Official English or French translations (done by a certified translator) of transcripts not in English or French are also required.

For all students, detailed descriptions of postsecondary work completed in the intended major are recommended to determine if any transfer credits can be applied to the major.

Undergraduate University Degree Programs

Applicants admitted to York who have completed degree credit work toward baccalaureate degrees at an accredited postsecondary institution may be considered for transfer credit. Transfer credit consideration is given to course work in which grade achieved is that normally required of a continuing York student. Transfer credits are determined in accordance with the requirements of the Faculty to which the student is admitted.

York University accepts the Pan-Canadian Protocol on the transferability of university credits, and undertakes to ensure that all course work completed by transfer students during the first two years of university study in Canada (including the final year of studies leading to a diploma of college studies (DCS) in Quebec and the university transfer courses offered by community colleges and university colleges in British Columbia and Alberta) will be recognized and fully credited for the purposes of granting a degree provided that: 1.the transfer student is deemed admissible and has been presented with an offer of admission; 2.the transfer student has achieved a passing grade in his/her course(s) and has obtained grade levels that would normally be required of continuing students; and 3.the credits earned are related to the program of study in which the transfer student will register, or the credits can be counted as electives for the program of study.

Should a student transfer to a different program after admission to York University, the transfer credits assigned upon admission may be reassessed.

Should a student who leaves York to pursue study at another postsecondary institution decide to return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Depending on the Faculty to which the student is admitted, not all transfer credits granted may be used to fulfill the requirements of a given program of study.

College Diploma Programs

Applicants admitted to York who have completed at least one year of full-time study in an academic program at a College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) or Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning (ITAL) in Ontario or an accredited college outside Ontario may be considered for transfer credit. The minimum requirement for eligibility for transfer credit consideration is an overall grade point average of B/70 per cent or equivalent (3.0 on a 4-point scale) on all courses taken, including failed courses. Transfer credits are determined in accordance with the requirements of the Faculty to which the student is admitted. Articulation agreements with a College of Applied Arts and Technology or equivalent may result in enhanced transfer credit.

Should a student transfer to a different program after admission to York University, the transfer credits assigned upon admission may be reassessed.

Should a student who leaves York to pursue study at another postsecondary institution decide to return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Depending on the Faculty to which the student is admitted, not all transfer credits granted may be used to fulfill the requirements of a given program of study.

Failure and Debarment

Students who have been debarred may be re-admitted in a subsequent session only if they give convincing evidence to the Committee on Admissions that they can benefit from further university work. Applications for re-admission will not be considered until two years from the date of debarment. In cases of failure at another university, or where another university's regulations on failure and debarment differ from York's, or where that institution calculates years or semesters differently from the York method, the York regulations will normally apply.

V. Academic Information

Academic Sessions

The academic year is divided into two “sessions”: the fall/winter session and the summer session. The fall/winter session begins in September and ends in April or May. Normally, full year courses are scheduled during the fall/winter session. Within the fall/winter session there are two “terms”: the fall term, that begins in September and ends in December and the winter term that begins in January and ends in April or May. The fall and winter terms last for approximately 13 weeks each and the fall/winter session lasts about 26 weeks.

The summer session begins in May and is completed in August. This session is comprised of numerous terms ranging in varying lengths of instructional time from six to 13 weeks. Information on sessional/term dates can be found on the Current Students Web site.

Course Numbering

Courses listed in this Calendar have the form: AS/EN 1000 6.00 which contains the following key parts: AS = the designation of the Faculty offering the course (in this case, Arts); EN = the prefix of the teaching unit offering the course (in this case, English); 1000 = the number of the course, the first digit of which identifies the level of the course; and 6.00 = the suffix indicating the “credit value” of the course.

Credit Value of Courses

The Faculties at York University may offer courses with varying credit value. Each course will have a suffix identifying the credit value for that particular course. For example, AS/EN 1000 6.00 has the suffix “6.00”, signifying that the course carries a credit value of six. The credit value normally correlates to the length of the course and the number of hours the course meets per week. A course with a “3.00” suffix would meet three hours per week for one term while a “6.00” suffix would normally meet for three hours per week for the session (or two terms).

The York Courses Web site (<http://courses.registrar.yorku.ca/index.htm>) lists the courses being offered as well as the terms, days of the week, time and location of each course.

Cross-listed Courses

As has been noted, the prefix of a course indicates the unit or program which offers the course. Many courses are “cross-listed”: that is, they are offered jointly by two or more teaching units such as departments or divisions. In some cases, courses are cross-listed between units in two different Faculties. Cross-listed courses may not be “double-counted” in order to fulfill degree requirements; e.g. if AS/HUMA 4610 6.00 is cross-listed with AS/PSYC 4120 6.00, it may be counted as a humanities course or a psychology course, but not as both.

Overlapping Courses

Some courses overlap significantly with other courses in terms of content and approach. There are two categories of overlap: equivalent courses and excluded courses. Students who receive credit for a course may not also receive credit for its equivalent(s) or exclusion(s). Equivalent courses are so similar that they may be substituted for one another in order to satisfy any program or prerequisite requirements. Excluded courses (called “degree credit exclusions”) may not be substituted for each other, although there is some overlap in content. Equivalent courses and excluded courses are listed under the course descriptions in the supplemental calendars of the departments and divisions. The list of equivalent and excluded courses is available at the Current Students Web Site.

Year-of-Study Equivalents

A student’s progress towards a degree is measured in terms of credits passed rather than years of study completed. Where it is necessary or helpful to equate credits passed with years of study, the following table may be used:

Credits Completed	Year Equivalent
fewer than 24 credits earned	1
24 credits to less than 54 credits earned	2
54 credits to less than 84 credits earned	3
84 credits or more	4*

*References to year 4 apply to students in Honours programs only. Education courses taken by students coregistered in the Faculty of Education are not included in an Academic Faculty’s (e.g. Arts, Glendon etc.) year-of-study equivalents.

Enrolment and Registration

Enrolment and registration should not be confused. They are two separate actions which are defined as follows:

a. Enrolment: Students who are eligible to enter or proceed, enrol by placing themselves in courses, using the University’s enrolment system, in accordance with the regulations of the Faculty and its teaching units.

b. Registration: Students register by paying tuition fees for courses in which they are enrolled, in accordance with the regulations of the Registrar’s Office. Only when students have registered do they receive a Sessional Identification Card which, when used in conjunction with valid photo identification, entitles them to use the libraries and other University services. Students who are not registered in a course are not entitled to have their work in the course graded.

Grades and Grading Schemes

Except for courses taken under the pass/fail option, courses in the undergraduate Faculties represented in this publication are graded according to the following scale. The grade point values are used to compute averages. For information regarding the pass/fail option regulations, refer to the Grading information available in your Faculty’s section of the Calendar.

Note: Only courses taken at York University are included in the grade point averages. The percentages indicated are not part of the official grading scheme and are meant only to be used as guidelines. The letter-grade system is the fundamental system of assessment of performance in undergraduate programs at York University.

Grade	Grade Point	Per Cent Range	Description
A+	9	90-100	Exceptional
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Very Good
B	6	70-74	Good
C+	5	65-69	Competent
C	4	60-64	Fairly Competent
D+	3	55-59	Passing
D	2	50-54	Marginally Passing
E	1	(marginally below 50%)	Marginally Failing
F	0	(below 50%)	Failing

Note: All of the above-noted grades are used to calculate averages and credits.

Definitions of Grading Descriptions

A+ Exceptional. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques and exceptional skill or great originality in the use of those concepts/techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

A Excellent. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a high degree of skill and/or some elements of originality in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

B+ Very Good. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a fairly high degree of skill in the use of those concepts/techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

B Good. Good level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

C+ Competent. Acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

C Fairly Competent. Acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with some skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

D+ Passing. Slightly better than minimal knowledge of required concepts and/or techniques together with some ability to use them in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

D Barely Passing. Minimum knowledge of concepts and/or techniques needed to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

E Marginally Failing.

F Failing.

Calculation of Averages

Two types of averages are calculated and reported to students: sessional and cumulative. All averages calculated for purposes such as determining eligibility to proceed and graduate are credit-weighted.

Sessional grade point average: This average reflects a student's grades for a particular academic session (e.g. Fall/Winter 2001-2002).

Cumulative grade point average: This average reflects a student's grades over the entire undergraduate career in a student's particular degree program.

Definitions of Pass and Fail

Passed courses

A passed course is one in which the student has achieved a grade of D or better.

Failed courses

There are two failing grades on the Undergraduate Grading Scheme: E (marginal failure) and F (failure).

Grades Release Dates (grade reports and transcripts)

Academic reviews occur prior to the release of grades on grade reports and transcripts. Grades submitted by an instructor are subject to review by the teaching unit in which the course is offered and by the Faculty Council or Faculty Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. Grades and transcripts are normally released by the Registrar's Office when the review has been completed.

Withdrawal

Withdrawal from a Session

You are considered officially withdrawn from the academic term or session and from the University after you drop your last course via the registration and enrolment system. Your official student record at the University is then annotated to indicate that you have formally discontinued your studies in a given program and academic term or session.

Discontinuation of studies/non-attendance of courses does not constitute official withdrawal for purposes of regulations and fee adjustments.

Ignorance of the regulations or proof of other activity does not constitute grounds for retroactive withdrawal.

In the case of withdrawal, the Office of Student Financial Services will use the date of notification or the date you dropped your courses to compute the amount of fees owing or to be refunded.

Re-admission After Withdrawal

Normally, students who withdraw from a term or session and who wish to attend a subsequent session may request reactivation through the Registrar's Office. Students who attend another institution without obtaining a letter of permission, must reapply for admission and supply supporting documentation where necessary. Students who withdraw from their first session at York without having completed any courses, may request reactivation within one academic year. If longer, a student is required to reapply for admission.

Tuition Refunds After Withdrawal

Refunds for withdrawal will be based on the University Refund Table, which is available on the Current Students Web site.

Note: Students may not withdraw from any course(s) in which a charge of academic dishonesty is being considered against them or in which they have been found guilty of academic dishonesty. Students who are found innocent of a charge of academic dishonesty may continue in the course and may request that someone other than the instructor grade their work. Alternatively students who are found innocent of a charge of academic dishonesty may withdraw from the course(s) in question without academic penalty by informing the Faculty Dean's Office in writing.

Deregistration

The University Registrar is empowered to deregister students who:

- do not meet the University's admissions requirements or the conditions of admission imposed by the Admissions Office;
- are not eligible or entitled to enrol in a program of study, and are not authorized to enrol by the Faculty;
- do not meet the country's citizenship and immigration laws;
- contravene the policies stated in the York University Act, upon instructions from the President.

Students who are deregistered on these grounds will be deemed not to have registered in the academic session. No registration or academic activity records will be retained. Students will be refunded their academic fees in full less any indebtedness to the University.

The University Registrar or other appropriate officer will inform the student, and appropriate academic and service areas.

A student who enrolls or registers for courses pending notification of academic standing at the end of the previous session or pending the result of a petition bearing on academic standing may have that enrolment subsequently cancelled or be subsequently deregistered if academic standing is such as to require withdrawal, debarment or suspension.

Classification of Students

For general purposes, a student is deemed by the University to be full-time if s/he takes the equivalent of 18 credits or more in a given two-term session. For further information, contact the Registrar's Office.

Student Records

Access to Student Record Policy

By applying for admission to York University and by enrolling in a program at the University, students accept the Registrar's Office's right to collect pertinent personal information. The information is needed to establish a record of their performance in programs and courses, provide the basis for awards and governmental funding and to assist the University in the academic and financial administration of its affairs. Students also agree that all documentation that they submit to the University in support of an application for admission, residence accommodation or financial award, or any petition or appeal, becomes the property of the University.

York University is committed to taking every reasonable step to protect the confidentiality and privacy of the information contained in the records of students. Unless compelled to do so by law, or authorized by the student in writing, the Registrar's Office will not disclose the confidential contents of student records to any party outside the University.

An electronic record of students' achievements at the University are preserved permanently, but all other documentation contained in students' files may be destroyed when no longer required.

Access to Confidential Student Records and Disclosure of Information

Public access

It is the Registrar's Office's policy to make a minimum of information freely available to all inquirers. This includes the student's active registration status, current field of studies and degree(s) that have been conferred by the University and the date(s) of conferral. Except as specified below other information contained in the record will be disclosed only with the student's written consent. This restriction applies to requests from parents, spouses, credit bureaus and police.

Student access

Students have the right to inspect all documents contained in their own record, with the exception of evaluations and letters of reference supplied to the University with the understanding that they be kept confidential.

Students have the right to request that erroneous information contained in their records be corrected and that recipients of any information found to be in error be advised of the correction.

Students wishing to inspect their record must make an appointment with the Associate Registrar, Student Services.

Upon written request to the Registrar's Office, students whose fee account shows no outstanding balance may obtain an official transcript of their record of studies at the University sent to a third party.

Transcripts issued directly to students bear the notation "Issued to Student".

Documents pertaining to a student's achievement at another institution, which may have been received by the University, will not be released or redirected.

Employee and student organization access

Employees of the University are permitted access to information contained in student records, if they need to know the information in order to perform their official duties. As a general rule, only employees involved in some aspect of academic administration or student affairs are given access to the contents of student records.

Student organizations

By making a request to the Assistant Vice-President of Student Affairs, the central undergraduate student government, the York Federation of Students (YFS), and the central graduate student government, the York University Graduate Students Association (GSA), as well as constituent organizations authorized by them, may obtain listings of students for purposes of communicating with their membership. Listings will be provided by the Office of Student Affairs upon written request signed by an authorized officer with the understanding that the information will not be disclosed to a third party.

Legally mandated access

Specified records or portions thereof may be provided to persons or agencies pursuant to a court order, summons or subpoena directing the University to release information; to Statistics Canada and the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities in connection with enrolment audits; or in accordance with the requirements of duly constituted professional licensing and certification bodies.

Transcripts of Academic Record

Copies of student transcripts will be issued at the student's request. Transcript requests are normally processed as follows:

- Undergraduate: Students who attended after 1982 – five business days.
- Undergraduate: Students who attended York prior to 1982 – 10 business days.
- Graduate: 10 business days.

Note: These timelines are usually met throughout the year, however, transcript orders may be delayed during peak periods: January, May/June and September/October. Please plan accordingly.

In accordance with the Registrar's Office Policy on Access to Student Records, the student's signature, or Passport York login is required for the release of records. Transcripts issued directly to the student are stamped "Issued to Student". The Registrar's Office cannot be responsible for transcripts lost or delayed in the mail.

Methods of Ordering Transcripts

Ordering transcripts online

Transcripts can be ordered online by going to <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca/services/everything/transcripts/index.htm> and following the instructions.

Ordering transcripts in person

Transcripts may be ordered in person at the Registrar's Office, by mail or by fax (416-736-5444). Telephone requests for transcripts cannot be accepted.

Ordering by mail or by fax

Requests by fax and mail must be accompanied by the following information:

- Full name when registered as a student and your current name if different;
- York student number (or your date of birth and Social Insurance Number) and the degree pursued, e.g. BA, MBA or PhD;
- Current mailing address and a daytime telephone number;
- The number of transcripts required;
- The complete name and address of where you would like the transcript(s) sent;
- Visa or MasterCard information;
- Your signature.

Picking up a transcript

If someone other than the student plans to pick up your transcript, you must give that person a signed authorization identifying the person and that they are authorized to pick up your transcript. Photo identification will be required.

Payment

The Registrar's Office accepts cash, debit cards, money orders (payable to York University), Visa and MasterCard. Payments by cash or debit card are only accepted with in person orders made at the Registrar's Office. Payments by cheque are not accepted.

When paying by credit card students must include their name, the type of credit card (we accept Visa and MasterCard), the credit card number, the card's expiry date and their signature.

Transcript fees must accompany all orders.

Restriction

In accordance with University policy, transcripts will not be released to students who have an outstanding account with the University.

Change of Name

As the Registrar's Office is committed to the integrity of its student records, each student is required to provide, either on application for admission or in personal data required for registration, his/her legal name. Any requests to change a name, by means of alteration or deletion, substitution or addition, must be accompanied by appropriate supporting documentation. Upon making application for graduation a student may be asked to provide proof of his/her name.

Change of Address

A student must maintain current and up-to-date permanent and mailing address information on the records of the University in order to receive pertinent mailings, such as Sessional Identification Cards.

Address changes are done through the Web at Current Students Web site.

Emergency Situations Requiring Student Access

On occasion, a personal emergency may require you be contacted quickly. Since the Keele campus of the University comprises some 578 acres, 60 buildings, 275 classrooms, seminar rooms and lecture halls, and has a population of more than 50,000, no campus-wide public address system can be provided. The Security Control Centre, once satisfied, will only consider contacting a student in class when a request is deemed urgent or life-threatening.

Limited physical resources and associated constraints make it impossible to guarantee contact.

Students are urged to provide those who may need to be reached in an emergency with an up-to-date copy of their class timetable, specifying days, times and locations.

Notification of Disclosure of Personal Information to Statistics Canada

Statistics Canada is the national statistical agency. As such, Statistics Canada carries out hundreds of surveys each year on a wide range of matters, including education.

It is essential to be able to follow students across time and institutions to understand, for example, the factors affecting enrolment demand at postsecondary institutions. The increased emphasis on accountability for public investment means that it is also important to understand "outcomes". In order to carry out such studies, Statistics Canada asks all colleges and universities to provide data on students and graduates. Institutions collect and provide to Statistics Canada student identification information (student's name, student ID number, Social Insurance Number), student contact information (address and telephone number), student demographic characteristics, enrolment information, previous education and labour force activity.

The Federal Statistics Act provides the legal authority for Statistics Canada to obtain access to personal information held by educational institutions. The information may be used only for statistical purposes, and the confidentiality provision of the Statistics Act prevent the information from being released in any way that would identify a student.

Students who do not wish to have their information used are able to ask Statistics Canada to remove their identification and contact information from the national database.

Further information on the use of this information can be obtained from Statistics Canada's Web site: <http://www.statcan.ca> or by writing to the Postsecondary Section, Centre for Education Statistics, 17th Floor, R.H. Coats Building, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, K1A 0T6.

VI. Financial Services, Scholarships, Bursaries, Awards and Prizes

The Office of Student Financial Services is responsible for:

- The administration of all aspects of students' financial accounts with the University.
- Serving as the principal point of contact for students applying for OSAP loans.
- The administration of scholarship and awards programs for undergraduate and graduate students.
- The administration of the Work/Study program.
- Providing assistance to students who are experiencing financial difficulties.
- Providing tax receipts (T2202A) for students on the Web.

Academic Fees

Academic fees for undergraduate students are assessed on a per credit basis (see Academic Tuition Fee Categories below). The Office of Student Financial Services publishes fees and refund tables for each academic session on the Web. It is the responsibility of students to make themselves aware of changes in fees and financial penalties associated with dropping courses.

A current schedule of academic fees can be found at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs/>.

Supplementary Fees

The Ontario Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities permits universities to charge supplementary fees in addition to regular tuition fees. There are three types of supplementary fees: a) those which are centrally collected and part of the tuition fee; b) those approved by student referenda; and c) associated course fees.

a) Centrally collected: supplementary fees covering athletics/recreation, counselling, and cultural and special services are permitted and are included in the per credit fee for tuition.

b) Approved by student referenda: supplementary fees approved by student referenda are included in the per credit fee for tuition.

c) Associated course fees: fees for work-term placement, learning material/clothing retained by the student, and production material for items which become student property, may be listed on your student account statement, or may be charged locally. If you have any questions about whether a particular supplementary fee falls into one of the above categories and can be charged in addition to your tuition, contact the Chair of the department or unit charging the fee first. If, after having done so, you wish to pursue the matter further, please address your concerns to the Office of Student Financial Services. See the Web for their current address at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs/>.

In accordance with Canada Customs and Revenue Agency regulations, the supplementary fee component of a tuition fee payment, and any course material fees cannot be included in the tuition tax credit, and therefore are not captured on the Tuition and Education Credit Certificate (see Tuition and Education Credit Certificate).

Note: The procedures and policies which govern associated fees differ from those which govern tuition and supplementary fees.

Academic Tuition Fee Categories

There are two academic tuition categories at York University: (a) the domestic tuition rate is charged to students who are specifically exempted by the government of Ontario regulations from the international student charge; and (b) the international tuition rate to students not so exempted, or students unwilling or unable to provide documentary proof of exempted status to the Registrar's Office. These amounts are also tied to your home Faculty.

Information on the interpretation of eligibility for exemption, tuition rate reassessment, deadlines for submitting documents, or changes of status in Canada, must be confirmed by the Registrar's Office. Queries about academic tuition categories must be directed to the Registrar's Office.

A) Domestic Tuition Rate

You are eligible for the domestic tuition rate if you fall into one of the exempt categories listed below and are able to give satisfactory proof of your status to the Registrar's Office by the following deadline dates:

Note: A change of status is not retroactive to any previous term or session.

Fall/Winter session

October 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete fall/winter session.

January 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the winter term only of the fall/winter session.

Summer session

June 30 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete summer session.

July 16 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for certain summer session courses which begin later in the session, e.g. July 2. Questions regarding specific courses should be directed to the Registrar's Office.

If you wish to be considered for exemption under one of the approved categories, you must contact the Registrar's Office regarding the official documentation necessary to support such a request. Original documents must be presented. Photocopies of documents are not accepted. All documents presented in support of consideration for exemption, or if requested as proof of status, must be submitted to the Registrar's Office, before payment of academic tuition.

If you are unable to provide the required documentation before paying your academic tuition, you are required to pay at the international tuition rate.

In order to retain an exemption for a subsequent term or session, you may, at a later date, be required to submit supplementary or new documents to prove that your status has been maintained.

If you present acceptable documentation for exemption from the international tuition rate, and this documentation contains an expiry date, it is your responsibility to bring updated documentation to the Registrar's Office no later than 10 working days after the expiry date on the original documentation. This must be done to maintain your exemption.

Certain exemption categories specify that both the person who has the status, and his/her dependants, are eligible for exemption from the international tuition rates. The definition of a "dependant" of a person includes his/her:

- spouse
- unmarried child, or
- spouse's unmarried child.

The dependent status must be fully documented. In the case of dependants of Canadian citizens, permanent residents and permanent resident applicants, the dependant status must have been established a minimum of three years prior to the student's application for exemption, and this status continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption.

Note: The exemption categories are subject to change at any time on the decision of the government of Ontario and on the approval of the Board of Governors of York University.

Those in the exemption categories are:

- a citizen of Canada within the meaning of the Citizenship Act or a person registered as an Indian within the meaning of the Indian Act;
- a student who is the legal dependant of a Canadian citizen may be exempted from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was instituted a minimum of three years prior to the deadline dates and that this status was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;
- a permanent resident within the meaning of the Immigration Act;

(iv) a student who is the legal dependant of a permanent resident may be eligible for exemption from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was instituted a minimum of three years prior to the deadlines and that this status was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;

(v) an applicant for permanent resident status, provided the applicant has met all the preliminary requirements for the granting of that status, and provided the applicant obtains an official statement from Citizenship and Immigration Canada which confirms this;

(vi) a student who is the legal dependant of an applicant for permanent resident status (as outlined in category (v)) may be exempted from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was established a minimum of three years prior to the deadline dates and was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;

(vii) a visitor who is admitted to and remaining in Canada, with official accreditation from the Canadian government, to carry out official duties as a diplomatic or consular officer; or as a Canadian government-accredited representative or official of a country other than Canada, of the United Nations or any of its agencies, of any intergovernmental organizations of which Canada is a member; or as a dependant or a member of the staff of any such diplomat, consular officer, representative or official accredited to Canada by the Canadian government; or a member of a foreign military force or of a civilian component thereof admitted to Canada under the Visiting Forces Act or any dependants of such personnel.

Note: a student who has been exempt under this category, but whose exemption status changes during the course of his/her program due to circumstances beyond the student's control, continues to be exempt from the payment of international student tuition for the duration of the program of study in which the student is registered at the time of the change in status. Contact the Registrar's Office regarding official documentation required;

(viii) a visitor, and his/her dependants (other than graduate teaching and research assistants), who is admitted to, and remains in Canada for the purpose of employment;

(ix) a person and his/her dependants, who is officially recognized by Citizenship and Immigration Canada as a Convention Refugee within the meaning of the Immigration Act;

(x) a person and his/her dependants, who is a refugee claimant in Canada, only if the claim for refugee status was made to Citizenship and Immigration Canada before January 1, 1989;

(xi) a person who is a participant in an Ontario government sponsored exchange agreement.

B) International Tuition Rate

As the result of a policy decision by the government of Ontario, all non-exempt international students in an undergraduate program of study are subject to the international tuition rate.

Note: A change of status is not retroactive to any previous term or session.

International Students and the University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP)

International students in Ontario are not covered by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan. They must join the University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP) a mandatory insurance plan for international students, arranged by Ontario universities. This plan provides international students and their eligible family members with comprehensive protection. The cost depends on the number of individuals covered - a single person, two persons, or three or more persons. Students must enrol annually. The premium is in addition to academic fees and is charged to the student's account. To enrol, you must complete a registration form at 108 Vanier College.

For further information, consult York International, 108 Vanier College, 416-736-5177 or uhip@yorku.ca.

Methods of Payment

Outstanding Academic Debts

York University Senate policy stipulates that graduation privileges, enrolment, transcript requests etc. be withheld from any student until all outstanding financial liabilities to the University are settled.

Students with an outstanding balance of $75 or more will be blocked from enrolling in courses at the University. In addition, academic sanctions are in place throughout the year, so that academic and administrative services are withheld until the liabilities to the University are settled satisfactorily. For further information, please refer to the Web at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs> or see the Undergraduate Lecture Schedule.

Tuition and Education Credit Certificate

In accordance with Canada Customs and Revenue Agency regulations, the University provides Web copies of the Tuition and Education Credit Certificates for eligible students in late February/early March. Forms are posted to the Web where students can print copies as needed. These forms are not mailed to students. Entitlements are based on the calendar year rather than the academic year. For further details on these tax forms, please see the Web at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs/>.

Tuition Fee Credit

Only direct tuition fees are eligible for the tuition tax credit. Both the supplementary fees and any course material fees you pay are not eligible and will not be included in the receipt.

Education Benefit

In order to be eligible for the education benefit in any month, a student must be registered for at least part of the month.

For information concerning eligibility and entitlement, as well as other aspects of income tax requirements, please consult the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency's brochure "Income Tax and the Student," appropriate Canada Customs and Revenue Agency Interpretation Bulletins, or contact your local Canada Customs and Revenue Agency office.

Residents of Quebec: Normally, the University does not produce or distribute the Certificate Respecting the Exemption for Full-time Post-Secondary Studies (TP-697V) required by Revenu Québec. Quebec residents who require this form in order to complete an income tax return must provide the Office of Student Financial Services with a copy of the form and the corresponding instructions, available from a Revenu Québec office.

Refunds

Please refer to the Web at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs> or the current Undergraduate Lecture Schedule.

Service Charges

For complete information, please refer to the Web at <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs> or the current Undergraduate Lecture Schedule.

They must possess an outstanding scholastic record and will have other accomplishments—such as community service, achievement in arts or sports, or excellence in other areas of individual endeavour—which demonstrates the wholeness of the person and grace of character. The application form is available from secondary school guidance offices, York's Scholarships and Bursaries unit of the Office of Student Financial Services and on the York Admissions Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>.

Award of Distinction: Alumni Awards of Distinction

Donor: York University Alumni Association

The York University Alumni Association (YUAA) is committed to providing goods, services and programs that facilitate the life-long process of education and personal development for all York graduates. The YUAA is equally committed to advancing the interests of York University itself. Whether the activity be in the form of advocacy, counsel, philanthropy or any other form of volunteer assistance, the graduates of York University have a unique and valuable role to fill in promoting the excellence, welfare and prestige of the University. Two Alumni Awards of Distinction are awarded annually.

Award of Distinction: The Betty Jean and John M. Bankes Entrance Scholarship

Donor: John Bankes and Family

This award has been made possible through the generosity of John Bankes, a member of the University's Board of Governors, and that of his family. The award honours their parents for their long-standing encouragement to family and others to pursue higher education. The Betty Jean and John M. Bankes Entrance Scholarship will be granted once every four years.

Award of Distinction: Bruce Bryden Entrance Scholarship

Donor: Board of Governors Colleagues, Family and Friends of the late Bruce Bryden

Subsequently, he became the first York graduate to be appointed to the University Senate, and then in 1971 to the Board of Governors, where he served for 20 years. Ultimately he set high standards as the Chair of the Board from 1982 until his untimely passing. Bruce Bryden was devoted to the entire University, modestly but genuinely proud of its many exceptional achievements. Typical of Glendon graduates, he cherished not only his student memories at Glendon but also the history, warmth, beauty and feelings of this campus as a special place. The Bruce Bryden Entrance Scholarship will be granted once every four years.

John Proctor was a banker, tennis champion and philanthropist who served on York's Board of Governors for many years and eventually became chancellor in 1982. Mr. Proctor rendered untold hours of service to York University. He became a model of excellence and was recognized for his personal integrity, graceful counsel and wise leadership. The John S. Proctor Entrance Scholarship will be awarded annually.

Pre-MBA Program – a full-time, eight-week program offered twice a year, designed to prepare students who have already earned an undergraduate degree to be successful in an MBA program in an English-medium North American university.

YUELI Bytes – part-time programs (generally two evenings a week for four weeks) that focus on specific aspects of English language proficiency such as Speaking English, Pronunciation, Business Presentation Skills, and Business Writing. A new Byte for 2004 (15 two-hour sessions over eight weeks) is Reading and Writing in English.

Custom-Designed Programs – are developed, often in collaboration with a York Faculty, for specific groups of students with particular educational and/or professional needs. These programs can be delivered on-site at York University, elsewhere in Canada and abroad or by distance education. Individual tutoring is also available.

Learning and Study Skills Programs

Centre for Academic Writing

The Centre for Academic Writing assists students to become effective independent writers, within both their academic life and elsewhere. The primary means of achieving this objective is through the centre's individualized tutoring program. All Faculty of Arts students are eligible to enrol in this program and take advantage of the opportunity to work on their writing with one of the centre's experienced faculty. The centre also regularly offers mini-courses on various issues related to writing effectively in university.

In addition, students can enrol in one of the centre's credit courses on writing in the humanities or the social sciences. These courses provide the opportunity for students to develop their writing in all phases: research, composing, drafting and revising by learning to integrate the latest research on the writing process into these activities. Please see the Courses of Instruction section of this Calendar for more details.

Multimedia Language Centre

The Faculty of Arts Multimedia Language Centre provides service primarily to the Department of French Studies and the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics. For more information, contact the Language Laboratory at S117 Ross, 416-736-5197.

Libraries

Samuel Johnson once remarked that “the greatest part of a writer’s time is spent reading; in order to write, a man will turn over half a library to make one book.” Johnson’s observation makes it easy to see why York’s five libraries are at the intellectual heart of the University; we provide essential academic support to York’s teaching and research endeavours as a whole. The largest of our libraries, the Scott Library, holds major collections in the humanities, the social sciences, and the fine arts. In addition to Scott, the Peter F. Bronfman Business Library, the Steacie Science and Engineering Library, and the Law Library are all located on the Keele campus. The Leslie Frost Library supports research and teaching in all areas of academic inquiry on the Glendon campus. In addition to these libraries, the Scott Library building also houses Archives and Special Collections, the Map Library, and the Sound and Moving Image Library. All told, these libraries contain over six million items including books, print periodicals, theses, archival materials, microforms, maps, films, videos, CDs, and DVDs.

Professional librarians are available in all these locations to assist students with their research needs. Such assistance is available in person as well as by e-mail, telephone and live Web chat. More formal instruction in library use and research methods is also offered by subject librarians within course specific contexts as well as through voluntary drop-in workshops at the beginning of each academic term. All classes and workshops provide students with a basic introduction to selecting and narrowing a research topic, finding books and scholarly journal articles, and critically evaluating the relative merits of research materials. Students who have the benefit of attending a workshop or hearing a librarian deliver a guest lecture in their course are better equipped to earn higher grades and, more importantly, engage themselves as active learners in the courses they are taking. Because there is a direct relationship between the quality of the material that students consult during the research process and the quality of work that they ultimately produce, solid library research skills are just as important as solid writing skills.

In recent years the libraries have made both collections and services accessible on the Web. The libraries’ Web site is available twenty-four hours a day at <http://www.library.yorku.ca>. In addition to standard online services such as book renewal and transfer requests, our site functions as a unique gateway to more than 11,000 full-text electronic scholarly journals as well as other electronic resources including encyclopedias, dictionaries, subject pathfinders, government documents, and datasets. All licensed resources can be accessed by students and researchers with valid library cards from home or elsewhere outside the library buildings. For additional information on how to access our resources remotely, please consult <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/eResources/RemoteAccess.htm>

Even in this increasingly computer-mediated research environment, our print collections remain an important component of the resources to which we provide access. Because the libraries exist to meet the information and research needs of the whole York University community, borrowing regulations are essential to ensuring fair access to collections, services, and facilities. These regulations include the designation of specific loan periods, restrictions on the circulation of certain library materials, the definition of borrower privileges and responsibilities, and the definition of access to and the use of library services and facilities. Privileges are granted subject to users’ continuing adherence to established library regulations. For more information, please see <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/About/Policies/LendingCode.htm>

necessary to access a broad range of viewpoints gives students the essential help they need to construct their own independent, yet credible and defensible, positions. Students who consult us first know that a solid foundation in research helps them turn in their best work.

The Centre for Race and Ethnic Relations (CRER), was established in 1988 to advise the University on policy relating to race and ethnic relations, and to provide anti-racism education for the entire community, as well as support and services to York's multi-ethno-racial community.

Students, faculty and staff have the right to study, live and work in an environment that is free from racial harassment and discrimination. They also have the responsibility not to racially harass any member of the York community. This is in accordance with York University's Policy Concerning Racism and the Ontario Human Rights Code, which prohibits harassment and discrimination on the grounds of race, colour, citizenship, place of origin, ancestry, ethnic background and creed. Every person has a right to freedom from harassment in the community, including such places as the classroom and the residences.

The CRER works in cooperation with campus groups and associations active in the area of human rights, anti-racism and employment equity. The advisers at the centre are available to give workshops on anti-racism and related issues to all sectors of the University. The centre also has a small resource library.

The centre is also a complaint centre which provides a confidential place in which members of the York community can seek information regarding racial harassment and discrimination. The advisers outline the many options (both informal and formal) available to students, faculty and staff and discuss ways of handling the situation.

The Centre also works collaboratively with the University Complaints Centre and local complaints officers in the colleges and Faculties. The advisers, Teferi Adem and OmiSoore Dryden, aim to ensure that concerns expressed by all members of the community are addressed with sensitivity and fairness.

The centre offers advice, ensures confidentiality and provides a supportive atmosphere. No action will be taken unless the complainant requests it. The two advisers at the Sexual Harassment Education and Complaint Centre are available to give workshops on sexual harassment and related issues to colleges, residences and Faculties. There is a small library which students, staff and faculty are welcome to draw upon.

A former project of SHEACC's which is now self-standing is the Sexual Assault Survivors Support Line (SASSL). SASSL is a peer support telephone line, which provides referrals and support to callers on a 24-hour basis. The crisis line number is 416-650-8056 and the information line is 416-736-2100 ext. 40345. The line is closed on University holidays with a message providing alternative crisis line numbers.

The centre also works collaboratively with the University Complaints Centre and local complaints officers in the colleges and Faculties. The advisers aim to ensure that concerns expressed by all members of the community are addressed with sensitivity and fairness.

The Sexual Harassment Education and Complaint Centre is located in the Centre for Human Rights and Equity, 108 Central Square and is open from 8:30am to 4:30pm Monday to Friday, or in the evening by appointment. When the centre is closed, telephone messages may be left at 416-736-5500.

Programs are designed to allow individuals to select appropriate levels of physical activity participation and, where possible, personal development, wellness and/or leadership opportunities to meet their individual needs and aspirations.

Students have not only the opportunity to participate in sport and recreation activities at York, but become involved in the planning, organization and implementation of programs, either as a volunteer, workstudy student or part-time employee. The University also encourages students to take advantage of the exciting environment generated through Sport and Recreation at York by attending events held on campus throughout the season.

Interuniversity Sport

The interuniversity sport program is an integral part of the University's educational mission and complements the potential for personal growth that the York experience fosters. All full-time students are welcome to try out for any of the 29 interuniversity teams offered by Sport York. Sport programs give student athletes the opportunity for skill development and the pursuit of excellence through qualified coaching and competitive schedules.

A Proud and Growing Tradition - For more than 35 years, the York University student athletes have been making their mark on the Canadian sport scene. A majority of our coaches also hold leadership positions in provincial and national sport organizations and are experts in their field of coaching. These individuals are dedicated to the attainment of the student athletes' potential in the sport and in the classroom.

Varsity Teams - York University offers the opportunity to participate at the highest level of university competition. In Ontario, universities compete in each sport for the provincial championship title within the Ontario University Athletics (OUA). Nationally, York competes within Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS).

Recreation

An important dimension of the total educational experience is the participation in physical activity. The Recreation York program provides an opportunity for the University community to participate in a wide range of activities including intramural sport competitions, fitness/lifestyle and instructional classes, sport clubs and casual recreation. Men's, women's and coed teams compete in 24 league/tournament sports and six special events ranging from ice hockey, badminton and ultimate frisbee to flag football and volleyball. Join a team from your college or form your own team with a group of university friends.

Fitness/Lifestyle and Instructional Classes - For the fitness enthusiast, more than 35 classes are offered each week. Several different levels of step classes, total body conditioning, cardio tae boxing and hi/lo are among the variety of fitness classes available. For those with other interests, instructional courses are offered in the areas of martial arts, dance, aquatics, relaxation and sports like tennis, skating and squash (for an additional charge).

Sport Clubs - For those who would like to join other members of the York community in an activity or sport that may not be offered at either the interuniversity or intramural level, there is a sport club program. Squash, table tennis and curling are a few of the many clubs waiting to welcome new members.

Casual Recreation - For those who like to swim, run, skate, play tennis or squash, or work out, there are many casual recreational opportunities for the person who enjoys the flexibility of self-directed physical activity. Of particular interest is the Tait McKenzie Fitness Centre, featuring exercise machines and free weights, and staffed by qualified fitness personnel who can assist with equipment use and provide exercise prescription. ## Student Affairs Office Student Affairs is a focal point for a wide range of services and activities coordinated by the Assistant Vice President, Student Affairs and the Director of Student Affairs. This includes information and communication, problem solving and crisis intervention, student government liaison, advising, awareness training and education. The office has a unique role in providing problem solving and crisis intervention that minimizes disruptions to student life and to the academic and administrative functioning of the University. Most importantly, the office shares the University's commitment to quality, equity and diversity.

Student Affairs performs two main services: 1) information and communications and 2) problem solving. Almost everything we do fits into one of these two categories. Student Affairs answers inquiries from students, faculty, staff and the general public, either by phone, e-mail or in person. Many of these inquiries are routine and straight forward, while others are very complex. The nature of our service is very much defined by the demands of the community we serve. The front-line office staff, consisting of the Coordinator, Student Relations Assistant, Information York Assistant, Off-Campus Housing Assistant and five work/study students, work together to deliver services to student and the rest of the community.

Student Affairs also provides the following services: coordination of the Orientation Information Fair, Parents' Orientation, locker rentals, off-campus housing lists, various publications, recognition of the student clubs and room allocation for clubs, problem solving/dispute resolution and complaint intake, cult awareness education, assistance with student referenda, and a professional development library.

If you are having trouble finding your way around campus or just want to learn more about clubs and services at York, please come by and see us.

The Office of Student Affairs also houses the Off-Campus Housing Service and the University Complaint Centre. We are located in the Student Services Centre, 416-736-5144; TDD 416-736-5940, <http://www.studentaffairs.yorku.ca>.

Student Government

College Councils

Student or college governments take different forms in each of the colleges but have the same general goal - to serve their student members using funds made available to them each year, and to represent their interests in a variety of dealings with the University Faculties, service offices and departments, both academic and administrative.

York Federation of Students/Fédération des Étudiant(e)s de York (YFS/FÉY)

The York Federation of Students is dedicated to the representation and support of the student movement at York University. It is a democratic, non-profit, service-oriented organization committed to working towards a university environment wherein members of the federation (all undergraduate students) can pursue academic excellence as well as personal and social growth free from all forms of discrimination and harassment.

The federation is committed to universally accessible postsecondary education and rejects all impediments to postsecondary education including, but not limited to, financial constraints through tuition fees, residence costs, streaming and discrimination based upon gender, race, sexual orientation, class, religion, colour, ethnicity, nationality, geographic location, state of health or age.

In its quest, the federation strives for the highest quality of postsecondary education available. It supports student organizations, on and off campus, which promotes its stated principle.

The federation offers many services, including a health plan, a student datebook, a courtesy phone, five cent photocopies and free International Student Identity Cards and Student Saver Cards.

The federation is located in Room 336 in the Student Centre, 416-736-5324. Come and visit for more information.

Other Student Governments

There are 16 recognized student governments within the York University community: 14 within the colleges and Faculties of the University and a "federation" - York Federation of Students/Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York - which is a central student government representing all students in the Faculties of Arts, Fine Arts, Education, Pure and Applied Science, and undergraduate students of the Schulich School of Business as full members. Students of Glendon College and Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies are associate members. These latter units, as well as the Faculty of Arts, Faculty of Education, the Faculty of Fine Arts, and the Legal and Literary Society (Osgoode) also have their own student governments. At the graduate level, the student governments are the Graduate Students Association, the Graduate Business Council, and the Graduate Environmental Studies Students Association. Each of these organizations collects an annual levy from its members to finance its activities and programs. Student societies receive over one million dollars of support in this way. Annual elections within each unit provide the executive officer group which is responsible for the administration and accounting for these funds. Many of these organizations publish newspapers and newsletters to inform their members about their services and programs.

Twelve student organizations receive annual levies from their constituents: Excalibur Publications, CHRY North York Community Radio, Community and Legal Aid Services Program (CLASP), ProTem, Theatre Glendon, Ontario Public Interest Research Group (OPIRG) (refundable), Glendon Women's Centre, York Women's Centre (refundable), the Atkinson Essay Service (Atkinson students only), Cafe de la Terrasse (Glendon students only), Sexual Assault Survivor's Support Line (SASSL) (refundable) and World University Services of Canada (WUSC) (refundable). These organizations are subject to the same financial reporting requirements as student governments. Constitutions and financial reports of these councils are public documents and are available through the Office of Student Affairs, or the office of the individual council.

Student Representation on University Committees

The participation of students in the governance of the University is an important element in effective decision making and policy development at York University. Students are entitled to participate as full voting members on the Board of Governors, the University Senate, Faculty Councils and other bodies. The system of governance established by the York University Act is bicameral, with two central governing bodies: the Board of Governors and the Senate. Decision-making powers are divided and/or shared among the Chancellor, the President, the Board and the Senate and some of these powers are delegated to or shared with other bodies.

The Board of Governors. The Board of Governors is vested by the York Act with authority for the "government, conduct, management and control of the University and of its property, revenues, expenditures, business and affairs". The board consists of 30 members in addition to the President and the Chancellor. There are two designated seats on the board for students. By agreement of the board and the Student Senator Caucus, the selection of one student nominee each year has been done through a process of popular election among registered York University students, usually held in the spring. Upon election, the student's nomination must be confirmed by the Student Senator Caucus and recommended to the board. The term of office is two years. The board conducts much of its business through committees such as the Finance and Staff Resources Committee, the Academic Resources Committee, the Audit Committee, Land Use Committee, the Student Relations Committee, the Investment Committee and Communications Committee.

The Senate. The Senate is responsible for the academic policy of the University, including the recommendation to establish new Faculties and colleges, admission standards, student aid policies, the establishment of degrees and diplomas and the structure and content of all academic programs. It is composed of the Chancellor, the President, the Chair and representatives of the Board of Governors, Vice-Presidents, Deans, Department Chairs and elected faculty members from each Faculty with some representation from other groups both inside and outside the University. Students are elected to the senate through their Faculty Councils and in numbers which reflect the relative size of the Faculty in the University. Student representation on Senate constitutes 15 per cent of the total number of senate seats and elections are conducted each March. Students are represented on all Senate committees, examples of which include Executive; Tenure and Promotion; Senate Appeals; Academic Policy and Planning; Curriculum and Academic Standards; Library; Admissions, Recruitment and Student Assistance; and Research (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/senate/index.htm>).

Faculty Councils. York University consists of 10 Faculties and each has a Faculty Council which is responsible for making decisions on the variety of matters affecting the curriculum and academic policies of the Faculty. Each Faculty Council is a committee of senate and has, in turn, a number of council committees on which students sit as members. More details on the specific structure and student participation in a Faculty Council may be obtained through the office of the secretary of the council in your Faculty.

The Council of Masters. One student is named by the combined college councils to join the Council of Masters.

Other Advisory Committees. There are a number of University departments and services which receive advice and recommendations throughout each year from advisory committees on which students have a voice. The precise mechanisms whereby students may join these committees varies, and further information about membership and terms of reference may be obtained from the office named in brackets after the advisory committee.

- Board of Referendum Commissioners (Office of the Assistant Vice-President, Student Affairs)

- Advisory Council on Child Care Services (Office of the Vice-President, Finance and Administration)

- Committee on Alcohol (Office of the Assistant Vice-President, Student Affairs)

Other Participation. Students also are entitled to participate on decision-making or advisory bodies at other levels in the University, e.g. in individual academic departments, most of which have formal departmental councils consisting of faculty and students. As well, students are entitled to membership on residence councils and on committees established by their college or Faculty-based student government.

General questions about student participation in university governance should be directed to the University Secretariat.

Housing

Undergraduate College Residences

Living on campus presents an affordable opportunity for undergraduate students to experience a diverse community and make lifelong friends while being conveniently situated at the centre of social, cultural and academic life, with a wide array of campus services at their doorstep.

York has approximately 2,280 beds available for undergraduate students across eight buildings on the Keele campus, and an additional 400 on the Glendon campus. Most residences are arranged in a traditional style with comfortably furnished double and single rooms, and shared common lounges and washrooms. With most rooms, students will purchase a mandatory meal plan that can be used at over 30 food outlets on the Keele and Glendon campuses, offering a wide selection of food types. York's Keele campus also has some space available in suite-style units where groups of four to six students share a small kitchen, living area and private washrooms. New for September 2004, York's Keele campus also has 430 beds in single rooms, arranged in 2 bedroom suites, each with a separate washroom and kitchen. Residence costs will vary according to accommodation styles; however, students should estimate $5,500 for a typical arrangement of a double occupancy room with a meal plan.

Undergraduate students are welcome to apply for residence as long as they enrol in and plan to remain in a minimum of 24 credits or four full courses. Information about how to apply on line to residence will be included with your offer of admission to York.

Students who apply are encouraged to complete and return their application as soon as possible to improve their chances of receiving a room offer since the demand for residence will exceed the space available. Offers of a space will be guaranteed to students with a minimum of 80 per cent, if they apply by the deadline.

York Student Apartments

On the Keele campus only, accommodation is also available in the York apartments to eligible law, graduate and other mature students who are 23 years of age or over or who require family style accommodation.

A limited number of York apartments are available to students with physical disabilities.

Specific areas in the University are approved for the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages under licences granted to various independent campus caterers and other campus bodies by the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO).

University regulations governing licensed areas are contained in the York University Liquor Policy. Enquiries regarding the University Liquor Policy should be directed to the assistant vice-president, student affairs 416-736-5275 or the director of housing and food services 416-736-5258.

Off-Campus Housing

York University maintains a service for those students who require assistance in finding off-campus accommodation. We produce a listing of private and shared accommodation at varying prices located off-campus, which is updated every two weeks (weekly in the month of August due to volume). The listings can be found on the internet by visiting our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/och/>.

You may want to drop by and pick up useful publications: Getting Organized or Frequently Asked Questions. These publications are also available online by going to <http://www.yorku.ca/och> and clicking on "Publications". Information about public transportation routes and guides, accommodation comparison checklists, apartment checklists, updates on the Landlord Protection Act, tenants' rights and other related matters are available from the Off-Campus Housing Office.

Landlords are invited to leave descriptions of rental units with this service by telephoning 416-736-5141; a listing fee of $20 is charged to landlords ($10 for York students with ID; student must come in person to receive the $10 rate).

VIII. University Policies and Regulations

Academic Conduct

Students and instructors are expected to maintain a professional relationship characterized by courtesy and mutual respect and to refrain from actions disruptive to such a relationship. Moreover, it is the responsibility of the instructor to maintain an appropriate academic atmosphere in the classroom and the responsibility of the student to cooperate in that endeavour. Further, the instructor is the best person to decide, in the first instance, whether such an atmosphere is present in the class. A statement of the policy and procedures regarding disruptive and/or harassing behaviour by students in academic situations is available from the Deans' offices, the Vice-President Academic and the Vice-President Students.

Convocation

A student obtains a degree for satisfactory completion of his or her academic program on the condition that all of their University debts have been paid. Students of all Faculties and colleges with the exception of Environmental Studies, Glendon College, Graduate Studies, the Schulich School of Business and Osgoode Hall Law School, must apply for graduation by completing an "Application to Graduate Form", available from the Registrar's Office Web site (<http://www.registrar.yorku.ca>), at least four months prior to the convocation ceremony (i.e. January for spring convocation and July for fall convocation). The deadlines to apply are announced each year. Graduates of the Faculty of Graduate Studies can confirm their status with the Graduate Program Office. Graduates from the Faculty of Environmental Studies should apply to the Office of Student Programs of FES. Graduates from Glendon College should apply to the Office of Student Programs of Glendon. Graduates from the Schulich School of Business should apply to the Office of Student Programs of the Schulich School of Business. Osgoode students need not apply to graduate. Students must ensure that the University has on file the correct style of their full names, so that diplomas are prepared accurately.

Ceremonies are scheduled for June, for those students who complete their course work in the fall or winter terms and in November for those who complete their course work in the summer term. The ceremonies in June are scheduled by Faculty groupings for all students. Glendon's spring ceremony takes place outside on the West Quadrangle Lawn at the Glendon campus. In the fall, students from all Faculties are graduated in ceremonies usually held on the first weekend in November.

Diplomas and alumni association memberships are normally distributed at the convocation ceremonies. For those students who are either unable to attend, or who did not receive their diploma at the ceremony, diplomas may be picked up from the Registrar's Office on an official date after convocation has taken place. Students who are unable to attend and wish to have their diplomas mailed to them may do so by making these arrangements with the Registrar's Office. A nominal fee will be charged for packaging and mailing. For more information, contact the Registrar's Office at 416-736-5440 or visit the convocation Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/convo/>. Diplomas that have not been picked up or mailed will only be kept on file until the next convocation, after which time they will be destroyed. As such, students are advised to pick up or arrange to have their diplomas mailed as soon as possible.

Graduation photographs are arranged through the college or Faculty offices (or by the appropriate student government) once a year (twice a year for Atkinson Faculty students). Potential graduates can expect to receive information from their college or Faculty inviting them to arrange their sitting time with the photographer. Information regarding photography sitting is normally posted on the convocation Web site.

Detailed information about the schedule of ceremonies, robe rental, guests and receptions are sent out to all prospective graduates several weeks before the ceremony by the college or Faculty or can be accessed online at <http://www.yorku.ca/convo/>.

Academic Sanctions for Outstanding Debts to the University

Students who have debts to the University and are not in good standing with respect to those debts shall have grade reports and conferral of degrees withheld. Senate has declared that mechanisms must be in place in the event of an appeal. For more information, consult the applicable University office.

Grading Scheme Feedback Policy

The grading scheme for each course (that is, the kinds and weights of assignments, essays, exams etc.) shall be announced, and be available in writing, within the first two weeks of class. Under normal circumstances, some graded feedback worth at least 10 per cent of the final grade be received by students in all courses prior to the final withdrawal date from a course without receiving a grade, with the following exceptions:

- graduate or senior undergraduate courses where course work typically, or at the instructor's discretion, consists of a single piece of work (for example, honours theses or graduate research papers not due by the drop date etc.)
- practicum courses
- ungraded courses
- courses in Faculties where the drop date occurs within the first three weeks of classes
- courses which run on a compressed schedule (a course which accomplishes its academic credits of work at a rate of one credit hour per two calendar weeks or faster).

Note: Under unusual and/or unforeseeable circumstances which disrupt the academic norm, instructors are expected to provide grading schemes and academic feedback in the spirit of these regulations, as soon as possible.

Policy on Students with Special Needs

In June 1991 the Senate approved a policy on students with special needs. The policy reads as follows:

York University is committed to making reasonable accommodations and adaptations in order to make equitable the educational experience of students with special needs and to promote their full integration into the campus community. Faculties shall work with appropriate special needs offices and ACCESS YORK (York University's Advisory Committee for Persons with Special Needs) to ensure that their procedures are consistent with this policy any related guidelines. "Special Needs" shall be defined as "handicaps" under the Ontario Human Rights Code in force from time to time, and will in any event include physical, learning and psychiatric disabilities.

Disciplinary Procedures

Students who violate University rules or public law may be disciplined by the University after an investigation which would include an opportunity to hear the student's interpretation of the events in question. Participation in these procedures is a fundamental obligation of any student and, in order to permit the University to act fairly and with sufficient information and understanding, students must be accessible to communication. A current and effective mailing address must be left with the University at all times. (Changes are to be submitted by students through the Registrar's Office.) Failure of a student to respond to communications from the University will not affect the University's right to conclude its investigation.

Rustication (expulsion from all University courses and activities) is the most serious sanction which may be imposed. For further information, see Presidential Regulations, under Regulations Concerning the Conduct of Students of York University, below. For a complete copy of Presidential Regulations contact the Office of Student Affairs.

Policy on Computing and Information Technology Facilities

In order to promote the ethical and responsible use of computing and other information technology facilities, general guidelines have been established for all students by the Senate Committee on Academic Computing in consultation with an administrative task force on computing at York. York's Budget and Policy Committee has also approved the principles and guidelines set out below.

1. York University's computing and information technology facilities are made available to students in support of their academic objectives and requirements; to faculty in support of their teaching, research and administrative activities; to staff in support of their assigned responsibilities; and to other authorized users. Such facilities may include computers and associated peripherals, the communication infrastructure and related equipment, facsimile machines, scanners, copiers, telephone, video and other multimedia devices and forms of software.
2. Computing and information technology facilities may be used only in a manner which does not contravene York University's relevant policies, codes, agreements, network protocols and provincial and federal laws.
3. Access to computing and information technology facilities is a privilege. Users who contravene the relevant policies and laws may be subject to immediate withdrawal of the privilege and/or disciplinary procedures. Illegal acts involving computing and information technology facilities may also be subject to criminal prosecution or other legal action.

Presidential Regulations Concerning the Conduct of Students at York University

Presidential Regulation Number 2 - The Conduct of Students at York University

I. The Authority and Jurisdiction of the University

By registering in any program of the University, a student agrees to be bound by all of its rules and regulations. Such regulations apply to all conduct, whether on or off campus, which may be said to be related to the individual's behaviour as a member of the University. Apart from any agreement to be bound by this manner, all students are subject to presidential regulatory authority.

Under the York University Act, 1965, the President "...has the power to formulate and implement regulations governing students and student activities." Various rules, regulations and practices of the University relating to students and student activities have been enacted by or under presidential authority. These were consolidated, modified and approved by Presidential Regulation Number 1 (September 25, 1985), which is available in the Office of the Secretary of the University. Regulation Number 2 amends Regulation Number 1, to the extent of any inconsistency.

II. Matters Covered by this Regulation

- a) This regulation applies to "student conduct", i.e. conduct which is associated with student membership in the University community, and which is subject to presidential authority under section 13(c) of the York University Act.
- b) This regulation does not apply to conduct:
  - i) under the exclusive authority of Senate, or of academic units acting under its mandate (e.g. academic offences);
  - ii) under the exclusive authority of the Board of Governors, or of administrative officers acting under its mandate (e.g. parking offences); or
  - iii) under presidential or other administrative authority (e.g. noncompliance with registration or fee payment procedures); except to the extent that such conduct also constitutes "student conduct".
- c) This regulation may be adopted by any competent authority mentioned in paragraph b), and its procedural provisions shall thereafter apply to such conduct.
- d) Where more than one complaints officer or local hearing officer or tribunal has jurisdiction in a matter, any such body may exercise jurisdiction.
- e) While an incident may give rise to two or more infractions, each of which lies within the jurisdiction of a different complaints officer, local hearing officer or tribunal, and while any such body may impose two or more sanctions for each infraction, no complaints officer, local hearing officer, or tribunal shall impose a sanction if the offender has already been sanctioned for the same infraction by that, or any other body.
- f) Conduct which violates the rules, customs or standards of any facility, organization, club, league or team operating on or from University premises, under University auspices, or with funds provided by the University, may also be treated as an infraction of these regulations despite the imposition of sanctions by such facility, organization, club, league or team or its competent authorities.
- g) The University reserves the right to invoke, in place of or in addition to its own standards and procedures, any civil, criminal or other remedies which may be available to it as a matter of law.

III. Standards of Student Conduct

Students may think, speak, write, create, study, learn, pursue social, cultural and other interests and associate together for all of these purposes, subject to the requirement that they respect the rights of members of the University and general communities to pursue these same freedoms and privileges. This general standard encompasses a number of more specific expectations which cannot be fully foreseen or exhaustively enumerated. By way of example, and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, students are expected:

1. to abide by all federal, provincial and municipal laws, so far as these are relevant to student conduct;
2. to refrain from conduct which harms or threatens harm to:
  - the proper functioning of University programs or activities
  - the rights of members or guests of the University
  - the safety and well-being of members or guests of the University
  - the property of the University or of its members or guests;
3. more specifically, to refrain from:
  - assault or threat of assault
  - harassment or discrimination in contravention of the principles articulated in the Ontario Human Rights Code or the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms
  - theft, defacement or destruction of property
  - unauthorized entry or trespass;
4. to abide by the regulations, rules, practices and procedures of the University and its academic and administrative units;
5. to abide by reasonable instructions given orally or in writing by any official of the University authorized to secure compliance with such regulations, rules, practices and procedures, provided that the official is identified and is acting in an official capacity.

Note: Students seeking further information concerning University regulations, rules, practices or procedures should contact the University Complaints Centre (located within the Office of Student Affairs) or the office of their Faculty, department or college. Information may also be obtained from the Office of the Assistant Vice-President, Student Affairs, the University Secretariat, or on the Internet at <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/index.htm>.

IV. Structures and Procedures

A. Governing Principles

Disciplinary matters should be resolved speedily, fairly and if possible informally within the unit of the University where they arise. Where disciplinary matters have their origin in a dispute between individuals, an attempt should be made to use mediative procedures to secure an outcome which is satisfactory to the disputants, as well as consistent with the expectations of the University. However, all disciplinary matters, whatever their origin, ultimately involve injury to the University's mission, reputation, interests or communal well-being, and are subject to these procedures for that reason.

B. Complaints and Investigation

1. A complaint concerning student conduct may be made by any member of the University to a "complaints officer" including:
  - i) Masters, Deans or the Principal of Glendon College, the Director of Libraries, or the Vice-President Academic and Vice-President Students, or a person designated by any of these as the "complaints officer" in a unit under their jurisdiction;
  - ii) the University Complaint Centre (in the Office of Student Affairs); or
  - iii) special complaints centres established to deal with particular concerns, as identified from time to time in Appendix A.
2. a) Upon receipt of a complaint, a complaints officer shall determine whether or not to process it, or to refer it to one of the other complaints officers referred to in paragraph 1. In the event that a complaint may be appropriately dealt with by more than one complaints officer, the complainant shall be so advised, and afforded a choice as to the complaints officer who shall be charged with the matter.
  - b) No complaint shall be deemed to be invalid by reason of having been brought initially to, or thereafter dealt with by, the wrong complaints officer, but every effort shall be made to assist the complainant to carry the matter forward in the manner most convenient and acceptable to the complainant.
  - c) The Vice-President Students shall have responsibility for coordinating all complaints procedures and officers, and for securing the assistance of the Department of Security and Safety Services and other departments, where required.

3. a) Upon determining that the complaint is one which can and should be dealt with, the complaints officer shall reduce the complaint to writing, and make a preliminary investigation of the matter by discussing it with the complainant and making other informal enquiries.
  - b) Where after making a preliminary investigation the complaints officer determines that the complaint is patently without merit or is one to which these Regulations do not apply, the complaints officer shall so inform the complainant (and, where appropriate, the complainee) and, thereafter, take no further action in regard to the complaint.
  - c) If the complaint apparently involves a minor infraction, and in serious cases, if the complainant, the alleged offender and the Vice-President Students consent in writing, the matter shall be dealt with informally within the unit in which it occurred by the Master, Dean or Principal, Director of Libraries, or person designated by them to act as a local hearing officer.
  - d) If the matter apparently involves a serious infraction of University regulations, rules or practices, the Vice-President Students shall be so advised, and the matter shall be dealt with through the formal adjudicative process which is described in the Serious Infraction section of this Regulation, unless the Vice-President Students consents in writing to informal disposition under paragraph c).
  - e) The Vice-President Students may, on the application of a complaints officer or local hearing officer, summarily determine whether a matter involves a minor infraction or a serious infraction, and the matter shall thereafter be dealt with accordingly.
  - f) If the matter can be dealt with pursuant to procedures followed by one of the special complaint centres, as identified from time to time in Appendix A, it should be so dealt with unless the complainant otherwise elects. In the event that a formal adjudication is conducted by one of the special complaint centres listed in Appendix A, it shall be conducted in accordance with the Serious Infraction section of this Regulation.

C. Mediative Procedures

1. Any complaints or hearing officer may, at any stage of the proceeding, and with the written consent of the complainant, the alleged offender and the Vice-President Students, establish a mediative procedure to deal with the matter.
2. The complaints or hearing officer may, upon consent, assume mediative functions, but shall not thereafter perform adjudicative functions in relation to the complaint.
3. As a condition of establishing a mediative procedure, the complainant and the alleged offender must agree to abide by the agreement reached in mediation. Violation of such an agreement shall itself be an act of misconduct, to be dealt with according to this regulation.

D. Minor Infractions

1. Minor infractions shall be dealt with at the college level in the case of all students having a college affiliation, and at the Faculty level for all other students. In the event that a minor infraction involves students from two or more units, or does not relate to a particular college or Faculty, the Vice-President Students may give directions for dealing with the matter, and appoint a local hearing officer for this purpose.
2. In dealing with a minor infraction, the Master, Dean or Principal, Director of Libraries, or person(s) designated by them, shall act as a local hearing officer.
3. The local hearing officer shall advise the alleged offender of the substance of the complaint, and provide a fair, but informal, opportunity for response. After considering the evidence and submissions of the complainant and the alleged offender, and any further evidence or submissions which, in the discretion of the local hearing officer, may be relevant and helpful in disposing of the matter, a written order may be made:
  - i) dismissing the complaint;
  - ii) imposing a minor sanction; or
  - iii) in the event the matter appears to be serious, remitting it to the adjudicative procedure under Part E of these Regulations.

4. The local hearing officer shall provide brief reasons for any order, and provide a copy to the complainant and the offender or alleged offender. If the order is to dismiss the complaint or to impose minor sanctions, in the discretion of the local hearing officer, the reasons may be placed in the offender's file (if sanctions are imposed) or made public within the unit. In the event that the order is one to remit the matter to formal adjudication, the reasons shall form part of the file to be considered by the University Discipline Tribunal, but shall not be made public.

5. The minor sanctions which a local hearing officer may impose shall be limited to one or more of the following:

- i) reprimand;
- ii) public admonition;
- iii) mandatory counselling;
- iv) mandatory apology to the complainant (on pain of more serious sanction); and, in addition to or in lieu of such sanctions, one or more of the following:
  - v) denial of a local privilege (e.g. residence privileges, access to a pub or to licensed functions, participation in local activities)
  - vi) restitution for damage done not exceeding $250, or
  - vii) a fine not exceeding $200, to be paid to the University's student assistance fund.

6. A local hearing officer may order that any sanction imposed be stayed, so long as the offender abstains from the conduct complained of.

7. Decisions made or sanctions imposed by a local hearing officer may not be appealed. Conduct for which minor sanctions have been imposed shall not be the subject of further proceedings, except to the extent that they form part of a pattern of conduct, or aggravating circumstances, in connection with a subsequent proceeding arising out of another complaint.

E. Serious Infractions

1. General

Unless dealt with on consent, by mediative procedures or at the local level, serious infractions shall be dealt with through the formal adjudicative procedures established in this section.

2. Complaints

a) A complaint of a serious infraction shall be referred to the Vice-President Students who, following preliminary investigation, may:

- i) determine that the complaint is patently without merit, or is one to which these Regulations do not apply, or in special circumstances, is not appropriate for adjudication, and shall so inform the complainant (and, where appropriate, the complaine) and, thereafter, take no further action in regard to the complaint;
- ii) refer the complaint to a local hearing officer, if s/he finds the matter is not serious;
- iii) institute mediative procedures, with the consent of the complainant and the alleged offender;
- iv) arrange for prosecution of the matter before a Trial Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal; and
- v) in addition to, or in lieu of, any such action refer the matter to ordinary civil, criminal or other legal processes.

b) In the event that the matter is prosecuted before a Trial Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal, the Vice-President Students shall arrange for its prosecution. The original complainant may be called as a witness, but shall not have responsibility for presenting the case.

3. Hearings

a) Formal adjudication under these Regulations shall be conducted at first instance before a Trial Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal ("the Discipline Tribunal"), established by Presidential Regulation Number 3, as amended from time to time.

b) The Trial Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal shall not be bound to observe strict legal procedures, but in order to ensure that its procedures are as fair as possible in the context of university circumstances and traditions, it shall comply with the following procedural guidelines:

i) the Vice-President Students or her/his representative shall provide the alleged offender and the Trial Panel with a copy of the complaint, a summary of the essential facts alleged against her or him, copies of any documents to be considered by the Trial Panel, a statement of the possible consequences of a finding of guilt, and a copy of all pertinent Regulations;

ii) the original complainant and all parties to the proceeding shall be given reasonable notice of the time and place of the hearing;

iii) all parties to the proceeding shall be afforded the right to be represented by counsel or other advocate, to call evidence and present argument;

iv) proceedings of the Trial Panel shall be open to the members of the York community unless either the complainant or the alleged offender can show cause why the Trial Panel should proceed in camera;

v) the Trial Panel is not bound by legal rules of evidence; it may receive evidence in written or oral form, and shall afford all parties the opportunity to respond to such evidence; where the evidence concerns an important matter about which there is a factual dispute, it should normally be presented orally through witnesses, who should be subject to cross-examination; the Trial Panel may in its discretion nonetheless accept other forms of evidence or decline to permit cross-examination if no other course is practically possible, or if the party challenging such evidence is abusing the process of the Trial Panel;

vi) the Trial Panel may take note of matters generally within the knowledge of members of the University community; it may inform itself by any means it deems appropriate of any facts material to its deliberations, provided the parties to the proceeding are apprised of such facts and afforded an opportunity to respond to them;

vii) in general, the University Discipline Tribunal and an individual Trial Panel may adopt such procedures and make such rulings as will permit it to determine matters fairly but expeditiously in light of the domestic nature of University discipline proceedings, without reference to formal legal procedures, but with due regard for the importance of the outcome from the point of view of the complainant, the alleged offender and the University.

c) The Trial Panel shall produce a written decision stating its factual findings and conclusions, the sanctions (if any) to be imposed, and the procedures available by way of appeal. The decision shall be filed with the Secretary of the University and copies shall be provided to all parties to the proceeding and the original complainant. Unless the Trial Panel otherwise directs, the decision shall be considered a public document.

4. Powers

The Trial Panel may:

- i) at any time, with the consent of the complainant and the alleged offender, remit the matter to mediative procedures;
- ii) dismiss the complaint; or
- iii) uphold the complaint and impose sanctions.

5. Sanctions

If the Trial Panel finds the student guilty of misconduct, it may impose any sanction, commensurate with the offence, which might have been imposed by a local hearing officer; in addition, the Trial Panel may impose any or all of the following sanctions:

- i) rusticate the offender, terminating her or his right to continue as a student of the University permanently or for a fixed or indefinite period;
- ii) order the offender to pay full restitution for any damage caused;
- iii) impose a fine not exceeding $1,000, to be paid to the University's student assistance fund;
- iv) deprive the offender of any University privilege (e.g. apartment or residence, parking, use of licensed premises, use of University facilities or participation in University activities);
- v) prohibit the offender from entering the University campus or any portion thereof, absolutely or except in accordance with stipulated conditions, and to surrender occupation of any University office, laboratory, residence or apartment or other space;

vi) order that any sanction imposed be stayed, so long as the offender abstains from the conduct complained of.

6. Implementation

- a) Unless otherwise ordered, all sanctions imposed by the Trial Panel shall take effect seven days after the date of the decision.
- b) Unless otherwise ordered, all decisions of the Trial Panel shall be entered on the offender's file seven days after the date of the decision.
- c) Violation of any ruling or order of, or any sanction imposed by, the Trial Panel is itself serious misconduct and may give rise to further charges and discipline proceedings.
- d) The Vice-President Students is responsible for the implementation of the decisions of the Trial Panel.

7. Appeals

a) A decision of the Trial Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal may be appealed to an Appeal Panel of the University Discipline Tribunal established by Presidential Regulation Number 3, as amended from time to time. An appeal shall be commenced by written notice stating the grounds of appeal, and served within seven days following the decision of the Trial Panel upon:

- i) the parties to the proceeding,
- ii) the original complainant, and
- iii) the Secretary of the University.

b) The grounds of appeal must include one of the following allegations:

- i) that the Trial Panel had no power under University regulations, rules or practices to reach the decision or impose the sanctions it did,
- ii) that the Trial Panel made a fundamental procedural error seriously prejudicial to the appellant, or
- iii) that the appellant is entitled to relief on compassionate or other grounds not considered by the Trial Panel.

c) Within seven days of serving the notice of appeal, the appellant must provide a written statement setting forth the basic grounds upon which it intends to rely. Having done so, the appellant may apply to the Appeal Panel to stay the operation of any sanctions imposed.

d) The Appeal Panel shall convene a hearing at the earliest possible date to deal with the request for a stay of sanctions. Where some more immediate response is required, application may be made to the Chair of the University Discipline Tribunal or a member of the University Discipline Tribunal designated by the Chair.

e) The Appeal Panel shall hear the appeal within four weeks, and shall:

- i) give the parties and the original complainant notice of the time and place of the appeal hearing, copies of any documents provided by the appellant in support of the appeal, and any regulations governing its procedures;
- ii) afford the parties to the appeal, in its discretion, an opportunity to present oral or written argument or both, but not to present evidence.

f) The Appeal Panel shall render a written decision disposing of the appeal by

- allowing the appeal,
- affirming or modifying the decision,
- affirming, reducing or increasing the sanctions appealed against, or
- requiring that a Trial Panel conduct a new hearing or reconsider some pertinent aspect of its decision.

g) The decision of the Appeal Panel shall be filed with the Secretary of the University and copies shall be provided to all parties to the proceeding, to the original complainant, and to the members of the original Trial Panel. Unless the Appeal Panel otherwise directs, the decision shall be a public document.

8. Presidential Review

a) Within seven days of the decision of the Appeal Panel, any party may submit a petition in writing requesting that the President review the decision on the grounds that the Appeal Panel had no power to reach the decision that it did, or that it has committed a fundamental procedural error prejudicial to the rights of the petitioning party.

b) The petition must state the full grounds upon which the petitioner relies, and all arguments in support thereof. It must be served upon the other parties who must submit a full reply within seven days thereafter.

c) While the parties may make written submissions, they will not be afforded the opportunity for oral argument before the President. The President may appoint an examiner to review all or specified aspects of the case, and to make findings and recommendations to assist the President in disposing of the petition. Based upon the submissions of the parties, the findings and recommendations of the examiner, and a review of the decision of the Appeal Panel, the President may:

- dismiss the petition and affirm the decision of the Appeal Panel,
- grant the petition and vary or rescind the decision of the Appeal Panel,
- affirm, reduce or increase the sanctions imposed,
- order that the matter or certain aspects of it be reheard or reconsidered by an appropriate panel of the University Discipline Tribunal, or
- make such other disposition of the matter as seems appropriate in all the circumstances.

d) The decision of the President shall be final and binding, and there shall be no further recourse for the parties or the original complainant.

e) Copies of the decision shall be provided to the parties, the original complainant and members of the original Trial and Appeal Panels, filed with the Secretary of the University, entered on the file of the offender (if found guilty), and shall be a public document.

F. Emergency Orders

(Presidential Regulation 2 is amended as follows, effective June 30, 1992)

1. Preamble

The purpose of this regulation is to permit the University to act promptly and effectively to safeguard the community or its members.

2. Special Circumstances

The Vice-President Students may make Emergency Orders in the following limited circumstances:

- i) when the he/she has reason to believe that a student has caused another member or other members of the University to fear for their own safety or security;
- ii) when the he/she has reason to believe that a student has caused or may cause serious disruption of a class, residence, library, examination, or study area;
- iii) when the he/she has reason to believe that a student has committed or may commit serious damage to the property of the University; and in any such circumstances, when having regard to urgent considerations of safety and security he/she has reason to believe that it is not prudent or practicable to proceed by way of formal complaint and adjudication under these regulations.

3. Emergency Procedures

Where the Vice-President Students makes an Emergency Order, he or she shall make reasonable efforts to give the student notice, which notice may be orally in person or by telephone, or in writing. The Vice-President Students may act as expeditiously as necessary and is not required to hold a hearing prior to making an Emergency Order.

4. Effect of Emergency Orders

a) Emergency Orders may require the student absolutely or subject to defined conditions:

- i) to abstain from coming on campus, or from entering specific classes or places, or from communicating with specific persons;
- ii) to move out of a campus residence;
- iii) to provide a written undertaking of behaviour;
- iv) to abstain from any other action on campus when, in the opinion of the Vice-President Students, such an order is necessary to avoid or alleviate the apprehended or actual harm;

b) An Emergency Order shall be:

- i) effective immediately on being made;

- ii) made in writing and as soon as possible given in person to the student or sent by registered mail or delivered by hand to the student's place of residence;
  - iii) in force for a defined period of not more than 60 days or until a formal hearing under these regulations is convened, whichever is the shorter;
- c) Violation of an Emergency Order or an Undertaking given thereunder shall be an act of serious misconduct under this regulation.

5. Further Proceedings

- a) When an Emergency Order is made the Vice-President Students shall at the same time request the University Disciplinary Tribunal to convene a formal hearing.
- b) As its first task the tribunal shall summarily determine whether the Emergency Order should continue in force or be suspended pending a full hearing and determination of the matter.
- c) If the tribunal decides to suspend the Emergency Order, it may decide to do so absolutely, upon certain conditions, or for a period of time.
- d) Notwithstanding suspension of the Emergency Order the tribunal may reinstate the Emergency Order at any time during the course of a hearing hereunder, for the reasons and upon the terms set out in Section 2 hereof.
- e) The tribunal shall conduct a formal adjudication on the basis that the Emergency order constitutes a Complaint of a "serious infraction" under these regulations and the provisions and procedures pertaining to such a hearing shall apply.
- f) The tribunal shall at the conclusion of its deliberations, make a determination as to whether the Special Circumstances set forth in Section 2 continue to exist. The tribunal may impose any of the sanctions available to be imposed by a panel hearing a serious infraction, or any of the terms and conditions included or which could have been included in the Emergency Order.

Presidential Regulation Number 3 - Student Discipline - Complaints and Adjudication

I. University Complaint Centre

The Vice-President Academic and Vice-President Students shall establish in the Office of Student Affairs a University Complaint Centre. The Centre may receive complaints concerning all aspects of student non-academic conduct, including those matters for which special procedures have been provided, shall advise complainants of the alternative forms of redress which may be available to them, and shall assist them in pursuing the form of redress preferred. The Complaint Centre shall also be a "complaints officer" within the meaning of that term in Presidential Regulation Number 2, and as such may itself process complaints.

II. University Discipline Tribunal

- a) The University Discipline Tribunal shall exercise the powers delegated to it under Presidential Regulation Number 2.
- b) The Tribunal shall comprise 18 members, to be appointed for staggered two-year terms by the President, including:
  - i) three faculty members and three students nominated by the Dean of Osgoode Hall Law School;
  - ii) three faculty members nominated by the Council of Masters;
  - iii) three student members nominated by the York Federation of Students (YFS) following consultation with all duly constituted student governments;
  - iv) three faculty members and three student members nominated by the Vice-President Students.
- c) Nominations and appointments shall be made so as to effect a balance of male and female members on the Tribunal and, over time, among the categories. Normally, male and female members shall be nominated and appointed in succession to each other.
- d) The Tribunal shall sit in panels of three members, chosen by lot by the Secretary of the University, to hear trials and appeals. At least one member of each panel shall be a student, and one a faculty member, and at least one member of each panel shall be a male and one a female.

- e) In any case involving a student of Glendon College who wishes proceedings to be conducted in French, and in any other case where it may be necessary so to do, the President may appoint members ad hoc as required. The quorum requirements of paragraph d) shall apply in the case of such ad hoc appointments.
- f) No one shall sit as a member of a panel if, in the opinion of the Chair of the Discipline Tribunal, there are reasonable grounds to believe that that member will not be, or be seen to be, impartial. No one shall sit as a member of an Appeal Panel who was a member of the Trial Panel which heard the matter under appeal.
- g) The Chair of the University Discipline Tribunal shall designate a president for each panel from amongst its members.

III. General

- a) The University Complaint Centre, the University Discipline Tribunal and all other complaints officers and local hearing officers appointed under Presidential Regulation Number 2, shall have power to adopt procedures and policies, and to make rulings and give directions, to enable them to discharge their respective functions. All such policies and procedures should be recorded in writing, approved by the Vice-President Students, acting under the direction of the President, and filed in the office of the Secretary of the University.
- b) When a vacancy occurs, or insufficient members of the University Discipline Tribunal are available to act, the President may appoint additional members ad hoc to the University Discipline Tribunal.
- c) The members of the University Discipline Tribunal shall meet annually in April to select the Chair for the coming academic year. The Chair shall have responsibility for ensuring the effective operation of the Tribunal. The Secretary of the University or his/her delegate is ex officio the secretary of the Tribunal.
- d) The members of the University Discipline Tribunal, and of all bodies and individuals concerned with discipline, may meet from time to time to discuss general questions relating to student discipline with a view to ensuring that the system of student discipline at York is coherent, fair and efficient.

IV. The Vice-President Academic and Vice-President Students

The Vice-President Academic and Vice-President Students of the University, acting on behalf of the President, shall have administrative responsibility for the operation of the system of student discipline. The Vice-President Students shall report annually to the President on the operation of the system, and may make recommendations for its improvement.

Senate Policy on Academic Honesty

A. Introduction

Conduct that violates the ethical or legal standards of the University community or of one's program or specialization may result in serious consequences. The Policy on Academic Honesty is a reaffirmation and clarification for members of the University of the general obligation to maintain the highest standards of academic honesty. It outlines the general responsibility of faculty to foster acceptable standards of academic conduct and of the student to be mindful of and abide by such standards.

B. The Role of Faculty Members and Students

A clear sense of academic honesty and responsibility is fundamental to good scholarship. Faculty members should include consideration of academic honesty in both courses and research settings. Such guidance is particularly important for students who assume independent roles as course assistants or begin to conduct their own original work. Every student has a responsibility to abide by these standards and, when in doubt, to consult with faculty members in order to determine a proper course of action.

C. Pressures that May Lead to Academic Misconduct

University education includes demands that might tempt some to violate standards of academic honesty. There are pressures on students to achieve high grades, obtain financial support, meet research or publication deadlines, gain recognition from the scholarly community, and secure employment. Although faculty members can help students to maintain academic honesty despite these pressures, each student has final responsibility for her or his academic honesty.

D. Serious Offences Against the Standards of Academic Honesty

Note: This summary is not exhaustive. In some cases the University regulations on non-academic discipline may apply. Some academic offences constitute offences under the Criminal Code of Canada; a student charged under University regulations may also be subject to criminal charges. Charges may also be laid against York University students for matters which arise at other educational institutions.

Cheating: Cheating is the attempt to gain an improper advantage in an academic evaluation. Among the forms this kind of dishonesty can take are; obtaining a copy of an examination before it is officially available or learning an examination question before it is officially available; copying another person's answer to an examination question; consulting an unauthorized source during an examination; obtaining assistance by means of documentary, electronic or other aids which are not approved by the instructor; or changing a score or a record of an examination result.

It is also improper to submit the work one has done for one class or project to a second class, or as a second project, without getting the informed consent of the relevant instructors. Acceptance of one piece of work that is submitted for two classes must be arranged beforehand. It is understood that students may wish to build on previous research in the preparation of a paper but students must also be aware that such a practice may run afoul of the intention of the assignment. In all such cases the student must discuss the matter with the instructors and receive written permission beforehand.

Impersonation: It is a breach of academic honesty to have someone impersonate one's self in class, in a test or examination, or in connection with any other type of assignment in a course. Both the impersonator and the individual impersonated may be charged.

Plagiarism and other misappropriation of the work of another: Plagiarism is the representation of another person's ideas or writing as one's own. The most obvious form of this kind of dishonesty is the presentation of all or part of another person's published work as something one has written. However, paraphrasing another's writing without proper acknowledgement may also be considered plagiarism. It is also a violation of academic honesty to represent another's artistic or technical work or creation as one's own. Just as there are standards to which one must adhere in the preparation and publication of written works, there are standards to which one must adhere in the creation and presentation of music, drawings, designs, dance, photography and other artistic and technical works. In different forms, these constitute a theft of someone else's work. This is not to say that students should not use the work of others with the proper acknowledgement.

Improper research practices: Many academic activities may involve the collecting, analyzing, interpreting and publishing of information or data obtained in the scientific laboratory or in the field. Opportunities to deviate from acceptable standards may be more numerous in research than in the classroom, as research activities may be supervised less closely. Forms of improper research practices include the dishonest reporting of investigative results either through fabrication or falsification, taking or using the research results of others without permission or due acknowledgment, misrepresentation of research results or the methods used, the selective reporting or omission of conflicting information or data to support a particular notion or hypothesis. Furthermore, all researchers have a responsibility to refrain from practices that may unfairly inhibit the research of others now or later. This responsibility extends to York University students in other institutions or countries.

Dishonesty in publication: In most instances the objective of scholarly research is the dissemination of information, usually in the form of a written and published work. Indeed, in many disciplines career advancement is often based largely on the number and quality of an individual's publications. It is a violation of academic honesty to knowingly publish information that will mislead or deceive readers. This includes the falsification or fabrication of data or information, as well as the failure to give credit to collaborators as joint authors or the listing as authors of others who have not contributed to the work. Plagiarism is also considered a form of dishonesty in publication.

Premature oral or written dissemination of information: Information or experimental data that was collected with a member of the faculty or another student, and other works that involved the participation of a faculty member or another student should not be submitted for publication prematurely, without appropriate permission.

Abuse of confidentiality: A student may be asked to help in the evaluation of confidential grant proposals, award applications, or manuscripts that will be or may have been submitted for possible funding or publication. Taking or releasing the ideas or data of others that were given with the expectation that they are confidential is inappropriate. Unless one is authorized to do so, it is improper to obtain a password assigned to another or to copy or modify a data file or program belonging to someone else. Proper authorization means being granted permission either by the owner or originator of that material, or by a faculty member, or an appropriate administrator. Similarly, one should not violate the integrity of a computer system to harass another user or operator, damage software or hardware or evade appropriate monetary charges.

Falsification or unauthorized modification of an academic record: It is a breach of academic honesty to falsify, fabricate, or in any other way modify a student examination, transcript, grade, letter of recommendation, or related document. Other breaches of academic honesty include making false claims or statements, submitting false information, altering official documents or records, attempting or causing others to do or attempt any of the above, with intent to mislead an instructor, an academic unit, program, office or committee as to a student's academic status, qualifications, actions or preparation. Failure to divulge previous attendance at another postsecondary educational institution on an admissions application is also a violation.

Obstruction of the academic activities of another: It is a violation of academic honesty to interfere with the scholarly activities of another in order to harass or gain unfair academic advantage. This includes interference or tampering with experimental data, with a human or animal subject, with a written or other creation (e.g. a painting, sculpture or film), with a chemical used for scientific study, or with any other object of study.

Aiding or abetting academic misconduct: Knowingly aiding or abetting anyone in a breach of academic honesty shall itself be considered misconduct. This may include assisting others in the preparation of work submitted for appraisal or offering for sale essays or other assignments with the intention that these works would be submitted for appraisal.

E. Sanctions for Academic Misconduct

When verified, a violation of academic honesty may lead to one or more of the following penalties:

- (a) oral or written disciplinary warning or reprimand;
- (b) a make-up assignment or examination;
- (c) lower grade or failure on the assignment or examination;
- (d) failure in the course;
- (e) suspension from the University for a definite period<sup>1</sup>;
- (f) notation on transcript<sup>2</sup>;
- (g) withholding or rescinding a York degree, diploma or certificate<sup>3</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> A student may petition to the Senate Appeals Committee to have the notation removed after a period of five years from the date at which the notation was entered.

3 Where a Faculty decides to rescind a degree, diploma or certificate, the decision, with supporting documentation, must be forwarded to the Senate Appeals Committee for approval on behalf of Senate.

A permanent record of the offence will be placed in the student's academic file. This record is for internal academic purposes only.

Penalty Guidelines

It is in the interest of all concerned that students who are being penalized for a breach of academic honesty receive equitable and consistent treatment across the University. To this end, a range of penalties for each offence has been developed which reflects an appropriate realm of sanctions for the variations of each offence. The range has been developed to guide faculties in imposing penalties, and is a reflection of the distinction and limitations of certain Faculties' academic regulations. Senate does not expect the exact penalty to be imposed for the same offence on each and every occasion around the University, as it is recognized that many factors come into play in each individual case. It is necessary, however, that all students found to have committed a specific offence be faced with the same penalty options in the first instance. It is not the intention of these guidelines to restrict the authority or flexibility of faculty committees in imposing the sanctions as listed above in Section E; faculties will, in each case, exercise their discretion, taking into consideration the relevant factors, as outlined below. For the benefit of students, however, faculty committees which impose a sanction outside of the range of penalties (but still within the options outlined above) are encouraged to provide a thorough explanation in their written decision as to why it was deemed warranted.

Factors to be Considered in Imposing Penalties:

Although similar infractions are commonly committed by students University-wide, the circumstances surrounding each may vary to a significant degree. The penalty imposed should reflect, reasonably, these circumstances. Important factors to be considered by committees in imposing penalties or reviewing penalty recommendations are:

- (i) Extent of violation: The actions which constitute specific offenses of academic honesty (i.e. plagiarism, cheating) vary in terms of severity. Some instances of academic dishonesty constitute only minor infractions while others represent the most extreme form of violation. Penalties should correspond to the nature of the offence.
- (ii) Basic considerations:
  - (a) The level of the student's academic experience is important in determining the degree to which they should be penalized.
  - (b) Extenuating circumstances which a student faced at the time in question may help explain the action taken on their part, and due weight should be attached to those circumstances.
  - (c) If the student admits guilt, accepts responsibility for their action, and is amenable to educative remedies, committees may find it justified to levy a less severe penalty.
- (iii) Prior/multiple incidents: If the offence is a second (or subsequent) one for the student and/or is in combination with another offence, then a severe penalty should be considered.

Note: penalties may be imposed singularly or in combination for any offence.

Procedures Governing Breach of Academic Honesty

Each Faculty must ensure that its procedures are consistent with the following standards. Faculty procedures must be approved by the Senate Appeals Committee, published in the Calendar and available at the appropriate Faculty offices.

A. Purpose

These procedures are available when a York student, a York graduate, a former York student, or a student who is applying to take, is taking or has taken a York course is accused of violating the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. (Hereafter, "student" includes all of the above-noted categories.) Students and faculty are encouraged to discuss and, where possible, resolve their differences informally. However, a breach of academic honesty is one of the most serious offences within the University. "It would be impossible to think of any greater insult to the integrity of an academic institution or to an academic community than that of dishonesty whether it is called intellectual dishonesty or fraud. One can therefore sympathize with the desire to uncover it and treat it with the condemnation it deserves when it is thought to exist. This gives rise to an obligation to refrain from concluding that it exists lightly. It creates a concomitant duty to give a person accused of dishonesty the benefit of reasonable safeguards to enable him or her to meet the serious accusations that it entails. (Krever, J., (1985) 11 OAC 72)" The following procedures are provided by the Senate Appeals Committee for investigating and resolving cases of alleged violations of the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

B. Jurisdiction

Allegations of Breach of Academic Honesty in respect of courses are dealt with by the Faculty offering the course. The student's home Faculty has observer status at a hearing and may make submissions as to penalty. Any other breaches of academic honesty which occur with respect to University affairs will be reported by the administrator or committee to the appropriate Faculty. Should a matter arise for which there appears to be no clear Faculty jurisdiction, the Senate Appeals Committee may exercise its jurisdiction and make appropriate arrangements.

C. Initiating a Complaint

1. A complaint alleging violation of the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty shall be submitted in writing to the appropriate office as soon as is reasonably possible. The complaint shall contain a full, but concise, statement of the facts as perceived by the complainant.
2. The responsibility for detecting potential academic dishonesty on assignments, term papers, essays etc. lies with the person evaluating the material. The evaluator, if other than the course director, shall retain possession of the suspect material and shall provide a written report, together with the confiscated material, to the course director.
3. The responsibility for detecting potential academic dishonesty in an examination lies with the invigilator who is normally the course director or delegate. In cases of suspected impersonation, the invigilator shall ask the student concerned to remain after the examination and shall request appropriate University identification or shall otherwise attempt to identify the student. In other cases of suspected breach of academic honesty the invigilator shall confiscate any suspect material. In all cases, the student will be allowed to complete the examination, and the invigilator, if other than the course director, shall give a full report, together with any confiscated material, to the course director.

D. Faculty Member Handling of an Alleged Violation

1. It is the responsibility of faculty members to instruct students as to appropriate academic behaviour and to maintain the academic integrity of their relationship with students. However, faculty members should not be called upon to prosecute students, determine guilt or innocence of students or to impose punishment on students, whether that punishment is mild or severe. When a faculty member in a course, or having or sharing responsibility for a student's research, examination, or dissertation preparation, becomes aware of a possible violation of academic honesty, the faculty member should investigate the matter and, if there are reasonable and probable grounds for the laying of a charge, do so by contacting the appropriate Faculty office. If the faculty member is not the Course Director, the Course Director shall be informed as soon as possible and shall take charge of the matter. Faculties may empower a Faculty official to take charge of the investigation of an allegation received from a faculty member.

2. It is the responsibility of the faculty member to collect or assist in the collection of the necessary information and to be prepared to act as a witness in the matter. It is the responsibility of the Faculty official to present the case to the committee hearing the charge. It is the responsibility of the committee hearing the matter to determine guilt or innocence and, if necessary, settle on a penalty after hearing submissions from both parties.

3. In determining whether or not there are reasonable and probable grounds to proceed with a charge of breach of academic honesty the faculty member may arrange an informal meeting with the student to discuss the matter. At this meeting the student may be accompanied by a representative and the faculty member may have another person present. During any such investigation, the faculty member should proceed quickly but, if interviewing a student, should give the student at least seven calendar days' notice of such a meeting.

a) If the action was clearly unintentional, the faculty member may take informal remedial steps so that the student may correct the mistake and avoid its recurrence. In such instances, no official response is required and no record should be kept.

b) If the student wishes to admit to a breach of academic honesty, a document signed by the student and the faculty member which includes the admission, a summary of the matter and a joint submission as to penalty may be forwarded to the committee which deals with allegations of breach of academic honesty. In such cases, the agreed-upon penalty may not exceed failure in the course. The committee receiving such a joint submission will normally impose the penalty suggested but if it is of the opinion that some other penalty would be more appropriate it must arrange for a hearing of the matter.

4. If the charge relates to work already presented for evaluation the faculty member may elect to defer the evaluation of the work until after the matter has been dealt with. Normally, any evaluation of a work which relates to a charge will not be entered into the student's record until after the matter is concluded.

E. Faculty Initiation of a Hearing

In dealing with allegations of breach of academic honesty, Faculties shall follow the guidelines indicated below.

1. A Faculty may wish to delegate authority to hear allegations of breach of academic honesty to a department, division or program committee or have such allegations heard by a Faculty-level committee. All committees must proceed according to the procedures contained in this document.

2. If the committee which first hears allegations of breach of academic honesty is a department, division or program committee, Faculty procedures must specify that appeals against decisions of that committee are considered by a Faculty appeal committee which must proceed according to the Senate Appeals Committee Procedures for hearing appeals [Senate, October 1985]. Any appeals of decisions of a Faculty-level appeal committee are considered by the Senate Appeals Committee.

3. If the committee which first hears allegations of breach of academic honesty is a Faculty-level committee, Faculty procedures may specify either that appeals against decisions of that committee are considered by a Faculty appeal committee or by the Senate Appeals Committee.

4. Once an investigation begins, a student may not drop or be deregistered from the course for any reason until a final decision is reached.

5. Transcripts will not be released to a student until a decision is made. A request by a student for a transcript to be sent to another institution or to a potential employer will be processed, but, if the student is found guilty of a breach of academic honesty, the recipients of the transcript will be so informed.

6. A student who is suspended and is eligible to graduate may not apply to graduate until a suspension expires or is lifted.

7. The Faculty shall give each party a written copy of the charge, a copy of the materials submitted by the faculty member which includes a summary of the evidence, a copy of the procedures to be followed and not less than 21 calendar days' notification of the time and location of the hearing. If the student wishes to file a written response to the charge it must be received within 14 calendar days of the date of the sending of the information, and such response must be forwarded to the faculty member. Both parties must inform the committee of their intention to call witnesses and the names of these witnesses at least two business days prior to the hearing.

8. A student who acknowledges the accuracy of the charges may waive the right to a hearing by submitting a written statement that both admits guilt and waives the right to a hearing. In this statement, the student may make submissions as to appropriate penalty and give reasons.

9. All hearings are subject to the requirements of natural justice. Only the committee members, a recording secretary, the complainant, the accused, each party's adviser(s) (who may be lawyers), and the witnesses may be present. Witnesses (unless parties) shall be present at the hearing only while testifying. Exceptions to this policy may be made at the discretion of the committee. The committee shall arrange for a recording secretary to take notes of the hearing. A record prepared from these notes will constitute the official record of the proceedings. Parties may, if they wish, arrange for their own written record of the hearing to be taken. The Chair of the committee has full authority to assure an orderly and expeditious hearing. Any person who disrupts a hearing, or who fails to adhere to the rulings of the committee, may be asked to leave.

10. The committee shall consider the facts and circumstances of the case and determine guilt or innocence. A student who is accused of a breach of academic honesty shall be presumed innocent until guilt, based upon clear and compelling evidence, has been determined by the committee. If guilt is determined, the committee shall hear submissions as to the appropriate penalty and then decide the penalty.

11. If a party fails to appear at a hearing after proper notice, the hearing may proceed, a decision may be made and sanctions may be imposed, unless the party can establish, in advance of the hearing and to the satisfaction of the committee, that there are circumstances beyond her or his control which make an appearance impossible or burdensome. Except as noted here, no evidence shall be presented unless the accused student is present.

12. Parties must be allowed a full and fair opportunity to present their evidence and to contradict the evidence presented against them. Parties are allowed to cross-examine each other in matters related to the charge. The committee has the discretion to make rulings as to admissibility of evidence or the suitability of cross-examination. The committee is not bound by formal rules of evidence applicable in courts of law.

13. When there is no further relevant testimony to be presented by either party or their witnesses, each party may present a final argument. Following this the parties shall be excused without further discussion. The committee shall then enter into closed session and each member shall vote on the question of guilt or innocence. A "guilty" verdict requires a simple majority vote.

14. Following a "guilty" verdict, the committee shall next allow both parties to make a presentation as to suitable penalty. Normally, it is only at this point that the committee may be made aware of other academic offenses in the student's file. The committee will again enter into closed session and decide upon the sanction. A motion to impose a particular penalty, as outlined in Section E of the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty, shall require a simple majority vote. The decision of the committee, as described in F.8, must be communicated to the parties in writing, delivered by hand or by mail.

15. If the student is found to have committed a breach of academic honesty in work related to a funded research project, the Vice President (Academic Affairs) shall be notified and the Vice President or a designee shall determine whether to notify the granting agency.

F. The Order of the Hearing

The following indicates the order in which a committee should proceed when hearing a charge of breach of academic honesty. The committee may alter the order in the interests of fairness.

1. The Chair shall:
  - (a) introduce the parties and members of the committee;
  - (b) identify the nature of the case and evidence before the committee.
2. The presenter shall:
  - (a) briefly describe the case to be presented, in an opening statement;
  - (b) present support for the charge through oral testimony of complainant and witnesses, and through documentary evidence;
  - (c) committee members normally ask questions at the end of each person's testimony but may interrupt if clarity is required;
  - (d) The student or representative may ask questions of each witness at the close of that person's testimony.
3. The student or representative shall:
  - (a) briefly reply and indicate main arguments in an opening statement;
  - (b) present support for her/his case through oral testimony of student and witnesses as well as documentary evidence;
  - (c) committee members normally ask questions at the end of each person's testimony but may interrupt if clarity is required;
  - (d) The presenter may ask questions of each witness at the close of that person's testimony.
4. The presenter shall be allowed to present testimony or other evidence in reply to new issues raised in the student's case which were not raised in the original presentation.
5. At any time the committee may require other witnesses or the production of other written or documentary evidence and may, if it sees fit, adjourn the hearing after allowing both parties the opportunity to speak to the adjournment.
6. Following the presentation of evidence, the parties are entitled to make closing arguments and to summarize briefly the main points of their cases, but no new arguments or evidence may be introduced. This will proceed in the following order: the student followed by the presenter.
7. The committee will move into closed sessions for deliberations and decision. If there is a finding of guilt, the committee will then consider submissions as to appropriate penalty, then return to closed sessions and decide on the appropriate penalty.
8. The written decision of the committee shall include:
  - (a) the names of committee members and all who appeared;
  - (b) a summary of the cases of the parties;
  - (c) the committee's findings of fact, decision and reasons;
  - (d) the route of appeal.

Petitions and Grade Reappraisals

Guidelines for the Consideration of Petitions/ Appeals by Faculty Committees

These guidelines should inform the actions and decisions of Faculty committees and administrative personnel in responding to student petitions and appeals. They are not intended to direct the decisions of the Faculty in these matters; jurisdiction to waive academic regulations, extend guidelines and reappraise work clearly resides with Faculties in the first instance. These guidelines are to advise the relevant parties in their work to help foster equitable and consistent decisions across the University. It is recognized that the nature (performance, professional, graduate) and size of the various Faculties make it highly improbable to have uniform procedures and processes. There are areas in which greater consistency among the Faculties' processes can be achieved and it is to that end that these guidelines are proposed.

1. Structure

Faculties may, and are encouraged, to have a two-tiered structure for the consideration of petitions: a) a petitions committee/associate dean and b) an administratively approved process.

a) Petitions Committee/Associate Dean: As all Faculties have agreed to consider requests for exceptions from Faculty regulations, there shall be a committee or a senior academic administrator charged with the responsibility of reviewing the petitions and rendering decisions on the basis of the reasons and supporting documentation provided by the student.

b) Administratively Approved Petitions: To help offset large caseloads, petitions may be recommended for approval by the Petitions Officer (or equivalent) and confirmed by the Chair of the Petitions Committee (or designate)<sup>1</sup>. In accordance with the general considerations for granting petitions (set out below), the Petitions Officer shall identify cases which clearly meet the considerations and present them as such to the Chair for confirmation. All cases which are not clear and require discretion are forwarded to the Petitions Committee for a decision. No petitions will be administratively refused on the basis of their merits. Students failing to provide the necessary documentation requested by the Faculty within a specific time frame will not have their petition considered, and the Petitions Officer shall inform the student in writing in such cases.

2. Principles

a) Procedures: Each Faculty shall have written procedural rules that are widely available to students (e.g. in the calendar, on the University Web site, at the Registrar's Office). Faculty petition/appeal procedures must be consistent with the Senate guidelines.

b) Deadlines: The Senate approved policy on the deadline for submitting a petition for late withdrawal is that "Normally petitions for late withdrawal from a course will only be considered if they are submitted within 30 days of the last day of classes [of the relevant course]. Such petitions may be considered for a period of up to one year if they are based on special circumstances." The Senate policy on the deadline for deferred standing requests is "Normally requests for deferred standing must be communicated within one week following a missed examination or the last day to submit course work." The period during which the University is officially closed for December holidays and on statutory holidays throughout the year is not counted in the determination of deadline days.

c) Representation: Appellants have the right to have a representative assist in the preparation of written submissions and, if granted an appearance before a committee, represent them at that meeting.

d) Jurisdiction: Students shall petition all matters to their home Faculty with the exception of grade reappraisals which are considered by the department/Faculty offering the course. Otherwise, Faculties shall consider requests for exceptions to all Faculty regulations.

e) Bias: Any member of a petitions/appeals committee or a person reviewing a petition who has a lack of neutrality on the issue to be decided shall excuse him/herself from the consideration of that case. An appearance of bias or a reasonable apprehension of bias is also sufficient for a party to disqualify her/himself from considering a petition.

f) Appearances: Students and/or their representatives may appear before a committee only at the discretion or invitation of the Committee.

g) Anonymity: Requests from students for anonymity in the petitions process should be honoured. Students provided the opportunity to appear before a committee, however, will have to decide whether they wish to forego anonymity. Confidentiality in this process shall always be maintained.

h) Decisions: To help fulfill the requirements for natural justice and fairness in adjudicative processes, petitions and appeals committees/Administrators rendering decisions on petitions must give reasons in writing for the decision. Without reasons, a party may have to speculate why an adverse decision was made and may not be able to decide whether to appeal. Similarly, a subsequent committee or a reviewing court may have difficulty understanding the rationale for a decision without reasons and may draw inferences adverse to the initial committee from its failure to give reasons.

i) Appeals: The route of appeal for students shall be included in the written decision.

Principles Regarding Grade Reappraisals

1. Students may, with sufficient academic grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised (which may mean the review of specific pieces of tangible work). Non-academic grounds are not relevant for grade reappraisals; in such cases, students are advised to petition to their home Faculty. Students are normally expected to first contact the course director to discuss the grade received and to request that their tangible work be reviewed. Tangible work may include written, graphic, digitized, modelled, video recording or audio recording formats, but not oral work.

Students need to be aware that a request for a grade reappraisal may result in the original grade being raised, lowered or confirmed.

2. In the event that students are still not satisfied with the final grade or the course director is not available to review the work, they may submit in writing a formal request for a grade reappraisal to the department or unit in which the course is offered*. The Senate approved deadline for submitting grade reappraisals is within three weeks of the release of final grade reports in any term. Exercising discretion about minor delays in meeting the deadline which result from slow mail delivery or extraordinary circumstances is reasonable.

*The exceptions are as follows:

- for Osgoode, Schulich, and the Faculty of Education the requests for reappraisal are submitted to the office of the relevant associate dean.

3. If the condition of sufficient academic grounds has been met, the relevant department committee, department Chair, associate dean or graduate/undergraduate program director will be responsible for ensuring that the work is reappraised by an appropriate faculty member, ensuring anonymity of both the student and the reappraiser, and for communicating the result of the reappraisal (including the reappraiser's comments) and the route of appeal to both the student and the course director. The reappraiser will be given the nature of the assignment and the rationale for the original grade. It is expected that every effort will be made to render the decision within 30 days of the reviewer having received the work.

4. Parties to the decision may appeal a negative decision on a request for a reappraisal, or the result of the reappraisal itself to a Faculty-level appeals committee in the Faculty in which the course is offered (or, in the case of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, to the dean) only on the ground of procedural irregularity. Procedural irregularity is defined as:

- actions taken or not taken by a department, Faculty, graduate program officers, committees, or members with respect to the previous disposition of the case which violate or nullify one or all of the following:
  - a) normal and written procedures of the University, Faculty, graduate program or department concerned;
  - b) consistency in the Faculty's, graduate program's or department's handling of cases substantially similar to that being appealed;
  - c) principles of equity, natural justice or fairness, whether or not such violation occurred in accord with written or customary procedures. Appeals based on allegations of these last procedural irregularities should allege and demonstrate obvious bias or other misbehaviour on the part of the officers or agents of the University and for which redress was not provided by an authority which considered the case prior to the appeal.

Appeals must be submitted within 21 days of notification of the decision. Faculty committees may waive that deadline when special circumstances are established by the appellant. No member of the Faculty committee shall consider an appeal if s/he considered the matter at an earlier level. At the discretion of the Faculty committee, the student and/or the faculty member may be invited to meet with the committee to present his/her case orally. The committee's decision will be taken in camera and it is expected that parties will be informed of the decision in writing within 30 days of the filing of the appeal.

5. Parties to the appeal at the Faculty-level may file an application for leave to appeal the decision to the Senate Appeals Committee (SAC) on the ground of procedural irregularity at the Faculty-level. Applications for leave to appeal must be submitted within 21 days of the notification of the Faculty decision. SAC may waive that deadline when special circumstances are established by the appellant. No member of SAC shall consider the application if s/he considered the matter at an earlier level. As explained in the SAC procedures, parties may appear before the committee if leave to appeal is granted to make oral submissions on the ground of procedural irregularity. The committee's decision will be taken in camera and it is expected that the parties will be informed of the decision in writing within 30 days of the filing of the application.

6. Parties to the decision of the Senate Appeals Committee may apply to the committee to have the matter reconsidered if there is evidence of procedural irregularity on the part of SAC. Applications must be submitted within 21 days of the posting of the decision. SAC reserves the right to waive this deadline in special circumstances. Requests for reconsideration of a SAC decision will be considered by a panel of SAC members who did not serve on the panel first hearing the matter; it is expected that a decision will be rendered within 30 days of its submission.

Deferred Standing Agreement

The Deferred Standing Agreement (DSA) is a process by which students who are either unable to write their final examination at the scheduled time or submit term work before the Faculty deadline to submit final grades reach an agreement with the course director about granting deferred standing in the course and setting a date for writing the exam or submitting the outstanding work. Using the standard DSA form, it is the responsibility of students to make arrangements with the course director to complete the course and file the DSA form with the appropriate departmental/unit office by the deadline specified on the form. Course directors have the option not to consider requests for deferred standing; in such cases students must file a petition with the relevant Faculty-level committee for consideration within the established deadline.

Students' Responsibilities in the Petition/Appeal Processes

The University has established regulations, procedures and deadlines through its legislative bodies to which students must adhere. Students are expected to monitor their progress in courses, taking into account their personal and academic circumstances, and to make the necessary adjustments to their workload to meet the requirements and deadlines. The University recognizes, however, that specific circumstances may justify waiving the regulations/requirements/deadlines on an individual basis. Requests for a waiver of a regulation/requirement/deadline are initiated by a petition.

Students opting to initiate a petition should be assured that confidentiality is a hallmark of this process and information submitted in support of their petition/appeal will not be used for any other purpose.

While it is the University's responsibility to provide students with proper information, guidance and advice, it is incumbent upon students to:

- be aware of and adhere to all Faculty and program regulations, requirements and published deadlines;
- familiarize themselves with their Faculty's written petition/appeal procedures and make requests in a timely fashion;
- provide all documentation to support their petition/appeal and to do so in a timely fashion;
- indicate and document all their relevant circumstances upon submitting their petition in the first instance.

University's Responsibilities in the Petition/Appeal Processes

Just as the students who submit petitions and appeals have responsibilities to meet the requirements of the process, the University has responsibilities in administering it.

Non-academic staff:

It is incumbent upon members of the non-academic staff to:

- make available to students advice and guidance regarding options, deadlines, required documentation, and appeal routes by way of written notification, the University Web site, personal appointments or communication over the telephone;
- direct students to the appropriate office for information on petitions/appeals;
- attend to petitions and appeals efficiently to prevent undue delay;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Faculty members:

It is incumbent upon faculty members to:

- respond to requests for information from students and non-academic staff in a timely manner;
- help direct students to the appropriate office for information on petitions/appeals;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Petition/Appeal officers/committees:

It is incumbent upon petition/appeal officers or committees to:

- ensure parties receive fair, consistent and ethical treatment;
- give thorough and serious attention to all requests;
- render decisions only after careful deliberation;
- supply parties with reasons for decisions;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Policy on Course Directors' Grade Sheets

After final grades for a course have been submitted in each term, it is the responsibility of the course director to submit to the unit offering the course, the course grade sheet(s) (hard copy or electronic) containing students' grades for every graded component of the course, the percentage weighting of each component and the record of students' attendance where it is relevant in determining a participation mark. The grade sheets are to be kept in a designated unit office for no less than one year.

Rationale:

Many course directors at the University are part-time instructors and as such are not always accessible to students once their course is complete. In addition, many of the full-time faculty members do not teach during the summer session and they are not required to be on campus at that time. However, the bulk of petitions and requests for grade reappraisals are initiated by students during the summer months, and it is often difficult for them to retrieve the required information from their course director. In addition, the committee is proposing a process for the consideration of deferred standing requests (new to some Faculties) in which course directors, or in their absence the associate dean or undergraduate program director, may be directly involved with students in reaching a decision on their requests. In this process specifically, it is crucial that, in the absence of the course director, all of the information necessary to reach a decision on the request is at the disposal of either of the other two academic officers. Having the grade sheet for each course on file will greatly facilitate the petitions and grade reappraisal processes, and relieve the time-consuming burden of tracking down the required information currently borne by students, associate deans and undergraduate program directors.

Senate Policy on Women's Remembrance Day

In May 1998 Senate approved a policy to commemorate Women's Remembrance Day.

The policy encourages the administration to facilitate the planning and funding of activities appropriate to Women's Remembrance Day through the Office of the Adviser to the University on the Status of Women.

The Senate policy also encourages faculty to highlight Women's Remembrance Day in their classes and to incorporate in their classes, as appropriate, some of the issues facing women, particularly violence against women. The administration is asked to support the development of workshops to assist faculty with their preparations.

Information about this policy is provided to students in publications such as Calendars and Lecture Schedules. The University community will also be informed in advance of activities associated with Women's Remembrance Day.

Senate Policy on the Academic Implications of Disruptions or Cessations of University Business Due to Labour Disputes or Other Causes

The University Senate has enacted a policy to apply in the event that academic activities are substantially interrupted or impeded as a result of strikes, lockouts, demonstrations, natural disasters or other like causes. The policy contains three governing principles, which are outlined below. Further information about the policy may be obtained from the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/senate/index.htm>).

A. Academic Integrity

In the event of a disruption, the primary obligation of Senate is to ensure the academic integrity of all programs. No dilution of standards normally expected of students should be permitted and there should be as little diminution as possible in the instructional or supervisory support given to students.

B. Fairness to Students

Students who do not participate in academic activities because (a) they are unable to do so owing to a disruption or (b) they choose not to participate in academic activities owing to a strike or a lockout on campus, are entitled to immunity from penalty, to reasonable alternative access to materials covered in their absence, to reasonable extensions of deadlines and to such other remedy as Senate deems necessary and consistent with the principle of academic integrity. Such remedies shall not alter the academic standards associated with the missed activity nor shall it relieve the student of the responsibility for mastering materials covered. The availability of a remedy under this policy does not guarantee students the same learning experience that they would have received in the absence of a disruption.

C. Timely Information

Students, staff and faculty members have a right to be informed in a timely manner of changed requirements, rescheduled academic activities and procedures to be in effect at the conclusion of the disruption.

Quelques mots sur l'Université York

L'Université York, renommée pour ses innovations dans l'enseignement universitaire, est une des plus belles réussites dans le monde de l'éducation supérieure canadienne. Professeurs et étudiants y travaillent ensemble pour innover en matière d'enseignement et d'apprentissage afin d'améliorer considérablement leur capacité à tracer leur propre chemin vers la réussite dans la discipline qu'ils ont choisie.

Depuis la fondation de l'Université, en 1959, tous ses professeurs ont à cœur de transmettre à leurs étudiants ainsi qu'à toute la collectivité du monde éducatif leurs connaissances et le résultat de leurs recherches. Les meilleurs professeurs du Canada et du monde trouvent à York les trois éléments les plus appréciés dans le monde universitaire : l'excellence de l'enseignement, un haut niveau du savoir, des programmes de recherche interdisciplinaire de toute première qualité.

L'Université York est renommée pour son approche interdisciplinaire, à la fois dans son enseignement et dans ses recherches. Elle peut s'enorgueillir de ses 21 centres de recherche dans des domaines qui vont du développement durable, aux études sur les réfugiés, en passant par les sciences de la terre et de l'espace et les études internationales et stratégiques.

L'ensemble de la communauté de York compte 3 000 professeurs à temps plein et à temps partiel, 1 900 membres du personnel administratif et de soutien, 47 000 étudiants de premier, deuxième et troisième cycles, 170 000 Anciens. Plus de 7 000 étudiants, répartis entre les Facultés des arts, la Faculté Atkinson des sciences humaines et professionnelles, des sciences de l'éducation, des études environnementales, des beaux-arts, des études supérieures et des sciences pures et appliquées, le Collège universitaire Glendon, l'École de droit Osgoode Hall, l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales, reçoivent leur diplôme chaque année.

L'Université York propose, à Toronto, l'une des villes les plus cosmopolites du Canada, une expérience moderne de classe internationale. York est au cœur de l'innovation, avec une communauté vibrante regroupant professeurs, étudiants, personnel administratif et anciens ; on y défie l'ordinaire et offre l'inattendu. Ensemble, nous redéfinissons le possible.

Les étudiants, qu'ils soient nouvellement admis ou qu'ils reprennent ou continuent leurs études, sont tenus de s'inscrire officiellement à leurs cours.

Une fois que les étudiants ont sélectionné leurs cours et s'y sont inscrits, ils doivent finaliser leur inscription en payant les droits. L'inscription à l'Université permet aux étudiants d'avoir leur nom inscrit dans les dossiers officiels de l'Université.

Pour s'inscrire, les étudiants doivent : i) s'acquitter de toutes les obligations financières en souffrance vis-à-vis de l'Université ; ii) s'inscrire à un programme d'études qui leur est ouvert et à des cours auxquels ils ont droit ; iii) payer les droits pour la session en cours.

Carte d'étudiant

Pour l'Université York, l'identification officielle comprend deux pièces d'identité distinctes : la carte d'inscription à la session, attribuée à tout étudiant inscrit à chaque session, et une pièce d'identité valide avec photographie, comme toute pièce d'identité avec photo normalement acceptée ou émise par le gouvernement du Canada ou de l'Ontario, tel qu'un permis de conduire canadien. Pour plus de renseignements, se reporter à la brochure « horaire des cours de premier cycle ».

Le système des collègues

Le système des collègues, propre à York, permet de lier des unités de taille moyenne au grand ensemble de l'Université et de ses diverses facultés afin de maintenir une relation plus étroite entre les professeurs et les étudiants. Les collègues de l'Université York sont de petites communautés pluridisciplinaires, distinctes les unes des autres par leurs caractéristiques et leur mission. Les étudiants y trouvent un environnement accueillant, novateur et convivial qui les aide à s'habituer à la vie universitaire et leur permet d'étudier dans des conditions optimales.

Tous les étudiants de premier cycle qui entrent pour la première fois à l'Université York sont affectés à un collège. Les sept collèges existants – Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, Norman Bethune, Stong, Vanier et Winters – offrent une grande variété d'activités universitaires et récréatives qui s'ajoutent aux programmes d'études des différentes facultés afin d'enrichir l'expérience des étudiants de York. Les collègues peuvent mettre à la disposition des étudiants des salles de réunion, des salles à manger, des cafés, des salles d'études, d'ordinateurs, de travaux pratiques et de petites salles de lecture en plus d'installations de loisirs. Chaque collège peut loger environ 260 étudiants venant de l'extérieur de Toronto, ce qui représente environ 10 p. 100 du nombre total d'étudiants inscrits par collège, dans des résidences bien équipées, adjacentes aux bâtiments des collèges. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez consulter la partie « Services universitaires et services d'aide ».

Les collèges sont autogérés dans leurs activités quotidiennes par des professeurs et des étudiants. Chaque collège est dirigé par un directeur, un conseiller aux études, un coordonnateur de la vie en résidence et un don dans chaque résidence. Il compte un conseil de collège, élu par les étudiants, qui organise et finance toute une gamme d'activités sociales, culturelles et sportives. Les conseils aux étudiants, surtout ceux destinés aux étudiants de première année, sont coordonnés par le conseiller pédagogique du collège et par des étudiants de niveau supérieur dûment formés à cet effet. Les associés, membres estimés du collège et de la communauté de York, offrent une aide spécialisée complémentaire conformément au mandat de chaque collège.

Le Collège universitaire Glendon est une faculté bilingue (français et anglais) de l'Université York, qui offre des programmes de jour de premier cycle sur son propre campus. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez consulter la partie « Collège universitaire Glendon ».

Programmes d'études des collèges

Les programmes des collèges sont associés aux cours pour l'obtention d'un crédit universitaire ainsi qu'à différentes activités parallèles dans l'optique du mandat particulier de chaque collège. Le type et le contenu de ces cours varient en fonction de la faculté à laquelle un collège est affilié. La participation à un programme d'études collégiales représente une excellente manière de s'intégrer à la vie du collège. Les cinq collèges - Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, Stong et Vanier - offrent aux étudiants de première année les cours de formation fondamentale de la faculté des arts et, pour les étudiants en cours d'études, le programme des bases de l'apprentissage. Dans les deux cas, ces cours insistent sur l'acquisition de compétences de base et sur une introduction à une approche pluridisciplinaire par le biais du contenu des cours proposés. Le Collège Norman Bethune offre les cours de formation fondamentale de la faculté des arts ainsi qu'une série de cours de première année (FYUS : First Year University Seminar) liés aux facultés des sciences pures et appliquées et des études environnementales. Le collège Winters offre des cours liés au programme d'études culturelles de la Faculté des beaux-arts.

Collège Calumet

Fondé en 1970, le Collège Calumet a été le sixième des sept collèges de premier cycle à voir le jour. Il a d'abord été abrité dans la bibliothèque Steacie et, plus tard, dans le bâtiment Atkinson. Sans les premières restrictions budgétaires infligées par le gouvernement à l'éducation supérieure au milieu des années 1970, les bâtiments du collège et de sa résidence seraient aujourd'hui très semblables à ceux de Bethune et de Stong. C'est durant les années où il était à Atkinson que le collège a acquis le caractère original de sa vie et de son organisation, lorsqu'il ne servait que des étudiants non résidents. C'est le directeur Eric Winter qui en a inauguré le premier laboratoire d'ordinateurs et les premiers cours d'informatique. En 1991, étaient ouverts, sous l'égide de la directrice Peggy Keall, le Collège Calumet et ses résidences. Calumet est affilié à la Faculté des arts et de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales.

Comme les autres collèges, Calumet a pour mission d'offrir à ses étudiants tous les services relatifs aux nombreux aspects de la vie universitaire : études, convivialité, culture, loisirs. On encourage tous les membres de la communauté du collège - étudiants, professeurs, anciens étudiants, personnel administratif - à participer à ses activités.

En arrière-plan de toutes les activités de Calumet se trouve un point de vue fondamental, un thème qui célèbre l'individu. Nous apprécions parmi nous toutes les différences et nous cherchons à montrer l'importance de la concertation et du consensus pour susciter la tolérance et la compréhension. Le conseil du Collège Calumet (CCC) et le conseil de résidence de Calumet (CRC) sont là pour permettre une bonne intégration à la vie collégiale. Le CCC publie le journal du collège « The Pipe », dont le nom évoque son rôle dans la diffusion de l'information. Le CRC organise des ateliers, des symposiums, des séminaires, des rencontres sociales et des activités sportives de loisirs. En outre, il existe sur le campus de nombreuses organisations permettant de participer à des activités extra-universitaires : plusieurs clubs relient les étudiants à un département ou à un programme de l'Université ou à d'autres étudiants de même origine ethnique ou de même confession religieuse. Parmi nos étudiants, certains occupent des postes de sénateurs, de représentants élus auprès de la Fédération des étudiants de York, siègent à différents comités du Centre des étudiants, ainsi qu'à d'autres comités de l'Université. Nous encourageons les étudiants de tous les domaines et de toute origine à devenir membres de Calumet.

Notre association avec la Faculté des arts s'organise autour du thème de la technologie et des sciences humaines. Les cours de formation fondamentale associés au collège insistent sur les applications de l'informatique et l'impact social de la technologie. Nous avons des liens avec les programmes de communications de masse, d'études urbaines, d'études environnementales, de création littéraire, d'entrepreneuriat et de gestion des petites entreprises. Nous encourageons tout particulièrement à devenir membres de Calumet les étudiants qui s'intéressent aux domaines suivants ou qui les choisissent pour leur majeure : informatique, économie, géographie, communication, mathématiques, études urbaines, technologie de l'information et commerce et société. Plusieurs activités et événements parallèles enrichissent le programme des cours de formation fondamentale associés au collège Calumet. Les étudiants de ces cours, et potentiellement tous les étudiants, peuvent se faire aider par l'Équipe d'aide du collège dans les domaines suivants : rédaction des essais et des travaux écrits, gestion du stress, aménagement personnel de son temps, choix des cours et politique universitaire.

Calumet dispose de plusieurs salles de micro-ordinateurs. Bootstrap est un laboratoire ouvert 24 heures sur 24, équipé d'ordinateurs Macintosh, avec une salle de classe équipée d'ordinateurs personnels. Il abrite le FCPA (Foundations Computer Assistance Program) qui offre aux étudiants des services et des ressources pour les cours de formation fondamentale : accueil impromptu pour impression et balayage, conseils personnalisés pour les travaux écrits du lundi au jeudi, aide par courrier électronique pour des questions touchant les cours de formation fondamentale et ateliers collectifs orientés soit vers des tutoriels précis soit vers l'accueil impromptu des étudiants. Le site Internet du FCAP (<http://www.yorku.ca/fcap/>) comporte des ressources en ligne pour la culture informatique et les techniques de recherche. Associés aux études urbaines et aux communications de masse, deux laboratoires plus petits possèdent un équipement technologique des plus modernes pour la communication interactive. Le collège et ses résidences font partie d'un réseau d'interconnexion à fibres optiques avec le système informatique général de l'Université. Ces laboratoires disposent de logiciels très divers pour le traitement de texte, les bases de données, les feuilles de calcul, le courrier électronique, l'édition, les graphiques et les bulletins électroniques.

Le collège offre de très nombreuses activités récréatives. Les équipes de Calumet participent à un grand nombre de rencontres sportives internes : hockey, ballon-balai, water-polo, soft ball, football, pour n'en citer que quelques-unes. Certains sports comptent des équipes masculines et des équipes féminines ; d'autres, des équipes mixtes. En général, les athlètes de haut niveau et les sportifs amateur appartiennent à des équipes différentes. Tous les étudiants désireux de faire du sport sont encouragés à faire partie de ces équipes.

La résidence de Calumet est constituée de 43 appartements mixtes pour six personnes. Les appartements comprennent en général quatre chambres simples et une double, un salon, une cuisinette et deux salles de bain. Les appartements sont regroupés en sept maisons ayant chacune leur don. Une coordonnatrice de la vie en résidence supervise l'ensemble. Chaque appartement est géré par ses occupants qui sont responsables de l'entretien et de la propreté de leur unité ainsi que des parties communes, des couloirs et des escaliers. Toutes les chambres sont connectées au réseau informatique de Calumet et les résidents disposant d'un ordinateur personnel ont accès au courrier électronique, au catalogue de la bibliothèque et à l'Internet.

Les étudiants participent toute l'année à l'organisation et au bon déroulement des activités sociales telles que bals, soirées, dîners de gala, tournois de fléchettes, concours de bridge et autres. La plupart de ces activités découlent naturellement de l'intérêt des membres actifs.

Le gouvernement étudiant du collège (CCC) a la responsabilité des collectes d'argent effectuées auprès des étudiants ainsi que des dépenses faites pour les activités et les services qui leur sont destinés. Les élections au CCC ont lieu en mars et, peu de temps après, commence la planification des activités de l'année universitaire suivante. Le gouvernement étudiant a des réunions régulières ouvertes à tous (Calumet Open Forum) auxquelles peuvent assister les membres de la communauté.

Collège Founders

Le Collège Founders a été le premier collège fondé sur le campus Keele et il est fier du rôle que ses associés et ses étudiants ont joué dans le développement de l'Université York. L'identité spéciale du Collège Founders est centrée sur « la connaissance de soi, la culture et la société », thèmes qui montrent l'intérêt spécial du collège pour des disciplines telles que l'anthropologie, les études françaises et italiennes, l'histoire, la psychologie, ainsi que pour toutes les questions internationales et contemporaines. Le Collège Founders abrite également les programmes d'études africaines, d'études de l'Asie de l'Est, d'études de l'Amérique latine et des Caraïbes, d'études d'Asie du Sud et du développement international. Il est affilié tout particulièrement au programme de premier cycle de l'École des études des femmes et dispose de très importantes ressources pour les études des femmes.

Le programme d'études du collège comprend un certain nombre de cours de formation fondamentale de première et deuxième années, affiliés aux divisions des Humanités et des Sciences sociales. Ces cours sont enseignés par des associés du Collège Founders ; ils sont reliés aux thèmes du collège, font partie du programme d'éducation générale de l'Université et ont pour but de donner aux étudiants les compétences de base requises par les études universitaires. Les associés du collège participent activement à la vie du collège en dispensant leur enseignement dans un contexte interdisciplinaire, en organisant des séminaires et des conférences et en offrant aux étudiants du collège des conseils pédagogiques sous la direction d'un conseiller d'études.

Le conseiller d'études supervise tout un ensemble de conseillers étudiants chevronnés qui aident les nouveaux étudiants dans leurs choix universitaires. Les associés du collège sont principalement des professeurs de différents départements qui partagent et soutiennent les objectifs du collège, mais certains sont des administrateurs ou des personnes extérieures comme des journalistes ou des écrivains. Plus de quarante associés ont leur bureau dans le collège et sont prêts à aider les étudiants du collège. Les associés forment, avec les étudiants, le centre vital de la collectivité.

Sont plus spécialement associées au programme du collège les organismes suivants : l'Association des étudiants d'histoire, l'Association des étudiants en études africaines, les Étudiants en études est-asiatiques à York et l'Association des étudiants de l'Amérique latine et des Caraïbes, l'Association des étudiants en anthropologie. Le Collège Founders abrite également la salle de lecture Jerome Ch'en, qui s'est récemment enrichie d'une belle collection de textes en langue chinoise, la bibliothèque des études féminines Nellie Langford Rowell (qui s'est elle aussi récemment enrichie d'une collection d'ouvrages internationaux), le Centre de ressources pour le développement des études, l'Institut pour la réussite et la motivation, la Chaire Elia en études italo-canadiennes et le Centre de ressources Harriet Tubman sur la Diaspora africaine. Le collège organise, en outre, en collaboration avec le Programme d'études des femmes, une série de conférences faisant appel à des femmes célèbres. Le collège organise également et subventionne une grande variété d'activités artistiques, y compris des expositions dans la Galerie Arthur Haberman. La Galerie, ainsi que le salon de lecture et de musique, font partie des installations et des ressources destinées aux études comme aux loisirs, gérées par le Conseil étudiant du Collège Founders et mises à la disposition des étudiants externes comme de ceux qui vivent dans la résidence universitaire. Le collège dispose d'une nouvelle grande salle de réunion, d'une petite salle de cinéma, le cinéma Brian Cragg, d'une salle d'études bien équipée et d'un grand salon. Son pub historique, le Cock and Bull, sert durant toute l'année d'excellents déjeuners et des barbecues renommés. C'est un lieu de détente pour tous. Chaque année, un festival des arts, Poiesis, réunit associés et étudiants pour un concours de peinture, de sculpture, de photographie, de poésie et de musique. Des conférences et des colloques sont régulièrement organisés sur de nombreux sujets universitaires et artistiques liés aux intérêts du collège. Enfin, le Collège Founders abrite la revue féministe prestigieuse, à la fois revue savante et de vulgarisation, Canadian Woman Studies/Les cahiers de la femme.

Le collège est administré par une directrice, une conseillère d'études, un coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, assistés par du personnel et une adjointe administrative et différents comités formés d'associés et d'étudiants. Le conseil étudiant (FCSC) gère un important budget provenant de subventions annuelles, organise différentes activités et contrôle plusieurs services et entreprises dans le collège, dont un excellent gymnase et un sauna, des salles de jeux et le salon Junior Common Room, outre la Galerie et le salon de lecture.

Une résidence de quatre étages (sans ascenseur), divisée en sept maisons, portant chacune le nom d'un membre du Groupe des sept, permet de loger 250 étudiants de premier cycle. Cinq maisons sur sept sont mixtes. Nous essayons de maintenir dans la résidence un environnement vivant tout en offrant une atmosphère propice aux études. La résidence est dirigée par le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, les dons et les étudiants du conseil de résidence.

Pour encourager la participation active des étudiants et l'excellence universitaire, le collège accorde des récompenses honorifiques, des livres de prix et des stages. Le Collège Founders tient à rester fidèle au meilleur de la tradition des collèges — études sérieuses, échanges stimulants entre les associés et les étudiants, vif esprit communautaire.

Collège McLaughlin

Fondé en 1968, le collège McLaughlin porte le nom du regretté colonel R.S. McLaughlin, homme d'affaires et philanthrope. La mission du collège est centrée sur la politique publique et le développement de l'esprit critique vis à vis de cette politique. L'un des objectifs du collège est d'inspirer chez ses étudiants le désir de l'analyse critique de la vie politique en vue d'améliorer notre société, la collectivité locale, la province, le Canada et le monde entier. Un ensemble d'activités universitaires et extra-universitaires font partie du programme d'activités publiques : tables rondes, conférences et séminaires du midi sur des questions d'actualité. Des symposiums proposent des discussions sur des questions de politique nationale et internationale.

Le collège participe au programme de cours de formation fondamentale de la Faculté des arts. Il offre des cours de première et deuxième années affiliés aux divisions des Humanités et des Sciences sociales. La plupart des professeurs des cours de formation fondamentale sont des associés du collège. Les cours de formation fondamentale de McLaughlin comportent chacun deux heures de travaux pratiques donnés dans le collège à des groupes de vingt-cinq étudiants au maximum. Ces cours traitent d'une grande diversité de sujets de politique publique et insistent sur l'apprentissage des compétences de base. Chaque année, les étudiants de McLaughlin, en collaboration avec les étudiants du collège Vanier, préparent et parrainent un symposium d'une journée, « Encounter Canad », sur un sujet important de l'actualité. Le collège propose également, chaque année, une allocution sur la politique publique faite par une personnalité du domaine. D'autres forums sur des questions importantes de la vie étudiante — le statut social de l'homme et de la femme, l'intégrité universitaire, les questions autochtones — enrichissent le programme extra-universitaire. Nous nous efforçons de perpétuer l'idéal du premier directeur du collège, George Tatham, en offrant un environnement propice au développement de « l'Être complet ». Le collège parraine un concours de poésie pan-universitaire qui se déroule durant la Nuit Burns, accueille des soirées de jazz dans son pub et encourage ses étudiants à participer à des compétitions sportives internes et inter-collégiales. Nous organisons également des expositions et des festivals de film dans notre galerie d'art-salle de spectacle.

Le conseil des étudiants du collège McLaughlin propose un programme complet d'activités sociales et culturelles, notamment des soirées musicales ou théâtrales à Toronto. Le programme de sports cultive l'ambition de remporter le Flambeau de York. Les activités sociales sont nombreuses et variées - soirées des talents, soirée d'Halloween, bals de la Saint-Valentin, banquets de Noël et de fin d'année, et une sortie de ski annuelle. Une salle d'haltérophilie bien équipée, Dyna-Macs, est ouverte à tous les étudiants membres; des vestiaires avec douches y sont adjacents.

Par l'intermédiaire de l'affiliation du collège avec la Faculté des arts, les organismes étudiants représentant les étudiants qui se spécialisent en santé et société, droit et société, droit du travail, science politique, politique publique et administration, relations internationales et en sociologie sont invitées à organiser leurs activités au collège. Ces groupes travaillent en collaboration avec le directeur de McLaughlin et avec le conseil du collège pour mettre sur pied des programmes à l'intention des étudiants qui se spécialisent dans ces domaines, et pour la communauté tout entière.

Le collège possède aussi, dans la salle 107, un laboratoire d'informatique et dans la salle 016, près de la Junior Common Room, un lieu d'études. Le collège abrite les bureaux des associés qui enseignent dans différentes facultés, départements et divisions de York et que les étudiants peuvent consulter pour avoir des conseils sur leurs cours et leur carrière future.

Le collège McLaughlin est au service de tous les étudiants, résidents ou non-résidents. La résidence de McLaughlin, le pavillon Tatham, comprend, sur treize étages, des chambres pour une personne et des chambres pour deux personnes. Elle est organisée en six maisons pour hommes et pour femmes. Chaque maison a une salle de loisirs commune. Le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence et les dons travaillent en étroite collaboration avec les présidents de maison et le conseil des résidences. Durant l'année, toutes sortes d'activités culturelles et sociales sont organisées par la résidence. Le directeur de McLaughlin, le conseiller d'études, et leur personnel administratif sont toujours prêts à recevoir les étudiants. Ils les encouragent à venir les voir pour des renseignements ou des conseils.

Collège Norman Bethune

Le collège Norman Bethune, du nom du célèbre médecin canadien, philanthrope dévoué, devenu héros national en Chine, a pour devise « Science et société ». Le collège est affilié aux facultés des sciences pures et appliquées et des études environnementales, ainsi qu'au programme Science et société de la Faculté des arts. Il accueille dans ses locaux et ses clubs, ses équipes de sports et son Conseil de collège, et ses salles de cours, non seulement les étudiants de ces disciplines mais aussi tout étudiant de York qui s'intéresse au thème Science et société.

Pour la vie sociale, le collège possède divers clubs d'étudiants comme l'Association des étudiants et universitaires chinois à York, (ACCSY), le Club d'astronomie, l'Association des étudiants en kinésiologie et sciences de la santé (KAHSSO), les Étudiants pour l'exploration et la découverte de l'espace (SEDS), l'Association Anime et Manga de l'Université York (YAMA), la Société de chimie de York (YCS), le Club Pre Med (YPMS), la société de physique, la société de recherche, Ingénieurs sans frontières, un club photo, l'Association des étudiants chinois, la Fédération des étudiants musulmans, et le Club des excursionnistes de l'Université York (YUOC). Le Conseil athlétique du Collège Bethune parraine un certain nombre d'équipes de sports qui rivalisent avec celles des autres collèges pour le Flambeau de York. Le Conseil du Collège Bethune est composé d'étudiants élus ou nommés, de représentants des Anciens du collège, d'associés et de représentants de la direction du collège. Le Conseil utilise une partie des droits payés par les étudiants pour la publication du journal collégial, Lexicon, pour faire venir des groupes de musique, pour organiser des concerts, des activités d'orientation, pour financer un laboratoire d'informatique, une salle de jeux vidéo, une salle de musique, une salle de poids et haltères et toute une gamme d'activités auxquelles les étudiants peuvent participer.

Le Collège Bethune dispense aussi une aide amicale et efficace, par exemple, dans le cadre de programmes qui aident les étudiants à choisir une carrière. Il organise également une session d'orientation pour les nouveaux étudiants ainsi qu'une série de sessions d'orientation d'une journée offertes en été, et tous les étudiants de Bethune, nouveaux et anciens, ont recours un jour ou l'autre au S.O.S. (Student Ombuds Service), qui est un centre de ressources dont les employés sont des étudiants chevronnés qui reçoivent sans rendez-vous les étudiants qui désirent leur parler de questions de nature universitaire et personnelle. Le centre de rédaction, quant à lui, offre sans rendez-vous des séances de travail individuelles qui ont surtout pour but le développement des aptitudes critiques nécessaires à la rédaction de travaux universitaires. Le laboratoire d'informatique possède aussi un personnel dévoué qui organise régulièrement des ateliers sur l'utilisation du courrier électronique et de l'Internet. Les associés du Collège Bethune (professeurs et membres du personnel non enseignant et de la collectivité) constituent un groupe qui met à la disposition des étudiants un large éventail d'aptitudes, d'intérêts et de connaissances.

Le collège Bethune offre des cours à option comprenant un cours de première année en sciences et un cours de science de niveau plus avancé. Il propose également des parties du cours sur les Bases de l'apprentissage à la Faculté des arts et celle des sciences pures et appliquées. Dans le cadre du programme des cours de formation fondamentale de la Faculté des arts, Bethune offre des cours de première et de deuxième année et notamment le cours de première année « Les sciences et les humanités », ainsi qu'une riche diversité de séminaires, de conférences, de groupes de discussion et de programmes spéciaux, qui passionnent étudiants et professeurs.

La résidence du Collège Norman Bethune met à la disposition de ses locataires des chambres pour une personne et pour deux personnes et des appartements. La plupart des étages sont mixtes, mais l'un d'eux est réservé aux femmes. Il y a aussi une cafétéria qui offre des menus variés et équilibrés.

Collège Stong

Fondé en 1969, le collège Stong porte le nom d'une famille de pionniers qui arriva en 1800 de Pennsylvanie pour s'établir et cultiver les terres sur lesquelles se situe l'Université York aujourd'hui. C'est l'orgueil du collège d'avoir ainsi ses racines parmi les pionniers du pays, dont on retrouve l'esprit chez les immigrants d'aujourd'hui.

Quatre thèmes majeurs caractérisent le collège Stong, bien que, comme tous les autres collèges de l'Université York, il accueille volontiers la diversité de pensée, d'expérience et de spécialisation. Le premier thème couvre la langue et la littérature anglaise, d'hier et d'aujourd'hui, la pensée et l'écriture, et tout ce qui appartient au domaine général de l'art du discours. Le second centre d'intérêt du collège porte sur d'autres langues, littératures et cultures. C'est l'intérêt marqué pour ces cultures qui a donné à notre collège son identité multiculturelle. Notre passion pour la riche vie multiculturelle de notre collège, de l'Université York, de la ville de Toronto et du Canada se marie bien avec le troisième thème du collège, à savoir l'engagement social. Grâce à nos programmes offerts en collaboration avec les écoles de notre voisinage et à d'autres programmes, nous sommes heureux d'honorer le lien fondamental qui nous rattache à la société qui nous entoure et la dette que nous avons envers elle. Et, enfin, le collège Stong a toujours manifesté un intérêt marqué pour l'éducation physique et les sports. Le collège a déjà eu l'occasion d'offrir plusieurs cours sur les sports et leur apport historique et culturel, et trois des programmes de certificat de l'École de kinésiologie et sciences de la santé y sont offerts. Ce sont « Entraînement sportif », « Administration des sports » et « Thérapie par le sport ». De plus, nos étudiants participent avec enthousiasme aux compétitions inter-collégiales.

Le collège s'intéresse à la vie étudiante et participe à tous ses aspects. Il organise dans ses murs même une grande variété d'activités et d'événements culturels et sociaux : la Galerie Samuel J. Zachs, spécialisée dans l'exposition d'œuvres d'art réalisées par des étudiants, expose des œuvres d'artistes divers, professionnels ou amateurs, parfois traditionnels, parfois d'avant-garde, du pays ou d'ailleurs. Les étudiants ont la possibilité de participer à de nombreux débats et discussions dans le pub-café Orange Snail et par le biais du journal étudiant du collège The Flying Walrus.

Depuis toujours, grâce à son important programme de bourses et d'aide financière, Stong fait tout pour aider ses étudiants qui en ont besoin. Financées principalement par la très active et très dévouée amicale des Anciens, les bourses offertes sont un témoignage permanent de l'intérêt et de l'engagement des membres du collège, qui continuent à se manifester longtemps après l'obtention de leur diplôme.

D'autres installations spéciales sont à la disposition des étudiants ; une chambre noire, une salle de musique et le laboratoire d'informatique Allen C. Koretsky. Le centre de documentation universitaire, dans le hall du collège, abrite le Programme d'entraide et est devenu le principal centre de ressources et d'aide aux étudiants du campus. De plus, le conseiller d'études, le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, tout le personnel du bureau de la direction, ainsi qu'une longue liste d'associés appartenant à tout un éventail de disciplines sont prêts à mettre leurs connaissances et leur expertise variée à la disposition des étudiants pour les aider à tirer le plus grand profit de leur vie universitaire.

Le Collège Stong est un collège actif et plein de vie. Il encourage toutes les expériences éducatives et offre toutes les possibilités de réussite. Il vous convie à étudier, à vous développer et à participer à la vie communautaire de l'Université York, dans l'atmosphère studieuse d'une riche vie culturelle, sociale et sportive.

Collège Vanier

Le collège porte avec fierté le nom de Georges Vanier, cet ancien gouverneur général qui compte parmi les Canadiens du XXe siècle les plus célèbres et les plus dévoués au service du public et qui représentait les valeurs humanistes de cette institution. Il comprend les étudiants, les résidents, les associés et le personnel, tous contribuant à la vie universitaire et sociale.

Le collège Vanier est affilié à la Division des humanités (dont les bureaux sont situés dans le collège même), à la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation, aux départements de philosophie et de psychologie, de création littéraire, d'études classiques et d'études religieuses.

Les associés de Vanier viennent de tous les secteurs du campus et de la collectivité. Ce sont des scientifiques et des érudits de renom, des citoyens dévoués, des artistes, des hommes et des femmes qui veulent participer à la vie sociale et universitaire de la collectivité de Vanier.

Le collège Vanier compte des locaux et des organismes pour toutes sortes d'activités. On y organise par exemple une série de conférences publiques liées aux cours offerts par le collège. Les Productions du Collège Vanier commanditent durant toute l'année des spectacles musicaux et dramatiques. Les collèges Vanier et McLaughlin organisent conjointement « Encounter Canada », symposium annuel portant sur des sujets de morale et d'éthique touchant la société canadienne. En collaboration avec le programme de création littéraire, Vanier organise chaque année le « festival des écrivains » qui permet à des étudiants de rencontrer et d'écouter des écrivains canadiens et de lire et d'interpréter leurs propres poèmes et autres écrits.

Le personnel du collège Vanier, constitué de la directrice, du conseiller pédagogique, du personnel administratif et des associés du Collège, est là pour aider tous les étudiants du collège. De plus, des membres de diverses disciplines - études classiques, création littéraire, éducation, anglais, histoire, humanités, philosophie et psychologie ont leur bureau dans le collège. De nombreux étudiants de ces disciplines ont créé des clubs qui organisent leurs activités sociales et universitaires dans les locaux du collège. Ces mêmes locaux abritent également York International, le Centre des études juives, la Collection canadienne de la culture enfantine, le Wellness Centre at York University et différents clubs étudiants.

Des étudiants élus forment le Conseil du collège Vanier. Cette gestion étudiante est au cœur des activités du collège et les « élus » organisent des activités sociales et sportives qui permettent aux étudiants de profiter au maximum de leur expérience estudiantine. Le Conseil appuie également une revue littéraire, Existere et un journal, The Vando. Vanier dispose de locaux pour les étudiants, notamment un laboratoire informatique, le Théâtre Vanier, la bibliothèque Rosner-Siegel et la Junior

Common Room qui sert de lieu de rencontre où les étudiants peuvent étudier, nouer des contacts et se détendre.

Collège Winters

Le collège Winters, fondé en 1967, porte le nom de feu Robert Winters, premier président du conseil d'administration de l'Université York. Il partage avec la Faculté des beaux-arts la stimulante mission d'offrir à tous les étudiants de toutes les facultés un milieu propice à l'expression de la créativité, ce qu'il considère essentiel.

Par le biais du bureau de la directrice, sont organisées des activités dans le but d'offrir aux étudiants, résidents et non-résidents, la possibilité d'être stimulés, de trouver une inspiration et d'assister à des spectacles. Les étudiants peuvent ainsi participer à des ateliers, voir des spectacles, entendre des présentations et des conférences, visionner des films. Ils peuvent également se procurer des billets à prix réduit pour des spectacles de danse, des pièces de théâtre, des concerts et l'opéra.

Une promenade dans les murs du collège réjouit à la fois les yeux et les oreilles : ici une répétition musicale, là un récital de danse ou une séance de jonglerie. On peut également y voir les œuvres de nombreux artistes visuels de York, étudiants comme professeurs, sur les murs, dans les jardins ou la galerie Eleanor Winters. Musique, poésie, chœurs parlés y sont régulièrement présentés, dans les Junior et Senior Common Rooms et dans la salle à manger Winters. Des spectacles du même type ont lieu au café-pub Absinthe, âme du collège et scène privilégiée pour des orchestres locaux soucieux de se produire. L'Absinthe est tenu par les étudiants et géré par le Conseil du collège Winters, agréable mélange d'étudiants résidents et non résidents qui organisent également la semaine frosh??, ainsi que les différentes activités, officielles ou non, tout au long de l'année. Le Conseil du collège et le bureau de la direction travaillent de concert et leur premier souci est la création d'un milieu social, culturel et universitaire florissant pour tous les étudiants de Winters. Nous accueillons volontiers idées et suggestions.

Pourtant, le collège Winters ne se cantonne pas aux disciplines artistiques. Nombre d'étudiants qui s'y inscrivent viennent d'autres disciplines très diverses, et cette diversité enrichit la communauté. Le collège abrite également l'Institut d'anglais de l'Université York et l'Association portugaise de l'Université York qui, tous deux, favorisent énormément les activités de Winters.

Le collège est depuis longtemps connu pour sa vitalité et son esprit créatif ; il compte aussi d'éminents chercheurs qui encouragent l'excellence au niveau des études. Nous avons un centre informatique, un centre de conseils où les étudiants peuvent venir pour discuter de questions universitaires ou personnelles, parler avec des étudiants plus âgés ou à notre conseiller des études. Dans tout le collège, des espaces sont réservés à l'études - la Junior Common Room, la salle à manger et, aux beaux jours, le jardin - et offrent aux étudiants des lieux pour échanger, lire un livre lové dans le coin d'un sofa ou tout simplement pour se retrouver un peu au calme. Des bourses Winters - études, entretien et livres - sont décernées chaque année.

XII. Admission

Le Bureau d'admission de l'Université York s'assure que tous les dossiers des candidats qualifiés sont traités de façon juste et équitable. L'Université offre l'admission aux candidats les plus qualifiés.

Catégories d'admission

L'Université York offre aux étudiants plusieurs types de formation. On trouvera ci-dessous une brève description des différentes catégories d'admission. Pour être accepté au programme de votre choix, vous devez avoir la moyenne minimum et les préalables requis. Les exigences varient selon les programmes et l'admission n'est pas garantie. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>.

Diplôme de premier cycle

Toute personne ayant la préparation suffisante peut présenter sa candidature pour être admise à l'Université York dans un programme de premier cycle. York admet directement des étudiants dans les programmes conduisant aux baccalauréats suivants : Baccalauréat en administration, Baccalauréat ès sciences appliquées, Baccalauréat ès arts, Baccalauréat en administration des affaires, Baccalauréat international en administration des affaires, Baccalauréat en conception graphique, Baccalauréat en études environnementales, Baccalauréat en beaux-arts, Baccalauréat en études sur la santé, Baccalauréat en gestion des ressources humaines et Baccalauréat ès sciences.

Une formation postsecondaire préalable est exigée pour le Baccalauréat en droit et le Baccalauréat en sciences de l'éducation.

L'Université York offre des programmes de Baccalauréat ès sciences en soins infirmiers et de Baccalauréat en service social aux étudiants qui entrent en première année et à ceux qui ont une formation postsecondaire préalable.

Programme conjoint Baccalauréat/Diplôme

Les étudiants de l'Université York peuvent préparer simultanément dans plusieurs domaines un diplôme universitaire et un programme menant à un certificat ou à un diplôme offert par les collèges d'arts appliqués et de technologie. Seuls les étudiants des dernières années sont admissibles et les places sont limitées.

Certificat de premier cycle

Les personnes ayant la préparation requise peuvent demander leur admission à un programme menant à un certificat du premier cycle. Ces programmes permettent d'acquérir des compétences dans des domaines précis ou une compétence professionnelle. En général, ces certificats s'obtiennent en même temps qu'un programme de baccalauréat, bien que certains certificats peuvent se préparer individuellement. Pour plus de détails, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions>.

Étudiant libre

L'Université York peut admettre des personnes qui désirent suivre des cours crédités mais qui n'ont pas l'intention de préparer un baccalauréat ou un certificat à York. Ce sont des « étudiants libres », c'est-à-dire des personnes qui sont déjà titulaires d'un baccalauréat ou qui sont inscrites concurremment dans une autre université reconnue et qui désirent suivre des cours à York avec une lettre de permission de leur université.

Étudiant provisoire

Dans des cas très exceptionnels, l'Université York admettra, pour une période ne dépassant pas une année universitaire (et ce, normalement, en prévision d'une admission dans un programme de baccalauréat) de façon provisoire. L'Université accorde cette admission provisoire à sa discrétion sur présentation de preuves montrant irréfutablement que la personne ainsi admise pourra satisfaire aux exigences d'un baccalauréat ou d'un certificat.

Exigences d'admission

L'Université York envisage l'admission de candidats du monde entier possédant déjà un diplôme décerné par un établissement reconnu ou accrédité. On trouvera, ci-dessous, des renseignements sur le type de formation que reconnaît York. L'Université exige également pour l'admission une moyenne minimum ainsi que des cours préalables. Pour certains programmes, les candidats doivent également fournir des renseignements supplémentaires. Pour plus de détails, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions>. Le fait de satisfaire aux exigences minimales ne garantit pas nécessairement l'admission à l'Université. Tout candidat qui estime que son dossier scolaire ne donne pas une juste image de ses capacités est invité à soumettre tous les documents qui donnent les raisons pour lesquelles ses résultats scolaires ne sont pas ce qu'ils devraient être. Tous les documents seront pris en considération.

Université

Les étudiants qui viennent d'une autre université et ont terminé un minimum de 4 cours complets ou une année d'études à temps plein menant à un diplôme ou l'équivalent dans un établissement reconnu et qui ont obtenu une moyenne générale de 2 sur une échelle de 4 (C/60%) seront considérés comme candidats. Tous les cours suivis, y compris les cours auxquels l'étudiant a échoué seront inclus dans le calcul de la moyenne pour l'admission. Le fait de satisfaire aux exigences minimales ne garantit pas l'admission à l'Université. Certaines facultés peuvent exiger des moyennes plus élevées. Vous devez également satisfaire aux critères de l'ensemble des programmes et facultés.

Les cours universitaires peuvent être évalués pour l'octroi de crédits d'équivalence. Pour que le Bureau d'admission puisse évaluer l'équivalence de vos crédits, vous devez soumettre la description officielle des cours que vous avez suivis dans des universités reconnues à l'extérieur du Canada et des États-Unis. Ces descriptions officielles doivent être rédigées par l'établissement que vous avez fréquenté ou être disponibles sur son site Web. ## Collège

- Les étudiants qui viennent d'un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie de l'Ontario et qui ont terminé deux semestres complets d'études collégiales ou obtenu un diplôme de quatre trimestres avec une moyenne générale de 3 sur une échelle de 4 (B/70%), calculée en incluant tous les cours suivis peuvent être considérés comme candidats; ou
- Les étudiants qui viennent d'un collège reconnu à l'extérieur de l'Ontario et qui ont terminé une année d'études à temps plein et qui ont obtenu une moyenne générale de 3 sur une échelle de 4 (B/70%), calculée en incluant tous les cours suivis peuvent être considérés comme candidats.

Certaines facultés peuvent exiger des moyennes plus élevées. Il importe de noter que même si un étudiant satisfait aux conditions minimums, son admission à l'Université n'est pas garantie. L'étudiant doit également satisfaire aux critères de l'ensemble des programmes et facultés.

Les cours collégiaux peuvent être évalués pour l'octroi de crédits d'équivalence. Pour que le Bureau d'admission puisse évaluer l'équivalence de vos crédits, vous devez soumettre la description officielle des cours que vous avez suivis dans des collèges reconnus à l'extérieur du Canada et des États-Unis. Ces descriptions officielles doivent être rédigées par l'établissement que vous avez fréquenté ou être disponibles sur son site Web. Veuillez fournir l'adresse URL exacte ou imprimer les descriptions de cours affichées sur le site Web. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez la section « Obtention d'équivalences universitaires (crédits d'équivalence) ».

Les relevés de notes rédigés dans une autre langue que le français ou l'anglais doivent être traduits par un traducteur certifié. Les descriptions de cours peuvent être traduites par le candidat et soumises avec le texte original de l'établissement.

Étudiant adulte

Vous pouvez poser votre candidature dans la catégorie «étudiant adulte» si :

- vous avez quitté l'école secondaire à temps plein depuis au moins deux ans (si vous avez suivi des cours après deux ans d'absence pour améliorer vos notes, vous pouvez déposer une demande d'admission);
- vous avez été inscrit à moins de quatre cours dans une université ou un collège reconnu;
- vous n'avez pas obtenu de mauvais résultats scolaires au cours d'une période récente;
- vous avez 21 ans ou plus le premier jour de classe de la session demandée;
- vous avez fait preuve, par vos activités scolaires, professionnelles, bénévoles ou autres, d'une bonne capacité d'entreprendre des études universitaires.

Vous pouvez aussi envisager de déposer une demande d'admission si vous avez réussi un cours pré-universitaire de York offert par l'entremise du département de l'éducation permanente, ou un cours de transition pour femmes, avec une note minimum de B et si vous satisfaites aux exigences du programme et de compétence linguistique.

Personnes du troisième âge

Les personnes du troisième âge qui désirent être admises à l'Université sont considérées comme des candidats de la catégorie étudiant adulte à moins qu'elles aient déjà terminé des études postsecondaires. (voir ci-dessus les parties concernées).

Pour avoir droit à une dispense des frais de scolarité, il faut avoir au moins 60 ans. Pour plus de précisions, contactez le Bureau des Services financiers étudiants.

Exigences de compétence linguistique

Si vous souhaitez vous inscrire à un programme de premier cycle à l'Université York, votre niveau linguistique doit être suffisant pour que vous puissiez faire vos travaux universitaires en anglais, si vous avez effectué avec succès, ou êtes sur le point de terminer avec succès, un des programmes suivants :

- Quatre années d'études au niveau secondaire en anglais ou en français au Canada.
- Quatre années d'études au niveau secondaire en anglais dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.
- Une année d'études postsecondaires en anglais dans un établissement postsecondaire reconnu dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.
- Deux années d'études collégiales en anglais dans un collège reconnu dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.

Remarque : Les périodes passées à suivre des cours ESL ne peuvent pas compter dans les exemptions indiquées ci-dessus. Un candidat ne peut être dispensé de satisfaire aux exigences de compétence linguistique en soumettant une lettre qu'il a rédigée lui-même ou en soumettant une preuve qu'il a suivi des cours d'anglais du niveau secondaire.

Les indications ci-dessus sont à titre indicatif seulement. L'Université York se réserve le droit de demander les résultats obtenus à des tests de compétence linguistique.

Si vous n'êtes pas sûr de satisfaire aux exigences de compétence linguistique, nous vous conseillons de soumettre les résultats obtenus à un test de compétence linguistique en anglais afin d'éviter tout retard éventuel dans le traitement de votre demande d'admission.

Les résultats des tests de langue et les diplômes obtenus sont examinés en même temps pour déterminer votre admissibilité à l'Université.

Admission spéciale pour les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux

L'Université York s'engage à aider et à tenir compte des besoins des étudiants qui souhaitent poursuivre leurs études mais qui ont des difficultés sur le plan physique ou de l'apprentissage ou qui ont des troubles psychiatriques.

Si vous avez un handicap physique, il est important que vous le signaliez durant le processus d'admission.

Si vous ne répondez pas à nos critères minimum d'admission, vous souhaitez peut-être faire une demande d'admission adaptée.

Si votre situation ne gêne pas votre admission à l'Université (en d'autres termes, si vous répondez à nos critères d'admission), nous voulons nous assurer que vous connaissez les services de soutien à votre disposition.

Le fait de signaler un handicap physique ne sera d'aucune façon à votre désavantage. Nous souhaitons seulement savoir qui vous êtes de façon à nous assurer que vous disposez de l'aide dont vous avez besoin durant le processus d'admission et ensuite. Même si vous n'avez pas actuellement besoin d'aide, il se peut que votre situation change.

York offre un certain nombre de services de soutien aux étudiants ayant des handicaps physiques, des difficultés d'apprentissage ou des troubles psychiatriques. Si vous êtes admis à l'Université York et que vous avez besoin d'aide ou d'adaptation, voyez un conseiller avant le début de l'année universitaire. L'adaptation peut toucher le style d'enseignement, les méthodes d'évaluation ou d'autres exigences dans tous les cours. Toute disposition doit être prise avant le début du trimestre universitaire, faute de quoi vous risquez de mettre en danger vos possibilités de disposer d'un logement universitaire.

Dates limites de dépôt des demandes

Consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/undergrad/deadlines.asp> pour connaître les dates limites de dépôt des demandes. Si vous souhaitez recevoir une réponse en temps voulu pour le programme que vous avez choisi, le mieux est que vous déposiez votre demande, accompagnée de tous les documents officiels, bien avant les dates limites. Pour certains programmes contingentés, les places sont prises bien avant les dates limites.

Faculté des sciences de l'éducation : consultez la section concernant cette faculté dans le présent annuaire pour connaître les démarches particulières.

Obtention d'équivalences universitaires (crédits d'équivalence)

Toutes les informations concernant des études postsecondaires antérieurement terminées doivent être communiquées à l'Université York au moment du dépôt de la demande d'admission. Les candidats admis à York qui sont titulaires de diplômes d'études postsecondaires d'établissements reconnus peuvent avoir droit à recevoir des équivalences universitaires ou des crédits d'équivalence. Pour déterminer l'admissibilité à des équivalences universitaires, il sera tenu compte du dossier complet des études postsecondaires du candidat dans un établissement reconnu. Le nombre d'équivalences accordées dépend de la nature du programme suivi, des notes obtenues et du programme auquel la personne désire s'inscrire à York. Il n'est pas nécessaire de fournir une demande séparée d'équivalences universitaires. La réception du dossier complet de demande d'équivalences et l'évaluation de toutes les équivalences possibles au moment de l'admission doit se faire durant un trimestre universitaire à compter de la date d'admission à l'Université. (Ainsi, l'admission à la session d'automne et à la session d'automne-hiver doit être terminée avant la fin de la session d'automne-hiver ; l'admission à la session d'hiver doit être terminée à la fin de la session d'été ; l'admission à la session d'été doit être terminée à la fin de la session d'automne.) Les candidats admis à York qui n'étaient pas en règle avec leurs établissements postsecondaires antérieurs peuvent déposer une demande d'équivalences et les dossiers seront étudiés au cas par cas.

Une description détaillée des cours, préparée par l'établissement, est obligatoire pour tous les cours suivis dans des établissements postsecondaires en dehors du Canada. Ces descriptions doivent être préparées par l'établissement reconnu ou être disponibles sur son site. Il convient donc de fournir l'adresse URL exacte ou d'imprimer les descriptions directement du site Web.

Les descriptions de cours rédigées dans une autre langue que le français ou l'anglais peuvent être traduites en français ou en anglais par le candidat et la traduction doit être présentée avec le document préparé par l'établissement. Il est également exigé une traduction officielle en français ou en anglais (faite par un traducteur certifié) des diplômes qui n'existent ni en français ni en anglais.

Il est recommandé que tous les étudiants remettent une description détaillée du travail postsecondaire terminé pour la majeure qu'ils envisagent afin de voir s'il est possible d'obtenir des équivalences dans le domaine de la majeure.

Programmes de préparation d'un diplôme universitaire de premier cycle

Un étudiant admis à York, qui a fréquenté un établissement postsecondaire agréé et obtenu des crédits en vue de l'obtention d'un baccalauréat peut demander des équivalences. L'étude de son dossier prendra en compte les cours pour lesquels les notes obtenues sont celles normalement exigées d'un étudiant poursuivant ses études sans interruption. Les équivalences sont déterminées en fonction des exigences de la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire.

L'Université York reconnaît le Protocole pancanadien sur la réciprocité des crédits universitaires et entreprend de s'assurer que tous les cours suivis par un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement durant les deux premières années d'études universitaires au Canada (y compris les dernières années d'études menant à un diplôme d'études collégiales (DEC) au Québec, et les cours universitaires offerts par les collèges communautaires et les collèges universitaires en Colombie-britannique et en Alberta) seront reconnus et feront l'objet d'une équivalence totale pour l'obtention d'un diplôme pourvu que : 1. l'étudiant soit censé être admissible et ait reçu une offre d'admission ; 2. l'étudiant ait obtenu une note de passage aux cours qu'il a suivis et ait le niveau normalement exigé d'un étudiant poursuivant ses études sans interruption ; et que 3 : les crédits obtenus soient en lien avec le programme d'études auquel l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire, ou que les crédits puissent être comptés comme facultatifs pour ledit programme.

Si un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement choisit un autre programme une fois admis à York, les équivalences obtenues à l'admission peuvent faire l'objet d'une réévaluation.

Si un étudiant qui quitte York pour poursuivre ses études dans un autre établissement postsecondaire décide d'y revenir, il devra faire une nouvelle demande à l'Université York et toutes les équivalences antérieures devront être réévaluées.

Selon la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant est admis, il se peut que les équivalences accordées ne soient pas toutes utilisées pour satisfaire aux exigences d'un programme d'études donné.

Programmes de préparation d'un diplôme collégial

Un étudiant admis à York, qui a terminé au moins un an d'études à temps plein dans un programme d'un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie (CAAT) ou d'un institut de technologie et d'enseignement supérieur (ITAL) en Ontario ou dans un collège agréé en dehors de l'Ontario peut chercher à obtenir des équivalences. Le minimum requis est une moyenne générale de B/70, soit 3 sur une échelle de 4) pour tous les cours suivis, y compris les cours où il a échoué. Les équivalences sont déterminées en fonction des exigences de la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire. Les accords avec un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie ou un collège assimilé peuvent entraîner des équivalences plus larges.

Si un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement choisit un autre programme une fois admis à York, les équivalences obtenues à l'admission peuvent faire l'objet d'une réévaluation.

Si un étudiant qui quitte York pour poursuivre ses études dans un autre établissement postsecondaire décide d'y revenir, il devra faire une nouvelle demande à l'Université York et toutes les équivalences antérieures devront être réévaluées.

Selon la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant est admis, il se peut que les équivalences accordées ne soient pas toutes utilisées pour satisfaire aux exigences d'un programme d'études donné.

Échec et renvoi

Les étudiants qui ont été renvoyés peuvent être réadmis dans une session ultérieure à condition de pouvoir prouver au comité des admissions qu'ils pourront tirer profit de nouvelles études universitaires. Aucune demande de réadmission ne sera considérée dans un délai de deux ans après la date du renvoi. En cas d'échec dans une autre université, ou lorsque les règlements d'une autre université sur le renvoi diffèrent de ceux de York, ou lorsque cette université calcule les années et les semestres d'une façon différente de York, ce sont en général les règlements de York qui s'appliquent.

XIII. Renseignements universitaires

Sessions universitaires

L'année universitaire comprend deux « sessions » : La session d'automne-hiver et la session d'été. La session d'automne/hiver commence en septembre et se termine en avril ou mai. En règle générale, les cours complets sont programmés durant la session d'automne-hiver. La session d'automne-hiver se divise en deux « trimestres », le trimestre d'automne qui commence en septembre et se termine en décembre, et le trimestre d'hiver qui commence en janvier et se termine en avril ou mai. Les trimestres d'automne et d'hiver comprennent en général 13 semaines chacun et la session d'automne-hiver environ 26 semaines.

La session d'été commence en mai et se termine en août. Cette session comprend différents « trimestres » qui durent de 6 à 13 semaines de cours. On trouvera tous les renseignements concernant les dates de sessions et de trimestres sur le site Current Students.

Numérotation des cours

Les cours décrits dans cet annuaire se présentent sous cette forme : GL/SOCI 2510 6.00 et se décomposent ainsi : GL désigne la faculté qui offre le cours (dans ce cas, le collège universitaire Glendon); SOCI désigne le département qui offre le cours (dans ce cas, le département de sociologie); 2510 est le numéro du cours. Le premier chiffre identifie le niveau du cours (dans ce cas, cours de deuxième année); et le suffixe 6.00 donne la « valeur en crédits » du cours.

Valeur en crédits des cours

Les facultés de York offrent des cours dont la valeur en crédits est variable. Chaque cours est désigné avec un suffixe qui en indique la valeur en crédits. Ainsi le cours GL/SOCI 2510 6.00 porte le suffixe « 6.00 », ce qui indique que le cours vaut six crédits. La valeur en crédits est en général liée à la durée totale du cours et au nombre d'heures de classe par semaine. Les cours de trois crédits, désignés par le suffixe « 3.00 » ont en général trois heures de cours par semaine durant un trimestre. Les cours de six crédits, désignés par le suffixe « 6.00 », ont en général trois heures de cours par semaine durant deux trimestres.

Le site des cours de York (<http://courses.registrar.yorku.ca/index.htm>) donne la liste des cours offerts, le trimestre, le jour de semaine, l'heure et la classe.

Cours interdépartementaux

Comme on l'a vu, le préfixe d'un cours désigne l'unité ou le programme qui offre le cours. De nombreux cours sont « interdépartementaux », c'est-à-dire qu'ils sont offerts conjointement par au moins deux unités d'enseignement (départements ou programmes). Dans certains cas, des cours peuvent être offerts conjointement par deux unités appartenant à deux facultés différentes. Les cours interdépartementaux ne peuvent pas être utilisés deux fois pour satisfaire à des exigences différentes. Ainsi, si AS/HUMA 4610 6.00 est jumelé à AS/PSYC 4120 6.00, il peut compter comme un cours d'humanités ou de psychologie, mais pas pour les deux à la fois.

Cours se chevauchant

Dans certains cours, le contenu et la pédagogie chevauchent de façon importante le contenu et la pédagogie d'autres cours. Il y a deux catégories de chevauchement : les cours équivalents et les cours incompatibles. Un étudiant qui reçoit des crédits pour un cours ne peut pas recevoir de crédits pour un cours « équivalent » ou « incompatible ». Les cours équivalents sont si proches les uns des autres qu'ils peuvent se substituer les uns aux autres pour satisfaire à une exigence de programme ou à une condition préalable. Les cours incompatibles (appelés aussi crédits incompatibles) ne peuvent pas se substituer les uns aux autres, même si leur contenu chevauche quelque peu. Les cours équivalents et les cours incompatibles sont indiqués dans les mini-annuaires des départements et programmes et la liste est également donnée sur le site Current Students.

Équivalence d'année d'études

La progression des étudiants dans leurs études est déterminée par le nombre de crédits obtenus plutôt que par le nombre d'années passées aux études. Voici un tableau d'équivalence qui pourra aider à déterminer le niveau atteint par les étudiants dans leurs études :

Crédits obtenus	Année d'études
Moins de 24 crédits obtenus	1re
De 24 crédits à moins de 54	2e
De 54 crédits à moins de 84	3e
84 crédits et plus	4e*

*La référence à la 4e année ne s'applique qu'aux étudiants des programmes de spécialisation. Les cours de pédagogie suivis par les étudiants de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation ne sont pas inclus dans le compte des cours de la faculté mère (c.-à-d. Arts, Glendon, etc.) pour déterminer l'année d'études.

Inscription aux cours et paiement des droits

Notes et système de notation

Les étudiants suivant des cours dans les facultés de 1er cycle décrits dans cet annuaire sont notés selon le barème de notes présenté ci-dessous, à l'exception des cours évalués selon l'option réussite/échec. Les points attribués aux différentes notes sont utilisés pour calculer les moyennes. Pour tout renseignement concernant l'option réussite/échec, voir dans cet annuaire la section correspondant au système de notation dans la faculté pertinente.

Remarque : Seuls les cours suivis à l'Université York sont inclus dans le calcul de la moyenne générale. Les pourcentages indiqués ne font pas partie de la notation et sont donnés à titre indicatif seulement. La notation officielle pour l'évaluation des travaux dans tous les programmes de 1er cycle de l'Université York repose sur l'échelle de lettres.

Lettre	Points	Pourcentage	Description
A+	9	90-100	Exceptionnel
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Très bon
B	6	70-74	Bon
C+	5	65-69	Compétent
C	4	60-64	Assez compétent
D+	3	55-59	Passable

D	2	50-54	À peine passable
E	1	Légèrement inférieur à 50%	Échec de peu
F	0	Inférieur à 50%	Échec

Remarque : Les points indiqués ci-dessus servent à calculer les moyennes et l'octroi de crédits.

Définitions et explications des notes

A+ Exceptionnel. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, associée à une compétence exceptionnelle ou grande originalité dans leur utilisation.

A Excellent. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, associée à une très grande compétence ou une certaine originalité dans leur utilisation.

B+ Très bon. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques et grande compétence dans leur utilisation.

B Bon. Bon niveau de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et assez grande compétence dans leur utilisation.

C+ Compétent. Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et compétence acceptable dans leur utilisation.

C Assez compétent. Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et certaine compétence dans leur utilisation.

D+ Passable. Niveau de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques légèrement supérieur au niveau minimum exigé et certaine aptitude dans leur utilisation.

D À peine passable. Niveau minimum de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques exigé.

E Échec de peu.

F Échec.

Calcul des moyennes

Les étudiants reçoivent deux moyennes différentes : la moyenne pour la session et la moyenne cumulative. Les moyennes permettent de déterminer si un étudiant peut poursuivre ses études et obtenir son diplôme. Elles sont calculées dans le but de déterminer si l'étudiant est autorisé à poursuivre et elles sont pondérées par rapport au nombre de crédits.

Moyenne de la session : moyenne obtenue à tous les cours suivis durant une session universitaire, Ex. : Automne-hiver 2001-2002.

Moyenne cumulative : moyenne obtenue au cours de l'ensemble des études de premier cycle dans un programme particulier.

Définition de « Réussite » et d'« Échec »

Réussite aux cours :

Pour réussir à un cours, il faut obtenir au minimum D.

Échec aux cours :

Il y a deux notes d'échec aux cours : E signifie « Échec de peu » et F « Échec ».

Dates de remise des notes (Relevés de notes)

Abandon

Abandon de la session

On considère qu'un étudiant a abandonné la session à partir du moment où il a abandonné son dernier cours par le biais du système d'inscription.

Son dossier indique alors qu'il a officiellement abandonné ses études durant le trimestre ou la session.

Pour les règlements universitaires et les remboursements de frais d'inscription, le fait d'arrêter ses études et de venir néanmoins aux cours ne constitue pas un abandon officiel.

Le fait d'ignorer ce règlement ou la preuve apportée d'une autre activité ne constitue pas un argument permettant d'obtenir un abandon rétroactif.

En cas d'abandon, le Bureau des affaires étudiantes utilise la date à laquelle il a reçu avis de l'abandon de la session ou au cours comme date officielle pour calculer les frais qui demeurent dus ou à rembourser.

Réadmission après l'abandon d'une session

Normalement, les étudiants qui ont abandonné une session et qui désirent s'inscrire à une session ultérieure peuvent demander que leur dossier soit réactivé en s'adressant au Bureau du registraire. Les étudiants qui suivent des cours dans un autre établissement sans avoir obtenu de lettre de permission doivent demander leur réadmission et fournir les documents nécessaires. Les étudiants qui abandonnent durant leur première session à York sans avoir terminé aucun cours, peuvent demander la réactivation de leur dossier seulement dans l'année qui suit leur inscription initiale. S'ils attendent plus longtemps, ils devront demander une nouvelle admission.

Remboursement des droits à la suite d'un abandon

Tous les renseignements sur le remboursement des droits sont indiqués dans la table de remboursement que l'on peut consulter dans l'horaire des cours de premier cycle et sur le site Current Students.

Remarque : Un étudiant ne peut abandonner un cours dans lequel pèse contre lui une accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire ou dans lequel il a été accusé d'un tel délit. Si l'étudiant est reconnu innocent d'une accusation de ce type portée contre lui, il peut alors continuer de suivre le cours et demander qu'un autre enseignant évalue son travail. Il peut aussi abandonner le cours en question sans subir de sanction universitaire. Il doit alors informer de son intention, par écrit, le bureau du doyen.

Annulation de l'inscription

Le registraire de l'Université a le droit d'annuler l'inscription d'étudiants qui :

- ne répondent pas aux exigences d'admission de l'université ou aux conditions d'admission imposées par le Service des admissions ;
- ne sont pas admissibles à un programme d'étude et ne sont pas autorisés par ailleurs par la faculté à s'inscrire à ce programme ;
- ne sont pas en règle avec les lois d'immigration et de citoyenneté du pays ;
- contreviennent aux règlements contenus dans la Loi sur l'Université York (sur les instructions de la présidente).

Les étudiants dont l'inscription aura été ainsi annulée seront censés ne pas avoir été inscrits à la session universitaire. Aucune mention de leur inscription ni de leurs activités universitaires ne sera conservée. On remboursera aux étudiants la totalité de leurs droits payés, moins toute somme due à l'Université.

Le registraire ou tout autre employé habilité informera les étudiants ainsi que les programmes et services concernés.

Les étudiants qui s'inscrivent à des cours et qui sont en attente d'une décision concernant leur statut universitaire à la fin de la session précédente ou en attente du résultat d'une pétition portant sur leur statut à l'université peuvent voir leur inscription annulée si, à cause de leur statut, leur abandon, leur renvoi ou leur suspension s'impose.

Classification des étudiants

D'un point de vue général, les étudiants sont considérés par l'Université comme étudiants à temps plein s'ils sont inscrits à l'équivalent d'au moins trois cours (18 crédits) dans une session de deux trimestres. Pour plus de précision, consultez le Bureau du registraire.

Dossiers des étudiants

Politique d'accès aux dossiers des étudiants

Tout étudiant qui pose sa candidature pour l'admission à l'Université York et s'inscrit dans un programme de l'Université accepte de ce fait que le Bureau du registraire obtienne sur lui les renseignements personnels nécessaires. Ces renseignements servent à enregistrer l'avancement de ses études et ses résultats universitaires, fournissent la base sur laquelle sont octroyées les subventions gouvernementales et permettent à l'Université de maintenir à jour ses dossiers universitaires et financiers. En s'inscrivant à l'Université, les étudiants acceptent également tacitement que tous les documents soumis dans leur dossier de candidature, y compris pour l'obtention d'un logement en résidence ou d'une bourse ou pour étayer une pétition ou un appel, deviennent la propriété de l'Université.

L'Université York s'engage à prendre tous les moyens raisonnables pour protéger la confidentialité et l'intégrité des renseignements contenus dans les dossiers des étudiants. À moins d'en être contrainte par la loi, ou d'avoir reçu une autorisation écrite de la personne concernée, le Bureau du registraire ne divulguera à quiconque à l'extérieur de l'Université les renseignements confidentiels conservés dans le dossier des étudiants.

Accès aux dossiers confidentiels des étudiants et divulgation des renseignements

Accès public

Le Bureau du registraire a pour règle stricte de ne divulguer librement à tous les demandeurs que le minimum de renseignements. Elle ne divulgue pas par exemple les renseignements concernant l'état d'avancement des études, les domaines d'études, les diplômes octroyés par l'Université et leur date de remise. Sauf dans les cas précisés ci-dessous, tout renseignement contenu dans le dossier d'un étudiant ne sera divulgué à une tierce personne que sur autorisation écrite de la part de l'étudiant. Et cette restriction s'applique à tous les parents, conjoints, membres des corps policiers et des agences d'évaluation du crédit.

Accès par les étudiants eux-mêmes

Les étudiants ont le droit d'inspecter tous les documents contenus dans leur propre dossier, à l'exception des évaluations et lettres de référence soumises à l'Université sous le sceau de la confidentialité.

Les étudiants ont le droit de demander que tout renseignement erroné contenu dans leur dossier soit rectifié et que les personnes ayant eu connaissance de ces renseignements erronés soient informées de leur rectification.

Les étudiants qui désirent inspecter leur dossier doivent prendre un rendez-vous avec le registraire adjoint, Services étudiants.

Les relevés remis directement à un étudiant portent la mention « Remis à l'étudiant ».

Accès par les employés

Les employés de l'Université qui, dans le cadre de leurs fonctions officielles, doivent connaître certains renseignements contenus dans les dossiers d'étudiants, ont le droit d'accéder à ces renseignements. En règle générale, seuls les employés dont les responsabilités touchent l'administration universitaire ou les affaires étudiantes ont accès aux dossiers des étudiants.

Accès par les organismes étudiants

Accès légalement mandaté

Certains renseignements spécifiques peuvent être remis à des personnes ou à des agences en vertu d'une ordonnance de tribunal ou d'une assignation exigeant la remise de ces renseignements par l'Université. Certains renseignements peuvent également être remis à Statistique Canada, au ministère de la Formation, des Collèges et Universités lors de vérifications des inscriptions, ou encore à des organismes officiels de certification ou de réglementation professionnelle.

Relevés de notes

Les étudiants qui font une demande pour obtenir un relevé de notes le recevront normalement dans un délai de

- cinq jours ouvrables pour les étudiants du premier cycle qui ont fait leurs études après 1982 ;
- dix jours ouvrables pour les étudiants du premier cycle qui ont fait leurs études avant 1982 ;
- dix jours ouvrables pour les étudiants des deuxième et troisième cycles.

Selon les règlements sur l'accès aux dossiers étudiants, établis par le Bureau du registraire, toute demande de relevé de notes doit être soumise par écrit avec signature de l'étudiant ou le code d'accès du Passeport de York. Les relevés remis directement à l'étudiant portent la mention « Remis à l'étudiant ». Le Bureau du registraire ne peut être tenu responsable des relevés perdus ou retardés par les services postaux.

Pour commander un relevé

Commande en ligne

Il est possible de commander en ligne son relevé de notes en se rendant sur le site suivant <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca/services/everything/transcripts/index.htm> et en suivant les instructions.

Commande en personne

Les relevés de notes peuvent être commandés en personne au Bureau du registraire, par courrier ou par télécopieur (416-736-5444). Les demandes adressées par téléphone ne sont pas acceptées.

Commande par la poste ou par télécopieur

Les demandes adressées par la poste ou par télécopieur doivent être accompagnées des renseignements suivants :

- Nom au complet de l'étudiant au moment des études et statut actuel s'il y a eu changement ;
- Numéro d'étudiant (ou date de naissance et numéro d'assurance sociale) et nature du diplôme obtenu ou en cours, ex. BA, MBA, PhD ;
- Adresse postale et numéro de téléphone durant la journée ;
- Nombre de relevés demandés ;
- Nom et adresse complets de l'organisme ou de la personne à qui est destiné le relevé ;
- Numéro de carte Visa ou Mastercard avec date d'expiration ;
- Signature de l'étudiant demandeur.

Retrait en personne

Si une personne autre que l'étudiant lui-même désire retirer un relevé de notes, cette personne doit être munie d'une déclaration signée de l'étudiant et l'identifiant comme personne autorisée à retirer le relevé de notes. Cette personne devra se munir d'une pièce d'identité avec photo.

Paiement

Le Bureau du registraire accepte le paiement en espèces, par carte de débit, mandat (payable à l'Université York), carte de crédit Visa ou Mastercard. Les paiements en espèces ou par carte de débit ne sont acceptés que pour les demandes effectuées en personne au Bureau du registraire. (les chèques ne sont pas acceptés).

Pour les paiements par carte de crédit, prière d'indiquer le nom du détenteur, le type de carte (seules les cartes Visa et Mastercard sont acceptées), le numéro de la carte, la date d'expiration et signer.

Toute demande de relevé de notes doit être accompagnée du paiement exigé.

Mise en garde

Selon les règlements de l'Université, aucun relevé ne sera remis à un étudiant qui a des dettes envers l'université.

Changement de nom

Le Bureau du registraire est soucieux de maintenir à jour le dossier des étudiants. En conséquence, les étudiants doivent fournir au moment de leur demande d'admission ou en personne par la suite leur nom et prénom officiel exigés pour l'inscription. Toute demande de changement de nom, que ce soit pour une modification, suppression, substitution, addition doit être accompagnée des documents officiels pertinents. Un étudiant peut avoir à présenter la preuve de son identité lorsqu'il fait sa demande pour recevoir son diplôme.

Changement d'adresse

Il est essentiel que les étudiants tiennent l'Université au courant de tout changement d'adresse, courante et permanente, afin de pouvoir recevoir tout le courrier expédié par l'Université, tels que la carte d'inscription à la session.

Tout changement d'adresse doit être effectué via le site Current Students.

Cas d'urgence

Parfois, un cas urgent de nature personnelle demande qu'un étudiant soit contacté rapidement. Comme le campus Keele de l'Université s'étend sur une superficie de 578 acres et compte 60 édifices, 275 salles de classe, de travaux pratiques, et de conférences, et plus de 50 000 étudiants, il n'existe pas de système d'annonce sonore à travers le campus, pour faire face à de telles situations. Le Centre de contrôle de la sécurité ne prendra en considération que des demandes jugées urgentes, ou des cas de vie en danger, et essayera alors de contacter l'étudiant.

À cause de ressources physiques limitées et d'autres contraintes, la prise de contact ne peut être garantie.

Divulgence de renseignements personnels à Statistique Canada

L'Agence nationale des statistiques, Statistique Canada, effectue chaque année des centaines d'enquêtes dans un grand nombre de domaines, y compris l'éducation.

Il est essentiel de pouvoir suivre les étudiants au cours des années et dans les différents établissements pour comprendre par exemple les facteurs qui affectent les demandes d'admission dans les établissements postsecondaires. L'obligation accrue mise sur les organismes de rendre compte de l'utilisation des finances publiques fait qu'il est important de bien connaître les résultats obtenus en bout de ligne. Pour effectuer ce genre d'études, Statistique Canada demande aux collèges et aux universités de lui fournir toutes les données sur les étudiants en cours d'études et sur les diplômés. Les établissements recueillent donc et transmettent à Statistique Canada les renseignements concernant l'identité (nom de l'étudiant, numéro d'étudiant, numéro d'assurance sociale), l'adresse et le numéro de téléphone, les renseignements démographiques, le statut d'inscription, les études précédentes et l'emploi civil s'il y a lieu.

La Loi fédérale sur la statistique autorise Statistique Canada à avoir accès aux renseignements personnels détenus par les établissements d'enseignement. Ces renseignements ne peuvent être utilisés que pour des fins statistiques et la clause de confidentialité de la Loi sur la statistique assure que tous les renseignements fournis ne peuvent être divulgués d'aucune façon qui pourrait permettre d'identifier un étudiant.

Les étudiants qui ne veulent pas que les renseignements les concernant soient utilisés peuvent demander à Statistique Canada de retirer de la base de données nationale les données les identifiant ainsi que leur adresse et numéro de téléphone.

Pour tout renseignement sur l'utilisation de ces renseignements, consultez le site Web de Statistique Canada <http://www.statcan.ca> ou écrivez à la Section postsecondaire, Centre des statistiques sur l'éducation, 17e étage, R.H. Bâtiment Coats, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa (ON) K1A 0T6.

XIV. Services financiers, bourses et prix

Le Bureau des services financiers étudiants est chargé :

- De la gestion de tous les aspects des comptes financiers des étudiants vis-à-vis de l'Université ;
- De servir de relais principal pour les étudiants qui font une demande auprès de OSAP ;
- De gérer les programmes de bourses pour les étudiants des trois cycles ;
- De gérer le programme de Travail-études ;
- D'apporter de l'aide aux étudiants qui ont des difficultés financières;
- De fournir aux étudiants les reçus pour fins d'impôts (T2202A) en ligne.

Droits universitaires

Les droits universitaires des étudiants de premier cycle sont calculés en fonction du nombre de crédits (voir les sections Frais de scolarité ci-dessous). Le Bureau des services financiers étudiants publie en ligne pour chaque session une table montrant les droits à payer et les remboursements. Il appartient aux étudiants de se tenir au courant des droits à payer et des pénalités financières entraînées par l'abandon de cours.

On peut consulter le tableau à jour des droits universitaires dans le site <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs/>.

Frais supplémentaires

Le ministère de l'Éducation, de la Formation et des Collèges et Universités de l'Ontario autorise les universités à imposer des frais supplémentaires qui s'ajoutent aux droits universitaires. Il y a trois types de frais supplémentaires: a) les frais perçus par l'administration et faisant partie des droits universitaires, b) les frais approuvés par référendum étudiant et c) les frais supplémentaires associés à des cours.

b) Frais approuvés par référendum. Les frais supplémentaires approuvés par référendum sont inclus dans les droits universitaires par crédit.

c) Frais supplémentaires associés à des cours. Ces frais comprennent par exemple les frais de test de classement, de matériel pédagogique, de vêtements spéciaux conservés par les étudiants, de matériel de production conservé par les étudiants. Ces frais peuvent être inscrits sur votre relevé de compte étudiant, ou sont encaissés séparément. Les étudiants qui veulent savoir si certains frais supplémentaires entrent dans une des catégories énumérées ci-dessus et peuvent être exigés en plus de leurs frais de scolarité devraient s'adresser d'abord à la direction du département ou du service qui exige ces frais particuliers. Si, après cette démarche, ils désirent poursuivre la question ils devraient alors s'adresser au Bureau des services financiers étudiants. Vérifiez sa nouvelle adresse en ligne à l'adresse <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs/>.

Tarifs et catégories de droits d'inscription

exemptés par les règlements gouvernementaux ontariens du supplément imposé aux étudiants internationaux et b) le tarif pour étudiants internationaux qui ne bénéficient pas de cette exemption, ou pour ceux qui ne veulent pas ou ne peuvent pas donner au Bureau du registraire la preuve de leur statut d'exempté. Ces droits varient aussi en fonction de la faculté choisie.

Toute demande de renseignement et toute question concernant l'interprétation de l'admissibilité aux exemptions, les droits applicables, les dates limites de présentation des pièces justificatives, les tarifs de droits applicables, ou les changements de statut au Canada, doit être adressée au Bureau du registraire.

A) Tarif ordinaire

Les étudiants paient le tarif ordinaire national s'ils se trouvent dans l'une des catégories exemptées indiquées ci-dessous et peuvent fournir au Bureau du registraire des preuves suffisantes de leur statut avant les dates limites indiquées ci-dessous.

Session automne/hiver

31 octobre - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète automne-hiver

31 janvier - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour le trimestre d'hiver seulement de la session automne-hiver

30 juin - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète d'été

16 juillet - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif régulier national pour certains cours de la session d'été qui commencent plus tard dans la session (le 2 juillet). Toute question pour connaître quels sont les cours concernés doit être adressée au Bureau du registraire.

Les étudiants qui désirent bénéficier d'une exemption au titre d'une des catégories approuvées doivent s'adresser au Bureau du registraire pour se renseigner sur les pièces justificatives à fournir avec leur demande d'exemption. Ils doivent présenter les documents originaux. Aucune photocopie n'est acceptée. Tous les documents fournis par les étudiants, à l'appui d'une demande d'exemption, ou le cas échéant, comme preuve de leur statut, devront être présentés au Bureau du registraire, avant le règlement des droits universitaires.

Les étudiants qui ne peuvent fournir les documents nécessaires avant de payer leurs droits universitaires doivent acquitter le tarif pour étudiant international.

Pour conserver le bénéfice de l'exemption pour des sessions ultérieures, les étudiants qui ont obtenu une exemption peuvent avoir à présenter ultérieurement des documents supplémentaires afin de prouver que leur statut n'a pas changé.

Si des étudiants fournissent des documents valables pour l'exemption du tarif pour étudiant international et que ces documents portent une date d'expiration, il est de leur responsabilité de présenter les documents mis à jour au Bureau du registraire au plus tard dans les dix jours suivant la date d'expiration indiquée sur les documents originaux, et ce, afin de leur permettre de conserver leur statut d'exemption.

Certaines catégories d'exemption précisent que la personne qui a le statut d'exempté, ainsi que les personnes à sa charge, ont droit à l'exemption du tarif pour étudiant international. Le terme de personne à charge inclut les personnes suivantes :

- le conjoint ou la conjointe,
- le fils ou la fille célibataire de cette personne,
- le fils ou la fille célibataire du conjoint de cette personne.

Le statut de personne à charge doit être authentifié par des documents légaux. Dans le cas de personnes à charge de citoyens canadiens, ou de résidents permanents, ou de demandeurs du statut de résident permanent, le statut de personne à charge, acquis par mariage ou adoption, doit avoir été acquis au moins trois ans avant le dépôt de demande d'exemption et avoir été conservé sans interruption par la suite.

Appartiennent aux catégories exemptées :

(i) les citoyens canadiens aux termes de la Loi sur la citoyenneté canadienne ou toute personne considérée comme Indienne selon les termes de la Loi sur les Indiens ;

(ii) les étudiants internationaux qui sont légalement à charge d'un citoyen canadien peuvent bénéficier du statut d'exemption. Des documents doivent être fournis pour prouver que le statut de personne à charge a été acquis, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et que ce statut a été conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption ;

(iii) les résidents permanents aux termes de la Loi sur l'immigration ;

(iv) les étudiants internationaux qui sont à charge d'une personne ayant reçu le statut de résident permanent peuvent bénéficier d'une exemption du tarif pour étudiant international. Des documents doivent être fournis pour prouver que le statut de personne à charge a été acquis, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et avoir été conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption ;

(v) les personnes ayant demandé le statut de résident permanent, à condition qu'elles répondent à toutes les exigences pour l'attribution du statut et qu'elles obtiennent de Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada une déclaration officielle le confirmant ;

(vi) les étudiants internationaux qui sont à charge d'une personne ayant demandé le statut de résident permanent (voir paragraphe v précédent) peuvent bénéficier d'une exemption du tarif pour étudiants internationaux. Des documents doivent être fournis pour prouver que le statut de personne à charge a été acquis, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et avoir été conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption ;

(vii) les visiteurs admis au Canada et y demeurant qui ont obtenu une accréditation officielle du gouvernement canadien pour y occuper un poste officiel de diplomate ou d'agent consulaire ou un poste de représentant accrédité du gouvernement canadien ou de dignitaire d'un pays autre que le Canada, des Nations Unies ou d'une de ses agences, ou de tout organisme intergouvernemental dont le Canada est membre, ou les personnes à charge ou les membres du personnel de ces diplomates ou agents consulaires, ou en tant que représentant officiel accrédité au Canada par le gouvernement canadien ou en tant que membre de Forces Armées d'un pays autre que le Canada ou en tant que civil admis au Canada en vertu de la Loi sur les Forces étrangères présentes au Canada ou en tant que personne à charge de ces derniers.

Remarque : Un étudiant inscrit sous cette catégorie d'exemption, dont le statut change pour des raisons qui échappent à son contrôle au cours de la session universitaire à laquelle il est inscrit, conserve son statut d'exempté du tarif international pendant toute la durée de la session à laquelle il était inscrit au moment où est survenu le changement. Prière de contacter le Bureau du registraire pour connaître les documents officiels exigés ;

(viii) les visiteurs, et les personnes à leur charge (autres que les assistants d'enseignement et de recherche), admis au Canada et y demeurant dans le but d'occuper un emploi ;

(ix) les personnes, ainsi que celles à leur charge, admises au Canada et y demeurant qui sont reconnues officiellement par Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada comme réfugiées aux termes de la Loi sur l'immigration ;

(x) les personnes demandant le statut de réfugié au Canada et les personnes à leur charge. La demande de statut de réfugié doit avoir été soumise à Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada avant le 1er janvier 1989 ;

(xi) les personnes participant à un échange parrainé par le gouvernement de l'Ontario.

B) Tarif applicable aux étudiants internationaux

Les étudiants internationaux et le Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire (RAMU)

Les étudiants internationaux qui étudient en Ontario ne sont pas couverts par le Régime d'assurance-santé de cette province. Ils doivent donc obligatoirement adhérer au Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire (RAMU) conçu par les universités de l'Ontario pour les étudiants internationaux. Ce régime offre aux étudiants internationaux et aux membres admissibles de leur famille une protection générale. La cotisation varie en fonction du nombre de bénéficiaires un, deux, trois ou plus. Il est obligatoire de renouveler son adhésion chaque année. Les primes s'ajoutent aux droits universitaires et sont portées directement au compte des étudiants. Les formulaires d'inscription sont disponibles au bureau 108 du collège Vanier.

Pour tout renseignement, s'adresser à York International, bureau 108 du collège Vanier, tél. 416-736-5177 ou uhip@yorku.ca.

Modalités de paiement

Dettes universitaires

Les règlements du Sénat de l'Université York stipulent que l'inscription, la remise des diplômes, les relevés de notes, etc. seront suspendus pour tout étudiant ayant une dette envers l'Université.

Si une dette atteint ou dépasse 75 $, l'inscription aux cours est refusée. De plus, des sanctions sont prévues tout au long de l'année, de sorte que les services pédagogiques et administratifs peuvent être suspendus jusqu'au règlement satisfaisant d'une dette en cours. Pour de plus amples renseignements, prière de consulter le site Web <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs> ou se reporter à l'horaire des cours de premier cycle.

Certificats de frais de scolarité et de déduction relative aux études

Conformément aux règlements de Revenu Canada, l'Université émet en ligne vers la fin février ou au début de mars les reçus pour frais de scolarité et pour frais relatifs aux études. Les formulaires sont affichés sur le site Web et les étudiants peuvent imprimer le nombre de copies dont ils ont besoin. Ces formulaires ne sont plus envoyés par la poste aux étudiants. Les reçus sont basés sur l'année civile et non l'année universitaire. Pour tout renseignement complémentaire, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/osfs>.

Déduction pour frais de scolarité

Selon les règlements de Revenu Canada, seuls les droits universitaires peuvent donner droit à des crédits d'impôts. Les frais supplémentaires, ainsi que les frais de matériel ne donnent pas droit à des crédits et ne seront donc pas inclus dans le reçu.

Frais relatifs aux études

Pour avoir droit, quel que soit le mois, au crédit d'impôt pour les frais relatifs aux études, les étudiants doivent être inscrits à au moins une partie du mois.

Pour tout renseignement concernant les modalités complètes d'application de ce règlement financier, consultez la brochure de Revenu Canada intitulée « Les étudiants et l'impôt », les bulletins d'interprétation de Revenu Canada, ou contacter un Bureau de district de Revenu Canada.

Résidents du Québec : Normalement, l'Université ne délivre pas le Certificat d'exemption pour les études post-secondaires à temps plein (TP-697V) exigé par Revenu Québec. Les résidents du Québec qui ont besoin de ce formulaire pour remplir leur déclaration d'impôt doivent fournir au Bureau des services financiers étudiants un exemplaire de ce formulaire ainsi que les renseignements nécessaires obtenus auprès d'un Bureau de Revenu Québec.

Institut d'anglais

L'Institut d'anglais de l'Université York (YUELI) offre une grande variété de cours de langue anglaise à temps plein et à temps partiel qui ne sont pas sanctionnés par des crédits universitaires. Ces cours sont principalement destinés aux étudiants qui désirent améliorer leur compétence en langue anglaise pour pouvoir être admis à l'Université ou pour favoriser leur avancement dans leur carrière. Les programmes de cours comprennent :

Le programme universitaire YUELI – Programme de 6 niveaux offert durant toute l'année pour enseigner la langue anglaise, la pensée critique, la recherche documentaire à l'aide de la technologie et les méthodes de travail nécessaires pour réussir dans les études universitaires de premier ou de deuxième et troisième cycles dans une université de langue anglaise. La réussite au niveau 6 avec mention Très Bien, Bien ou Passable (selon la faculté ou le programme recherché) satisfait à l'exigence en langue anglaise pour tous les programmes de premier, deuxième et troisième cycles.

Le programme Pré-MBA – Ce programme de 8 semaines, offert deux fois par an, prépare les étudiants qui ont déjà obtenu un diplôme de premier cycle à bien réussir dans un programme de MBA d'une université de langue anglaise d'Amérique du nord.

Les programmes YUELI à temps partiel – Ces programmes (généralement sur deux soirs par semaine pendant quatre semaines) sont orientés principalement sur des aspects précis de la langue anglaise tels que le parler, la prononciation, des techniques de présentation commerciale et la rédaction commerciale. Un nouveau programme à temps partiel (15 sessions de deux heures pendant huit semaines) s'intitule lecture et rédaction en anglais.

Des programmes à la carte – Ces programmes sont adaptés aux besoins de groupes précis avec des objectifs professionnels ou d'apprentissage particuliers. Ils sont préparés en collaboration avec un professeur de l'Université. Ils peuvent être offerts sur le campus de l'Université ou ailleurs au Canada et à l'étranger, ou par téléenseignement. Il existe également des cours particuliers.

Institut de recherches sociales (IRS)

Les étudiants de premier cycle peuvent s'adresser à l'Institut de recherches sociales pour obtenir des conseils et de l'aide, le plus souvent gratuitement, principalement pour leurs recherches en sciences sociales, mais également en sciences physiques et biologiques.

L'Institut abrite la plus grande unité de recherches par enquêtes dans les universités canadiennes, et le personnel de son centre de recherches par enquêtes effectue toutes les étapes d'une recherche avec enquête, depuis la conception d'un questionnaire et de l'échantillonnage, à la collecte et préparation des données pour enregistrement automatique, jusqu'à l'analyse des statistiques et la rédaction des rapports. Le service d'aide pour les statistiques de l'Institut (SCS) aide ses clients dans la conception de leurs recherches, la préparation de leur échantillonnage, la conception de questionnaires, le traitement informatique des données et l'analyse des statistiques. Le service organise également des mini-cours d'analyse statistique, de méthodologie de la recherche, de formation aux logiciels pour les statistiques (notamment SAS et SPSS). Ces cours sont offerts durant les sessions d'automne, hiver et printemps, chaque année.

Les données conservées par l'IRS permettent d'avoir accès aux résultats d'études effectuées par l'Institut lui-même, ainsi qu'aux résultats des plus grandes enquêtes canadiennes. Les archives permettent également d'accéder aux statistiques officielles telles que les données globales du recensement et données publiques tirées de Recensement du Canada.

Les étudiants de York sont invités à communiquer avec l'Institut pour obtenir de l'aide dans n'importe lequel de ces domaines ou pour se renseigner sur les cours prévus.

Programmes d'aide aux études

Centre de langues multimédia

Le Centre de langues multimédia de la Faculté des arts est principalement destiné aux étudiants du Département de français et du Département de langues, littératures et linguistique. Pour tout renseignement, contactez le laboratoire de langues, S117 Ross, 416-736-5197.

Centre de perfectionnement en rédaction

Le Centre de perfectionnement en rédaction aide les étudiants à apprendre à rédiger de façon indépendante et efficace leurs travaux universitaires ou professionnels. Pour atteindre cet objectif, le centre offre des séances de tutorat individuel. Tous les étudiants de la Faculté des arts peuvent s'inscrire aux séances du centre et recevoir de l'aide individuelle pour leurs travaux écrits dispensée par des instructeurs chevronnés. Le centre offre également des mini-cours sur différents sujets touchant la rédaction de travaux universitaires.

De plus, le centre offre des cours de rédaction, sanctionnés par des crédits, pour les humanités et les sciences sociales. Ces cours permettent aux étudiants de profiter des recherches les plus récentes dans le domaine de l'apprentissage de la rédaction, et d'ainsi mieux maîtriser les différentes étapes de la rédaction de devoirs universitaires, soit, la recherche, l'écriture du premier jet et la révision. Consultez la section des cours offerts dans cet annuaire pour de plus amples renseignements.

Méthodes d'apprentissage

Le Centre d'orientation et de consultation est là pour aider les étudiants à améliorer leurs capacités d'étude. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez voir la section « Services aux étudiants » ci-dessous.

Bibliothèques

Samuel Johnson a dit que : « la plus grande partie de la vie d'un écrivain se passe à la lecture ; pour écrire un livre, un homme retournera toute une bibliothèque ». L'observation de Johnson permet de voir pourquoi les cinq bibliothèques de York sont le cœur de l'Université : nous offrons une aide essentielle pour les activités d'enseignement et de recherche de York. La plus grande de nos bibliothèques est la bibliothèque Scott qui compte les principales collections dans le domaine des humanités, des sciences sociales et des beaux-arts. De plus, Scott, la bibliothèque commerciale Peter F. Bronfman, la bibliothèque Steacie de sciences et de génie, et la bibliothèque de droit sont toutes sur le campus Keele. La bibliothèque Leslie Frost offre, au campus Glendon, les services de soutien de la recherche et de l'enseignement dans tous les domaines universitaires. Outre ces bibliothèques, le bâtiment de la bibliothèque Scott abrite les archives et les collections spéciales, la cartothèque ainsi que la sonothèque-cinéma. Ces cinq bibliothèques renferment plus de six millions de documents, livres, périodiques imprimés, thèses, documents d'archives, microformes, cartes, films, vidéos, CDs et DVDs.

Des bibliothécaires professionnels sont à la disposition des étudiants pour les aider dans leurs recherches. Cette aide peut se faire sur place, par courriel, par téléphone ou en direct par conversation en temps réel. Des bibliothécaires formés sur différents sujets proposent, au début des trimestres universitaires, une formation pour savoir comment utiliser les bibliothèques dans le cadre de certains cours et une aide plus ponctuelle dans des ateliers pour les étudiants qui souhaitent s'informer. Tous les cours et les ateliers introduisent les étudiants à la façon de faire une recherche par sujet, de trouver des ouvrages et des articles de revues scientifiques ou spécialisées ou d'évaluer les mérites relatifs des différents documents de recherche. Les étudiants qui ont la possibilité de participer à l'un de ces ateliers ou d'entendre un bibliothécaire faire une présentation lors d'un cours sont mieux équipés pour obtenir de meilleures notes et, ce qui est plus important, deviennent des apprenants plus actifs dans les cours qu'ils suivent. Il existe, en effet, une relation directe entre la qualité des documents que les étudiants consultent durant le processus de recherche et la qualité du travail qu'ils remettent ; d'excellentes techniques de recherche en bibliothèque sont aussi importantes que des techniques de rédaction.

Au cours des dernières années, les bibliothèques ont rendu leurs collections et leurs services accessibles par Internet. Le site des bibliothèques est disponible 24 heures sur 24 à <http://www.library.yorku.ca>. Outre les services classiques en ligne, tels que les demandes de renouvellement et de transfert, notre site ouvre la porte à plus de 11 000 revues spécialisées intégrales en version électronique ainsi qu'à d'autres ressources électroniques (encyclopédies, dictionnaires, système de découverte d'un sujet, documents officiels et ensembles de données). Étudiants et chercheurs peuvent avoir accès aux ressources avec une carte valide de bibliothèque, de chez eux ou de n'importe quel point à l'extérieur de la bibliothèque. Pour obtenir de plus amples renseignements sur la façon d'accéder à distance aux ressources, consulter <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/eResources/RemoteAccess.htm>.

Même dans l'environnement de recherche plus en plus informatisé, nos collections imprimées restent une composante importante des ressources auxquelles nous permettons l'accès. Étant donné que les bibliothèques sont là pour répondre aux besoins en information et en recherche de toute l'Université York, les règlements concernant le prêt sont essentiels pour assurer un juste accès aux collections, aux services et aux installations. Ces règlements touchent la durée des prêts, les restrictions sur le prêt de certains documents, les droits et les responsabilités de l'emprunteur, et les conditions d'accès aux bibliothèques et à leurs services. Pour continuer à utiliser ces services, l'emprunteur se doit de respecter les règlements de la bibliothèque. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consulter <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/About/Policies/LendingCode.htm>.

Les bibliothécaires et autres membres du personnel de la bibliothèque sont là pour aider les étudiants (et tous ceux qui font des recherches) à tirer le plus grand parti possible des bibliothèques. Le fait d'acquiescer les compétences nécessaires pour accéder à un large éventail de points de vue donne aux étudiants l'aide essentielle dont ils ont besoin pour présenter et justifier leur propre position, indépendante et pourtant crédible. Les étudiants qui commencent par venir nous voir savent qu'une base solide en matière de recherche leur permet de remettre le meilleur travail possible.

Centre de consultation psychologique d'Atkinson

Le centre de consultation psychologique d'Atkinson aide les étudiants, à temps complet ou partiel, de la faculté d'études libérales et professionnelles, à acquérir l'attitude et les techniques nécessaires pour réussir des études universitaires. Parmi les services offerts, notons : enseignement des aptitudes d'apprentissage et de la gestion du temps, analyse de carrières, évaluation et maîtrise de blocs qui font obstacle aux études, examen et restructuration de messages autodestructeurs, réévaluation d'un mode de vie. Le bureau du centre de consultation psychologique est ouvert entre 8 h 30 et 19 h, du lundi au jeudi, et de 9 h à 16 h le vendredi. Le centre est ouvert le samedi de 9 h à *15 h uniquement sur rendez-vous.

Consultation psychologique individuelle

Les étudiants qui reviennent faire des études à temps plein ou à temps partiel font souvent face à un certain nombre de difficultés et à certaines conditions de vie qui risquent d'empêcher leur progression sur le plan universitaire. Il peut être utile de parler de ces problèmes avec un professionnel dûment formé pour apprendre des techniques, connaître des ressources et acquérir une attitude, qui favoriseront la réussite. Le centre de consultation psychologique d'Atkinson propose des consultations individuelles aux étudiants d'Atkinson sur un court terme. Le centre est attentif aux questions des personnes gay, lesbiennes, non conformistes sur le plan sexuel et bisexuelles, ainsi qu'aux différences culturelles. Il suffit d'un simple coup de téléphone pour prendre rendez-vous; dans l'immédiat si c'est nécessaire.

Besoins particuliers

Les problèmes rencontrés par les étudiants, à temps plein ou à temps partiel, peuvent avoir différentes sources. Des cours de perfectionnement et des ateliers sur les techniques d'étude peuvent s'avérer utiles pour répondre à de nombreux besoins de ces étudiants. Pour certains, cependant, les problèmes peuvent être liés à des handicaps divers (difficultés d'apprentissage, handicap physique ou psychiatrique). Le centre de consultation psychologique d'Atkinson veut aider les étudiants ayant des besoins particuliers à réussir dans un contexte universitaire. Des conseillers dûment formés sont à la disposition de ces étudiants pour faire des évaluations, des adaptations au niveau des études, une instruction personnalisée pour l'acquisition des techniques d'étude, ainsi que pour défendre leurs droits.

Ateliers et programmes de groupe

Entrer à l'université comme étudiant à temps plein ou à temps partiel, reprendre des études interrompues et suivre des cours tout en travaillant ne sont que quelques exemples des circonstances particulières que rencontrent certains étudiants d'Atkinson. Le centre de consultation psychologique propose des ateliers sur l'acquisition de techniques ou de compétences et sur le développement de la personne pour aider les étudiants à temps partiel : techniques d'étude, prise de notes, techniques de rédaction, gestion du temps, comprendre l'anxiété, comment rédiger des dissertations et passer des examens à choix multiple, et la gestion du stress. Le centre est prêt à organiser des ateliers sur un sujet pertinent aux membres du collège Atkinson ; nous serons donc heureux d'avoir vos suggestions.

Analyse des carrières

Les étudiants à temps plein ou à temps partiel sont, par définition, engagés dans une préparation ou un développement de carrière. Dans de nombreux cas, Atkinson est un élément dans un plan global menant à une nouvelle carrière, à un enrichissement des tâches ou tout simplement à un changement d'orientation. De la documentation est à disposition au centre sur l'analyse des carrières possibles, la planification et le développement de celle qu'on exerce.

Centre d'éducation à distance

Le centre d'éducation à distance d'Atkinson fournit aux étudiants des informations et une aide administrative pour des cours dispensés par Internet, par correspondance et des cours qui allient les conférences et l'Internet. Une aide pour accéder à la Toile est possible, tout comme celle pour la préparation des devoirs ainsi qu'un horaire des examens hors campus.

Cours par Internet et par correspondance

Étudiez à votre propre rythme avec les cours par Internet et par correspondance d'Atkinson. Vous pouvez étudier chez vous, à votre bureau ou de l'autre côté de la planète. Les cours à distance d'Atkinson utilisent les mêmes manuels et documents que l'enseignement en classe et couvre le même programme. Pour l'obtention de votre diplôme, les cours à distance comptent autant que les cours dispensés en classe. Organisez-vous un programme souple en associant des cours en classe, par Internet et par correspondance, ou même en préparant votre diplôme complètement à distance.

Les étudiants par correspondance reçoivent les informations concernant l'enseignement, les devoirs, les exigences du cours et les documents pertinents dans un dossier papier. Les étudiants par Internet peuvent consulter ces informations en ligne sur le site des cours par Internet. Dans les eux cas, les étudiants sont tenus de faire les devoirs (à rendre à des dates précises) et à passer les examens à l'Université ou à un autre endroit prévu si cela n'est pas possible.

On trouvera des renseignements détaillés sur les cours par Internet et par correspondance sur le site d'Atkinson : <http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca>. Cela comprend les textes et documents obligatoires, les exigences en matière d'informatique et les instructions d'accès.

Programmes offerts à distance

Atkinson prépare à un baccalauréat en administration (BAS) un baccalauréat ès arts (BA) pour les fonctionnaires et un certificat de gestion entièrement en combinant la souplesse de l'enseignement par Internet et par correspondance. On trouvera les exigences détaillées pour préparer ces diplômes, les prérequis et la description des cours sur le calendrier en ligne d'Atkinson à partir du site <http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca>.

Cours mixtes associant classe et Internet

Atkinson propose des cours mixtes qui associent des cours en classe et des cours par Internet. Ces cours comportent alternativement des cours sur le campus et des conférences en ligne par Internet. Ces cours associent le meilleur des deux méthodes d'enseignement.

Santé et bien-être

Le Centre de santé et bien-être de l'Université, situé dans le Bureau des affaires étudiantes (Student Services Centre), est un service d'information offert aux étudiants de York. Dirigé par une infirmière et appuyé par une équipe d'éducateurs, le Centre répond aux besoins des étudiants de diverses façons. Le bureau fournit des conseils et des renseignements sur la santé, des adresses pour obtenir des soins et offre des programmes de promotion de la santé sur le campus pour tous les étudiants, qu'ils vivent en résidence ou non. Il anime également chaque année une Foire de la santé qui vise à promouvoir les services de santé et à aborder les questions qui concernent particulièrement les étudiants. Les sujets couverts par l'équipe d'éducation à la santé comprennent les relations sexuelles saines, la santé et le bien-être sexuel, la nutrition, l'abus d'alcool et de drogues et la gestion du stress. Le Centre de santé et bien-être possède une volumineuse collection de livres, d'articles, de dépliants et de vidéos sur ces sujets. Les étudiants sont encouragés à visiter le bureau, à communiquer avec l'infirmière par téléphone (416-736-5196) ou par courriel à healthed@yorku.ca. Tous les services sont confidentiels.

Centre des droits humains et de l'équité

Le Centre des droits humains et de l'équité englobe le Centre des relations inter-raciales et inter-ethniques ainsi que le Centre d'information et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel. Il est chargé de veiller à l'équité dans les engagements et à toutes les questions de droits humains et de d'équité dans l'Université. Le Centre coordonne le Comité consultatif sur la diversité sexuelle et l'équilibre homme/femme et, en liaison avec le Bureau des affaires étudiantes, il coordonne également le Service de médiation, Mediate@York.

Centre des relations inter-raciales et inter-ethniques

Le Centre des relations inter-raciales et inter-ethniques a été créé en 1988 pour conseiller la direction de l'Université sur les politiques relatives aux relations inter-raciales et inter-ethniques, pour éduquer la collectivité dans la lutte contre le racisme et pour offrir de l'aide et des services à la collectivité multi-ethnique et multi-raciale de York. De plus, le centre offre son aide et ses services à la communauté pluri-raciale et pluri-ethnique de York, pour contribuer à rendre harmonieuses les relations de tous ceux qui travaillent et vivent à York.

Les étudiants, les professeurs ainsi que les employés ont le droit d'étudier, de vivre et de travailler dans un environnement libre de tout harcèlement racial et de toute discrimination. Ils ont aussi la responsabilité de ne se livrer à aucun harcèlement de nature raciale sur des membres de la collectivité de York, et ce, en vertu de la politique de l'Université en ce qui concerne le racisme, ainsi que de la Charte des droits de la personne de l'Ontario qui interdit le harcèlement et la discrimination en matière de race, couleur, citoyenneté, lieu de naissance, parenté, origine ethnique et confession. Toute personne de la communauté a le droit de vivre sans être harcelée, y compris dans les salles de classe et les résidences.

Le centre fonctionne en coopération avec les autres agences externes et groupes internes, ainsi que des associations œuvrant dans le domaine des droits de la personne, de l'éducation non-raciste et de l'équité en matière d'emploi. Les conseillers du centre offrent des ateliers visant à contrer le racisme et sur d'autres questions connexes à tous les secteurs de l'Université. Le Centre met à la disposition de tous une petite collection de ressources.

Le centre est également un centre de dépôt de plaintes. Il met aussi à la disposition des membres de la communauté un lieu dans lequel ils peuvent se renseigner confidentiellement sur la discrimination et le harcèlement raciaux. Les conseillers sont là pour indiquer les nombreuses options (officieuses et officielles) dont disposent les étudiants et les employés, et pour discuter des différentes manières de faire face aux situations conflictuelles.

Le centre travaille en coopération avec le Centre des plaintes de l'Université et les responsables locaux des plaintes dans les collèges et les facultés. Les conseillers, Teferi Adem et OmiSoore Dryden, ont pour mandat de s'assurer que les réclamations déposées par tous les membres de la communauté sont examinées rapidement et équitablement.

Centre d'éducation et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel

Le centre d'éducation et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel dessert tous les membres de York : population étudiante, personnel administratif et enseignant. Toute personne victime de harcèlement sexuel ou de violence, ou pensant faire l'objet de harcèlement sexuel, sur la base de son sexe, de son orientation sexuelle ou de son identité sexuelle doit prendre rendez-vous avec un conseiller du centre d'éducation et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel. Le centre offre conseils, discrétion absolue et soutien moral. Le centre n'engagera aucune action sans une demande de la partie plaignante. Les deux personnes-conseil offrent également des ateliers sur les questions liées au harcèlement sexuel dans les collèges, les résidences et les facultés. Le centre dispose aussi d'une petite bibliothèque que tous, étudiants et étudiantes, personnel administratif et enseignant, sont invités à utiliser.

Un ancien projet du centre, maintenant parfaitement autonome, est la ligne téléphonique d'aide aux victimes d'agressions sexuelles (LAVAS). La LAVAS est un service d'entraide auprès duquel on peut obtenir aide et conseil 24 heures sur 24. Le numéro d'urgence est le 416-650-8056 et le numéro des renseignements le 416-736-2100, poste 40345. La ligne est fermée les jours fériés; un message enregistré indique alors des numéros d'urgence disponibles.

Le centre fonctionne en collaboration avec le Centre des plaintes de l'Université et les agents des plaintes des différents collèges et facultés. Les conseillères veillent à ce que les membres de la collectivité soient reçus au centre avec attention et impartialité.

Le centre d'éducation et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel est situé au Centre des droits de la personne et de l'équité, au 108 Central Square. Il est ouvert de 8 h 30 à 16 h 30, du lundi au vendredi, ou le soir sur rendez-vous. En dehors des heures d'ouverture, laissez un message au 416-736-5500.

Des services auxiliaires sont disponibles sur réservation. De l'aide, sur demande, est offerte dans les situations d'urgence, 24 heures sur 24, chaque jour de l'année scolaire. Le Bureau des services aux personnes handicapées a été créé pour informer, aider et représenter la population étudiante et les membres du personnel qui ont une déficience physique ou sensorielle ou des troubles médicaux.

Parmi les services offerts, on retrouve les conseils financiers et l'orientation universitaire, l'aiguillage vers des services de consultation et d'autres services de l'Université et de la collectivité, tel que le Programme d'aide à la vie autonome.

Si vous avez été admis à l'Université, il est dans votre intérêt de communiquer avec le Bureau le plus rapidement possible.

Bien que le Bureau offre une courte séance d'orientation, nous conseillons à tous de participer aux journées d'orientation de votre collège ou faculté, qui vous apportent beaucoup de renseignements utiles et vous permettent de faire connaissance avec vos pairs.

Stationnement et transport

Un nombre limité de permis de stationnement est à la disposition de tous les membres de l'université. Ces permis seront distribués par ordre d'arrivée des demandes. Le service du stationnement encourage d'acheter son permis très tôt de façon à pouvoir choisir son espace et éviter de longues files d'attente.

Assurez-vous d'avoir rempli convenablement toute la demande. Les demandes incomplètes seront renvoyées à l'expéditeur, ce qui entraînera des retards inutiles. Pour acheter un permis de stationnement, vous devez présenter une preuve valide de possession d'un véhicule ou un certificat d'immatriculation (une photocopie du recto et du verso de votre certificat suffira pour les demandes envoyées par la poste ou déposées).

Aucun permis de stationnement ne sera accordé à des personnes ou pour des véhicules ayant des arriérés en matière de paiement d'amendes de stationnement. Pour des renseignements sur ces arriérés, appelez le 416-736-5705 pour le campus Keele et le 416-487-6788 pour le campus de Glendon et demandez à parler à l'agent des infractions.

Services de sécurité - Centre de contrôle de la sécurité (CCS)

Le Centre de contrôle de la sécurité (CCS) est situé dans la salle 227, William Small Centre, 155 Campus Walk. Ce centre vise à protéger la collectivité. Il est composé de personnel et de spécialistes en uniforme à temps plein. Les étudiants de York occupent, à temps partiel, des postes de soutien comme ceux d'opérateurs de télévision en circuit fermé. Notre mission est d'assurer un environnement sécuritaire à plus de 50 000 personnes, y compris les étudiants, le personnel, les professeurs et les visiteurs de l'Université. En partant du principe que les problèmes sont résolus plus efficacement avec l'aide des membres de la collectivité, notre centre, muni de systèmes de sécurité avancés, tels les systèmes de télévision en circuit fermé, offre des services de surveillance sur le campus, des programmes de sensibilisation et d'action directe, l'accès par carte et le programme Prévention du crime par l'aménagement du milieu (PCAM).

Le Centre fonctionne 24 heures par jour, sept jours par semaine, et répond immédiatement à tout appel d'urgence sur les deux campus. Des agents patrouillent les campus en véhicule, à bicyclette et à pied.

Les hommes et femmes des Services de sécurité sont des professionnels dévoués qui sont fiers de pouvoir maintenir un environnement sûr pour le bien-être de tous.

Pour les urgences sur le campus

Le rôle des agents de sécurité est de répondre aux appels d'urgence sur le campus et d'aider les agences publiques qui répondent à un appel d'urgence (911) à l'Université.

Pour obtenir la police, les pompiers et une ambulance :

En cas de problème urgent et grave, appelez le 911 directement pour obtenir l'aide de la police, des pompiers ou des ambulanciers.

Appelez ensuite les Services de sécurité au poste 33333 (ou 416-736-5333) :

- Les agents des Services de sécurité vont à la rencontre des véhicules de secours (pompiers, ambulance, police) qui répondent à un appel d'urgence (911) pour éviter que ces derniers perdent un temps précieux à chercher les lieux de l'urgence sur le campus.
- Tout le personnel de sécurité a reçu une formation en premiers soins et en RCR.
- Les véhicules du personnel des Services de sécurité sont également équipés de défibrillateurs.

Appelez le 911 :

Lorsqu'une situation met la vie d'une personne en danger ou porte atteinte à la propriété. Il peut s'agir d'une urgence médicale, d'un acte criminel en cours, d'une dispute familiale ou d'un incendie.

Appelez les Services de sécurité, poste 33333 (ou 416-736-5333) :

Après avoir placé un appel d'urgence

- Indiquez votre emplacement
- Décrivez la nature de l'urgence
- Donnez votre nom

Si vous observez une personne ou une situation suspecte.

En cas d'alerte à la bombe.

Si vous recevez des appels importuns ou êtes victime de harcèlement.

En cas d'actes criminels qui ont déjà eu lieu, comme le vol ou le vandalisme.

Pour obtenir des premiers soins pour les incidents qui ne mettent pas la vie en danger.

En cas de risques probables.

Pour obtenir de l'aide afin de résoudre un conflit ou maintenir la paix.

En cas d'actes criminels motivés par la haine.

Pour les situations non urgentes et de routine, composez le poste 58000 (ou 416-650-8000) :

Pour avoir accès à votre résidence ou à votre chambre.

En cas d'inondation ou de déversement mineur.

Pour obtenir de l'information générale sur la sécurité.

En cas de perte ou de vol de clés.

Pour signaler une fenêtre brisée ou des graffitis.

Il peut arriver qu'on ait besoin de contacter d'urgence un étudiant sur le campus. On recommande donc aux étudiants d'informer les personnes qui pourraient avoir à les joindre de leur emploi du temps précis, en prenant soin d'indiquer les jours, les heures et les lieux.

personnel, d'encadrement qui lui convient en fonction de sa préparation, de ses compétences et de ses aspirations.

Les étudiants peuvent non seulement participer à des activités sportives ou récréatives organisées par l'Université mais également partager des responsabilités dans l'organisation et le déroulement de programmes, soit à titre bénévole, soit dans le cadre d'un stage travail-études ou d'un emploi à temps partiel.

L'Université encourage également les étudiants à participer aux activités organisées sur les campus au cours de l'année par les départements de sports et loisirs.

Rencontres sportives inter-universitaires

Le programme de rencontres sportives inter-universitaires s'inscrit pleinement dans la mission éducative de l'Université York en encourageant l'épanouissement individuel qui est au cœur de sa mission universitaire. Tous les étudiants à temps plein sont encouragés à participer aux 29 équipes de sports inter-universitaires que possède le service des sports à York. Les programmes de sports développent les compétences des athlètes étudiants grâce à un encadrement de qualité et un entraînement rigoureux.

Une tradition prestigieuse et en plein essor – depuis plus de 35 ans, les étudiants-athlètes de l'Université York, ont marqué la scène du sport au Canada. Ces équipes, dont de nombreux membres, athlètes et entraîneurs, ont également appartenu à des équipes canadiennes de niveau national, ont remporté des titres provinciaux et nationaux et portent haut le flambeau de l'Université York.

Entraîneurs – les entraîneurs de York sont des professionnels hautement qualifiés et dévoués et la plupart d'entre eux font partie du personnel permanent de l'Université. Nombreux sont ceux qui, experts reconnus dans leur profession, occupent également des postes dans des organismes sportifs nationaux. À York, ils ont à cœur d'aider les athlètes étudiants à atteindre leur plein potentiel dans les compétitions comme dans les salles de cours.

Équipes universitaires – les équipes sportives de l'Université York participent à des compétitions universitaires du plus haut niveau. En Ontario, toutes les universités concourent entre elles dans tous les sports pour les championnats universitaires ontariens de « l'Ontario University Athletics – (OUA) ». Sur le plan national, les équipes de York concourent dans la « Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS) ».

Équipes masculines : athlétisme, badminton, baseball, basketball, escrime, football (américain), hockey sur glace, football (soccer), natation, rugby, ski de fond, tennis, volleyball et water polo.

Le programme d'activités de loisirs de York permet à tous les membres de la collectivité de participer à une vaste gamme d'activités, dont des tournois internes, des cours de conditionnement physique, des clubs de sport et autres activités amicales. On recherche avant tout à répondre aux besoins et préférences des individus, chacun selon ses capacités. Les étudiants réguliers de York peuvent participer sans aucun frais – dans la mesure des places disponibles - à la plupart des programmes proposés.

Tournois internes – Un grand nombre d'activités sportives individuelles et d'équipes sont proposées, soit pour le simple plaisir, soit dans le cadre de tournois. Des équipes masculines, féminines et mixtes se rencontrent dans plus vingt quatre divisions et tournois et six rencontres spéciales, allant du badminton au frisbee athlétique et du flag-football au volleyball. Participez à une équipe de votre collège ou formez votre équipe avec un groupe d'amis de l'Université.

Cours de conditionnement physique et de style de vie – Les enthousiastes du conditionnement physique ont plus de 35 cours par semaine à leur disposition. On offre notamment différents niveaux de cours de « step », de conditionnement physique complet, de boxe cardio, de Hi/lo etc. Ceux qui préfèrent d'autres types d'exercices peuvent suivre des cours d'arts martiaux, de danse, de natation, de relaxation, de tennis, de patinage et d'escrime (avec un supplément financier).

Clubs sportifs – Ceux et celles qui aimeraient participer, avec d'autres membres de la collectivité de York, à des activités ou à des sports qui ne font pas partie des sports inter-universitaires ou intra-muros, peuvent adhérer à un club de sport pour pratiquer par exemple le squash, le ping-pong, le curling et bien d'autres sports encore.

Loisirs à la carte – Ceux et celles qui aiment nager, courir, patiner, jouer au tennis ou au squash, lever des poids et haltères, etc. peuvent profiter des nombreuses installations et possibilités qu'offre l'Université. Le Centre de conditionnement physique du Pavillon Tait McKenzie met par exemple à la disposition des usagers des équipements et des machines ultra modernes, et un personnel qualifié est là pour conseiller et guider les usagers. ### Bureau des affaires étudiantes

Le Bureau des affaires étudiantes propose tout un éventail d'activités et de services coordonnés par la vice-présidente adjointe aux affaires étudiantes et par le directeur des affaires étudiantes. Ceci comprend l'information et la communication, la résolution de problèmes et les interventions d'urgence, le lien avec la gestion étudiante, la sensibilisation à la formation et à l'éducation. Le Bureau joue un rôle essentiel en proposant de résoudre certains problèmes et d'intervenir en cas d'urgence, ce qui minimise les perturbations occasionnées à la vie étudiante et au fonctionnement de l'Université, au niveau de l'administration et de l'enseignement. Ce qui est plus important encore, il partage la volonté de l'Université de viser la qualité, l'équité et la diversité.

Le Bureau des affaires étudiantes offre deux principaux services : l'information et la communication, la résolution de problèmes. La quasi totalité de ce que nous faisons entre dans l'une ou l'autre de ces catégories. Il répond aux demandes des étudiants, des professeurs, du personnel et du public, soit par téléphone, soit par courriel, soit personnellement. Certaines de ces demandes reviennent régulièrement et sont assez simples ; d'autres peuvent être très complexes. En fait, la nature de notre service est définie par les exigences de la communauté que nous servons. Le personnel de bureau de première ligne comprend le coordonnateur, l'assistant aux relations avec les étudiants, l'assistant d'information de York, l'assistant chargé du logement hors du campus et cinq étudiants en situation de travail-études. Ensemble, ces personnes fournissent les services demandés par les étudiants et le reste de la communauté.

Le Bureau des affaires étudiantes fournit aussi les services suivants : coordination de la foire d'orientation et d'information, orientation des parents, location des vestiaires, liste des logements hors campus, diverses publications, reconnaissance des clubs étudiants et allocation de salles pour le fonctionnement des clubs, résolution de problèmes et de différends, réception des plaintes, sensibilisation à la question des sectes, aide pour les références des étudiants, bibliothèque de perfectionnement professionnel.

Si vous avez des difficultés à vous y retrouver dans le campus ou si vous voulez simplement en savoir davantage sur les clubs et les services de York, n'hésitez pas à venir nous voir.

Le Bureau des affaires étudiantes abrite également le Service de logement hors campus et le Centre des plaintes de l'Université. Il est situé au Student Services Centre, tél. : 416-736-5144; TDD : 416-736-5940, <http://www.studentaffairs.yorku.ca>.

Gestion étudiante

Conseils des collègues

Les organismes étudiants ou collégiales prennent diverses formes selon les collèges mais partagent le même but : se mettre au service des étudiants en utilisant les fonds mis à leur disposition chaque année et représenter leurs intérêts dans les négociations avec les facultés, les services et les départements de l'Université, sur le plan universitaire comme sur le plan administratif.

Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York (FÉY)

La Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York représente et soutient le mouvement étudiant de l'Université York. C'est un organisme de service, démocratique, sans but lucratif, dont la mission est de favoriser pour tous les étudiants (de premier cycle) la recherche de l'excellence universitaire, ainsi que le développement personnel et social, dans un milieu exempt de discrimination et de harcèlement.

La Fédération s'efforce de promouvoir l'accessibilité universelle à l'éducation postsecondaire et rejette tous les obstacles qui entravent l'accès à l'éducation dont, entre autres, les obstacles financiers découlant des frais de scolarité et de résidence et la discrimination fondée sur le sexe, la race, l'orientation sexuelle, la classe sociale, la religion, la couleur de la peau, l'origine ethnique ou géographique, la nationalité, l'état de santé ou l'âge.

La Fédération offre divers services, notamment un plan d'assurance santé, un agenda étudiant, un poste téléphonique, une photocopieuse à 0,05 $ la copie ainsi que, gratuitement, des cartes internationales d'étudiant et des cartes de rabais pour étudiants.

La Fédération est située au bureau 336 dans le Pavillon des étudiants, tél. : 416-736-5324. Nous vous invitons à vous y rendre pour obtenir d'autres renseignements.

Autres organismes étudiants

Il y a 16 organismes étudiants reconnus dans la communauté York : 14 dans les collèges et facultés, plus une fédération, la Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York (FÉY), qui est un organisme central regroupant comme membres à part entière les étudiants des facultés des arts, des beaux-arts, des sciences de l'éducation, des sciences pures et appliquées, ainsi que les étudiants de premier cycle de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales. Les étudiants du collège universitaire Glendon et de la faculté Atkinson des sciences humaines et professionnelles sont membres associés. Ces institutions, ainsi que les facultés des arts, des sciences de l'éducation et des beaux-arts, l'École de droit Osgoode sont dotées de leur propre association étudiante. En outre, au niveau des études de deuxième et troisième cycles, les organismes étudiants sont l'Association des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles, le Conseil des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles de l'école de commerce et l'Association des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles en études environnementales. Chacun de ces organismes perçoit une cotisation annuelle de ses membres pour financer ses activités. Les associations étudiantes reçoivent sous cette forme plus de 1 000 000 $. Des élections annuelles à l'intérieur de chacune d'entre elles désignent le directeur responsable de l'administration et de la gestion financière. La plupart de ces organismes publient des journaux et des bulletins pour informer leurs membres de leurs services et de leurs programmes.

Douze organismes étudiants perçoivent une cotisation annuelle auprès de leurs membres : Excalibur, CHRY radio communautaire de North York, le Programme de service d'aide juridique et communautaire, ProTem, le Théâtre Glendon, Groupe de recherche d'intérêt public de l'Ontario (GRIPO) (remboursable), le Centre des femmes de Glendon, le Centre des femmes de York (remboursable) et le Service de rédaction d'Atkinson (à l'usage exclusif des étudiants de cette faculté), le Café de la Terrasse (pour les étudiants de Glendon seulement), Sexual Assault Survivor's, Support Line (SASSL) (Ligne de soutien pour les victimes d'agression sexuelle) (remboursable) et Entraide universitaire mondiale du Canada (EUMC) (remboursable). Ces organisations doivent soumettre leurs rapports financiers au même titre que les organismes étudiants. Les rapports financiers et les statuts de ces organismes étudiants sont des documents publics ouverts à tous, qui peuvent être consultés au Bureau des affaires étudiantes ou au bureau de chaque conseil.

Représentation étudiante aux comités de l'Université

La participation des étudiants au gouvernement de l'Université est un élément important dans les structures de prise de décision et d'élaboration des règlements à l'Université York. Les étudiants participent pleinement comme membres votants au Conseil d'administration, au Sénat, aux conseils de faculté et à d'autres comités. Le système de gouvernement établi par la Charte de l'Université York est un système à deux chambres. Il existe donc deux centres de décision : le Conseil d'administration et le Sénat. Le pouvoir de décision est divisé et partagé entre le chancelier, la présidente, le Conseil d'administration et le Sénat qui peuvent déléguer à leur tour une partie de leur pouvoir à des comités ou à des organismes.

Le conseil d'administration. La Charte de York confie au conseil d'administration la charge de « gouverner, diriger, gérer et contrôler l'Université, ses biens, ses revenus, ses dépenses et ses activités ». Le conseil comprend 30 membres, en plus de la présidente et du chancelier. Deux sièges sont réservés pour des étudiants. Selon un accord passé entre le conseil et le Caucus des sénateurs étudiants, chaque année, un étudiant est élu dans un vote général parmi les étudiants inscrits à l'Université York. Après l'élection, la nomination de l'étudiant élu doit être confirmée par le Caucus des sénateurs étudiants qui recommande sa nomination au conseil. La durée du mandat est de deux ans. Le conseil a créé divers comités chargés de responsabilités spécifiques. Il y a le comité financier et des ressources humaines, le comité des ressources pédagogiques, le comité de vérification des comptes, le comité de l'utilisation du terrain, le comité des relations étudiantes, le comité d'investissement et le comité de promotion de l'Université.

Le Sénat. Le Sénat est chargé de la politique universitaire de l'Université. C'est lui qui recommande la création de nouvelles facultés ou de nouveaux collèges, qui établit les normes d'admission, qui fixe l'aide financière aux étudiants, qui autorise la création de diplômes et de certificats ainsi que la structure des programmes universitaires. Il est composé du chancelier, de la présidente, du président et de représentants du conseil d'administration, des vice-présidents, des doyens, de directeurs de département et de représentants élus des diverses facultés, auxquels s'ajoutent quelques représentants d'autres groupes intérieurs ou extérieurs à l'Université. Les membres étudiants sont élus au Sénat par leurs condisciples de faculté, en nombre proportionnel au nombre d'étudiants inscrits dans leur faculté. Les étudiants représentent 15 % de l'ensemble des membres du Sénat et les élections se déroulent chaque année en mars. Les étudiants sont représentés dans tous les comités du Sénat, tel que le comité exécutif, le comité de promotion et de permanence, le comité d'appel, le comité de direction et de planification universitaire, le comité des programmes et des normes académiques, le comité de bibliothèque, le comité des admissions, le comité de recrutement et d'aide aux étudiants, le comité de la recherche (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/senate/index.htm>).

Les conseils des facultés. L'Université York compte dix facultés qui ont chacune leur conseil de faculté. Celui-ci est responsable de toutes les décisions universitaires concernant les programmes et les règlements universitaires de la faculté. Chaque conseil de faculté est un comité du Sénat et établi à son tour un certain nombre de comités dans lesquels les étudiants peuvent jouer un rôle. Pour plus de détails sur la structure spécifique des conseils des facultés et la participation étudiante à ces derniers, prière de s'adresser au secrétariat du conseil de la faculté à laquelle vous êtes affilié.

Le Conseil des directeurs et directrices des collèges. Un membre étudiant est nommé par l'ensemble des conseils des collèges pour siéger au Conseil des directeurs et directrices.

Autres comités consultatifs. De nombreux départements et services de l'Université reçoivent pendant l'année des avis et des recommandations émanant de comités consultatifs où les étudiants font entendre leur voix. Les mécanismes réglant la représentation étudiante au sein de ces comités varient. Pour se renseigner à ce sujet, prière de s'adresser au bureau indiqué entre parenthèses à la suite du nom de chaque comité consultatif.

- Comité des sports et loisirs (département de kinésiologie et des sciences de la santé)
- Conseil des commissaires de référendum (Bureau de la vice-présidente adjointe aux affaires étudiantes)
- Comité des services de restauration de l'Université (Services de restauration et hospitalité)
- Comité du budget des résidences (Services de logement étudiant)

- Comité sur l'usage de l'alcool (Bureau de la vice-présidente adjointe aux affaires étudiantes)
- Comité présidentiel consultatif sur l'infection VIH (Bureau de la vice-présidente adjointe aux affaires étudiantes)

Autres formes de participation. Les étudiants participent aussi aux prises de décision au niveau des départements de l'Université qui ont pour la plupart un conseil de direction formé de professeurs et d'étudiants. Ils ont également voix au chapitre dans les conseils de résidence et dans les divers forums institués par leur collège ou les gouvernements étudiants des facultés.

Pour les questions concernant la participation étudiante au gouvernement de l'Université, prière de s'adresser au Secrétariat de l'Université.

Logement

Résidences des collèges pour le premier cycle

Vivre sur le campus présente plusieurs avantages pour les étudiants de premier cycle et notamment celui de vivre au sein d'une collectivité riche et variée, de se faire des amis pour la vie et de demeurer au cœur d'une riche vie sociale, culturelle et universitaire. Vivre sur le campus, c'est disposer, à sa porte même, de toute la gamme des services du campus.

L'Université York dispose d'environ 2 280 lits pour des étudiants de premier cycle, répartis dans huit bâtiments sur le campus Keele, et de 400 autres lits sur le campus Glendon. La plupart des résidences disposent, de façon traditionnelle, de chambres confortablement meublées pour une ou deux personnes, de salles communes et salles de bain. Les étudiants doivent acquérir, avec la plupart des chambres, un Plan repas qu'ils peuvent utiliser dans plus de 30 points de restauration sur les campus Keele et Glendon, servant une vaste gamme de nourritures de différente nature. Le campus Keele de York dispose également de quelques places dans des appartements pour 4 à 6 personnes qui partagent une cuisine, un salon et une salle de bain. À compter de septembre 2004, le campus Keele aura aussi 430 lits dans des chambres individuelles dans des appartements de deux chambres, chacun ayant une salle de bains et une cuisine séparées. Le prix pour demeurer en résidence varie selon le type de chambre. D'une façon générale, on doit compter dépenser environ 5 500 $ pour une place, avec le Plan repas, dans une chambre pour deux personnes.

Tous les étudiants de premier cycle peuvent présenter leur demande pour une place en résidence pourvu qu'ils demeurent inscrits à un minimum de 24 crédits, soit 4 cours complets. Les renseignements sur la façon de déposer une demande en ligne pour un logement en résidence accompagneront votre offre d'admission à York.

On recommande à tous les étudiants qui désirent faire une demande de renvoyer le formulaire dûment rempli le plus rapidement possible pour augmenter leur chance d'obtenir une chambre, car le nombre de candidats dépasse le nombre de places disponibles. L'obtention d'une place est garantie aux étudiants ayant obtenu au moins 80 %, s'ils ont déposé leur demande avant la date limite.

Appartements d'étudiants de York

Sur le campus Keele seulement, existent des appartements pour les étudiants admissibles de deuxième et troisième cycles, les étudiants en droit et autres étudiants adultes de 23 ans et plus ou qui ont besoin d'un logement de type familial.

Un nombre limité d'appartements est réservé aux des étudiants qui ont une déficience physique.

Ces appartements, meublés ou non, comprennent des studios, et des appartements de une ou deux chambres à coucher. Ces appartements ne conviennent pas pour des familles de plus de deux enfants.

Pour de plus amples renseignements sur le logement des étudiants, s'adresser au :

Université York
4700, rue Keele
Toronto, ON M3J 1P3
Tél. : 416-736-5152

Adresse du site Web des Services du logement <http://www.yorku.ca/studenthousing/>.

Services de boisson

L'Université comporte des lieux où l'on a le droit de vendre et de consommer de l'alcool, conformément au permis octroyé aux différents traiteurs indépendants et autres organismes de l'Université par la Commission des alcools et des jeux de l'Ontario.

Les règlements de l'Université régissant les lieux où la vente et la consommation de l'alcool sont autorisées sont contenus dans le Règlement de l'Université sur l'alcool. Pour tous les renseignements sur le Règlement de l'Université sur l'alcool, s'adresser à la vice-présidente adjointe aux affaires étudiantes au 416-736-5275 ou au directeur du centre des conférences, et des services de restauration au 416-736-5258.

Logement hors-campus

L'Université York offre un service destiné à aider les étudiants cherchant un logement hors-campus. Des listes de logements disponibles, individuels ou en cohabitation, situés dans différents endroits à l'extérieur du campus, sont mises à jour toutes les deux semaines (toutes les semaines en août en raison du volume). Ces listes sont disponibles sur Internet ou en visitant le site <http://www.yorku.ca/och/>.

Vous voudrez peut-être passer prendre des publications utiles : Getting Organized ou Frequently Asked Questions. Ces publications sont également disponibles en ligne en allant sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/och> et en cliquant sur "Publications". Des renseignements sur les transports en commun, des guides de comparaison de logements, des listes de choses à vérifier dans les appartements, les mises à jour de la loi de protection des propriétaires, les droits des locataires, et autres questions de ce genre sont disponibles au Service du logement hors-campus.

Les propriétaires sont invités à communiquer à ce service la description des logements disponibles en appelant le 416-736-5141. Les frais d'inscription sont de 20 $, 10 $ pour les étudiants de York sur présentation de leur carte (les étudiants doivent se présenter en personne pour avoir droit au tarif de 10 $).

XVI. Politique et règlements de l'Université

Conduite universitaire

Étudiants et professeurs doivent maintenir entre eux des relations professionnelles courtoises, faire preuve de respect les uns envers les autres et éviter tout geste ou toute parole préjudiciables à ces relations. Les professeurs doivent s'efforcer de maintenir dans la salle de classe une atmosphère propre aux échanges universitaires et les étudiants doivent collaborer à cet effort. Ce sont les professeurs qui sont le mieux placés pour décider, en première instance, si une telle atmosphère règne bien dans la salle de classe. Un exposé des lois et règlements concernant le comportement perturbateur ou le harcèlement de la part des étudiants dans le contexte universitaire est disponible dans le Bureau des doyens et le Bureau de la vice-présidente aux études et le Bureau du vice-président aux services étudiants.

Remise des diplômes

Tous les étudiants peuvent obtenir leur diplôme certifiant la réussite pleine et entière à leur programme universitaire à condition d'avoir réglé le paiement de toutes les dettes dues à l'Université. Les étudiants de toutes les facultés et de tous les collèges, sauf ceux de la faculté des études environnementales, du collège universitaire Glendon, de la faculté des études supérieures, de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales et de l'École de droit Osgoode Hall doivent se procurer une demande de remise de diplôme sur le site du Bureau du registraire, www.registrar.yorku.ca/, et la remplir au moins six mois avant la cérémonie de remise des diplômes, c'est-à-dire en janvier pour la cérémonie du printemps, et en juillet pour celle de l'automne. Les dates limites de dépôt des demandes sont annoncées chaque année. Les étudiants de la faculté des études supérieures peuvent vérifier leur statut en s'adressant au Bureau des études supérieures. Les étudiants de la faculté des études environnementales doivent s'adresser au service des programmes scolaires de leur faculté et les étudiants du collège universitaire Glendon au Service des programmes scolaires de Glendon. Les étudiants de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales doivent présenter leur demande au bureau des programmes scolaires de leur faculté. Les étudiants de l'École de droit Osgoode n'ont pas à faire de demande pour recevoir leur diplôme. Les étudiants doivent s'assurer que l'Université possède bien leur adresse courante et le libellé exact de leur nom complet tel qu'il doit apparaître sur leur diplôme.

Les cérémonies de remise des diplômes sont organisées en juin pour les étudiants qui terminent leur programme d'études durant les trimestres d'automne ou d'hiver et en novembre pour ceux qui terminent durant le trimestre d'été. Pour tous les étudiants, les cérémonies de juin sont organisées par faculté. La cérémonie de printemps du collège universitaire Glendon se tient dans la cour d'honneur du campus Glendon. En automne, les étudiants de toutes les facultés reçoivent leur diplôme lors de cérémonies organisées généralement durant la première fin de semaine de novembre.

Les diplômes et l'adhésion à l'Association des Anciens sont normalement remis lors des cérémonies de remise des diplômes. Les étudiants qui ne peuvent pas assister à la cérémonie, ou qui n'ont pas reçu leur diplôme lors de la cérémonie peuvent le retirer à une date spécifique après la cérémonie, au Bureau du registraire. Les étudiants qui ne peuvent assister à la cérémonie et désirent qu'on leur envoie leur diplôme par la poste peuvent en faire la demande auprès du Bureau du registraire. Ils devront payer une certaine somme pour couvrir les frais de poste et d'emballage. Pour de plus amples renseignements, contactez le Bureau du registraire, tél. 416-736-5440, ou consultez le site Internet des cérémonies www.yorku.ca/convo/. Les diplômes qui n'auront pas été retirés ou envoyés ne seront conservés que jusqu'à la remise des diplômes suivante, après quoi ils seront détruits. Les étudiants doivent donc prendre des mesures pour se faire envoyer leur diplôme le plus rapidement possible.

Une fois par an (deux fois pour les étudiants de la faculté Atkinson des sciences humaines et professionnelles), un service compétent de la faculté ou du collège (ou une association d'étudiants officielle) est chargé d'organiser des séances de photographie pour les diplômés. Les futurs diplômés peuvent s'attendre à recevoir des renseignements sur ces séances de photos de leur collège ou faculté les invitant à prendre rendez-vous avec le photographe. Ces renseignements sur les séances de photos sont en général annoncées sur le site Internet du Bureau des cérémonies.

Tous les renseignements concernant le programme des cérémonies, la location des toges et la réception des invités sont envoyés aux futurs diplômés plusieurs semaines avant la date de la cérémonie dans les facultés et sont également annoncés sur le site Internet www.yorku.ca/convo/.

Sanctions universitaires concernant les dettes non payées envers l'Université

Aucun diplôme ni relevé de notes ne sera décerné à un étudiant dont les dettes n'ont pas été réglées ou sont en souffrance. Le Sénat a déclaré qu'il était nécessaire d'élaborer des mécanismes d'appel. Pour tout autre renseignement, communiquez avec le bureau concerné de l'Université.

Règlement concernant la notation

Les critères de notation pour chaque cours (c.-à-d., le type et la valeur des travaux, des dissertations, des examens, etc.) doivent être annoncés et disponibles par écrit, dans les deux premières semaines de classe. Dans des circonstances normales, les étudiants ont droit à une note d'une valeur d'au moins 10 % de la note finale pour tous les cours abandonnés avant la date d'abandon finale sans se voir attribuer une note, sauf dans les cas suivants :

- les cours de dernière année du premier cycle ou les cours du troisième cycle, lorsque l'évaluation est faite généralement, ou à la discrétion du professeur, à partir d'un seul travail (par exemple, la thèse d'une spécialisation ou la recherche du niveau de la maîtrise qui ne sont pas dûs avant la date d'abandon, etc.)
- les cours de stages
- les cours libres
- les cours dans les facultés pour lesquels la date d'abandon est prévue dans les trois premières semaines de classe
- les cours comprimés (pour lesquels les crédits sont octroyés à raison d'un crédit par heure sur une période de deux semaines ou moins).

Politique concernant les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux

En juin 1991, le Sénat a approuvé une politique régissant les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux. La politique se lit comme suit :

L'Université s'efforce d'apporter les modifications et adaptations raisonnables à son fonctionnement de façon à permettre aux étudiants avec des besoins spéciaux d'obtenir une éducation juste, et à promouvoir leur complète insertion dans la collectivité du campus.

Les facultés collaborent avec les bureaux des besoins spéciaux et ACCESS YORK (le comité consultatif de l'Université York pour les personnes ayant des besoins spéciaux) pour s'assurer que leurs règlements sont en conformité avec cette politique et ses modalités. « Besoins spéciaux » doit être compris comme « handicaps » selon le Code ontarien des Droits de la personne et incluent les handicaps physiques, les troubles d'apprentissage et les déficiences psychiatriques.

Règlements disciplinaires

Les étudiants qui enfreignent les règlements de l'Université ou la loi seront soumis par l'Université à des mesures disciplinaires après une enquête au cours de laquelle ils auront la possibilité de présenter leur version des événements en litige. Les étudiants ont l'obligation fondamentale de participer à cette procédure et, pour pouvoir agir en toute justice et en bonne connaissance de cause, l'Université doit pouvoir entrer en communication avec les étudiants. Il est essentiel que l'Université dispose, en tout temps, de l'adresse postale à jour de tous les étudiants. (Tout changement d'adresse doit être signalé au Bureau des programmes scolaires). Le droit de l'Université de conclure son enquête ne pourra pas être affecté par l'absence de réponse d'un étudiant à une demande de l'Université.

L'exclusion (expulsion de tous les cours et de toutes les activités de l'Université) constitue la plus grave sanction qui puisse être imposée. Pour de plus amples renseignements, se reporter à la section Règlements concernant le code de conduite des étudiants à l'Université York ci-dessous. Pour obtenir une copie des règlements présidentiels, contacter le Bureau des affaires étudiantes.

Directives pour une conduite responsable dans l'utilisation des ordinateurs

Afin de promouvoir une utilisation éthique et responsable de l'informatique et autres technologies d'information, des directives générales ont été établies, pour tous les étudiants, par le comité du Sénat sur l'informatique à l'Université, en consultation avec une commission administrative sur l'informatique à York. Le comité du budget et de la planification de York a aussi approuvé les principes et directives présentés ci-dessous.

2. L'équipement informatique doit être uniquement utilisé d'une manière qui ne contrevient ni aux règlements, codes, accords, protocoles de réseaux de l'Université York, ni aux lois provinciales et fédérales.

Règlements présidentiels concernant le code de conduite des étudiants à l'Université York

Règlement présidentiel Numéro 2 : conduite des étudiants à l'Université York

I. Autorité et juridiction de l'Université

En s'inscrivant dans tout programme de l'Université, les étudiants acceptent d'être liés par ses lois et règlements. Ces règlements s'appliquent sur le campus et à l'extérieur pour toute situation où la conduite d'un individu peut être considérée comme celle d'un membre de l'Université. En dehors de tout accord qui les lierait de cette manière, tous les étudiants sont soumis à l'autorité des règlements présidentiels.

La Charte de l'Université, octroyée en 1965, accorde à la présidente « le pouvoir d'édicter et de faire respecter des règlements contrôlant les activités des étudiants ». Différents règlements et pratiques de l'Université concernant les étudiants et les activités étudiantes ont été promulgués par la présidente ou son délégué. Ils ont été affirmés, modifiés et approuvés par l'article 1 du Règlement présidentiel (25 septembre 1985), que l'on peut se procurer au secrétariat de l'Université. L'article 2 du Règlement amende l'article 1, pour corriger toute incohérence.

II. Domaines couverts par ce règlement

- a) Ce règlement s'applique à la « conduite des étudiants » c'est-à-dire à toute conduite relevant, chez un individu, de sa qualité d'étudiant et de membre de la communauté universitaire, et soumise à l'autorité présidentielle, en vertu de l'article 13(c) de la Charte de l'Université York.
- b) Ce règlement ne s'applique pas à toute conduite :
  - i) relevant de l'autorité exclusive du Sénat, ou des unités universitaires agissant sous sa délégation (comme par exemple les atteintes à l'honneur universitaire) ;
  - ii) relevant de l'autorité exclusive du Conseil d'administration, ou des agents administratifs agissant sous sa délégation (comme par exemple les infractions de stationnement) ; ou
  - iii) relevant de l'autorité présidentielle ou administrative (comme par exemple le non respect des règlements d'inscription et de paiement des droits) ; sauf dans la mesure où une telle conduite constitue également une « conduite d'étudiant ».
- c) Ce règlement peut être adopté par toute autorité compétente mentionnée dans le paragraphe b et ses dispositions réglementaires s'appliquent alors à toute conduite d'un étudiant.
- d) Lorsque plus d'un préposé aux plaintes ou agent local d'audience ou tribunal a juridiction sur une affaire, n'importe laquelle de ces instances peut exercer sa juridiction.
- e) Dans le cas où un incident peut donner lieu à deux infractions ou plus, et où chacune d'elles relève de la juridiction d'un préposé aux plaintes ou agent local d'audience ou tribunal différent, et dans le cas où l'une quelconque de ces instances peut imposer deux sanctions ou plus pour chaque infraction, aucun préposé aux plaintes ou agent local d'audience ou tribunal ne peut imposer une sanction si la personne délinquante a déjà été sanctionnée pour la même infraction par l'une de ces instances.

f) Toute conduite qui viole les lois, règlements et pratiques de tout organisme, club, ligue ou équipe fonctionnant dans, ou à partir d'un local de l'Université, ou sous les auspices de l'Université, peut également être traitée comme une infraction aux règlements de l'Université, en dépit des sanctions déjà imposées par l'organisme, club, ligue ou équipe ou leurs autorités compétentes.

g) L'Université se réserve le droit de faire appel, à la place de, ou en plus de ses propres procédures, à toute juridiction civile ou criminelle appropriée.

III. Code de conduite des étudiants

Les étudiants peuvent penser, parler, écrire, créer, étudier, apprendre, avoir des activités sociales, culturelles ou autres, se réunir avec d'autres dans des objectifs culturels, à condition de respecter les droits des membres de l'Université et de la communauté en général de jouir des mêmes libertés et privilèges.

Ces règles générales englobent d'autres droits, privilèges et obligations qui ne peuvent pas tous être prévus et énumérés ici. À titre d'illustration, et sans préjudice des règles générales énoncées ici, les étudiants sont tenus :

1. de respecter toutes les lois fédérales, provinciales et municipales, dans tout ce qui touche à la conduite des étudiants ;
2. de s'interdire des gestes ou actions qui portent atteinte ou risquent de porter atteinte au :
  - bon fonctionnement des programmes et activités de l'Université ;
  - aux droits et libertés des membres ou invités de l'Université ;
  - à la sécurité et au bien-être des membres ou invités de l'Université ;
  - aux biens de l'Université ou de ses membres et invités ;
3. plus spécifiquement, ils sont tenus de s'abstenir de :
  - toute agression ou menace d'agression ;
  - tout harcèlement ou discrimination qui violerait les principes du Code ontarien des droits de la personne ou la Charte canadienne des droits et libertés ;
  - tout vol, dégradation ou destruction des biens d'autrui ;
  - toute entrée non autorisée ;
4. de se conformer aux lois, règlements, pratiques et procédures de l'Université et de ses unités administratives ;
5. d'obéir à toute demande raisonnable émise oralement ou par écrit par toute personne autorisée par l'Université à faire respecter ses lois, règlements, procédures et pratiques, à condition que la dite personne se soit identifiée et agisse dans le cadre de ses fonctions officielles.

IV. Structures et procédures

A. Principes généraux

Les questions de discipline devraient être traitées rapidement, avec justice et, si possible, à l'amiable au niveau de l'unité de l'Université où elles ont été identifiées. Lorsqu'une question de discipline découle d'une dispute entre différentes personnes, un effort devrait être tenté pour établir une procédure de médiation entre les parties concernées pour arriver à une entente acceptable par toutes les parties et respectant les pratiques de l'Université. Cependant, toutes les questions de discipline, quelle que soit leur origine, atteignent l'Université dans sa mission, sa réputation, ses intérêts ou son bien-être commun, et sont donc pour cette raison soumises à ces procédures.

B. Plaintes et enquêtes

1. Tout membre de l'Université peut déposer une plainte concernant la conduite d'un étudiant auprès « d'un préposé aux plaintes » qui peut être :

i) les directeurs de collège, les doyens, le principal de Glendon, le directeur ou la directrice des bibliothèques, le vice-président aux études, le vice-président aux services étudiants, ou toute personne désignée par l'une des personnes ci-dessus comme étant « la personne préposée aux plaintes » déléguée de l'unité placée sous leur juridiction ;

ii) le Centre des plaintes de l'Université (dans le Bureau des affaires étudiantes) ; ou iii) les centres spéciaux de réclamation créés pour traiter des questions particulières telles que précisées de temps en temps dans l'appendice A.

2. a) Après réception d'une plainte, le préposé aux plaintes doit déterminer si elle doit être considérée par ses services ou si elle doit être référée à l'une des personnes énumérées dans le paragraphe 1 comme des préposés aux plaintes officiels. Dans le cas où une plainte peut être traitée normalement par plus d'un préposé aux plaintes, le plaignant doit en être avisé et doit avoir la possibilité de choisir par quelle instance sera traitée sa plainte.

b) Aucune plainte ne peut être déclarée invalide parce qu'elle a été soumise initialement, ou a été traitée ultérieurement, par la mauvaise instance, et tous les efforts doivent être faits pour aider le plaignant (H/F) à présenter sa plainte et à la faire examiner de la manière qui lui paraît la plus convenable et acceptable.

c) Le vice-président aux services étudiants a l'ultime responsabilité de coordonner toutes les procédures de plaintes et les préposés aux plaintes, et de s'assurer de la collaboration des services de sécurité et des autres départements en cas de besoin.

3. a) Après avoir déterminé que la plainte est recevable et doit être traitée, le préposé aux plaintes doit mettre par écrit le contenu de la plainte et effectuer une enquête préliminaire en entendant le plaignant (H/F) et effectuant les recherches qu'il juge nécessaires.

b) Quand, après une enquête préliminaire, le préposé aux plaintes détermine que la plainte est clairement non fondée ou qu'il s'agit d'une plainte qui n'est pas couverte par ce règlement, il doit en informer le plaignant (et, le cas échéant, la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte) et s'en tenir là en ce qui concerne cette plainte.

c) Si la plainte semble de nature mineure ou, dans les cas plus sérieux, si le plaignant, la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte et le vice-président aux services étudiants l'acceptent par écrit, l'affaire sera traitée à l'amiable, dans l'unité où elle a eu lieu, par le directeur du collège, le doyen, le principal ou le directeur des bibliothèques, ou toute personne désignée par ces personnes pour la représenter en tant que préposée aux plaintes.

d) Si l'affaire semble impliquer une infraction grave aux lois, règlements et pratiques de l'Université, le vice-président aux services étudiants doit être avisée, et l'affaire doit être traitée selon la procédure judiciaire décrite dans la section des infractions graves des ces règlements, à moins que le vice-président aux services étudiants ne consente par écrit à un règlement à l'amiable selon les dispositions du paragraphe c.

e) Le vice-président aux services étudiants peut, sur la demande de la personne préposée aux plaintes ou d'un agent d'audiences, déterminer sommairement si l'affaire qui lui est soumise constitue une infraction grave ou mineure et quelle procédure peut être suivie pour la traiter.

f) Si l'affaire peut être traitée selon les procédures adoptées par l'un des centres spéciaux de plaintes indiqués dans l'appendice A, elle le sera ainsi, à moins que le plaignant choisisse une autre voie. Dans le cas où une procédure judiciaire officielle est suivie par l'un des centres spéciaux de plaintes indiqués dans l'appendice A, elle doit être traitée selon les procédures établies dans la section des infractions graves de ces règlements.

C. Procédures de médiation

1. Tout préposé aux plaintes ou aux audiences peut, à toute étape de la procédure, et avec le consentement écrit du plaignant, de la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte et le vice-président aux services étudiants établir une procédure de médiation pour traiter l'affaire.

2. Le préposé aux plaintes ou aux audiences peut, avec le consentement des parties, diriger les procédures de médiation, mais ne peut pas, par la suite, assumer des fonctions de nature judiciaire en relation avec la plainte.

3. Une telle procédure de médiation ne peut être établie qu'à condition que le plaignant et la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte acceptent d'être liés par l'accord établi par la médiation. Le fait de violer un tel accord sera considéré comme une atteinte au code de conduite universitaire et sera donc traité selon ces règlements.

D. Infractions mineures

1. Les infractions mineures seront traitées au niveau du collège dans le cas d'étudiants affiliés à un collège, et au niveau de la faculté pour tous les autres cas. Dans le cas où une infraction mineure implique des étudiants appartenant simultanément à plus d'une unité et n'est pas reliée particulièrement à un collège ou à une faculté, le vice-président aux services étudiants peut décider de la façon dont sera traitée l'affaire et nommer une personne préposée aux plaintes locales pour s'en occuper.

2. Dans les cas d'infraction mineure, le directeur, doyen, principal, directeur des bibliothèques, ou la ou les personnes désignées par eux agiront en tant qu'agent local d'audiences.

3. L'agent local d'audiences informera la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte qu'une plainte est déposée contre elle et de la substance de cette plainte et lui laissera la possibilité de répondre de façon informelle. Après avoir considéré les dépositions du plaignant et de la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte, ainsi que toute autre déposition ou preuve à l'appui, qui, selon le jugement de l'agent d'audiences, peuvent être jugés pertinents et utiles dans l'audience de la plainte, l'agent d'audiences peut émettre par écrit une décision qui :

- i) rejette la plainte ;
- ii) impose une sanction mineure ; ou,
- iii) dans le cas où l'affaire semble grave, la soumet aux procédures judiciaires établies dans la partie E de ces règlements.

5. Les sanctions mineures qu'un agent d'audiences peut imposer se limitent à l'une ou à plusieurs des sanctions suivantes :

- i) réprimande ;
- ii) avertissement public ;
- iii) obligation de rencontrer un conseiller ;
- iv) obligation de s'excuser auprès du plaignant (sous peine de sanctions plus sévères) ; et, en plus ou à la place de ces sanctions, une ou plusieurs des sanctions suivantes :
- v) suppression de privilèges locaux (ex : chambre en résidence, accès au pub ou à des événements spéciaux, participation à des activités locales)
- vi) restitution financière pour des dommages ne dépassant pas 250 $
- vii) amende ne dépassant pas 200 $, payée au Fonds de soutien des étudiants de l'Université.

6. L'agent d'audiences peut imposer une sanction avec sursis, lequel reste valable aussi longtemps que le contrevenant ne récidive pas.

7. On ne peut pas faire appel contre les décisions prises ou les sanctions imposées par un agent d'audiences. Une conduite qui a été sanctionnée par des sanctions mineures ne peut pas être sujette à d'autres procédures pénales, mais elle peut faire partie d'un ensemble de circonstances aggravantes, liées à une procédure judiciaire subséquente découlant d'une autre plainte.

E. Infractions graves

1. Généralités

À moins d'avoir été soumise, avec le consentement des parties, à une procédure de médiation au niveau local, les infractions graves doivent être traitées selon les procédures judiciaires formelles décrites dans cette section.

2. Plaintes

a) Toute plainte concernant une infraction grave doit être référée le vice-président aux services étudiants qui, après enquête préliminaire peut :

- i) déterminer que la plainte est clairement non fondée ou qu'il s'agit d'une plainte qui n'est pas couverte par ce règlement ou, dans certaines circonstances, qu'elle ne peut conduire à une décision. Il doit alors en informer le plaignant (et, le cas échéant, la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte) et s'en tenir là en ce qui concerne cette plainte ;
- ii) référer la plainte à un agent local d'audiences, s'il trouve que l'affaire n'est pas grave ;
- iii) établir, avec le consentement du plaignant et de la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte, une procédure de médiation ;
- iv) charger un jury du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université de poursuivre l'affaire ; et
- v) en plus de, ou à la place de l'une de ces décisions, porter l'affaire devant une instance civile ou judiciaire.

b) Dans le cas où l'affaire est examinée par un jury du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université, le vice-président aux services étudiants doit veiller à sa poursuite. Le plaignant peut être appelé comme témoin, mais ne doit pas avoir la responsabilité de défendre son cas.

3. Audiences

a) Selon les présents règlements, la poursuite formelle d'une plainte en première instance incombe à un jury du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université, établi selon l'article 3 du Règlement présidentiel, tel qu'amendé à l'occasion.

b) Le jury du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université n'est pas lié par une procédure stricte, mais, pour s'assurer qu'il respecte des procédures aussi justes que possible dans le contexte et les traditions universitaires, il doit respecter les lignes directrices suivantes :

- i) le vice-président aux services étudiants ou son représentant doit fournir à la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte, et au jury du tribunal, une copie de la plainte, un résumé des faits dont cette personne est accusée, une copie de tous les documents qui seront soumis au jury ainsi qu'un exposé des conséquences possibles, pour la personne accusée, d'un jugement de culpabilité, et enfin une copie de tous les règlements pertinents à l'affaire ;
- ii) le plaignant, ainsi que toutes les parties intéressées dans l'affaire, doivent être avertis en temps raisonnable du lieu et de l'heure de l'audience ;
- iii) toutes les parties intéressées dans l'affaire doivent avoir le droit de se faire représenter par un avocat ou conseiller, de présenter des preuves et une plaidoirie ;
- iv) les membres de la communauté de York doivent pouvoir assister aux délibérations du jury, à moins que le plaignant ou la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte puisse démontrer que les séances doivent avoir lieu à huis clos ;
- v) le jury n'est pas lié par les règles de la preuve. Il peut recevoir des preuves écrites ou orales, et doit donner la possibilité à toutes les parties de répondre à ces preuves. Lorsqu'une preuve concerne une question importante, qui est contestée par l'une ou l'autre partie, elle devrait normalement être présentée oralement par un des témoins qui doit pouvoir être contre interrogé. Le jury peut cependant, à sa discrétion, accepter d'autres formes de présentation de preuves ou refuser la contre interrogation s'il n'y a pas d'autre moyen pratique, ou si la partie qui conteste la preuve lui paraît coupable d'abus de procédure ;

vi) le jury peut prendre note de faits généralement connus des membres de la communauté universitaire, il peut chercher à s'informer, par tous les moyens qu'il juge appropriés, de toute question utile à ses délibérations, à condition que les parties intéressées soient instruites de ces questions et puissent présenter leur point de vue;

vii) en général, le tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université et les jurys dépendant de ce tribunal peuvent adopter des procédures et prendre des décisions qui permettront de traiter les plaintes rapidement et avec justice, en accord avec les procédures internes de l'Université, sans avoir à se référer aux procédures légales formelles, mais en tenant compte de l'importance qu'aura leur décision pour le plaignant, la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte et l'Université.

c) Le jury devra mettre par écrit sa décision en précisant les faits établis, ses conclusions, les sanctions imposées (s'il y a lieu) et les procédures d'appel. La décision doit être transmise au secrétaire de l'Université pour être enregistrée et une copie doit être envoyée à chaque partie intéressée par la procédure et au plaignant original. À moins que le jury en décide autrement, la décision doit être considérée comme un document public.

4. Pouvoirs

Le jury peut :

- i) à n'importe quel moment, avec le consentement du plaignant et de la personne contre qui est dirigée la plainte, renvoyer l'affaire en médiation ;
- ii) rejeter la plainte ; ou
- iii) confirmer la plainte et imposer des sanctions.

5. Sanctions

Si le jury trouve l'étudiant coupable d'atteinte au code de conduite, il peut imposer toute sanction, proportionnée à la faute, qui aurait pu être imposée par un agent local d'audiences et il peut, en plus, imposer une ou plusieurs des sanctions suivantes :

- i) exclure le contrevenant et lui retirer le statut d'étudiant de l'Université de façon permanente ou pour une période déterminée ;
- ii) exiger du contrevenant qu'il rembourse tout dommage matériel causé ;
- iii) imposer une amende ne dépassant pas 1000 $, versée au Fonds de soutien aux étudiants de l'Université ;
- iv) retirer au contrevenant tous les privilèges universitaires (ex : appartement ou chambre en résidence, droit de stationner, droit de fréquenter bars ou pubs, droit d'utiliser les services de l'Université ou droit de participer aux activités de l'Université ;
- v) interdire au contrevenant l'accès du campus universitaire ou à une partie du campus, totalement ou en dehors de conditions bien définies, imposer la restitution de tout bureau, laboratoire, résidence ou appartement ou tout autre local de l'Université utilisé par le contrevenant ;
- vi) ordonner que toute sanction imposée le soit avec sursis, valable aussi longtemps que le contrevenant ne récidive pas.

6. Exécution

- a) À moins d'indication contraire, toute sanction imposée par le jury est exécutoire sept jours après la date de la décision.
- b) À moins d'indication contraire, toutes les décisions du jury seront inscrites dans le dossier du contrevenant, sept jours après la date de la décision.
- c) La violation de toute décision ou sanction imposée par le jury constitue en soi une atteinte grave au code de conduite et peut conduire à d'autres accusations et mesures disciplinaires.
- d) Le vice-président aux services étudiants a la responsabilité de faire appliquer les décisions du jury.

7. Appels

a) Il est possible d'interjeter appel de toute décision du jury du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université devant un jury d'appel du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université institué par l'article 3 du Règlement présidentiel, tel qu'amendé de temps en temps. Un appel doit être lancé par écrit dans les sept jours qui suivent la décision du jury et doit préciser les motifs invoqués et doit être envoyé :

- i) aux parties intéressées,
  - ii) au plaignant original, et
  - iii) au secrétaire de l'Université.
- b) Les motifs de l'appel doivent inclure une des allégations de fait suivantes :
- i) que le jury n'avait pas le pouvoir, selon les lois, règlements et pratiques de l'Université, d'arriver à la décision ou d'imposer les sanctions en cause,
  - ii) que le jury a commis une erreur de procédure fondamentale qui a gravement porté préjudice à l'auteur de l'appel, ou
  - iii) que l'auteur de l'appel a droit à un redressement pour des raisons de convenance personnelle ou autres non prises en compte par le jury.

c) Dans les sept jours qui suivent la remise de son appel, le contrevenant doit remettre une déclaration écrite dans laquelle il précise les motifs essentiels sur lesquels il appuie son appel. Après avoir effectué cela, l'auteur de l'appel peut demander au jury d'appel de surseoir à l'exécution des sanctions imposées.

d) Le jury d'appel doit organiser le plus rapidement possible une audience pour décider d'accorder ou non un sursis d'exécution des sanctions. Dans le cas où une réponse immédiate est nécessaire, une demande peut être faite auprès du président du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université ou d'un membre de ce tribunal désigné par la présidente.

e) Le jury d'appel doit instruire l'appel dans un délai de quatre semaines et doit :

- i) informer les parties et le plaignant original de la date et de l'heure de l'audience d'appel, leur fournir des copies de tous les documents soumis à l'appui par l'auteur de l'appel ainsi que tout règlement concernant la procédure d'appel ;
- ii) permettre, à sa discrétion, aux parties concernées par l'appel, de présenter une plaidoirie orale ou écrite, ou les deux, mais pas de présenter de nouvelles preuves.

f) Le jury d'appel doit rendre sa décision par écrit, décision qui peut :

- faire droits à l'appel,
- confirmer ou modifier la décision originale,
- confirmer, réduire ou aggraver les sanctions imposées par le premier jury, ou
- demander que le jury original préside une nouvelle audience ou réexamine certains aspects pertinents de sa décision.

g) La décision du jury d'appel doit être transmise au secrétariat de l'Université pour être conservée et des copies doivent être remises à toutes les parties concernées, au plaignant original, et aux membres du jury original. À moins que le jury d'appel n'en décide autrement, sa décision doit être publique.

8. Réexamen présidentiel

a) Dans les sept jours qui suivent la décision du jury d'appel, toute partie intéressée peut soumettre par écrit à la présidente une pétition demandant qu'il réexamine la décision du jury d'appel en invoquant le motif que le jury d'appel n'avait pas le pouvoir d'arriver à la décision en cause ou qu'il a commis une erreur de procédure fondamentale qui a gravement porté préjudice à l'auteur de l'appel.

b) La pétition doit préciser exactement les motifs invoqués pour le réexamen, et inclure toute plaidoirie à l'appui. Elle doit être remise également aux autres parties qui doivent soumettre une réponse dans les sept jours qui suivent.

c) Les parties auront la possibilité de soumettre des arguments écrits, mais elles ne pourront pas présenter de plaidoirie orale devant la présidente. La présidente peut nommer un auditeur pour réexaminer une partie ou toute l'affaire et pour arriver à des conclusions et lui faire des recommandations qui l'aideront dans sa décision concernant la pétition. Fondée sur les documents soumis par les parties, les conclusions et recommandations de l'auditeur, et sur le réexamen de la décision du jury d'appel, la décision de la présidente peut :

- rejeter la pétition et confirmer la décision du jury d'appel,

- accepter le bien fondé de la pétition et modifier ou annuler la décision du jury d'appel,
- confirmer, réduire ou aggraver la sanction imposée,
- ordonner que l'affaire, ou certains aspects, soient réexaminées par un jury spécial du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université ou,
- prendre toute autre décision qui lui semble appropriée dans les circonstances de l'affaire.

- d) La décision de la présidente est définitive, exécutoire et sans appel.
- e) Une copie de la décision sera remise à toutes les parties, au plaignant original et aux membres du jury original et du jury d'appel. La décision sera envoyée au secrétariat de l'Université pour être mise dans le dossier du contrevenant (s'il a été trouvé coupable), et sera publique.

F. Ordonnances d'urgence

À compter du 30 juin 1992, l'article 2 du règlement présidentiel est amendé comme suit :

1. Préambule

Le but de ce règlement est de permettre à l'Université d'agir promptement et efficacement pour la protection de ses membres.

2. Circonstances spéciales

Le vice-président aux services étudiants peut émettre des ordonnances d'urgence dans les cas suivants :

- i) quand il a des raisons de croire qu'un étudiant a amené un autre membre, ou d'autres membres de l'Université à craindre pour leur propre sécurité ;
- ii) quand il a des raisons de croire qu'un étudiant a gravement troublé, ou pourrait gravement troubler l'ordre dans une salle de classe, à la bibliothèque, dans une résidence, une salle d'examen ou un lieu d'étude ;
- iii) quand il a des raisons de croire qu'un étudiant a commis, ou pourrait commettre des dommages sérieux aux biens de l'Université et dans toute circonstances, où, en gardant en considération la sûreté et la sécurité des membres de l'Université, le vice-président aux services étudiants a des raisons de croire qu'il n'est pas prudent ou pas possible de suivre les procédures formelles régulières d'instruction des plaintes.

3. Procédures d'urgence

Lorsque le vice-président aux services étudiants émet une ordonnance d'urgence, il doit faire son possible pour informer l'étudiant concerné, oralement, en personne ou par téléphone, ou par écrit. Le vice-président aux services étudiants peut décider d'agir rapidement si il l'estime nécessaire et n'a pas l'obligation de tenir une audience avant d'émettre une ordonnance d'urgence.

4. Pouvoir d'une ordonnance d'urgence

- a) Une ordonnance d'urgence peut contraindre un étudiant, sans condition ou sous certaines conditions :
- i) à ne pas pénétrer sur le campus, ou dans certaines salles de classe ou lieux spécifiques, ou à ne pas entrer en communication avec certaines personnes ;
  - ii) à quitter une résidence du campus ;
  - iii) à soumettre une résolution écrite de bonne conduite ;
  - iv) à s'abstenir de commettre sur le campus tout geste ou toute action ; ce qui, aux yeux du vice-président aux services étudiants, permettrait d'éviter ou d'atténuer le dommage en question ;
- b) Une ordonnance d'urgence :
- i) prend effet immédiatement ;
  - ii) est émise par écrit le plus rapidement possible et remise en personne à la personne concernée, ou envoyée par lettre recommandée ou livrée en personne à l'adresse courante ;
  - iii) demeure effective pour une période ne pouvant dépasser 60 jours, ou jusqu'à ce qu'une procédure formelle régulière d'audience soit mise en place, selon la date la plus rapprochée ;
- c) Le non respect d'une ordonnance d'urgence constitue une infraction grave telle que définie par ce règlement.

5. Procédures complémentaires

a) Lorsque le vice-président aux services étudiants émet une ordonnance d'urgence, il doit en même temps demander au tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université de convoquer une audience.

b) La première tâche du tribunal doit être de déterminer sommairement si l'ordonnance d'urgence doit demeurer valide ou si elle doit être suspendue jusqu'à ce qu'une audience complète ait eu lieu.

c) Si le tribunal décide de suspendre l'ordonnance d'urgence, il peut décider de le faire avec ou sans restriction, ou pour une période de temps définie.

d) Nonobstant la suspension de l'ordonnance d'urgence, le tribunal peut, à tout moment durant l'audience, rétablir l'ordonnance, pour des raisons et selon les termes spécifiés dans la section 2 ci-dessous.

e) Le tribunal doit rendre une décision officielle à l'effet qu'une ordonnance d'urgence constitue une « infraction grave » selon les procédures établies et à l'effet que les procédures et dispositions afférentes s'appliquent à une telle audience.

f) À l'issue de ses délibérations, le tribunal doit déterminer si les circonstances spéciales mentionnées en 2 ci-dessus continuent à prévaloir. Le tribunal peut imposer toute sanction imposable par un jury habilité à instruire les infractions graves, avec toute obligation ou condition qui pouvait être imposée par l'ordonnance d'urgence.

Règlement présidentiel Numéro 3 : discipline, plaintes et décisions

I. Centre des plaintes de l'Université

La vice-présidente aux études et le vice-président aux services étudiants doit instituer, dans le Bureau des affaires étudiantes, un Centre des plaintes de l'Université. Ce centre est habilité à recevoir toutes plaintes concernant n'importe quel aspect de la conduite des étudiants en dehors des questions relatives aux études, y compris les questions pour lesquelles des procédures spéciales ont été instituées. Il doit conseiller les plaignants des différentes possibilités qui s'offrent à eux pour régler leur cas et obtenir réparation et les guider dans la procédure choisie. Le Centre des plaintes joue également le rôle de « préposé aux plaintes », selon les termes de l'article 3 des Règlements présidentiels, et peut donc, à ce titre, instruire une plainte.

II. Tribunal disciplinaire universitaire

a) Le tribunal disciplinaire universitaire exerce les pouvoirs qui lui sont délégués par l'article 2 des Règlements présidentiels.

b) Le tribunal comprend dix-huit membres, nommés pour deux ans par la présidente en termes alternés, composés ainsi :

- i) trois membres du corps professoral et trois étudiants nommés par le doyen de l'École de droit Osgoode Hall ;
- ii) trois membres du corps professoral nommés par le Conseil des directeurs des collèges ;
- iii) trois étudiants nommés par la Fédération des étudiants de York (FEY), après consultation de tous les organismes étudiants dûment constitués ;
- iv) trois membres du corps professoral et trois étudiants nommés par le vice-président aux services étudiants.

c) Les nominations doivent être ainsi faites de manière à respecter l'équilibre entre les hommes et les femmes au sein du tribunal, et, sur une certaine période de temps, entre les différentes catégories. Normalement, un homme et une femme devraient être nommés en alternance.

d) Le tribunal siège en jurys de trois membres, choisis par groupes par le secrétaire de l'Université, pour instruire les plaintes et les appels. Chaque jury doit comprendre au moins un étudiant et un professeur et un homme et une femme.

e) Dans le cas d'une plainte émanant d'un étudiant du Collège Glendon qui désirerait que les audiences aient lieu en français, et dans tous les autres cas où cela pourrait s'avérer nécessaire, la présidente peut nommer un membre spécial. La répartition minimum des membres, décrite dans le paragraphe d), s'applique également dans le cas d'une nomination spéciale.

f) Personne ne peut être membre d'un jury, si, selon le président du tribunal disciplinaire, il y a des raisons de penser que le dit membre risque de manquer, ou d'être vu comme manquant, d'impartialité. Une personne ne peut être membre d'un jury d'appel lorsque cette même personne a déjà été membre du jury original qui a instruit la plainte.

g) Le président du tribunal disciplinaire désigne, parmi les membres nommés, un président du jury.

III. Généralités

a) Le Centre des plaintes de l'Université, le tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université et tous les préposés aux plaintes et aux audiences, nommés selon l'article 2 des règlements, ont le pouvoir d'adopter des procédures et des directives, de prendre des décisions et d'ordonner des instructions qui leur permettent d'accomplir la tâche dont ils sont chargés. Toutes les décisions et directives doivent être notées par écrit, approuvées par le vice-président aux services étudiants, représentant la présidente, et enregistrées dans le Bureau du secrétaire de l'Université.

b) En cas de poste vacant ou de nombre insuffisant de membres disponibles au tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université, la présidente peut nommer au tribunal disciplinaire des membres spéciaux supplémentaires.

c) Les membres du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université doivent se réunir chaque année au mois d'août pour choisir leur président pour l'année universitaire suivante. La présidente a la responsabilité de la bonne marche du tribunal. Le secrétaire de l'Université ou son délégué est secrétaire ex officio du tribunal.

d) Les membres du tribunal disciplinaire de l'Université, et tous les autres corps ou individus qui ont une responsabilité ou un rôle à jouer dans les questions de discipline, peuvent se réunir de temps en temps pour discuter de questions générales concernant la discipline des étudiants afin de s'assurer que l'ensemble des mesures disciplinaires à York sont cohérentes, justes et efficaces.

IV. La vice-présidente aux études et le vice-président aux services étudiants

La vice-présidente aux études et le vice-président aux services étudiants de l'Université, en sa capacité de représentant de la présidente, a la responsabilité administrative de la bonne marche du système disciplinaire des étudiants de l'Université. Le vice-président aux services étudiants doit remettre chaque année à la présidente un rapport décrivant le fonctionnement du système et peut proposer des recommandations pour son amélioration.

Règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire

A. Introduction

Toute conduite qui viole l'éthique et les normes légales de la collectivité universitaire et des différents programmes de spécialisation peut entraîner de sérieuses conséquences. Les règlements sur l'honneur universitaire réaffirment et précisent l'obligation pour les membres de l'Université de maintenir dans toute leur intégrité les normes de l'honneur universitaire. Ils précisent la responsabilité qui incombe aux professeurs de favoriser le maintien de normes honorables et aux étudiants de connaître et respecter ces normes.

B. Rôle des professeurs et des étudiants

Une connaissance précise de ce qu'est l'honneur universitaire et des responsabilités qu'il entraîne est à la base d'un enseignement de qualité. Les professeurs devraient prendre en considération tout ce qui concerne l'honneur universitaire dans leurs cours et dans leurs recherches. Un modèle positif est particulièrement important pour les étudiants qui doivent eux-mêmes devenir assistants d'enseignement ou entreprendre des travaux universitaires. Tout étudiant a la responsabilité personnelle de respecter ces normes et, en cas d'hésitation, il doit consulter un professeur pour déterminer la conduite à tenir.

C. Pressions qui peuvent amener des atteintes à l'honneur universitaire

Les exigences d'une éducation universitaire peuvent pousser certains à porter atteinte à l'honneur universitaire. Des pressions s'exercent sur les étudiants pour obtenir d'excellentes notes, un soutien financier, respecter les dates limites de publication ou de recherche, être reconnu par la communauté savante, ou trouver un travail. Bien que les professeurs puissent aider les étudiants à maintenir l'honneur universitaire, tout étudiant est finalement responsable de maintenir son honneur universitaire.

D. Atteintes graves à l'honneur universitaire

Remarque : Ce résumé n'est pas exhaustif. Dans certains cas les règlements universitaires touchant les questions non universitaires peuvent prévaloir. Certaines infractions universitaires constituent également des infractions au Code criminel du Canada. Un étudiant accusé d'infraction au règlement universitaire peut également être inculpé. Une accusation peut également être portée contre un étudiant de York pour des infractions commises dans un autre établissement éducatif.

Tricherie : Tenter d'obtenir un avantage illicite lors d'une évaluation universitaire constitue une tricherie. Parmi les différentes formes de ce type d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire on peut citer : obtenir copie d'un examen ou avoir connaissance des questions de l'examen, avant qu'il soit officiellement commencé ; copier, dans un examen, la réponse d'un autre candidat ; consulter, au cours d'un examen, une source non autorisée ; obtenir de l'aide au moyen de documents, d'appareils ou d'autres moyens non autorisés par le professeur ; ou modifier le résultat obtenu à un examen.

Il est également illicite de soumettre dans un cours un travail qui a déjà été effectué pour un autre cours sans avoir obtenu au préalable le consentement exprès des professeurs concernés. Il est normal qu'un étudiant puisse désirer poursuivre et approfondir une recherche dans un domaine en préparant un nouveau travail, mais il doit comprendre qu'une telle pratique peut aller à l'encontre de l'objectif même du travail demandé. Dans tous les cas l'étudiant doit demander l'autorisation au professeur concerné et obtenir sa permission écrite.

Usurpation d'identité : C'est une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire que de se faire remplacer par une autre personne dans une classe, un test, un examen ou toute forme de travail exigé dans un cours. L'usurpateur et la personne remplacée peuvent tous deux être poursuivis.

Plagiat et autre forme d'appropriation du travail d'autrui : C'est un plagiat que de s'approprier les idées ou les écrits de quelqu'un d'autre. La forme la plus évidente de ce type d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire consiste à emprunter un document écrit par un autre, ou une partie du document, et à le présenter comme sien. Cependant, paraphraser les écrits d'une autre personne sans mentionner clairement qu'il s'agit d'un emprunt peut également constituer un plagiat. C'est également une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire que d'emprunter la création artistique ou technique d'une autre personne et de la faire passer pour sienne. Tout comme dans la préparation et la publication de documents écrits, on doit respecter des normes de conduite dans la création et la présentation de pièces musicales, de tableaux, dessins, pas de danse, photographies et autres œuvres artistiques et techniques. Emprunter directement dans ces domaines artistiques constitue un vol du travail d'autrui. Cela ne signifie pas cependant que les étudiants ne peuvent pas utiliser le travail d'autres personnes en indiquant clairement leur source.

Pratiques de recherche illicites : Dans de nombreux cas les activités universitaires exigent que l'on rassemble, analyse, interprète et publie des renseignements ou des données obtenues dans un laboratoire scientifique ou sur le terrain. Les occasions de s'écarter des normes acceptables de conduite peuvent être plus nombreuses encore dans ce domaine, où la supervision est moins directe, que dans la salle de classe. Cela constitue par exemple des pratiques illicites que de rapporter des résultats de recherches que l'on sait erronés, falsifiés ou fabriqués ; d'emprunter ou d'utiliser les résultats de recherches d'autres personnes sans en avoir obtenu l'autorisation et sans l'indiquer ; de fausser des résultats de recherches ou de tromper sur les méthodes utilisées ; de cacher ou d'omettre des renseignements ou des données contraires à la notion ou aux hypothèses proposées. De plus, tous les chercheurs ont l'obligation de ne rien entreprendre qui puisse nuire aux recherches présentes ou futures d'autres chercheurs. Cette obligation touche également les étudiants de l'Université York lorsqu'ils travaillent à l'extérieur de l'Université.

Publication malhonnête : Dans la plupart des cas, le but de la recherche est de disséminer les connaissances, le plus souvent sous forme de publication de documents. On peut même dire que dans de nombreuses disciplines la promotion professionnelle d'un individu est liée largement au nombre et à la qualité de ses publications. C'est une violation de l'honneur universitaire que de publier sciemment des documents qui tromperont les lecteurs ; parce qu'ils comprennent des données ou des renseignements erronés ou falsifiés ; parce que les noms de collaborateurs et coauteurs y sont omis ou parce qu'ils donnent comme coauteurs les noms d'individus qui n'ont pas participé au travail. Le plagiat est également considéré comme une forme de publication malhonnête.

Diffusion prématurée orale ou écrite d'informations : Toute information ou donnée expérimentale recueillie auprès d'un professeur ou d'un autre étudiant ne doit pas être soumise pour publication prématurément sans le consentement des personnes concernées.

Diffusion de renseignements confidentiels : Un étudiant peut être amené à participer à l'évaluation d'une demande confidentielle de subvention ou d'un manuscrit soumis pour aide à la publication. Il est malhonnête d'utiliser ou de divulguer les idées ou les données d'autrui dont on a eu connaissance en confiance. À moins d'y être spécifiquement autorisé, il est malhonnête de se procurer un mot de passe d'une autre personne, ou de copier ou modifier les données d'un dossier ou d'un programme d'une autre personne. L'autorisation expresse doit provenir de l'auteur ou du propriétaire du dossier en question, ou d'un professeur, ou d'un membre autorisé de l'administration. De même, il est interdit de violer l'intégrité d'un système informatique et de harceler un autre usager, d'endommager un logiciel ou du matériel, de se dérober au paiement de droits réglementaires.

Falsification ou modification non autorisée de dossier universitaire : C'est une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire que de modifier, forger, ou de quelque façon que ce soit d'altérer les résultats d'un examen, d'un relevé de notes, d'une note, d'une lettre de recommandation ou tout autre document du même type. C'est également une forme d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire que de présenter de fausses informations ou de faire de fausses déclarations, de falsifier ou de modifier des documents officiels ou des relevés attestant la situation scolaire d'un étudiant, ses qualifications et sa préparation ou de tenter de le faire ou d'amener d'autres personnes à le faire, avec l'intention de tromper un professeur, une unité universitaire, un service ou un comité. Toute omission de renseignement concernant une inscription antérieure dans un autre établissement post-secondaire au moment de la demande d'admission constitue également une infraction.

Obstruction des activités universitaires d'autrui : C'est une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire que de gêner les activités universitaires d'une autre personne dans le but de la harceler ou d'en obtenir des avantages malhonnêtes. Cela comprend la modification ou la détérioration de données expérimentales, obtenues sur des sujets humains ou animaux, l'altération de produits chimiques utilisés pour la recherche scientifique ou de tout autre objet d'étude, l'ingérence dans des relations ou dans la création artistique (peinture, sculpture ou film).

Aide ou encouragement à une conduite malhonnête : Aider ou encourager sciemment quelqu'un à porter atteinte à l'honneur universitaire constitue également une conduite malhonnête. Cela comprend, entre autre, aider quelqu'un à préparer un travail qui doit être soumis pour évaluation, vendre un essai ou tout autre travail universitaire qui sera ensuite soumis pour évaluation.

E. Sanctions pour atteinte à l'honneur universitaire

Lorsqu'une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire a été dûment constatée elle peut être sanctionnée par une ou plusieurs des sanctions suivantes :

- (a) réprimande ou avertissement oral ou écrit ;
- (b) obligation de refaire un travail ou un examen ;
- (c) diminution de la note reçue au travail ou à l'examen ;

(d) échec au cours ;

(e) suspension de l'Université pour une période déterminée<sup>1</sup> ;

(f) inscription de l'infraction dans le dossier universitaire<sup>2</sup> ;

(g) non délivrance ou annulation du diplôme ou certificat de York<sup>3</sup>.

- 1 Cette sanction ne peut être imposée que par un comité de faculté dûment autorisé par le Sénat à la prononcer.
- 2 L'étudiant peut déposer auprès du comité d'appel du Sénat une pétition pour faire enlever de son dossier la mention de l'infraction après une période de cinq ans après la date de l'inscription.
- 3 Lorsqu'une faculté décide d'annuler un diplôme ou certificat, la décision, accompagnée de tous les documents à l'appui, doit être communiquée au comité d'appel du Sénat afin qu'elle soit approuvée au nom du Sénat.

Dans tous les cas d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, une mention de l'infraction est inscrite de manière permanente dans le dossier personnel de l'étudiant. Cette mention est strictement à usage interne.

Guide des sanctions

Il est dans l'intérêt de toutes les personnes concernées que les étudiants pénalisés pour une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire fassent l'objet d'un traitement équitable et uniforme dans toute l'Université. À cette fin, une série de sanctions est proposée pour chaque type d'infraction ; elle reflète l'aire de sanctions appropriées pour les variations de chaque infraction. Cette série a été conçue pour servir de guide aux facultés ; elle reflète le caractère particulier et les limitations de certains règlements internes aux facultés. Le Sénat ne s'attend pas à ce qu'une sanction identique soit imposée, à chaque occasion, pour la même infraction, à travers toute l'Université - et ce, en lumière du fait que de nombreux facteurs, entrent en jeu pour chaque cas individuel. Il est nécessaire toutefois que les étudiants qui ont commis une infraction particulière se trouvent, en premier ressort, devant les mêmes options de pénalité. Le présent règlement n'est pas formulé dans l'intention de restreindre l'autorité ou la souplesse des comités de faculté en imposant les sanctions telles qu'elles apparaissent ci-dessus. Dans chaque cas précis, les facultés pourront exercer leur discrétion en prenant en considération les facteurs pertinents, précisés ci-dessous. Cependant, pour le bénéfice des étudiants, les comités de faculté qui imposent une sanction autre que celles suggérées (mais se trouvant comprise dans les options mentionnées ci-dessus) sont encouragés à fournir une explication détaillée dans le compte rendu de leur décision.

Facteurs à considérer dans le choix des sanctions

Bien que les infractions commises par les étudiants de l'Université soient bien souvent similaires, les circonstances dans lesquelles elles sont commises sont susceptibles de grandes variations. La sanction infligée devrait refléter raisonnablement ces circonstances. D'importants facteurs sont à considérer par les comités de facultés qui infligent des sanctions ou qui réévaluent les sanctions recommandées :

- (i) Étendue de la violation : Les actions qui constituent des infractions spécifiques à l'honneur universitaires (par exemple, le plagiat ou la tricherie) varient en terme de sévérité. Certains cas de malhonnêteté universitaire constituent seulement des infractions mineures, tandis que d'autres représentent la forme extrême de la violation. Les sanctions doivent correspondre à la nature de l'infraction.
- (ii) Considérations de base :
  - (a) Le niveau de l'expérience universitaire de l'étudiant est important dans la détermination de la sévérité de la sanction.
  - (b) Des circonstances atténuantes peuvent exister et expliquer une infraction. Elles sont alors à prendre en compte.
  - (c) Si l'étudiant admet sa culpabilité, accepte la responsabilité de son acte et se montre favorable à une réparation, les comités devraient alors être enclins à l'indulgence.
- (iii) Récidives et incidents multiples : Si l'infraction a déjà été commise ou si elle est combinée à une autre infraction, une sanction sévère est à envisager.

Remarque : Pour chaque infraction, les sanctions peuvent être infligées séparément ou en combinaison avec d'autres.

Règles concernant les atteintes à l'honneur universitaire

Chaque faculté doit s'assurer que les règles qu'elle applique sont conformes aux normes suivantes. Les règles appliquées par les facultés doivent être approuvées par le comité d'appel du Sénat, publiées dans l'annuaire et déposées dans les bureaux de la faculté.

A. Objectif

Ces règles sont applicables dans les cas où un étudiant ou un diplômé de York, un ancien étudiant de York, ou un étudiant qui s'inscrit à un cours, suit ou a suivi un cours de York est accusé d'avoir violé le règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire. (Dans le texte qui suit le terme "étudiant" désigne toutes les catégories indiquées ci-dessus). On recommande aux étudiants et aux professeurs de discuter et, dans la mesure du possible, de résoudre leur différent à l'amiable. Il demeure cependant qu'une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire est une des plus graves fautes à l'encontre de l'Université. On ne peut penser à une plus grave insulte faite à l'encontre de l'intégrité de l'institution et du monde universitaire que la malhonnêteté ou la fraude intellectuelle. On ne peut donc que louer la claire volonté de la dénoncer, de la pourchasser et de la condamner par la peine qu'elle mérite. En revanche l'institution doit s'assurer qu'elle n'a pas été déclarée à la légère. L'institution se doit également d'offrir à la personne accusée de malhonnêteté toutes les protections qu'exige la gravité des accusations (Krever, J., [1985] 11 OAC 72). Les règles suivantes ont été établies par le comité d'appel du Sénat afin de traiter et de résoudre les cas présumés de violation du règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire.

B. Juridiction

Les allégations d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire concernant les cours sont traitées par la faculté offrant le cours. La faculté mère de l'étudiant a le statut d'observatrice lors d'une audience et peut faire des observations concernant la sanction. Toute autre atteinte à l'honneur universitaire commise dans tous les domaines de la vie universitaire sera dénoncée par le service administratif ou le comité compétent de la faculté concernée. Si un cas se présente dans lequel la juridiction d'une faculté ne semble pas clairement établie, le comité d'appel du Sénat peut exercer sa juridiction et fixer ses modalités.

C. Dépôt de plainte

1. Une plainte de violation présumée du règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire doit être soumise par écrit, aussitôt qu'il est raisonnablement possible de le faire, au bureau compétent. La plainte doit préciser d'une façon claire et succincte les faits tels qu'ils sont présentés par le plaignant.

2. La responsabilité de détecter une infraction potentielle dans un devoir, exercice ou essai incombe à la personne qui évalue l'épreuve. L'évaluateur, s'il n'est pas le directeur du cours, doit conserver l'épreuve incriminée et fournir un rapport écrit au directeur du cours en même temps que le document confisqué.

3. La responsabilité de détecter une infraction potentielle dans un examen incombe au surveillant, généralement le directeur du cours ou son délégué. Dans le cas où le surveillant soupçonne qu'il y ait usurpation d'identité, il doit demander à l'étudiant soupçonné de demeurer dans la salle après la fin de l'examen et lui demander sa carte universitaire ou tout autre document lui permettant de s'identifier. Dans tous les autres cas où il a des raisons de soupçonner une atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, le surveillant doit confisquer tous les documents suspects. Dans tous les cas, l'étudiant doit être autorisé à terminer son examen et le surveillant, s'il n'est pas le directeur du cours, doit fournir un rapport complet au directeur du cours en même temps que les documents confisqués.

D. Responsabilités des professeurs en cas d'infraction présumée

2. Les professeurs ont la responsabilité de rassembler ou d'aider à rassembler les documents nécessaires et de se préparer à témoigner dans l'enquête. C'est au responsable de la faculté qu'incombe la responsabilité de présenter le cas devant le comité instruisant l'affaire. C'est au comité instruisant l'affaire qu'incombe la responsabilité de déterminer la culpabilité ou l'innocence de l'accusé et, si nécessaire, d'imposer une sanction après avoir entendu les deux parties.

3. Pour déterminer s'il y a suffisamment de motifs probables pour déposer une plainte d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, un professeur peut demander à rencontrer l'étudiant concerné pour discuter de l'affaire. Lors de cette rencontre, l'étudiant peut se faire accompagner par un représentant et le professeur peut également demander à une autre personne de l'assister. Durant toute enquête de cette nature, le professeur doit agir rapidement mais, s'il décide de rencontrer l'étudiant, il doit lui donner un préavis d'au moins sept jours.

a) S'il est établi clairement qu'il s'agit d'un acte involontaire, le professeur peut décider de demander à l'étudiant de corriger volontairement son erreur et de ne plus la répéter. Dans ce cas, aucune action officielle n'est demandée et il n'est pas gardé trace de l'incident.

b) Si l'étudiant reconnaît qu'il y a eu atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, un document signé de l'étudiant et du professeur, décrivant brièvement les faits, précisant l'aveu de l'infraction et la sanction proposée peut être transmis au comité chargé de traiter les allégations d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire. Dans ce cas, la sanction retenue et acceptée par l'étudiant ne doit pas dépasser l'échec au cours. Le comité qui reçoit une proposition ainsi présentée impose en général la sanction proposée, mais, s'il estime qu'une autre sanction conviendrait mieux il doit fixer une audience pour traiter de l'affaire.

4. Si l'accusation porte sur un travail déjà soumis pour évaluation, le professeur peut décider de remettre cette évaluation après la fin de l'affaire. Normalement, toute évaluation d'un travail qui a donné lieu à une accusation ne peut être officiellement enregistré dans le dossier d'un étudiant tant que l'affaire n'est pas conclue.

E. Procédure à suivre par les facultés

Lorsqu'il y a eu atteinte présumée à l'honneur universitaire une faculté doit suivre la procédure indiquée ci-dessous.

1. Une faculté peut déléguer l'autorité d'instruire une accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire à un comité de département, de division ou de programme ou peut remettre cette autorité à un comité de la faculté. Quel que soit le comité, il doit respecter la procédure établie dans ce document.

2. Si l'accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire est instruite en premier par un comité de département, division ou programme, le règlement de la faculté doit préciser que tout appel des décisions prises par ce comité sera entendu par un comité d'appel de la faculté, lequel comité suivra la procédure établie par le comité d'appel du Sénat pour l'instruction des appels [Sénat, octobre 1985]. Tout appel d'une décision prise par un comité d'appel de faculté doit être entendu par le comité d'appel du Sénat.

3. Si l'accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire est instruite en premier par un comité de faculté, le règlement de la faculté doit préciser que les appels des décisions prises par ce comité seront entendus soit par un comité d'appel de la faculté, soit par le comité d'appel du Sénat.

4. Lorsqu'une enquête est entamée, un étudiant ne peut plus, pour quelle raison que ce soit, abandonner le cours ou annuler son inscription jusqu'à ce qu'une décision définitive ait été prise sur l'affaire.

5. Aucun relevé de note ne sera communiqué à l'étudiant jusqu'à la décision. Si l'étudiant demande qu'un relevé de note soit transmis à un autre établissement ou à un employeur éventuel, le relevé sera transmis mais, si l'étudiant est trouvé coupable d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, les destinataires du relevé en seront informés.

6. Un étudiant qui a été suspendu et qui est éligible à l'obtention du diplôme ne peut recevoir de diplôme tant que la suspension n'est pas expirée ou levée.

7. La faculté doit remettre à chaque partie une copie écrite de l'accusation, une copie des documents soumis par le professeur, comprenant un résumé des preuves présentées, une copie de la procédure à suivre et ne peut fixer la date et le lieu de l'audience à moins de 21 jours fermes à partir de la date d'envoi des documents. Si l'étudiant désire répondre par écrit à l'accusation, sa réponse doit parvenir à la faculté dans les 14 jours fermes à partir de la date d'envoi des documents par la faculté. La réponse soumise par l'étudiant doit être communiquée au professeur. Les deux parties doivent informer le comité s'ils désirent appeler des témoins, et communiquer le nom des témoins au moins deux jours ouvrables avant la date fixée pour l'audience.

8. Un étudiant qui reconnaît l'exactitude de l'accusation peut renoncer à son droit d'être entendu en soumettant une déclaration écrite reconnaissant sa culpabilité et renonçant à son droit à une audience. Dans cette déclaration, l'étudiant peut soumettre des propositions concernant la sanction en donnant ses raisons.

9. Les audiences doivent suivre les normes de la justice naturelle. Seuls peuvent être présents les membres du comité, un secrétaire, le plaignant, l'accusé, le(s) conseiller(s) de chaque partie (qui peuvent être des avocats) et les témoins. Les témoins (sauf s'ils sont également partie) n'assisteront à l'audience que durant leur témoignage. Le comité a le droit d'accepter des exceptions à cette règle. Le comité doit s'assurer qu'un secrétaire prendra des notes pendant l'audience. Un procès verbal officiel de l'audience sera établi à partir de ces notes. Chaque partie peut, si elle le désire, faire prendre pour son propre usage un procès verbal de l'audience. Le président du comité a pleine autorité pour s'assurer que l'audience se déroule dans l'ordre et promptement. Toute personne qui perturbe l'audience, ou refuse d'obéir aux décisions du comité peut être expulsée de la salle d'audience.

10. Le comité doit considérer les faits et les circonstances de l'affaire et déterminer si l'accusé est innocent ou coupable. Un étudiant accusé d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire sera présumé innocent tant que le comité n'aura pas établi sa culpabilité sur la base de preuves claires et formelles. Si la culpabilité est établie, le comité doit recevoir des propositions de sanction et décider ensuite de la sanction à appliquer.

11. Si une partie ne se présente pas à l'audience après avoir été dûment informée de sa tenue, l'audience peut avoir lieu, une décision peut être prise et une sanction imposée, à moins que la partie absente ait pu établir auprès du comité, avant le début de l'audience, que des circonstances hors de son contrôle rendent sa présence impossible ou très difficile. Sauf dans le cas mentionné ci-dessus, aucune preuve ne pourra être présentée en dehors de la présence de l'étudiant.

13. Lorsqu'aucune des parties et aucun des témoins n'a plus de témoignage pertinent à présenter, chaque partie peut exposer sa plaidoirie finale. À la suite de ces plaidoiries les parties doivent se retirer. Le comité se réunit à huis clos et chaque membre doit se prononcer par vote sur l'innocence ou la culpabilité de l'étudiant. Un verdict de culpabilité est atteint à la majorité simple des votants.

14. Après un verdict de culpabilité, le comité doit permettre aux deux parties de présenter la sanction qu'elles proposent. Normalement, ce n'est qu'à ce stade de la procédure que le comité peut être informé de toute autre infraction enregistrée dans le dossier de l'étudiant. Le comité se réunit de nouveau à huis clos pour décider de la sanction à imposer. Comme il est indiqué dans la section E du Règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire, une motion imposant une sanction particulière peut être adoptée à la majorité simple. Tel qu'il est précisé en F. 8, la décision du comité doit être communiquée par écrit aux deux parties, et livrée en personne ou par courrier.

15. Si l'étudiant a été trouvé coupable d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire dans un travail effectué pour un projet de recherche subventionné, la vice-présidente aux études devra être informée et cette dernière, ou son délégué, devra déterminer si l'on doit informer l'agence qui a accordé la subvention.

F. Ordonnance d'une audience

L'ordre dans lequel un comité devrait procéder pour instruire une accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire est le suivant. Cet ordre peut être modifié par le comité pour toute raison d'équité.

1. Le président
  - (a) présente les deux parties aux membres du comité;
  - (b) identifie, pour les membres du comité, la nature de l'affaire et des preuves.
2. Le présentateur
  - (a) décrit brièvement l'affaire à instruire dans une déclaration préliminaire;
  - (b) présente les témoignages du plaignant et de ses témoins et les preuves matérielles à l'appui de l'accusation;
  - (c) Normalement les membres du comité posent des questions lorsque chaque personne a fini de déposer son témoignage, mais ils peuvent également interrompre un témoin pour clarifier un point;
  - (d) L'étudiant ou son représentant peut poser des questions à chaque témoin à la fin de leur déposition.
3. L'étudiant ou son représentant
  - (a) répond brièvement et indique dans une déclaration préliminaire ses principaux arguments;
  - (b) présente son témoignage et ceux de ses témoins ainsi que les preuves matérielles à l'appui de sa défense;

(c) Normalement les membres du comité posent des questions lorsque chaque personne a fini de déposer son témoignage, mais ils peuvent également interrompre un témoin pour clarifier un point;

(d) Le présentateur peut poser des questions à chaque témoin à la fin de leur déposition.

4. Le présentateur a le droit de présenter de nouveaux témoignages ou de nouvelles preuves pour répondre à de nouveaux éléments présentés par la défense qui n'avaient pas été cités dans la déclaration originale.

5. Le comité peut, à sa discrétion, à tout moment de la procédure, citer d'autres témoins ou demander la production d'autres preuves matérielles, ajourner l'audience après avoir autorisé les deux parties à se prononcer sur l'ajournement.

6. Après la présentation des preuves, les deux parties peuvent présenter une déclaration finale et résumer les points principaux de leur cause, mais ils ne peuvent introduire de nouvelles preuves ou de nouveaux arguments. L'étudiant reçoit la parole en premier, suivi par le présentateur.

7. Le comité se réunit à huis clos pour délibérer et prendre sa décision. Si l'étudiant est reconnu coupable, le comité entend la sanction proposée respectivement par chaque partie. Le comité se réunit de nouveau à huis clos et décide de la sanction à imposer.

8. La décision du comité, consignée par écrit, doit comprendre :

- (a) le nom des membres du comité et de toutes les personnes qui ont participé à l'audience;
- (b) le résumé de la cause présentée par chaque partie;
- (c) le jugement du comité, sa décision et les raisons à l'appui;
- (d) la procédure à suivre pour faire appel.

Pétitions et révision des notes

Directives pour l'examen des pétitions et appels par les comités de la faculté

Ces directives doivent sous-tendre les actions et les décisions des comités de la faculté et celles du personnel administratif concernant les pétitions et appels des étudiants. Elles ne sont pas là pour régir les décisions de la faculté en ces matières; la juridiction relative à la dispense des règlements universitaires, l'extension des directives et la révision d'un travail est clairement du ressort des facultés en tout premier lieu. Ces directives servent à conseiller les parties en cause dans leur travail afin de les aider à en arriver à des décisions équitables et uniformes dans toute l'Université. Il est clair que la nature (performance, professionnelle, supérieure) et la taille des diverses facultés rendent hautement improbable d'avoir des procédures et des démarches uniformes. Il y a cependant des domaines où l'on peut obtenir une plus grande cohérence dans les démarches des différentes facultés et c'est à cette fin que ces directives sont proposées.

1. Structure

Les facultés peuvent, et on les y encourage, avoir une structure en deux volets pour l'examen des pétitions : a) un comité des pétitions/vice-doyen et b) un processus administratif approuvé.

a) Comité des pétitions/vice-doyen : Comme toutes les facultés ont accepté d'examiner les demandes pour exception aux règlements universitaires, il y aura un comité ou un cadre supérieur de l'administration qui sera responsable d'examiner les pétitions et de prendre une décision sur la base des raisons et des documents justificatifs fournis par l'étudiant.

b) Pétitions approuvées par l'administration : Pour aider à contrebalancer le grand nombre de cas, les pétitions peuvent être soumises pour approbation par le préposé aux pétitions (ou son équivalent) et confirmées par le président du comité des pétitions (ou son désigné)<sup>1</sup>. En accord avec les règles générales pour accorder une pétition (décrites ci-dessous), le préposé aux pétitions identifiera les cas qui entrent clairement dans ces règles et les présentera comme telles au président pour confirmation. Tous les cas qui ne sont pas clairs et qui exigent de la discrétion seront envoyés pour décision au comité des pétitions.

Aucune pétition ne sera refusée par l'administration sur la base de ses mérites. La pétition des étudiants qui ne fournissent pas la documentation nécessaire requise par la faculté dans un délai spécifique ne sera pas examinée, et le préposé aux pétitions en informera l'étudiant par écrit.

1 À l'exception des pétitions pour éviter l'exclusion qui devraient être examinées par un comité.

2. Principes

a) Procédures : Chaque faculté devra avoir des règles de procédure écrites mises largement à la disposition des étudiants (p. ex., dans l'annuaire, sur le site de l'Université, au Bureau du registraire). Les procédures de la faculté relatives aux pétitions et appels doivent être compatibles avec les directives du Sénat.

b) Dates limites : La politique approuvée par le Sénat sur la date limite pour soumettre une pétition pour abandon tardif stipule que « Normalement, les pétitions pour abandon tardif d'un cours seront seulement examinées si elles sont soumises dans les 30 jours après la dernière journée des classes (du cours en question). Ces pétitions peuvent être examinées pendant une période d'une année au plus si elles sont basées sur des circonstances spéciales. » La politique du Sénat sur la date limite pour les demandes de cote différée est que « Normalement, les demandes de cote différée doivent être communiquées dans la semaine qui suit un examen manqué ou le dernier jour pour soumettre le travail du cours. » La période où l'Université est officiellement fermée pour les vacances de décembre ou les jours fériés pendant l'année ne compte pas dans la détermination des dates limites.

c) Représentation : Les appelants ont le droit d'avoir un représentant qui aide à préparer les soumissions écrites et, s'ils ont le droit d'apparaître devant un comité, peut les représenter à la séance.

d) Juridiction : Les étudiants peuvent pétitionner tous les sujets à leur faculté d'origine à l'exception des révisions de notes qui sont examinées par le département/la faculté offrant le cours. Autrement, les facultés examineront les demandes d'exception à tous les règlements universitaires.

e) Partialité : Tout membre d'un comité de pétitions ou d'appel ou toute personne examinant une pétition qui manque de neutralité sur la question à décider doit se retirer du cas. Une apparence de partialité ou une crainte de partialité est aussi suffisante pour disqualifier une telle personne.

f) Apparences : Les étudiants et/ou leurs représentants ne peuvent apparaître devant un comité qu'à la discrétion ou sur invitation du comité.

g) Anonymat : Les demandes d'anonymat par les étudiants dans le processus de pétition doivent être respectées. Cependant, les étudiants ayant la possibilité d'apparaître devant un comité devront décider s'ils désirent renoncer à l'anonymat. Dans ce processus, la confidentialité sera toujours maintenue.

h) Décisions : Pour aider à remplir les exigences de la justice naturelle et de l'équité dans les processus juridictionnels, les comités de pétitions et appels et les administrateurs qui rendent une décision sur les pétitions doivent donner par écrit les raisons de leur décision. Sans ces raisons, la partie en cause peut se demander pourquoi une décision négative a été prise et ne pas être capable de décider de faire appel ou non. De la même façon, un comité suivant ou une cour de révision peut avoir de la difficulté à comprendre la justification d'une décision rendue sans en donner les raisons et tirer des inférences négatives à l'encontre du comité initial pour les avoir omises.

i) Appels : La voie d'appel pour les étudiants devra être incluse dans la décision écrite.

Principes touchant à la révision des notes

1. Les étudiants peuvent, s'ils ont des motifs suffisants sur le plan scolaire, demander la révision d'une dernière note dans un cours (ce qui peut signifier de revoir des parties spécifiques du travail accompli). Les motifs autres que scolaires ne sont pas valables pour la révision des notes; dans ces cas-là, on conseille aux étudiants de présenter leur pétition à leur faculté d'origine. Normalement, on s'attend à ce que les étudiants contactent en premier le professeur du cours pour discuter de la note reçue et demander que le travail effectué soit revu. Le travail effectué peut inclure du travail écrit, graphique, numérisé, sous forme de maquette, d'enregistrement vidéo ou audio, but pas de travail oral.

Les étudiants doivent être conscients qu'une demande de révision de note peut avoir comme résultat que la note originale soit augmentée, diminuée ou confirmée.

2. Dans le cas où les étudiants ne sont toujours pas satisfaits de leur dernière note OU si le chargé de cours n'est pas disponible pour revoir le travail, ils peuvent soumettre, par écrit, une demande officielle de révision de note au département ou à l'unité où le cours est offert*. La date limite approuvée par le Sénat pour soumettre une demande de révision des notes est dans les trois semaines qui suivent la diffusion des derniers relevés de notes de chaque trimestre. Une certaine discrétion est allouée pour les retards mineurs à respecter la date limite provoqués par la lenteur du système postal ou des circonstances extraordinaires.

- pour Osgoode, Schulich, et la Faculté d'éducation les demandes de révision sont soumises au bureau du vice-doyen approprié.
3. Si les conditions sont satisfaites sur le plan des motifs scolaires, le comité du département en question, le directeur du département, le vice-doyen ou le directeur du programme de troisième cycle ou de premier cycle aura la responsabilité de s'assurer que le travail est révisé par un membre approprié du corps professoral, que l'anonymat de l'étudiant et celui du réviseur est respecté, et que le résultat de la révision (y compris les commentaires du réviseur) et la voie d'appel soient communiqués à l'étudiant et au chargé de cours. Le réviseur devra obtenir la nature du travail demandé et la justification de la note originale. On s'attend à ce que tous les efforts soient faits pour rendre la décision dans les 30 jours après réception du travail par le réviseur.

4. Les participants peuvent faire appel d'une décision négative sur une demande de révision des notes, ou le résultat de la révision elle-même à un comité d'appel au niveau de la faculté où le cours est offert (ou, dans le cas de la Faculté des études supérieures, au doyen) seulement sur la base d'un vice de procédure. Les vices de procédure sont définis comme tels :

- actions prises ou non par un département, une faculté, le programme d'études supérieures, ses administrateurs, comités, ou ses membres à l'égard de la disposition du cas qui viole ou annule un ou tous les aspects suivants :
  - a) les procédures normales et écrites de l'Université, de la faculté, du programme d'études supérieures ou du département concerné;
  - b) l'uniformité dans le traitement des cas largement semblables au cas en appel de la part de la faculté, du programme d'études supérieures ou du département;
  - c) les principes d'équité, de justice naturelle ou d'impartialité, qu'un manquement ait eu lieu ou non en accord avec les procédures écrites ou habituelles. Les appels basés sur l'allégation de ces derniers vices de procédure devraient alléguer et démontrer les préjugés évidents ou autre inconduite de la part des administrateurs ou agents de l'Université et pour lesquels des mesures de réparation n'ont pas été prises par une autorité ayant examiné le cas avant l'appel.

question précédemment. Ainsi qu'il est expliqué dans les procédures de CAS, les parties peuvent apparaître devant le comité si la permission d'appel est accordée pour présenter oralement leurs soumissions sur la base de vices de procédure. La décision du comité sera prise à huis clos et on s'attend à ce que les parties soient informées de la décision, par écrit, dans les 30 jours suivant le dépôt de la demande.

Entente sur la cote différée

L'Entente sur la cote différée est un processus par lequel les étudiants qui ne sont pas capables d'écrire leur dernier examen à la date fixée ou de soumettre le travail du trimestre avant la date limite fixée par la faculté pour donner les dernières notes parviennent à un accord avec le chargé de cours pour obtenir la cote différée dans le cours et fixer une date pour l'examen ou la soumission du travail en suspens. C'est la responsabilité de l'étudiant, utilisant le formulaire prévu à cet effet, de faire le nécessaire auprès du chargé de cours pour terminer le cours et faire parvenir le formulaire au bureau de l'unité ou du département approprié à la date limite mentionnée sur le formulaire. Les chargés de cours peuvent refuser d'examiner les demandes de cote différée; dans ce cas, les étudiants doivent soumettre, dans la date limite établie, une pétition auprès du comité de la faculté approprié pour examen.

Les responsabilités des étudiants dans les processus de pétition et d'appel

Par l'intermédiaire de ses corps législatifs, l'Université a établi des règlements, procédures et dates limites auxquels les étudiants doivent adhérer. Les étudiants doivent surveiller leurs progrès dans les cours, en tenant compte de leurs circonstances personnelles et scolaires, et faire les changements nécessaires pour remettre le travail et respecter les dates limites. L'Université reconnaît cependant que des circonstances particulières peuvent justifier une dispense aux règlements, exigences, dates limites sur une base individuelle. Les demandes pour dispenser d'un règlement, d'une exigence ou d'une date limite sont initiées par une pétition.

Les étudiants optant pour lancer une pétition sont assurés que la confidentialité est une caractéristique de ce processus et que les renseignements fournis pour appuyer leur pétition ou appel ne seront utilisés pour aucun autre motif.

Alors que c'est la responsabilité de l'Université de fournir aux étudiants les renseignements, l'orientation et les conseils nécessaires, il est de la responsabilité des étudiants de :

- connaître et respecter tous les règlements, exigences et dates limites publiées de la faculté ou du programme ;
- se familiariser avec les procédures écrites de pétition ou d'appel de leur faculté et faire leur demande en temps voulu ;
- fournir toute la documentation nécessaire pour appuyer leur pétition ou leur appel et le faire en temps voulu ;
- indiquer et documenter toutes les circonstances pertinentes lorsqu'ils soumettent leur pétition en premier lieu.

Les responsabilités de l'Université dans les processus de pétition et d'appel

Juste comme les étudiants soumettant des pétitions ou appels ont la responsabilité de satisfaire aux exigences du processus, l'Université a la responsabilité de l'administrer.

Personnel non enseignant :

Il est de la responsabilité des membres du personnel non enseignant de :

- conseiller et guider les étudiants en ce qui concerne les options, les dates limites, la documentation nécessaire et les voies d'appel par le moyen d'une annonce écrite, du site Web de l'Université, des rendez-vous personnels ou de la communication par téléphone ;
- diriger les étudiants vers le bureau approprié pour des renseignements sur les pétitions et appels ;
- s'occuper des pétitions et appels de façon efficace pour éviter les retards injustifiés ;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Membres du corps enseignant :

Il est de la responsabilité du corps enseignant de :

- répondre aux demandes de renseignements des étudiants et du personnel non-enseignant en temps voulu ;
- aider à diriger les étudiants vers le bureau approprié pour des renseignements sur les pétitions et appels ;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Comités et préposés aux pétitions et appels :

Il est de la responsabilité des comités et préposés aux pétitions et appels de :

- s'assurer que les parties reçoivent un traitement équitable, uniforme et respectueux de l'éthique ;
- accorder une attention approfondie et sérieuse à toutes les demandes ;
- rendre les décisions seulement après un examen consciencieux ;
- fournir aux parties les raisons des décisions prises ;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Politique relative aux feuilles de notes des professeurs

Après avoir donné les dernières notes pour un cours de chaque trimestre, le professeur a la responsabilité de soumettre à l'unité offrant le cours, les feuilles de notes (copie papier ou électronique) contenant les notes des étudiants pour chaque composante notée du cours, la pondération en pourcentage de chaque composante et le relevé des présences des étudiants quand c'est nécessaire pour établir une note de participation. Les feuilles de notes doivent être gardées dans un bureau désigné de l'unité pour au moins une année.

Justification :

Beaucoup de chargés de cours à l'Université sont des professeurs à temps partiel et ainsi ne sont pas toujours disponibles pour les étudiants lorsque le cours est terminé. De plus, un grand nombre de professeurs à temps plein n'enseignent pas durant la session d'été et ne sont pas requis d'être sur le campus pendant cette période. Pourtant, la plupart des pétitions et demandes de révision des notes sont lancées par les étudiants pendant les mois d'été, et il leur est souvent difficile d'obtenir les renseignements voulus de leur professeur. De plus, le comité propose un processus pour les demandes d'examen de cote différée (nouveau pour certaines facultés) dans lequel les professeurs, ou en leur absence le vice-doyen ou le directeur du programme de premier cycle peuvent traiter directement avec les étudiants pour prendre une décision. Dans ce processus en particulier, il est crucial qu'en l'absence du professeur, tous les renseignements nécessaires pour aboutir à une décision sur la demande soient à la disposition de l'un ou l'autre des deux autres administrateurs. Avoir la feuille de notes de chaque cours dans les dossiers facilitera énormément les processus de pétitions et de cotes différées, et soulagera la tâche de rechercher les renseignements nécessaires, tâche qui prend beaucoup de temps et qui est exécutée actuellement par les étudiants, les vice-doyens et les directeurs du programme de premier cycle.

Directive du Sénat sur le Jour du souvenir pour les femmes

Le sénat a approuvé, en mai 1998, une directive pour la commémoration du Jour du souvenir pour les femmes.

La directive encourage l'administration à faciliter, par l'intermédiaire de la conseillère auprès de l'Université sur la situation des femmes, la préparation et le financement d'activités reliées au Jour du souvenir pour les femmes.

La directive du Sénat encourage également les professeurs à marquer dans leurs cours le Jour du souvenir pour les femmes en présentant à leurs étudiants certaines questions auxquelles font face les femmes et notamment les questions de violence faites aux femmes. L'administration est invitée à soutenir l'organisation d'ateliers destinés à aider les professeurs à se préparer pour cette journée.

D'autres renseignements sur cette directive sont publiés dans les annuaires et les horaires des cours des facultés. Les diverses activités organisées dans le cadre de cette Journée du souvenir pour les femmes seront annoncées à l'avance dans l'Université.

Règlement du Sénat concernant les conséquences pour les études des perturbations ou interruptions des activités de l'Université par des conflits de travail ou par d'autres causes

Le Sénat de l'Université a adopté des règlements qui s'appliquent dans le cas où les activités universitaires seraient sérieusement perturbées ou arrêtées à la suite de grèves, lock-out, manifestations, désastres naturels ou d'autres causes. Ces règlements comprennent trois grands principes, présentés ci-dessous. Pour tout renseignement supplémentaire, s'adresser au Secrétariat de l'Université (www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/senate/index.htm).

A. Intégrité des études

Dans tous les cas de perturbations, il incombe au Sénat de maintenir l'intégrité de tous les programmes d'études. Il convient de ne pas abaisser ni modifier les normes de travail normalement appliquées aux étudiants et de réduire aussi peu que possible le soutien pédagogique qui leur est normalement offert.

B. Équité envers les étudiants

Les étudiants qui ne participent pas aux activités d'études parce que (a) ils sont dans l'impossibilité de le faire en raison de toute perturbation des cours ou parce que (b) ils choisissent de ne pas y participer en raison d'une grève ou d'un lock-out sur le campus, ne peuvent pas être pénalisés. Ils devront pouvoir avoir accès, dans la mesure du possible, aux matières étudiées en leur absence, bénéficier d'un délai suffisant pour la remise d'un travail et de toute autre mesure jugée raisonnable par le Sénat et qui respecte les principes fondamentaux de l'intégrité des études. Ces mesures prises en raison des perturbations des activités d'études ne doivent pas abaisser les normes universitaires et les étudiants ne sont pas pour autant dispensés de l'obligation d'acquiescer les connaissances prévues. Les mesures spéciales prévues par ce règlement ne permettent pas de garantir aux étudiants le même type d'apprentissage qu'ils auraient reçu s'il n'y avait pas eu de perturbation des études.

C. Accès aux renseignements

Tous les membres de l'Université, étudiants, membres du personnel et professeurs ont le droit d'être informés rapidement des changements apportés aux exigences et dates limites, du report des cours et autres activités, qui entreront en vigueur à la fin des perturbations.

Bachelor of Arts Degree

The Faculty of Arts offers programs of study leading to the Honours BA degree (120 credits) and the BA degree (90 credits). Students may proceed toward a degree at their own pace, and select courses from a wide variety of areas within the Faculty of Arts as well as from the offerings of other Faculties.

The curriculum is designed to provide an education in the liberal arts; to foster students' abilities to read, write, speak, and think critically; and to prepare students for post-graduate studies. To these ends, the curriculum includes both a general education component and more specialized fields of concentration, both disciplinary and interdisciplinary.

Fields of Concentration

The liberal arts have traditionally been organized into clearly defined disciplines, each with its own specialized subject matter and techniques, and each taught by a single department. The Faculty of Arts has developed undergraduate programs in a wide range of these disciplines, most of which can later be pursued in York's Faculty of Graduate Studies. The Faculty also recognizes the need for cooperation and cross-fertilization among different subjects and methods, and accordingly offers a number of programs in interdisciplinary studies, which draw on the resources of several departments. Interdisciplinary programs are available in a range of degree structures, some offering independent degrees, others linked to major programs in disciplines. For details on disciplinary and interdisciplinary programs, consult the Programs of Study section.

Academic Advising and Student Responsibility

The information contained in this Calendar and other publications is designed to be self-explanatory. The Faculty recognizes, however, there may be specific questions about regulations which are not answered here. Those questions should be addressed to one of the following sources of information listed below.

The Registrar's Office

The office which administers most of the academic regulations contained in the Faculty of Arts section of this Calendar is the Registrar's Office, 416-736-5440, <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca>. This office provides a wide range of administrative services to students, staff and faculty members. Among its functions are:

- performing general registrarial functions relating to enrolment and record keeping;
- applying the Faculty's rules on academic standing, including eligibility to graduate;
- reporting final grades to students; producing official University transcripts;
- advising students about petitions and receiving petitions for exemptions from academic regulations.

Advising

The Faculty of Arts considers academic advising an important responsibility. The term academic advising covers a number of complementary functions related to assisting students:

- select majors and courses;
- ascertain whether they are meeting the Faculty's academic regulations;

- plan for their academic future both before and after graduation;
- and generally make the most of their talents and interests.

These functions may vary in their significance to students at different times of the academic year and at different points in a student's academic career. Other kinds of advising and counselling services are offered by offices such as the Career Centre, the Counselling and Development Centre, and the Office of Student Affairs.

Advising students is a shared responsibility of the departments, divisions and programs of the Faculty, the Faculty-affiliated colleges, and the Advising Centre. Students should contact these offices throughout the year for advice and information related to their academic career including academic performance, degree programs and requirements.

Student Responsibilities

Every effort is made to ensure that students in the Faculty of Arts have access to sound information and individual advice and guidance. Within this context, and within the framework of Faculty and program regulations, students are responsible for making their own choices regarding courses and programs. Students should take special care to:

- ensure the courses they choose meet all requirements for graduation;
- ensure the courses they choose meet prerequisites and are not exclusions or equivalents of other courses already taken;
- ensure the times of the courses they choose do not conflict;
- ensure the accuracy of their registration records, including all changes;
- note and observe deadlines and procedures, especially deadlines for adding and dropping courses;
- ensure full documentation is provided in support of petitions and other requests for special consideration;
- keep themselves informed about their academic progress, including their performance in individual courses. It is incumbent on faculty members to make available to their students assessments of their work and, if requested, to discuss students' progress with them. By the first week of classes in the second term, in each six- and nine-credit course, all first year students must receive back at least one piece of letter-graded work. Instructors in six- and nine-credit courses are required to supply, on request and on reasonable notice, a mid-year letter grade to any first-year student before the end of January, based on the whole of the first term gradable work.

Policy on Personal Relationships Between Instructors and Students

It is the policy of York University to endeavour to create and maintain a learning environment characterized by equitable conditions for all students. In order to further that goal and to ensure the continuing integrity of academic standards, it is expected that instructors who have a close personal relationship with a student who desires to enrol in their course will, in consultation with their Chair and/or dean (or designate), make appropriate alternative arrangements for the evaluation of that student. If no appropriate alternative arrangements for evaluation can be agreed upon, the student may not enrol in the course.

Without limiting the generality of the relationships in question, these include the following: (a) where the instructor is the parent (or child) of the student; (b) where the instructor is the spouse or spousal equivalent of the student. Should a relationship such as the one described in (b) arise during the course and before completion of evaluation of the student, the instructor shall consult with the Chair and/or dean (or designate) as to an appropriate evaluation procedure.

It is incumbent upon the instructor to exercise professional responsibility and to declare a potential or apparent conflict of interest where it exists. If the instructor fails to do so, the Chair and/or dean (or designate) shall make the appropriate alternative arrangements for the evaluation of the student.

Students Pursuing a Bachelor of Arts (BA) Degree in the Faculty of Arts

Candidates for a First Degree

Most students in the Faculty are studying for their first undergraduate degree, an Honours bachelor of arts (BA) degree or a bachelor of arts (BA) degree.

Candidates for Reclassifying a BA Degree as an Honours BA Degree

Students who have graduated with a BA degree from the Faculty of Arts and have maintained the minimum honours standing in 90 credits, may take additional courses in order to obtain an Honours BA degree in the same subject. The same subject may be combined with a second major or minor. If they are successful, their BA degree is reclassified as an Honours BA degree. Applications may be obtained from Student Client Services or from the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca>, then click Current Students).

Candidates for Second and Subsequent Degrees

Students who hold a first bachelor of arts (BA) degree from an accredited institution, and who are admissible according to Faculty and University policies, may pursue a second (or subsequent) degree program in the Faculty of Arts.

Eligibility for admission and standing will be assessed according to performance in the first degree. Students will be assessed as eligible for an Honours BA if they have a 5.0 (C+) cumulative grade point average on all courses completed for the first degree, including failed courses. Students who are eligible for an Honours BA program will be enrolled in Honours, but may elect to graduate with a BA degree. Students admitted to an Honours BA or BA program will be granted transfer credit in accordance with the University's residence/in-Faculty requirement. Under certain circumstances, students admitted to a BA degree program may qualify to proceed in an Honours BA, however, the transfer credit granted upon admission will not be amended.

All second (and subsequent) degree candidates must meet the residence/in-Faculty requirements for their program, and must satisfy all upper-level requirements and requirements in the major/minor subject(s). Grade point averages are calculated for students in second (or subsequent) degree programs only on the courses taken for that degree, and not on courses taken to satisfy requirements for the first degree.

For further details, students should consult the Faculty of Arts Advising Centre or the Admissions Office, <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>.

Students Not Pursuing a Bachelor of Arts (BA) Degree in the Faculty of Arts

Visiting Students

Visiting students already hold an undergraduate degree, or are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take Faculty of Arts courses on a letter of permission issued by their home institution. More information is available from the Admissions Office or the Web site <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>.

Auditors

Auditors attend classes and participate in a course in the same way as other students, but do not submit assignments or write tests or examinations. Students registered for a degree at York University may audit a course in the Faculty of Arts provided they obtain the permission of the course director. Persons from outside the University may request permission to audit up to 18 credits. Further information about admissibility, application procedures, available courses and fees may be obtained from Student Client Services.

Course Loads

The following course loads apply to students in the Faculty of Arts. In certain circumstances the Faculty may set other limits.

Fall/Winter Session

The normal course load for students in the fall/winter session is 30 credits. Students with substantial familial or financial responsibilities outside the University are advised to consider taking fewer courses in a session. Students may take a maximum of 36 credits overall (and 18 credits per term) without petitioning.

Summer Session

During the summer session, students may take a maximum of 15 credits. Within this limit, no more than six credits may be taken during one six-week term. Students with substantial familial or financial responsibilities outside the University are advised to consider taking fewer courses in a session.

Residence Requirement and In-Faculty Courses

While allowing students to take a certain number of courses at other universities and in other Faculties of York University, in order to meet the residence requirement, the Faculty of Arts requires that students complete a portion of their courses as follows:

- At least 30 credits must be taken at York University;
- At least half (50 per cent) of the requirements in each arts major/minor must be taken in the Faculty of Arts.

In addition, any departmental/divisional requirements for the major/minor must be satisfied.

Note: Courses taken to satisfy (b) will also satisfy (a). In some cases, satisfying (b) will automatically satisfy (a). In-Faculty courses are defined as those with an "AS" prefix.

Coregistration in the Faculty of Education:

Students enrolled in the Faculty of Arts may apply for admission to the Pre-Service Program of the Faculty of Education. If they are accepted, they may coregister in the Faculty of Education and upon successful completion of the separate degree requirements of both Faculties will be awarded two degrees: Honours bachelor of arts (BA) and a bachelor of education (BEd) or bachelor of arts (BA) and bachelor of education (BED).

Although the arts and education courses are taken concurrently, they are counted separately by each Faculty. Grade point averages for courses in the two Faculties are also calculated separately. Thus, the 30 credits required for the BEd are independent of the 120 credits required for the Honours BA, or the 90 credits required for the BA. Therefore, a student completing the requirements for both degrees would complete a total of 150 credits for the Honours BA/BEd or 120 credits for the BA/BEd.

Credit for Education Courses:

Faculty of Arts students who are coregistered in the Faculty of Education may count education courses taken beyond the requirements for the BEd for credit towards the Honours BA or BA as out-of-Faculty courses.

Faculty of Arts students who are not coregistered in the Faculty of Education may receive arts degree credit for non-practicum courses in accordance with the Faculty of Arts regulations on residence requirement/in-Faculty courses.

Honours Programs Jointly with the Faculty of Environmental Studies:

Students in the Faculty of Arts may pursue an Honours Double Major or Honours Minor program with the Faculty of Environmental Studies, subject to the following regulations:

- Students must maintain Honours standing, a cumulative grade point average of 5.0 (C+) or above over all courses including those in environmental studies;
- Faculty of Arts degree requirements and program regulations apply.

Major in Environmental Studies

- 42 credits in environmental studies, including: ES/ENVS 1000 6.00, 12 credits in the environmental studies foundations series at the 2000 level chosen from ES/ENVS 2100 6.00, ES/ENVS 2200 6.00, ES/ENVS 2300 6.00, or ES/ENVS 2400 6.00, ES/ENVS 3009 3.00 or ES/ENVS 3010 3.00, nine additional credits at the 3000 level, and 12 credits at the 4000 level. (36 credits for the major in environmental studies if combined with the Interdisciplinary Program in Science and Society in the Faculty of Arts).

Minor in Environmental Studies

- 30 credits in environmental studies, including: ES/ENVS 1000 6.00, 12 credits in the environmental studies foundation series at the 2000 level chosen from ES/ENVS 2100 6.00, ES/ENVS 2200 6.00, ES/ENVS 2300 6.00, or ES/ENVS 2400 6.00, six credits at the 3000 level or higher, and six credits at the 4000 level.

For details about degree requirements in environmental studies, students should consult the Faculty of Environmental Studies.

The Interdisciplinary Program in Science and Society may be pursued as an Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA Program with Environmental Studies. Consult the Advising Centre, Faculty of Arts or the Science and Society program coordinator for more information.

Students should note that in order to complete the requirements of the Honours Double Major or Honours Minor programs, it may be necessary to successfully complete more than 120 credits.

Students pursuing an Honours Double Major program should note that, in some cases, it may be necessary to successfully complete more than 120 credits in order to satisfy requirements. For further details, consult the Advising Centre, Faculty of Arts.

For further details, consult the Advising Centre, Faculty of Arts.

Students in the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science may also pursue an Honours Double Major or Honours Minor program with the Faculty of Arts. For more information, contact the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science.

Letters of Permission

Letters of permission allow Faculty of Arts students to receive credit at York for courses taken at other universities. In order to receive credit for such courses, a letter of permission must be obtained prior to enrolling. Application forms for letters of permission are available at Student Client Services or from the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca>, then click Current Students).

Courses which students propose to take on a letter of permission must be acceptable to the Faculty of Arts teaching unit best able to judge their academic merit. The Faculty is under no obligation to accept courses taken without its permission.

Students must be in good academic standing to be eligible for a letter of permission; students under academic warning, debarment warning, or academic probation are not eligible.

In order to receive credit for courses taken on a letter of permission, students must arrange for the host institution to submit an official transcript to the Registrar's Office. A minimum grade of C as understood in the Faculty of Arts is required for credit to be granted. Grades earned in courses taken at other postsecondary institutions are not part of the student's York transcript and are not incorporated into the student's grade point average in the Faculty of Arts.

Several formal programs exist for students to pursue study at universities in other countries. Where formal programs do not exist, and academic and personal circumstances warrant, individual arrangements may be made. For further information contact York International.

Should a student leave York University to pursue study at another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission, upon return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Summer Courses

Courses Taken at York University:

The Faculty of Arts offers a limited number of courses in the summer. Courses are also offered in Italy by the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics. In addition, independent study, directed reading and thesis courses are offered by some departments. Students interested in arranging such courses should inquire at the relevant department/division.

Atkinson offers courses which may be taken for degree and major credit by Faculty of Arts students. Individual programs may place restrictions on the number and nature of summer courses taken for program credit. Students are responsible for ensuring that any summer courses taken conform to the Faculty of Arts regulations on residence requirement/in-Faculty courses; and that they fulfill major, minor and Faculty-wide requirements; and do not violate regulations relating to prerequisites, corequisites, and equivalent and excluded courses.

Courses Taken at Other Universities:

Faculty of Arts students who wish to receive credit for courses taken at other universities must obtain a letter of permission from Student Client Services or the Current Students Web site, prior to enrolling in these courses.

Should a student leave York University to pursue study at another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission, upon return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be re-assessed.

Independent Reading Courses

Students may wish to pursue intensive work with a particular faculty member on a topic of study not offered in a particular academic session. The Faculty of Arts provides for such independent reading courses which are subject to the guidelines of the departments and divisions, and to the following regulations:

- Students may take independent reading courses only after having successfully completed 24 credits in the Faculty of Arts.
- The maximum permissible number of independent reading courses depends on a student's program type. Students in Honours BA programs may take 24 such credits; students in a BA program may take 18 such credits.
- Within their last 30 credits, students may take a maximum of 12 credits in independent reading courses.
- Students may take a maximum of 12 credits of independent reading courses with the same faculty member.
- The student and the faculty member must agree on a written description of the course, its content, and its method of evaluation at the time of enrolment in the course, and submit this description for approval according to the requirements of the unit teaching the course. Copies must be deposited with that unit, and the student and faculty member should each retain a copy.

Degree Requirements

Degree requirements in the Faculty of Arts refer to the following categories of courses.

General Education Courses

The Faculty believes that students will benefit from taking courses which provide a broad interdisciplinary perspective, in addition to courses which focus on a specific subject. The required interdisciplinary courses, called general education courses, are offered by three academic units, the divisions of Humanities, Natural Science and Social Science.

The Faculty of Arts foundations courses are part of the general education requirement and are affiliated with the appropriate Faculty of Arts colleges. These courses emphasize critical skills, especially writing, and provide a supportive learning environment. The connection to one of the Faculty of Arts colleges—Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, Stong or Vanier—enables students to participate more fully in college life and co-curricular events.

Faculty of Arts foundations courses are 1000- and 2000-level nine-credit courses offered by the Division of Humanities and Division of Social Science. Students may complete a maximum of three nine-credit foundations courses for degree credit. Students who need to complete more than three foundations courses in order to fulfill program (major or minor) course requirements may do so with permission of the relevant program coordinator or undergraduate director.

Major and Minor Courses

In addition to taking courses which contribute to their broad knowledge, students are required to specialize in a specific subject or combination of subjects. The area of primary concentration is known as the major; an area of secondary concentration (if any) is known as the minor. In a double major program, a course may count for major credit towards only one major. In a major/minor program, a course may count only for major credit or for minor credit.

Students may choose to major or minor in a specific subject when they enter the University; or they may wait until they have completed up to 24 credits. At this point, students must choose a major and possibly a minor, but subsequent changes are possible. In selecting courses, students who are undecided should try to take introductory courses in a number of potential major subjects. This will allow them to proceed in their subject(s) of choice without the possibility of a delay.

Elective Courses

Electives are courses which are intended to broaden the educational experience of students beyond their area of specialization. Electives include most courses which are not used to fulfill the general education requirements or major/minor requirements.

Courses not considered to be electives are:

- Major/minor courses taken above the required number;
- Non-major/minor courses taken within the major/minor subject (e.g. AS/FR 1020 6.00 is a non-major French course);
- Courses outside the major/minor taken to fulfill major/minor requirements (e.g. AS/COSC 1520 3.00 and AS/COSC 1530 3.00 are mathematics for commerce requirements);
- Courses which are cross-listed or designated as equivalents or exclusions to courses offered by the major/minor program (e.g. AS/MATH 1530 3.00 is cross-listed to AS/ECON 1530 3.00).

Upper-level Courses

The Faculty also considers it good educational practice to ensure that students take a number of courses at the 3000 level and/or 4000 level. (A course's level is indicated by the first digit of its number.)

In-Faculty Courses

In-Faculty courses are courses offered by the Faculty of Arts as indicated by the Faculty prefix "AS."

Program Types

The Faculty of Arts offers the following types of programs:

Honours BA Programs

These are 120 credit programs. They require more specialization, a higher minimum performance, and in some cases, different courses than the BA program. There are four kinds of Honours BA programs.

Specialized Honours BA Program

This is the most highly specialized program type in the Faculty of Arts. Students in a Specialized Honours program must complete a minimum of

Honours BA Program

Students in an Honours single major program have one major subject in which they must complete a minimum of 42 credits. Some programs require more than 42 credits in the major subject for the Honours single major BA. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section.

Honours Double Major BA Program

Honours Double Major programs involve two areas of primary specialization. There are two types of Honours Double Major programs:

- Unlinked: Most double major programs involve two independent subjects of concentration such as history and English. The two majors are considered to be unlinked. Students must usually complete a minimum of 42 credits in each major. Some programs require more than 42 credits in each major subject for the Honours Double Major BA. In a double major program, a course may count for major credit towards only one major. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section.
- Linked: Certain interdisciplinary majors (for example, law and society) must be taken in conjunction with other specified majors. The two majors, in these cases, are considered to be linked. Students must complete a minimum of 36 credits in each major. Some programs require more than 36 credits in each major subject for the Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA. In a double major interdisciplinary program, a course may count for major credit towards only one major. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section.

Students may also combine any Honours major in the Faculty of Arts with an Honours major in the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts or Pure and Applied Science.

Note: The following Faculty of Arts Honours major programs of study may not be pursued jointly as an Honours Double Major with the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science—computer science, geography, information technology, kinesiology, mathematics and psychology.

Students taking an Honours major in anthropology in the Faculty of Arts may pursue an Honours Double Major program with music (ethnomusicology) in the Faculty of Fine Arts.

Honours Major/Minor BA Program

Students in this type of program have one major subject in which they must complete a minimum of 42 credits. In addition to the major, they have an area of secondary specialization, known as a minor, in which they must complete a minimum of 30 credits. Some programs require more than 30 credits in the minor subject for the Honours Major/Minor BA. In a major/minor program, a course may count only for major credit or for minor credit. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section.

Students may also combine any Honours major in the Faculty of Arts with an Honours minor in the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, or Pure and Applied Science.

BA Program

This is a 90-credit program which requires some specialization, a minimum of 30 credits, in a single area of concentration (major), as well as more general courses. Some programs require more than 30 credits in the major subject for the BA. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section.

Designation of Honours BA or BA Program

Automatic Honours BA Designation

Students are automatically considered to be in an Honours BA program provided they achieve and maintain a cumulative grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+).

Automatic BA Designation

Students are automatically considered to be in a BA program if they fail to achieve or maintain the cumulative grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) required for an Honours BA program.

Option to Graduate with a BA Degree

Students registered in an Honours BA degree may opt to graduate with a BA degree if they fulfill program requirements. Students who wish to take advantage of this option should complete the relevant form at Student Client Services by January 31 for graduation the following spring, or by July 31 for graduation the following fall.

General Education Requirements

Students will select their general education requirements in accordance with the following:

1. One 1000-level nine-credit foundations course, in either the Division of Humanities or the Division of Social Science—to be successfully completed within the first 24 credits;
2. One 1000-level six-credit course in the Division of Natural Science or in the Department of Biology, Chemistry, Earth and Atmospheric Science, or Physics—to be successfully completed prior to graduation, and preferably within the first 42 credits;

One 2000-level nine-credit foundations course, in either the Division of Humanities or the Division of Social Science. If the 1000-level nine-credit foundations course is taken in the Division of Humanities, then the 2000-level nine-credit foundations course must be taken in the Division of Social Science (and vice versa)—to be successfully completed within the first 48 credits.

Students may complete a maximum of three nine-credit foundations courses for degree credit. Students who need to complete more than three foundations courses in order to fulfill program (major or minor) course requirements may do so with permission of the relevant program coordinator or undergraduate director.

Breadth Requirement

The breadth requirement will be satisfied by successfully completing the general education/foundations courses described above (breadth requirement is described below).

The breadth requirement must be successfully completed before graduation and requires at least six credits from each of the following two areas:

Area I: English, French studies, history, humanities, languages, literatures and linguistics, philosophy, writing.

Area II: Anthropology, criminology, economics, geography, political science, psychology, social science, sociology.

Requirements by Program Type

The following requirements apply to all Faculty of Arts students. Each program of study (major or minor) may stipulate additional requirements. For details of individual programs, see the Programs of Study section. Also consult the section on “Academic Standing”.

Grading System

Refer to Grades and Grading Schemes within the Academic Information section of this Calendar.

Passed Courses

A passed course is one in which the student has achieved a grade of D or better. A student who has received a passing grade for a course may not repeat that course or take an equivalent or excluded course for degree credit.

However, students are allowed to retake a passed course once for academic degree or certificate credit only if the student has failed to achieve sufficient standing to proceed in a core or prerequisite course in a degree or certificate program, and if no alternative remedies are provided. When a student is allowed to repeat a passed course for academic degree or certificate credit, the second grade will be the grade of record and the only grade calculated in the student's grade point average (major, cumulative, sessional, and overall). A course can be credited only once towards satisfaction of academic degree or certificate credit requirements. The record of both the first and second time the course was taken will appear on the student's transcript, with the first course designated as "No Credit Retained".

Failed Courses

There are two failing grades in the Faculty of Arts—E (marginal failure) and F (failure). Grades of E and F are calculated into grade point averages. Students who have failed a course may retake the failed course or its equivalent/exclusion once for academic degree or certificate credit. Where a student retakes a course in which a grade of E or F is received, the second grade will be the grade of record and the only grade calculated in the student's grade point average (major, cumulative, sessional, and overall). The record of both the first and second time the course was taken will appear on the student's transcript, with the first course designated as "No Credit Retained".

Grades from Other Universities

Grades for courses taken at other universities either prior to admission to York or on a York letter of permission are not listed on the York transcript and are not included in the calculation of grade point averages in the Faculty of Arts. Where it is necessary for the Faculty to take into consideration a student's grades from another institution, this Faculty's definitions of grades apply.

Alternative Grading Option

Pass/Fail

The Faculty wants capable upper-year students to feel free to enrol in elective/free-choice courses without fear of jeopardizing their grade point average. For this reason, students may take a limited number of such courses for full degree credit on an ungraded basis. Courses taken on this basis are listed on the transcript as Pass or as Fail. Neither of these two grades is calculated into the student's grade point averages. The course director forwards a written evaluation of the student's work in the course to the student and to the Registrar's Office. The following regulations apply to courses taken as a pass/fail alternative grading option.

- Only students who are not under academic warning, debarment warning, or academic probation may take such courses.
- Students may apply to take such courses only after they have successfully completed 24 credits.
- Courses taken on a pass/fail alternative grading option may not be used for courses taken to satisfy major, minor, general education, certificate requirements, or 1000-level science courses.
- Students registered in an Honours BA program may take a maximum of 12 credits as a pass/fail alternative grading option.
- Students registered in a BA program may take a maximum of six credits as a pass/fail alternative grading option.
- Students who wish to designate a course as pass/fail alternative grading option must do so within the first two weeks of the term in which the course begins; they must first obtain the signature of the course director on the form available for this purpose from Student Client Services. The completed form should then be returned to Student Client Services.
- Students who elect to complete a course as a pass/fail alternative grading option can switch back to a graded basis until the last date to drop a course without academic penalty.

Credit/No Credit

The notations "Credit" and "No Credit" will be used when an entire course is being offered on an ungraded basis. No Credit will count as an earned failing grade of F in the grade point average.

Grades in Courses

Marking Scheme

The means of determining the final grade in a course must be announced in writing in each course within the first two weeks of classes. Such information must include the kinds of assignments, essays, examinations and other components which make up the grade; their relative weights; and any other procedures which enter into the determination of the final grade.

In exceptional circumstances, a previously announced marking scheme for a course may be changed, but only with the consent of all students. The new marking scheme must also be distributed in written form.

Instructors are obligated to provide a mechanism by which students can be apprised of their progress in a course; in particular, students must be able to make an informed decision on whether to withdraw from a course. This will normally mean that before the deadline for withdrawing from courses, students will receive graded feedback on work worth at least 15 per cent of the final grade for fall (F Term), winter (W Term), or summer term courses, and 30 per cent for Y Term courses offered in the fall/winter session. Instructors are urged to provide more feedback where possible. More information is available at <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/senate/gradfeed.htm>.

In courses where percentages are used as a means of reporting grades on individual pieces of work, the following conversion table is to be used in converting percentage grades to letter grades, unless alternative provisions for scaling and/or conversion are announced to students in writing within the first two weeks of classes.

From Percentage	To Letter Grade
90-100	A+
80-89	A
75-79	B+
70-74	B
65-69	C+
60-64	C
55-59	D+
50-54	D
40-49	E

Requests for Reappraisal of Final Grades

Students may, with sufficient grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised. Further information may be obtained from the department/division offering the course. Students applying to have a grade reappraised in a Faculty of Arts course should note the following:

- Requests for reappraisal must be filed with the unit offering the course within 21 calendar days of the release of the final grade in the course.
- Students may question the marking of specific pieces of work, or the overall course grade. Normally, however, only written work can be reassessed.
- When a student asks for a reappraisal, an original grade may be raised, lowered or confirmed.
- Students wishing to request the reappraisal of a final grade should fill out the appropriate form available from the department/division offering the course and submit it to the same office.
- The decision of the department/division may be appealed to the Faculty of Arts Executive Committee only on grounds of procedural irregularity or new evidence.

Deferred Standing and Aegrotat Standing

In some cases, students may be eligible for deferred standing or aegrotat standing on the grounds of illness, accident, or family misfortune.

Deferred Standing

Deferred standing (an extension) allows a student additional time to write a test or final examination, or to complete an assignment after the Faculty's deadline for submission of term work.

In the Faculty of Arts, deferred standing is arranged by means of a form called a Final Examination/Assignment Deferred Standing Agreement. The deadlines for submitting this form are January 15 (fall term one, three and four credit courses), and May 1 (six and nine credit courses, and winter term one, three and four credit courses). A petition for deferred standing may be submitted if the course director indicates on a Final Examination/Assignment Deferred Standing Agreement form that she or he refuses to approve deferred standing, or if the deadline for agreements has passed. The form and guidelines are available on the Current Students Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca>, then click Current Students.

Aegrotat Standing

In cases where a student cannot be expected to complete the work for a course, the phrase "aegrotat standing" (from the Latin for "she/he is ill") is substituted for a grade on the transcript. Aegrotat standing is seldom granted, and only in exceptional circumstances where deferred standing or late withdrawal from the course is inappropriate.

Petitions for Deferred Standing and Aegrotat Standing

Petitions for deferred standing or aegrotat standing are expected to be submitted to the Petitions Committee within 48 hours of the Final Examination/Assignment Deferred Standing Agreement application deadline, and will not be accepted more than one month after the last day of examinations for the term in question without evidence of circumstances which account for the delay. It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that full documentation (medical or other) is provided in support of petitions for deferred or aegrotat standing. Appropriate forms and guidelines are available from Student Client Services or at the Current Students Web site.

Term Work, Tests and Examinations

Term Work

Term work includes reports, assignments, essays, tests and other written work assigned in a course with the exception of final examinations.

Deadline for Submission

Term work must be submitted by the first day of the official examination period of the term in which the course ends. Instructors, departments and divisions may, however, set earlier deadlines for the submission of term work.

Tests and Examinations

Tests and examinations are important parts of the educational process. They must be conducted under fair conditions which allow students to demonstrate what they have learned. Disruptions or attempts to obtain an unfair advantage are offences against academic process and carry severe penalties. (See Senate Policy on Academic Honesty and Academic Conduct at <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/senate/>.) The following regulations apply to tests and examinations.

Identification

Students who are being tested or examined are required to present their sessional identification card and acceptable photo identification.

Answer Booklets

Answer booklets are the property of the University. Test papers, examination booklets and other answer forms remain the property of the University unless they are released by an instructor. Students may not remove them from the test or examination room without permission; nor may they possess blank examination booklets.

Students' Right to Review

Students may always have the opportunity, under properly controlled conditions, to review and discuss their graded test and examination answers, but final examination answer booklets (and at the discretion of the course director, other answer booklets) remain the property of the University, and are retained by the teaching unit for a certain period of time before they are destroyed.

Tests and Examinations During the Term

Restriction at End of Term

In the fall/winter session, the total value of any test(s) or examination(s) given in the last two weeks of classes in a term must be no more than 20 per cent of the final mark for the course.

Scheduling of Tests

Except where testing is conducted during individual appointments which accommodate the schedules of students (for example: individual oral interviews in language courses, individually scheduled make-up tests), tests or examinations given during the term must be held within the hours regularly scheduled for the course in question.

Students' Right of Refusal

Students who are asked to write tests or examinations in contravention of the preceding two regulations may refuse to do so without academic penalty; they also have the right to raise the matter with the Chair of the department or the division in which the course is offered, or with the dean.

Formally Scheduled Examinations

Final Examination Period

There is a final examination period at the end of each term.

Examination Schedules

The dates and times of formally scheduled examinations are listed on the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca>, then click Current Students). Examinations may last two or three hours.

Missed Examinations

A student who misses an examination should contact the Registrar's Office within 48 hours of the examination. A student who wishes to write a make-up examination must petition for deferred standing in the course.

Rewriting of Examinations

The Faculty of Arts has no provision for the rewriting of a final examination to improve a mark.

Academic Standing

Academic standing depends on several factors, including the number of courses a student has passed, the grade point average achieved during a particular session (sessional grade point average), and the overall grade point average (cumulative grade point average).

Honours BA Degree

Qualifying for Honours

Students with no Previous Postsecondary Education

Students who enter the Faculty of Arts with no prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution (such as a university or college) are automatically enrolled in an Honours program.

Transfer Students

Students who enter with prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution are enrolled in an Honours program if their prior cumulative grade point average (including failed courses) is at least the equivalent of 5.0 (C+) on the York scale. (Note: Courses taken at other postsecondary institutions are not calculated as part of the student's grade point average at York, nor do they appear on the York transcript.)

Continuing in Honours

To continue in an Honours program, students must maintain a cumulative grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+).

Graduating in Honours

To graduate in an Honours program, students must successfully complete (pass) at least 120 credits which meet Faculty of Arts and program requirements. The cumulative grade point average for all courses taken must be at least 5.0 (C+).

Courses taken Beyond the Normal Maximum

Students in an Honours BA program who successfully complete more than 120 credits and whose cumulative grade point average is at least 5.0 (C+) will have all credits counted towards their Honours BA and their cumulative grade point average.

Opting to Graduate in a BA Program

Students who are eligible for Honours may opt to graduate in a BA program in the session in which they have completed their final course(s).

Ineligibility to Continue in Honours

Students whose cumulative grade point average falls below 5.0 (C+) may continue their studies only in a BA degree program.

Re-entering Honours

Students who are ineligible to continue in Honours because their cumulative grade point average has fallen below 5.0 (C+) may re-enter Honours if they raise their cumulative grade point average to 5.0 (C+) or above by the time they have successfully completed their 90th credit.

Graduating with a BA Degree

Students registered in an Honours program whose cumulative grade point average after completion of 90 credits falls below 5.0 (C+), but remains 4.0 (C) or above, may request to graduate with a BA degree if they fulfill the BA degree requirements, or may continue in a BA program until those requirements are fulfilled. They may not continue in an Honours program and they may not take extra courses in a subsequent session in an effort to raise their cumulative average.

BA Degree

Graduating with a BA Degree

Students must successfully complete (pass) at least 90 credits which meet Faculty of Arts and program requirements. The cumulative grade point average for all courses taken must be at least 4.0 (C).

Courses taken Beyond the Normal Maximum—in Order to Raise Cumulative Grade Point Average

Students in a BA program who have passed 90 credits in accordance with Faculty and program requirements, but whose cumulative grade point average is below 4.0 (C) may attempt to raise their average to 4.0 (C) by taking up to 12 additional credits, to a maximum of 102 credits. These courses must be above the 1000 level and must be taken at York; regulations on equivalent and excluded courses apply.

Courses taken Beyond the Normal Maximum

Students in a BA program who successfully complete more than 90 credits and whose cumulative grade point average is at least 4.0 (C) and less than 5.0 (C+) will have all credits counted towards their BA and their cumulative grade point average.

Transferring to Honours

Students in a BA program who become eligible for Honours are transferred to an Honours program. Students who have graduated from the Faculty of Arts with a BA degree and whose record makes them eligible for Honours may pursue an Honours degree in the same subject.

Academic Honours

The Faculty recognizes the academic excellence of its students in appropriate ways. The following honours are recorded on a student's transcript.

Scholarships and Merit Awards

These include Merit Awards, Entrance Scholarships, Renewable Scholarships and In-Course Scholarships.

Faculty of Arts Sessional Academic Achievement List

The Faculty of Arts Sessional Academic Achievement List recognizes outstanding academic achievement in the following ways:

- Students taking 12 - 15 credits in a given session who have attained a sessional grade point average of 8.0 (A) or higher;
- Students taking 18 or more credits in a given session who have attained a sessional grade point average of 7.5 or higher.

Graduating Honours

Students with high grade point averages are eligible for the following honours upon graduation from the Faculty:

Honours BA Degree

Summa cum laude: 8.0 or above cumulative grade point average.

Magna cum laude: 7.8 - 7.99 cumulative grade point average.

Cum laude: 7.5 - 7.79 cumulative grade point average.

Dean's Honour Roll: 7.0 cumulative grade point average.

BA Degree

With distinction: 8.0 or above cumulative grade point average.

With merit: 7.5-7.99 cumulative grade point average.

Dean's Honour Roll: 7.0 cumulative grade point average.

Academic Penalties

Students whose academic record does not meet Faculty or program standards are subject to the academic penalties of academic warning, required withdrawal, debarment warning, debarment, and academic probation.

Academic Warning

Students whose cumulative grade point average falls below 4.0 (C) at the end of any session, or who enter the Faculty with a grade point average equivalent to less than 4.0 (C) on the York scale, receive an Academic Warning. Students on Academic Warning must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.0 (C) within the next 24 credits taken, or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) in the session in which that 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative grade point average reaches 4.0 (C), or be required to withdraw. Students whose cumulative grade point average on at least 24 credits is below 2.5 will be required to withdraw.

Required Withdrawal

Students whose academic record shows marked weakness may be required to withdraw from their studies for one year, during which they are encouraged to identify and remedy any problems which may have contributed materially to their failure to perform up to their potential, and to reflect on their reasons for pursuing a university education. The following regulations apply to required withdrawals.

Grade Point Average Below 2.5

Students whose cumulative grade point average on at least 24 credits is below 2.5 must withdraw for 12 months.

Grade Point Average Below 4.0 and Equal to or Greater Than 2.5

Students who have received an academic warning for a cumulative grade point average below 4.0 (C) must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.0 (C) within their next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) in the session in which that 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative grade point average reaches 4.0 (C); otherwise, they must withdraw for twelve months. Should the student's cumulative grade point average fall below 2.5 at any time after completion of 24 credits, they will be required to withdraw for 12 months.

Petition to Continue Without Interruption

Students who have been required to withdraw may submit a petition to the Faculty of Arts Petitions Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. Students granted such a petition will be allowed to continue their studies on debarment warning. For further information, see the section on Petitions or go to the Current Students Web site.

Reactivation After Required Withdrawal

Students who have been required to withdraw may apply for reactivation after the requisite period of absence by submitting a form obtainable from Student Client Services or the Current Students Web site. Students who return to their studies after such a required withdrawal (as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the Petitions Committee) receive a debarment warning.

Debarment Warning

Students who have been required to withdraw from the Faculty of Arts, or from another Faculty at York, or elsewhere receive a debarment warning upon continuing their studies in the Faculty. Students on debarment warning must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.0 (C) within the next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) in the session in which that 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative grade point average reaches 4.0 (C), and must then maintain this average. Students who do not fulfill these conditions will be debarred from the University. Students whose cumulative grade point average remains or falls below 2.5 at any time while on debarment warning will be debarred.

Debarment

Students who fail to meet the debarment warning conditions outlined above will be debarred from the University. Debarment, the minimum period for which is normally two years, means that the student is no longer a student at York University.

Petition to Continue Without Interruption

Students who have been debarred may submit a petition to the Faculty of Arts Petitions Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. Students granted such a petition will be allowed to continue their studies on academic probation. For further information, see the section on Petitions or go to the Current Students Web site.

Reapplying After Debarment

Students who have been debarred and who wish to resume their studies must apply for admission through the Admissions Office <http://www.yorku.ca/admissions/>, and must provide persuasive evidence that they are ready and able to complete a degree program. Students who are readmitted (as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the Petitions Committee) receive an academic probation.

Academic Probation

Students who have been debarred and who subsequently resume their studies in the Faculty of Arts, whether by petitioning to continue without interruption or by reapplying for admission, receive an academic probation. Students on Academic Probation must meet the debarment warning conditions outlined above; otherwise, they will be debarred. Students whose cumulative grade point average remains or falls below 2.5 at any time while on academic probation will be debarred.

Policy on Academic Honesty

A central purpose of the University is to teach students to think independently and critically. Cheating and other forms of academic dishonesty run counter to this purpose and violate the ethical and intellectual principles of the University; they are therefore subject to severe penalties. For more information, refer to the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty (see University Policies and Regulations section or <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/legislation/senate/>).

Petitions for Exemptions from the Regulations

The purpose of academic regulations is to allow students to develop their interests and talents to the fullest in ways consistent with the philosophy and standards of the Faculty. In establishing academic regulations, the Faculty also recognizes that instances will arise where it makes sense, in the context of a student's academic career, to waive regulations which would otherwise apply.

Petitions Committee

The Petitions Committee considers requests for exceptions to all Faculty regulations, including petitions to continue their studies without interruption from students who have been required to withdraw or debarred.

Note on Grade Reappraisals

Requests for the reappraisal of final grades are not petitions in the formal sense. Such requests should be directed to the undergraduate program director in the teaching unit offering the course in question.

Right to Petition

Students in the Faculty of Arts have the right to petition for special consideration. It should be noted, however, that a petition is a request for the waiver of a regulation; it cannot be used to create legislation (for example: a degree program) that does not exist. Normally, petitions will not be considered by the Petitions Committee more than one year beyond the date of the release of grades for the session to which the petition relates.

Petitions Procedures

Petitions are held in the strictest confidence, and brought anonymously to the committee. The committee considers the petition itself, any supporting documents (from professors or medical practitioners), and other relevant information contained in the student's record. Students may not appear in person.

Initiating a Petition

To initiate a petition, students should obtain an instruction sheet and, where appropriate, an Attending Physician's Statement Form from Student Client Services, 416-736-5440 or the Current Students Web site. Advice on petitioning is available from Student Client Services; from the Office of the Dean, South 928 Ross Building, 416-736-5260; or from the Advising Centre, South 319 Ross, 416-736-5022. Petitions should be brought or mailed to the appropriate committee in care of Student Client Services.

Certificate in Business Fundamentals

Note: For purposes of meeting certificate requirements, all foundations courses will count as six credits.

York University students may earn a Certificate in Business Fundamentals concurrent with fulfillment of the requirements for an Honours undergraduate BA degree. This certificate is open to students in all undergraduate faculties except for students enrolled in the Schulich School of Business bachelor of business administration program or the Atkinson bachelor of administrative studies program. Students may not earn both a Certificate in Business Fundamentals and a Certificate in Non-Profit Management.

To qualify for possible admission to the Certificate in Business Fundamentals, students must complete 30 credits from a list of approved courses, and the cumulative grade point average in these 30 credits must be 5.0 (C+). There are a limited number of spaces available in the Certificate in Business Fundamentals, and therefore meeting the minimum requirements for application will not guarantee admission to the Certificate program. In order to be granted the Certificate in Business Fundamentals upon graduation, students must be qualified to graduate with an Honours BA (120 credits) and must therefore maintain an overall grade point average of 5.0 (C+) on all courses completed.

Application to the Certificate in Business Fundamentals may be made only after successfully completing at least 54 credits, and the successful completion of the following requirements with a minimum overall grade point average of 5.0 (C+).

Course requirements and application/admission requirements for the Certificate in Business Fundamentals are as follows:

- AS/ECON 1000 3.00, or equivalent;
- AS/ECON 1010 3.00, or equivalent;
- At least three credits chosen from: AS/MATH 1300 3.00, or AS/MATH 1530 3.00, or AS/MATH 1550 6.00, or equivalent;
- At least three credits chosen from: AS/MATH 2560 3.00, or AS/ECON 2500 3.00, or AS/POLS 3300 6.00, or AS/PSYC 2020 6.00, or AS/PSYC 2021 3.00, or AS/SOCI 3030 6.00, or equivalent;
- At least six credits chosen from: AS/POLS 2910, or AS/ECON 2300 3.00, or AS/ECON 2350 3.00, or AS/ECON 2400 3.00, or AS/ECON 2450 3.00, or AS/MATH 2580 6.00, or AS/PHIL 2070 3.00, or AS/PHIL 2075 3.00, or AS/SOSC 2210 9.00, or AS/SOSC 2340 9.00, or equivalent.

Note: Students may take courses through Atkinson or Glendon (subject to degree credit exclusion(s) and in-Faculty regulations).

Students in an Honours undergraduate BA program who have successfully completed at least 54 credits with an overall grade point average of 5.0 (C+), and who will also have successfully completed the requirements listed above by June 1 may apply to the Certificate in Business Fundamentals by March 30 of the year these requirements will be completed. The minimum acceptable overall grade point average for application and possible admission is 5.0 (C+). Since there are a limited number of spaces available, successful admission will be based primarily on the applicant's overall grade point average.

If admitted, students must successfully complete the following courses offered by the Schulich School of Business in the following sequence and over two academic sessions:

- SB/BFND 3100 3.00;
- SB/BFND 3200 3.00 (Note: Degree credit exclusions: AS/ECON 3580 3.00 and AS/ECON 3590 3.00. Students who have successfully completed AS/ECON 3580 3.00 and AS/ECON 3590 3.00 with a minimum grade of C+ in each may not enrol in SB/BFND 3200 3.00, and are therefore exempt from this requirement.);
- SB/BFND 4100 3.00;
- and SB/BFND 4200 3.00.

In order to be granted the Certificate in Business Fundamentals upon graduation, students must be qualified to graduate with an Honours BA (120 credits) and must therefore maintain an overall grade point average of 5.0 (C+) on all courses completed.

Further information about the Certificate in Business Fundamentals is available from the coordinator of the Business and Society Program.

Centre for Academic Writing

The Centre for Academic Writing assists students to become effective independent writers, within both their academic life and elsewhere. The primary means of achieving this objective is through the centre's individualized tutoring program. All Faculty of Arts students are eligible to enrol in this program and take advantage of the opportunity to work on their writing with one of the centre's experienced faculty. The centre also regularly offers mini-courses on various issues related to writing effectively in university.

In addition, students can enrol in one of the centre's credit courses on writing in the humanities or the social sciences. These courses provide the opportunity for students to develop their writing in all phases: research, composing, drafting and revising by learning to integrate the latest research on the writing process into these activities.

Students in the Faculty of Arts may study concurrently towards an Honours BA or BA degree at York and a diploma or certificate in one of four areas of study in communication arts at Centennial or Seneca College. The following areas are available through the Community Colleges:

- book and magazine publishing (Centennial - certificate)
- corporate communications (Centennial - diploma)
- creative advertising (Seneca - diploma)
- radio and television broadcasting (Seneca - diploma)

Faculty of Arts students in an Honours BA program are eligible for entry to the joint program after the successful completion of a minimum of 90 credits at York, and students in a BA program are eligible for entry after the successful completion of 60 credits at York. All students must complete the requirements for an Honours BA or BA degree in the Faculty of Arts. The joint program normally takes one year longer to complete because some advanced standing credit is given by York and the college, if conditions of eligibility for advanced standing are met. ## East Asian Studies

Note: For purposes of meeting program requirements, all foundations courses will count as six credits towards the major or minor.

The East Asian Studies Program offers a number of undergraduate degree programs, the requirements for which are described in detail in the following sections. These degree programs have certain characteristics in common:

1. The focus of the degree programs is on the modern period. However, it is emphasized that students should also learn to appreciate the cultural traditions behind developments during the 19th and 20th centuries.

2. East Asian studies is an interdisciplinary program. Students are trained to use the concepts, skills and information of at least two academic disciplines.

3. Competence in an East Asian language (usually Chinese or Japanese) is a feature of all the degree programs except the Honours Minor.

Within the general guidelines and requirements, a student could choose from a rich array of course offerings every year to create a combination which best serves their academic interests and career aspirations. Students should consult the coordinator when designing their programs of study.

Program Distribution Requirements (Common to all Programs)

1. A student must complete courses in East Asian studies from at least two departments or divisions.
2. A student must complete at least one course which is concerned mainly with pre-modern East Asia.
3. Students concentrate in either Chinese or Japanese studies, but must also study other East Asian cultures outside their area of concentration:
  - a) A student who concentrates in Chinese studies must complete at least 12 credits in non-Chinese subjects within East Asian studies;
  - b) A student who concentrates in Japanese studies must complete at least 12 credits in non-Japanese subjects within East Asian studies;
  - c) Language/translation courses will not meet program distribution requirements.
4. All students must complete at least one of the following core courses: AS/HUMA 1400 9.00, or AS/CH 2700 6.00, or AS/HIST 2710 6.00.

Specialized Honours BA Program

Students will take at least 54 credits in from the East Asian studies list of courses, including at least one core course (AS/HUMA 1400 9.00, AS/CH 2700 6.00, or AS/HIST 2710 6.00) and at least 12 credits (other than language/translation courses) at the 4000 level. Demonstrated competence in an East Asian language (usually Chinese or Japanese) at the advanced level is required. This requirement would normally be met by successful completion of AS/CH 3000 6.00 or AS/JP 3000 6.00. It may also be met by passing a competency test, or by successful completion of another course recognized for the purpose.

Honours BA Program

Students will take at least 42 credits from the East Asian studies list of courses, including at least one core course (AS/HUMA 1400 9.00, AS/CH 2700 6.00, or AS/HIST 2710 6.00) and at least 12 credits (other than language/translation courses) at the 4000 level. Demonstrated competence in an East Asian language (usually Chinese or Japanese) at the intermediate level is required. This requirement will normally be met by successful completion of AS/CH 2000 6.00 or AS/JP 2000 6.00. It may also be met by passing a competency test, or by successful completion of another course recognized for the purpose.

Honours Double Major BA Program

The Honours BA program described above may be pursued jointly with any other Honours bachelor's degree program in the Faculties of Arts, Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, or with a major in earth and atmospheric science or physics and astronomy in the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science.

Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA Programs

East Asian studies may be linked with any Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA program in the Faculty of Arts. Students must take at least 36 credits from the East Asian studies list of courses and at least 36 credits in the interdisciplinary program. Courses taken to meet East Asian studies requirements cannot also be used to meet the requirements of the interdisciplinary program. Students in these interdisciplinary programs must take a total of at least 18 credits at the 4000 level, including at least 12 credits from the East Asian studies list of courses and six credits in the interdisciplinary program. For further details of requirements, see the listings for specific Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA programs.

Honours Major/Minor BA Program

The Honours BA program described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor bachelor's degree program in the Faculties of Arts, Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, or with a minor in biology, chemistry, or physics and astronomy in the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science.

Honours Minor BA Program

The Honours Minor must be pursued jointly with an Honours BA program in the Faculty of Arts.

The Honours Minor in East Asian studies comprises at least 30 credits from the East Asian studies list of courses (other than language/translation courses), including at least one core course (AS/HUMA 1400 9.00, AS/CH 2700 6.00, or AS/HIST 2710 6.00) and six credits at the 4000 level. 18 of the 30 credits must be above the 2000 level.

Note: Faculty of Arts legislation requires that, in order to obtain an Honours BA (120 credits), students must take a total of at least 18 credits at the 4000 level, including at least 12 credits at the 4000 level in each Honours major or Specialized Honours major.

Economics

Eligibility for all economics programs and for the intermediate theory courses requires successful completion of AS/ECON 1000 3.00/1010 3.00 and AS/ECON 1530 3.00/1540 3.00 or equivalent.

AS/ECON 2300 3.00 must be successfully completed before AS/ECON 2350 3.00, and AS/ECON 2400 3.00 must be successfully completed before AS/ECON 2450 3.00. These courses cannot be taken concurrently.

All economics majors and minors should note that half (50 per cent) of the required theory courses (AS/ECON 1000 3.00/1010 3.00; AS/ECON 2300 3.00/2350 3.00, AS/ECON 2400 3.00/2450 3.00 and, where applicable, AS/ECON 4000 3.00/4010 3.00) must be taken in the Faculty of Arts. Half (50 per cent) of the total major or minor requirements must also be taken in the Faculty of Arts. Courses taken at Atkinson, Glendon, or other Faculties or universities count as out-of-Faculty courses.

For double major and major/minor programs: economics courses that are borrowed to satisfy requirements of other programs may not be double-counted; they need not be replaced as long as the Faculty of Arts minimum major requirement is satisfied.

Students are responsible for meeting all listed prerequisites prior to enrolment in courses.

Economics and Business

Specialized Honours BA Program

The Department of Economics offers a limited enrolment Specialized Honours BA Program in Economics and Business. Students who have taken 12 prerequisite credits with the required minimum program averages are encouraged to apply for admission to the program in January of the academic session in which they are completing their first year (normally 24 to 30 credits). The required average in the prerequisites (and any additional core courses) is B or 6.0, and the required overall average is C+ or 5.0. Applications received after the deadlines--the first Monday in February and before August 1—may be wait-listed. Because competition is keen, admission is not guaranteed for all students with the minimum requirements.

Students must maintain a grade point average of at least 6.0 (B) in all required courses in order to continue in, and graduate from, the program. Because some of the program's core and area of concentration courses have specific prerequisites, students may be required to complete additional courses to fulfill the economics and business requirements. Students are encouraged to regularly review degree requirements. Appointments can be made by contacting Economics and Business, 1144 Vari Hall, 416-736-5322.

Students majoring in economics and business must complete 78 credits in the program, as outlined below.

Prerequisite Courses (12 credits)

- AS/ECON 1000 3.00 and AS/ECON 1010 3.00, or equivalents;

With the approval of the coordinator of the program, students may design their own area of concentration; such courses may be drawn from the offerings of any of the undergraduate Faculties.

English

All students majoring in English must take six credits in a 1000-level English course among their first 60 university credits. Students majoring in

For a complete list of courses and detailed reading lists, see the department's supplemental calendar.

Students intending to proceed to graduate school should take a broad range of courses, should avoid concentration in a particular period or genre, and, in consultation with a member of the English Department, should plan a degree program with the understanding that certain traditional subjects may be regarded as essential by some graduate schools.

Students intending to teach in Ontario schools must meet the varied requirements of various Faculties of Education, and are advised to construct a balanced degree program by doing at least some work in each major period in literary history: such students should consult specific Faculties of Education about their regulations.

Students are responsible for planning their course of study and for ensuring that all degree and major requirements are met. Members of the department will be available during the summer months, as well as during the term, to advise those students who have questions about their program or about English studies in general. Enquiries may be made through the Undergraduate Office, 208 Stong, 416-736-5166.

English as a Second Language

The Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics offers courses in English as a Second Language. See English as a Second Language in the Courses of Instruction section. The Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics also offers a certificate in teaching English to speakers of other languages. See the Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) section.

European Studies

Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA Program

The European Studies Program is an Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA program. European studies majors must co-major in another department/discipline in the Faculty of Arts. Students must take at least 36 credits in the European Studies Program and at least 36 credits in the co-major according to the requirements and regulations specified by each department/discipline for an Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA program. Courses taken to meet European studies requirements cannot also be used to meet the requirements of the departmental/divisional major. Students in these interdisciplinary programs must take a total of at least 18 credits at the 4000 level, including at least six credits in European studies and six credits in the departmental/divisional major. For further details of requirements, see the listings for specific Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA programs.

Students must complete 36 credits from the European studies list, all distinct from the courses in their other major. The European studies courses must include the following:

- AS/HUMA 2195 9.00;
- 30 credits, including six credits at the 4000 level, to be chosen from the list of European studies courses selected in consultation with the program coordinator.

Students must also satisfy a language requirement. They may do so by completing six credits in a European language (other than English) or by passing an approved competency test in a European language (other than English).

Note: A maximum of 12 credits in language courses will be counted towards the European studies major.

Honours Minor BA Program

The Honours Minor must be pursued jointly with an Honours BA program in the Faculty of Arts. Courses taken to meet European studies requirements cannot also be used to meet the requirements of the major program.

The Honours Minor in European studies comprises at least 30 credits including the following:

- AS/HUMA 2195 9.00;
- 24 credits, including six credits at the 4000 level, to be chosen from the list of European Studies Program courses selected in consultation with the program coordinator.

Students must also satisfy a language requirement. They may do so by completing six credits in a European language (other than English) or by passing an approved competency test in a European language (other than English).

Streams

In areas where curricular resources suffice, such as France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Portugal, Spain, or Russia, students in European studies may focus on a national or regional stream. Subject to the approval of the program coordinator, students who successfully complete at least 18 credits within such a stream will qualify to have this curricular focus noted on their transcript. Thus, a student might graduate with in political science and European studies (focus: Greece) or Italian and European studies (focus: Italy), or history and European studies (focus: Spain). Students who choose not to focus on a particular stream would graduate with a degree in the relevant major and a major or a minor in European studies.

Study Abroad

Students in European studies are encouraged to spend at least one academic term studying at a European university. Students will be informed of the available exchange opportunities at the beginning of the fall academic session. The level of language facility generally required is equivalent to completion of at least the intermediate level, and students are encouraged to achieve such a level. Subject to the coordinator's approval, as well as letter of permission, study abroad, transfer credit, and in-Faculty regulations, courses successfully completed on such exchanges will be accepted for credit towards the major/minor and, if applicable, towards the stream in European studies.

European Studies Courses

Not all of the courses listed below will necessarily be offered in any given year. For more information, please consult the relevant supplemental calendar.

With the approval of the program coordinator, students may complete other courses for credit in European studies. Subject to degree credit exclusion and in-Faculty regulations, students may complete courses offered outside of the Faculty of Arts for credit in European studies.

Note: For purposes of meeting program requirements, all foundations courses will count as six credits towards the major or minor.

All courses offered in the Department of French Studies (AS/FR) may count for major or minor credit in European studies.

All courses offered in the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics from the following sections may count for major or minor credit in European studies: German (AS/GER), Modern Greek (AS/GKM), Italian (AS/IT), Portuguese (AS/POR), Russian (AS/RU) and Spanish (AS/SP).

Note: For courses offered in the Department of French Studies and the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics, please consult the European studies supplemental calendar (or Web site) to determine which courses count as language courses. For courses offered by Atkinson and Glendon that may be appropriate for this program, consult with a program adviser or the coordinator.

French Studies

The Department of French Studies offers courses in three curricular areas: language, linguistics, and literature.

The language sequence is a required series of language-skills courses which prepare the student for further study in the areas of linguistics and literature. AS/FR 1080 6.00 is a prerequisite to all other 2000-level courses in the department. Students who have successfully completed AS/FR 1030 6.00 or its equivalent will be eligible to take AS/FR 1080 6.00. Students enrolling in a Faculty of Arts French course for the first time must complete a French language questionnaire prior to enrolment. Failure to do so will result in denial of access to the course, and/or de-enrolment from the course.

In order to proceed to any French studies course offered at a higher level, students must obtain a minimum grade of C in each course taken within the language sequence. Students majoring or minoring in French studies must take all levels of the language sequence courses unless they are exempted from one or more levels on the recommendation of the department.

To this core of language-skills courses, majors will add further courses in French linguistics and in French literature. Students are advised that their choice of courses is also governed by departmental regulations specifying the numbers and levels of courses taken to satisfy the various program requirements. Students are encouraged to meet with the undergraduate program director.

The Department of French Studies offers three French language courses for non-majors/minors: AS/FR 1020 6.00, AS/FR 1030 6.00, and AS/FR 1060 6.00.

Students may take one academic session (which cannot be their graduating year) at a francophone university. In the case of students entering this program after the completion of 24 credits, a grade of B+ in AS/FR 1080 6.00 is the minimum requirement. For students entering the program after the successful completion of 48 credits, a grade of B+ in AS/FR 2081 3.00 or AS/FR 2082 3.00 (or equivalent) is the minimum requirement. A minimum grade of B in either AS/FR 2100 6.00 or AS/FR 2200 6.00 is also required. In all cases, the student must have a sessional average of 6.0 (B) or above. Detailed information concerning this extramural year is available from the Department of French Studies or International@York.

For graduate programs in French Literature, several periods of French literature may be required. For graduate programs in French Linguistics, for certain French teaching programs (BEEd, MEd, M.A.T.), or for schools of translation and interpretation, an undergraduate concentration in French linguistics may be favoured. Degree students may take more than the minimum number of required courses at any level.

The Honours BA program described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor bachelor's degree program in the Faculties of Arts, Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, or with a minor in biology, chemistry, or physics and astronomy in the Faculty of Pure and Applied Science.

Honours Minor BA Program

The Honours Minor must be pursued jointly with an Honours Major/Minor BA program in the Faculty of Arts.

The Honours Minor BA Program in Humanities comprises at least 30 credits in humanities including at least 12 credits at the 3000 level and six credits at the 4000 level.

Note: Faculty of Arts regulations require that in order to obtain an Honours BA (120 credits), students must take a total of at least 18 credits at the 4000 level including at least 12 credits at the 4000 level in each Honours major or Specialized Honours major. For a humanities major, the 12 credits at the 4000 level must be humanities 4000-level seminars.

BA Program

Students will take at least 30 credits in humanities of which at least 18 credits must be at the 3000 or 4000 level.

Individualized Studies

Specialized Honours BA Program

The Specialized Honours Program in Individualized Studies is designed for students who wish to pursue a topic or line of enquiry that requires drawing together courses from several of the University's disciplines or fields of study.

Students interested in pursuing an individualized studies degree will be asked by the coordinator to prepare a statement describing the particular subject they wish to pursue. They will also be asked to identify a set of courses, from the Faculty of Arts and elsewhere, which are relevant to this theme. If the coordinator is satisfied that the proposed subject cannot be adequately pursued under an established program or departmental major and that sufficient courses and faculty expertise exist to support individualized study in the area in question, the student will be permitted to enter the Individualized Studies Program. Normally, students are eligible to join the program if they have completed at least 24 credits and no more than 66 credits by the start of the academic year.

Students in individualized studies must successfully complete and follow all the regulations for a degree in Specialized Honours in the Faculty of Arts. In addition, they must take, as part of the 54 credits relevant to their theme, the Individualized Studies Thesis Course, AS/INDV 4000 6.00. This course is to be taken during the student's final year of study.

Kinesiology and Health Science

The School of Kinesiology and Health Science offers courses leading to a BA degree in Kinesiology and Health Science in Specialized Honours, Honours, Honours Double Major and Honours Major/Minor programs. In each of these programs, students complete a specified core of academic and practicum courses which, depending on individual interests, personal objectives and the stream selected, complement the designated requirements with optional courses from within and outside the School. The streams available for proceeding to the degree are: a) Health and Kinesiology and b) Applied Certificate. After successful completion of 24 credits students optionally apply for the Applied Certificate Stream. The Applied Certificate Stream offers programs in: a) coaching, b) sport administration, c) athletic therapy, and d) fitness assessment and exercise counselling. Students may only be enrolled in one certificate stream at a time. Certificate programs are also available to degree candidates and visiting students who are not kinesiology and health science majors. Please contact kinesiology and health science for a supplemental calendar describing the requirements and application procedures for specific certificate streams.

General Certificate in Law and Society

Note: For purposes of meeting certificate requirements, all foundations courses will count as six credits.

York University students may earn a General Certificate in Law and Society concurrent with fulfillment of the requirements for a bachelor's degree. This certificate is not, however, open to students who are pursuing or who already hold a degree in law and society.

To qualify for the General Certificate in Law and Society, students must complete 24 credits from a list of approved law and society courses, and the cumulative grade point average in these 24 credits must be 5.0 (C+) or higher.

Course requirements for the general certificate are as follows: AS/SOSC 2350 6.00 and 18 additional credits from among the courses recognized as satisfying the degree requirements in the Law and Society Program. At least six credits must be taken at the 4000 level. A maximum of 12 credits may be offered by the Political Science Department. Courses taken may not be used to fulfill both the public policy and administration degree and the General Certificate in Law and Society. For a current list of approved courses, see the law and society section of this calendar. Further information about the General Certificate in Law and Society is available from the coordinator of the Law and Society Program.

York-Seneca Joint Program in Psychology and Rehabilitation Services

This program allows a student to complete a BA or an Honours BA degree in psychology at York in conjunction with a Certificate in Rehabilitation Counselling. The certificate is awarded jointly by York University and Seneca College. A full-time student would normally require four years of study for a BA degree, and five years of study for an Honours BA degree, in the joint program.

In order to fulfill the requirements of a BA in psychology, a student is required to take a minimum of 30 (but not more than 36) credits in psychology, including AS/PSYC 1010 6.00 (with a minimum grade of C). For an Honours BA in psychology, a minimum of 42 (but not more than 48) credits in psychology are required. (See degree program requirements.)

During years 3 and 4, students will normally take 30 credits at York, from the required program list, and the equivalent of 30 credits will be chosen from the Seneca offerings. In addition to in-class academic instruction, students are required to complete two full year (September - April) courses involving a total of 800 hours of supervised fieldwork in each of the three major domains of rehabilitation: physical, emotional, and developmental. Programs will be tailored to each student through discussion with the coordinators. Minimum academic requirement for applicants is a 5.0 grade point average in the first 60 credits.

Admission Requirements and Procedures

Students who wish to enter the Rehabilitation Services Program should apply in the January preceding the final year of their BA degree program to the departmental program office. Generally, a student who demonstrates good intellectual ability, emotional stability and a strong interest in working with the disabled will be considered for entry into the program. Applicants must have:

- completed 60 University-level credits towards a BA or 90 University-level credits towards an Honours BA with a minimum cumulative grade point average of 5.0;
- completed an Introduction to psychology course (with a minimum grade of C);
- fulfilled the general education requirements of York University;
- previous employment or volunteer work in the field of rehabilitation.

Application materials for students currently enrolled at York University may be obtained by contacting Sandra Locke, 281 Behavioural Sciences Building, 416-736-5115, extension 66210; e-mail: slocke@yorku.ca.

Students from other universities should apply through the York University Admissions Office. In order to be considered for admission, applicants must submit a complete application (i.e., application form, official transcripts, and two letters of recommendation). Complete applications received by the deadline (March 1) will be rank-ordered according to academic standing and previous experience in the field of rehabilitation. The top applicants will be interviewed jointly by York and Seneca coordinators.

Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL)

York University students may earn a Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) concurrent with fulfillment of the requirements for a bachelor's degree. To qualify for admission to the Certificate in TESOL, students must have successfully completed at least 24 credits with a minimum grade point average of 4.0 (C). The certificate is also open to students who have been granted a bachelor's degree with a minimum grade point average of 4.0 (C) or equivalent. All applicants will be required to submit a supplementary application, which will include a statement of purpose.

Students may begin the program in either May or September. The application deadline for May entry is March 31, and the application deadline for September entry is June 30. Late applications for either entry will be considered, but space may be limited. Those entering in May can complete certificate requirements in one calendar year. Those entering in September normally require two years to complete certificate requirements.

Continuing students may pick up an application form from the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics, and students who hold a bachelor's degree should contact the Office of Admissions for an application form.

As there are a limited number of spaces available in the certificate in TESOL, meeting the minimum requirements for application will not guarantee admission to the certificate program.

The certificate requires the successful completion of 30 credits as follows:

- AS/LING 1000 6.00 or AS/LING 2060 6.00;
- AS/LING 3240 3.00;
- AS/LING 3600 3.00;
- AS/LING 3160 3.00;
- three credits chosen from the following: AS/LING 2110 3.00, AS/LING 2400 3.00, AS/LING 2430 3.00, or AS/LING 2450 3.00;
- ED/TESL 3200 6.00;
- ED/TESL 3300 6.00.

Continuing students must successfully complete a bachelor's degree (90 credits) or an Honours bachelor's degree (120 credits) in order to be awarded the certificate. 18 of the 30 credits required for the certificate in TESOL will be counted towards the bachelor's degree and the 12 credits taken in the Faculty of Education will be in addition to the total number of credits required for the bachelor's degree or the Honours bachelor's degree.

Students who already hold a bachelor's degree may be exempted from a maximum of 12 of the required 30 credits, if equivalent courses have been successfully completed. Exemptions will not be given for the following required courses: AS/LING 3600 3.00, ED/TESL 3200 6.00, and ED/TESL 3300 6.00.

Further information about the Certificate in TESOL is available from the coordinator of the TESOL program or from the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics.

General Certificate in Urban Studies

Note: For purposes of meeting certificate requirements, all foundations courses will count as six credits.

York University students may earn a General Certificate in Urban Studies concurrent with fulfillment of the requirements for a bachelor's degree. This certificate is not, however, open to students who are pursuing or who already hold a degree in urban studies.

To qualify for the General Certificate in Urban Studies, students must complete 24 credits from a list of approved urban studies courses, and the cumulative grade point average in these 24 credits must be 5.0 (C+) or higher.

Course requirements for the general certificate are as follows:

- AS/SOSC 2710 9.00 or AS/SOSC 2730 6.00;
- 18 additional credits from among the courses recognized as satisfying the degree requirements in urban studies, including at least six credits at the 4000 level.

- an advising appointment with a faculty member teaching in one of the core courses in the Urban Studies Program.

Courses taken to fulfill the requirements for the General Certificate in Urban Studies may not also be used to fulfill requirements for the degree in public policy and administration. For a current list of approved courses, see the urban studies section of this calendar. Further information about the General Certificate in Urban Studies is available from the coordinator of the Urban Studies Program, or the coordinator of the Public Policy and Administration Program.

Vietnamese

The Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics does not offer a degree program or certificate but does offer courses in Vietnamese. See Vietnamese in the Courses of Instruction section.

Women's Studies

The School of Women's Studies offers a consolidated undergraduate program which brings together the Women's Studies Programs from the Faculties of Arts, Atkinson and Glendon. This merged undergraduate program provides students with increased flexibility and access to a greater number and variety of women's studies courses. Courses offered through the School of Women's Studies will count as in-Faculty courses for Arts, Atkinson and Glendon students, and will be offered during the day and evening on both the Keele campus and the Glendon campus. Please consult the School of Women's Studies supplemental calendar for further information, available at the school's main office, South 711 Ross, 416-650-8144 (press 1).

The undergraduate women's studies curriculum is built around four different kinds of courses.

1. Required Courses

- WMST 2500 6.00 or WMST 2510 9.00: required for all women's studies majors;
- WMST 4500 6.00: required for all women's studies majors in an Honours BA program.

2. Core Courses

The core courses are offered by the School of Women's Studies and, like the required courses, have the second digit 5 in the course number, e.g. WMST 2500 6.00. Students are required to select between 12 and 24 credits of core courses depending on their degree program. Core courses cover themes deemed essential to women's studies and will explicitly aim to develop critical reading, writing and oral presentation skills, research skills and more advanced research and theoretical skills as appropriate to the course and year level. The required and core courses will:

- focus primarily on women;
- be taught from feminist perspectives;
- be interdisciplinary;
- address the intersections of race, ethnicity, disability, sexual identity and gender;
- acknowledge the different perspectives on women in a global context;
- explicitly identify the critical skills to be developed in the course.

3. Non-Core Courses

The School of Women's Studies will offer a small number of non-core courses designed to serve a narrower disciplinary focus than the core courses, meet a particular program need (e.g. independent study or special topics courses), or appeal to non-women's studies majors. These courses will have the second digit 8 in the course number, e.g. WMST 2801 6.00.

4. Courses Offered by Other Units

Courses offered by other teaching units may be accepted for program credit or cross-listed with the School of Women's Studies. These courses will count towards the major requirements in women's studies. Please consult the School of Women's Studies mini-calendar, available in the school's main office, South 711 Ross Building, 416-650-8144 (press 1).

1000-level Courses

In accordance with the student's home Faculty regulations, a maximum of six credits from the following 1000-level courses may count for major or minor credit in women's studies:

- AS/HUMA 1950 9.00
- AS/SOSC 1185 9.00
- AS/SOSC 1350 9.00
- AK/HUMA 1830 6.00

Jacinthe Michaud

Coordinator of Part-Time Program (Atkinson):

Ann B. Shteir

Women's studies is both a complement and a corrective to established fields at York and a new academic discipline of its own. Until recently, both the humanities and the social sciences reflected predominantly male perspectives. Women have been largely invisible in literature, art, history, philosophy, politics, social sciences and law. Through cross-cultural and disciplinary assessment, women's studies exposes misconceptions about women expressed through myth, ideologies, teachings and writings. It replaces negative cultural images of women with visions that reaffirm women's strength, capability and intelligence.

In December 1997, women's studies resources at York University were formally linked under one administrative structure -- the School of Women's Studies. The School of Women's Studies unites academic resources at York University in women's studies, bringing together the undergraduate and graduate programs, the non-credit bridging program and the Centre for Feminist Research/Le centre de recherches féministes à York.

The Office of the Master, and that of the administrative assistant, is located on the first floor of Atkinson. Students are invited to contact the master with ideas and suggestions which help further the general objective of creating a more collegial atmosphere within Atkinson.

Academic Standards

The following degree requirements apply to all students proceeding to a degree through Atkinson. It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that courses are selected in accordance with current degree/certificate and program requirements.

General

The following regulations apply to students taking courses at Atkinson. Applicants seeking admission are referred to the Regulations Governing Admission to Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies, York University.

All students are required to:

(a) observe the regulations of Atkinson and the University. Changes become effective as announced.

(b) maintain a satisfactory standard of work. All term work must be submitted by the dates specified by the course director. Normally all term work must be submitted before the day of examination.

(c) have discharged all financial liability to the University prior to graduation.

2. Candidates admitted to an Atkinson degree program are required to:

(a) have been admitted to York University as degree students.

(b) satisfy all the corequisite(s) and prerequisite(s) for courses selected for enrolment.

(c) satisfy the program and degree requirements for one of the following degrees:

- BA

- BAS
- BAS (Honours)
- BHRM
- BHRM (Honours)
- BHS (Honours)
- BSc
- BSc (Honours)
- BScN (Honours)
- BSW (Honours)

3. Choice of major program. Students can obtain sample programs of study outlining the degree, certificate and program requirements from the Office of Student and Academic Services Web site: <http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca> (under Academic Advising).

4. Residency requirement. In order to be eligible to receive a degree from Atkinson, at least 30 credits not used toward another academic program are to be taken at York University. Major requirements: at least half (50 per cent) of each Atkinson major requirement must be taken at Atkinson. (Note: the major requirement will vary in accordance with the number of credits required by each program. Residency requirements for the BSc degree may include 3000 or 4000 level Faculty of Science courses.

5. Cross-listed courses. Some courses in Atkinson are cross-listed: that is, they are offered jointly by two or more academic units/Faculties.

(a) Cross-listed courses may not be double counted in order to fulfill degree requirements;

(b) Cross-listed courses may not be used to fulfill outside elective requirements in the programs offering the cross-listing. For example, AK/SOSC 3370 6.00 may not count as an outside elective for students majoring in women's studies, and AK/WMST 3370 6.00 may not count as an outside elective for students majoring in social science. In the liberal studies program, cross-listed courses may not be used to exceed 24 credits from any one discipline.

6. Students who do not wish to pursue a degree or certificate program may request admission to the University under one of the following non-degree categories:

(a) visiting students: university degree holders doing post-degree courses for their own interest or for professional upgrading;

(b) students on a Letter of Permission from their home institution.

Visiting students admitted to Atkinson may:

- (i) enrol in degree credit courses providing they meet the published corequisite(s) and prerequisite(s), or obtain permission of the Chair of the discipline concerned;
- (ii) not register in a course equivalent to one already completed.

7. Audit a course. With the permission of a course director, an auditor attends classes and participates in a course in the same way as other students, but does not submit assignments or write tests or examinations. Further information about admissibility, application procedures, courses available, and fees may be obtained at Student Client Services, 416-736-5440.

8. Course conflict. Course conflicts occur when students enrol in more than one course on the same day and time in the same academic session. It is a student's responsibility to ensure that his/her schedule is conflict-free and to adjust course enrolments accordingly.

9. Second degrees

(a) A student holding a university undergraduate degree may apply for admission to studies leading to a second degree. Such students must be admissible to Atkinson.

(b) Atkinson graduates may apply for entry into a second bachelor degree program or they may request reclassification of their bachelor degree to Honours* (see the "Academic Standing" section). A minimum of 30 NEW credits must be completed for a second bachelor or Honours degree at York University (same or different major) including half the major from Atkinson. The general regulations on advanced standing would apply in all cases. The maximum number of new courses is also determined by the degree and program requirements of Atkinson.

* The residency requirement for Atkinson graduates proceeding to a first Honours degree in the same major must still be satisfied, including the residency requirement in the major.

10. Subsequent degrees. Students wishing to pursue a third or subsequent undergraduate degree must petition through the Atkinson Faculty Council (see the "Petitions and Appeals" section) for permission. It is the responsibility of the student to justify his/her desire to enter a third or subsequent undergraduate degree program, and to demonstrate why his/her educational aims could not be fulfilled in a non-degree or graduate program.

11. Courses taken outside Atkinson

York University courses. Atkinson degree candidates may enrol in courses offered by other York University Faculties provided they meet the publicized corequisite(s) and/or prerequisite(s). Students are responsible for ensuring that these out-of-Faculty courses meet Atkinson degree and program requirements.

Courses at other accredited Universities. Atkinson students pursuing a degree or an Atkinson certificate may request a letter of permission to receive credit at York for courses taken at other accredited universities. Students not working toward a degree or an Atkinson certificate are not eligible for letters of permission.

It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that:

- (i) courses completed on a letter of permission meet her/his program requirements;
- (ii) she/he will fulfill residency and in-Faculty requirements for graduation or granting of the certificate;
- (iii) she/he submit the letter of permission request with course descriptions to the appropriate departmental office and return the completed form and the application fee to Student Client Services;
- (iv) a letter of permission is granted prior to enrolling courses at the other institution;
- (v) if she/he does not register for the courses or does not complete the approved courses, the student must provide the Registrar's Office with documentation from the host institution declaring that the student did not register at that institution or withdrew from the courses without academic penalty;
- (vi) arrangements are made for the host institution to forward an official transcript to the Registrar's Office as soon as final grades are available.

Note 1: Students who receive a letter of permission to take their last course(s) at another institution should not, normally, expect to graduate at the convocation directly following the session in which the letter of permission was issued.

Note 2: Some programs may have their own Faculty approved policies restricting letters of permission on the basis of accreditation or professional association requirements. Please review your school/department policy.

Regulations:

- students must be enrolled in a degree or Atkinson certificate program;
- including courses taken on a letter of permission, Atkinson students may enrol in a maximum of 15 credits in a summer session and 30 credits in a fall/winter session;
- students must be in good academic standing in order to be approved for a letter of permission;
- a letter of permission will not be granted to students who are on academic, program or debarment warning or academic probation. If a student receives an academic, program, debarment warning, or academic probation or is ineligible to proceed at the conclusion of the current session, the letter of permission will be rescinded;
- in major courses in all Honours programs, and in the BAS and BHRM 90 credit degrees, credit is granted when an approved course is successfully completed with a minimum grade of C+ (65 per cent). For all other courses credit is granted when an approved course is successfully completed with a minimum grade of C (60 per cent). The Faculty is under no obligation to accept courses taken without its permission.
- grades for courses taken at the host institution are not listed on York University transcripts and are not included in the calculation of the York grade point average.

Should a student leave York University to pursue study at another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission, upon return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Students who were last registered in an undergraduate degree program in another Faculty of York University, and who wish to transfer to Atkinson must submit a Faculty Transfer Request form to Student Client Services. Refer to the "Academic Standing" section for degree/program academic standing requirements.

13. Course load for Atkinson students*Fall/winter session:

- Students may take up to and including 30 credits without permission.
- 33 - 35 credits during the fall/winter session will be approved if the student has:
  - (a) at least 30 credits completed at York University.
  - (b) a cumulative grade point average of 7.0.
- 36 - 42 credits may be taken during the fall/winter session if the student has:
  - (a) at least 30 credits completed at York University.
  - (b) a cumulative grade point average of 8.0.

Note: Where permission is required, students should first contact the Atkinson Faculty Council Office.

Winter term or summer session:

- Students may take up to and including 15 credits* without permission.
- 18 credits* may be taken during the summer session if a student has:
  - (a) at least 30 credits completed at York University.
  - (b) a cumulative grade point average of 7.0.

**Only 12 credits may be taken concurrently (except for the summer DAY sessions where students are limited to one half or one full course each term.)*

- 21 credits to a maximum of 24 credits may be taken during the summer session if a student has:
  - (a) at least 30 credits completed at York University.
  - (b) a cumulative grade point average of 8.0.

Note: Where permission is required, students should first contact the Atkinson Faculty Council Office.

14. Examinations*Students must write the examinations on the announced dates.

The language(s) of instruction is (are) normally the language(s) of examination. Other arrangements may be made in special cases, if application is submitted to Atkinson at least one month before the examination.

Some final examinations could take place in a different room and on a different day from the regularly scheduled class. Check the published examination schedule for a complete list of days and times.

Students who have examination conflicts due to religious observances can fill out a request to write an examination at another time. Forms are available in the academic departments.

In some cases, students may be eligible for deferred standing or aegrotat standing on the grounds of illness, accident or family misfortune.

Deferred standing. Deferred standing (an extension) may be granted to undergraduate students who are unable to write their final examination at the scheduled time, or to submit their final assignment on the last day of classes. In order to apply for deferred standing, students must complete a Final Exam/Assignment Deferred Standing Agreement (DSA) form and reach an agreement directly with the course director for an alternative final examination date or for an extension to the deadline. The deadline for submitting a DSA is within seven calendar days of a missed examination and/or final assignment due date. A petition for deferred standing (available through the Atkinson Faculty Council Office) may be initiated if the course director indicates on a DSA form that he/she refuses to approve deferred standing or if the request is made after the deadline has passed.

Note 1: When students do not or cannot write a mid-term examination (not held during the formal examination period), alternative arrangements to write the mid-term examination should be made within the duration of the course by the course director and individual student, at the discretion of the course director. The DSA form does not apply.

Note 2: Students who have experienced a misfortune or who are too ill to attend an examination in an Atkinson course should not attempt to do so; they must pursue deferred standing.

Note 3: Atkinson students in York courses other than Atkinson courses must arrange deferred standing in accordance with the regulations and deadlines of the Faculty offering the course.

Note 4: Deferred examinations for AK/ADMS courses are held with the final examinations for the same courses if they are offered in the term immediately following. The School of Administrative Studies will advise students in writing of the date, time and location of the exam. Students are required to contact the school if notification is not received three weeks prior to the examination period.

Aegrotat standing. In cases where a student cannot be expected to complete the work for a course, aegrotat standing may be substituted for the grade on the transcript. Aegrotat standing is seldom granted and only in exceptional circumstances due to the nature and extent of the student's illness/injury and where deferred standing is inappropriate.

16. Grade reappraisal. Students may, with sufficient grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised. Further information may be obtained from the school/department offering the course. Students who apply to have a grade reappraised should be aware of the following:

- requests for reappraisals must be filed with the school/department offering the course within 21 calendar days of the release of the final grade in the course.
- students may question the marking of specific pieces of work or the overall course grade. Normally, however, only tangible work may be reappraised. Tangible work may include written, graphic, digitized, modelled, video recording or audio recording formats, but not oral work.
- an original grade may be raised, lowered or confirmed.
- students wishing to request a reappraisal of a final grade should complete the appropriate form available from the school/department offering the course and return the completed form to the same office.
- decisions of Atkinson's schools/department may be appealed to the Atkinson Faculty Council Office only on the grounds of procedural irregularity.

Note: Petitions for late grade reappraisals (if the request is made after the deadline has passed) may be initiated through the Atkinson Faculty Council Office.

Grading

1. All course grades, including those assigned after a deferred examination(s) are derived from an evaluation of examination and term work, unless otherwise decided by the Atkinson Faculty Council Office on the recommendation of the course director. The weighting of these two portions is set by the course director and announced early in the course.

2. With the exception of courses explicitly required for certification by a professional body, or other exceptions agreed to by Senate, students pass or fail a course on the basis of final course average, without the additional requirement of having to obtain a passing grade on a final examination. (This does not preclude the possibility of a final examination representing more than 50 per cent of the final grade in a particular course or the requirement that a student pass a specific course lab component.)

3. Unless Senate agrees to explicit exemptions, eligibility to proceed in or graduate from an undergraduate degree program will not be based on a minimum grade requirement for each major course. It should be noted that this does not preclude setting requirements for a minimum cumulative grade point average in a major subject area. Nor does this preclude setting individual course grade requirements when a course is a prerequisite for upper level courses or as part of a "core" requirement. Course grades are not official until approved by the Committee on Examinations and Academic Standards.

4. The letter-grade system is the fundamental system of assessment of performance in undergraduate programs at York University.

5. Percentage equivalents grades to letter: Atkinson uses a letter grade system of grading.

6. Repeating passed or failed courses for academic credit:

(a) Students are allowed to retake a failed course once for academic degree or certificate credit. Students are allowed to retake a passed course once for academic degree or certificate credit, only if the student has failed to achieve sufficient standing to proceed in a core or prerequisite course in a degree or certificate program and if no alternative remedies are provided (e.g. alternative qualifying exam). Students should note that course availability and space consideration may preclude the possibility of repeating a course in the session they choose.

(b) When a student is allowed to repeat a course for academic degree or certificate credit, the second grade will be the grade of record and the only grade calculated in the student's grade point average (major, cumulative, sessional and overall). A course can be credited only once towards satisfaction of degree or certificate academic credit requirements.

(c) The record of both the first and second time the course was taken will appear on the student's transcript, with the first course designated as No Credit Retained (NCR).

Note: The transcript legend will explain that the NCR designation means that neither the course credit and grade have been included in the calculation of the student's grade point average. Courses that have been repeated will have the notation "NCR" (No Credit Retained).

(d) The restrictions regarding repeating a passed or failed course also apply to cross listed courses and degree credit exclusions.

(e) BSW majors who receive a failing grade in AK/SOWK 4000 6.00, may be permitted to enrol in a second and final field placement only upon agreement of the majority of the full-time Social Work faculty.

7. Pass/Fail alternative grading option:

Students in good standing academically who have passed a minimum of 24 credits are allowed to take up to 12 credits on an ungraded basis (pass/fail alternative grading option) toward an Honours degree or six credits toward a bachelor degree. The pass/fail alternative grading option cannot be used for courses taken to satisfy major, minor, general education, Certificate requirements or 1000-level science courses.

The ungraded option must be requested from the course director/instructor on a "Pass/Fail Option Application Form" (available from Student Client Services) within the first two weeks of class for the specific course. The completed form must then be submitted to the Office of Student and Academic Services, 123 Atkinson Building (for Atkinson students). Students will be notified in writing of their eligibility or ineligibility.

Reversing. Students who elect to switch back to graded status can do so up to the last date to drop the course. Written notice must be received in the Registrar's Office by this date, using the space provided on the eligibility letter.

Calculation of averages and credits. Courses taken on an ungraded basis are recorded as either P/Pass or F/Fail. They do not have grade point values so they cannot be calculated into an average. P/Pass credits are added into the total number of credits earned and credits taken. F/Fail credits are added into the total number of credits failed and credits taken.

Grade reports and transcripts. The ungraded option will appear as either P or F on both grade reports and transcripts.

Grades in Courses

1. The grading scheme (i.e. kinds and weights of assignments, essays, exams etc.) is to be announced, and be available in writing, within the first two weeks of classes.

Under normal circumstances, graded feedback worth at least 15 per cent of the final grade for fall, winter or summer term, and 30 per cent for 'full year' courses offered in the fall/winter term be received by students in all courses prior to the final withdrawal date from a course without receiving a grade, with the following exceptions

- graduate or upper level undergraduate courses where course work typically, or at the instructor's discretion, consists of a single piece of work and/or is based predominantly (or solely) on student presentations (e.g. honours theses or graduate research papers not due by the drop date, etc.);
- practicum courses;
- ungraded courses;
- courses in Faculties where the drop date occurs within the first 3 weeks of classes;
- courses which run on a compressed schedule (a course which accomplishes its academic credits of work at a rate of more than one credit hour per two calendar weeks).

Note: Under unusual and/or unforeseeable circumstances which disrupt the academic norm, instructors are expected to provide grading schemes and academic feedback in the spirit of these regulations, as soon as possible.

Subsequent changes: In exceptional circumstances, a previously announced marking scheme for a course may be changed, but only with the unanimous consent of students; the new marking scheme must also be distributed in written form.

In courses where percentages are used as a means of reporting grades on individual pieces of work, the conversion table is used in converting percentage grades to letter grades, unless alternative provisions for scaling and/or conversion are announced to students in writing within the first two weeks of classes.

2. Students in social work practica such as AK/SOWK 4000 6.00 do not receive a course grade in the manner described above. Course work is evaluated and recorded as demonstrating one of the two following levels of performance: "credit", "no credit". Criteria for these grades are available from the School of Social Work.

3. AK/NURS 4120 6.00, AK/NURS 4130 6.00 and AK/NURS 4140 6.00 have a practicum component that is graded as: "pass", "fail". The grade of "pass" must be achieved for the practicum component in order to receive a grade for the theoretical component of the course. If the grade for the practicum component is "fail" then the overall final course grade is "F".

4. AK/NURS 4110 9.00 and AK/NURS 4150 6.00 do not receive a course grade in the manner described above. Course work is evaluated and graded as "pass", "fail". Successful completion of all practicum components is a requirement in the BScN program.

Courses completed at the "credit" level are credited toward the degree, but are not included in the calculation of the degree's classification. For purposes of entry and maintenance in the Honours program a course result of "credit" is an acceptable level of performance. A course(s) with a grade of "credit" is not used when calculating grades for graduation. A course result of "no credit" is treated in the same way as failures in the general grading system.

Courses which are offered on an ungraded pass/fail basis only, and where the "fail grade" is to count as zero in the grade point average, will be designated as Credit/No Credit courses.

Academic Standing - BA, BAS, BHRM, BHS, BSc, BScN and BSW Degrees: Entry, Maintenance and Graduation

Academic standing depends on several factors including the number of credits a student has passed, the grade point average achieved during a particular session ("sessional grade point average"), the overall grade point average ("cumulative grade point average"), and the overall major grade point average ("major grade point average").

Change of Major. Students may request to change their major provided they meet the minimum academic standards required for the program requested. A "Change of Major" form must be completed and submitted to the appropriate school/department.

Change of degree. Students may request to change their degree after completion of their first academic session in the Faculty, provided they meet the minimum academic standards required for the program requested. A "Change of Degree" form must be completed and submitted to the Office of Student and Academic Services, 123 Atkinson Building.

**Note: There are additional entry requirements for the BSW and BScN programs.*

Change of Major/Degree forms are available from Student Client Services.

Bachelor Degree (90 Credits)

Students may petition to be allowed additional credits to a maximum of 102 credits to graduate with the bachelor degree. These courses must be above the 1000 level and must be taken at York University.

BA and BSc students who upon completion of at least 90 credits but less than 102 credits who have not met the academic standing required for their degree program will be allowed additional credits to raise their cumulative grade point average (see below).

Additional credits to raise grade point average for graduation:

Students in a BA or BSc degree program who have passed 90 credits in accordance with the Faculty's degree and program requirements, and whose cumulative grade point average is below the requirement for graduation may attempt to raise their average by taking up to 12 additional credits, to a maximum of 102 credits. These courses must be above the 1000 level and must be taken at York University.

Honours Degree (120 Credits)

(a) Entry/qualifying for Honours:

Students admitted to the Faculty with no previous postsecondary education will automatically be admitted to an Honours program.

Students admitted to the Faculty with previous postsecondary education are automatically admitted to an Honours degree if they have met the admission criteria for the program.

Students who have graduated from the Faculty with a bachelor degree and whose standing makes them eligible for Honours may pursue an Honours degree in the same major but must submit a request for reclassification of their degree in writing to the Registrar's Office.

Continuing students are automatically considered to have Honours standing provided they achieve the minimum cumulative grade point average of 5.0.

Note: There are additional entry requirements for the BSW and BScN programs.

3. Required withdrawal:

Students whose academic record shows marked weakness may be required to withdraw from their studies for one year, during which they are encouraged to identify and remedy any problems which may have contributed materially to their failure to perform up to their potential, and to reflect on their reasons for pursuing a university education. The following regulations apply to required withdrawals.

Grade point average below 4.0 and equal to or greater than 2.5:

Students who have received an academic warning for a cumulative grade point average below 4.0 (C) must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.0 (C) within their next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) in the session in which that 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative grade point average reaches 4.0 (C); otherwise, they must withdraw for twelve months. Students will be required to withdraw for twelve months should their cumulative grade point average fall below 2.5 at any time after completion of 24 credits.

Grade point average below 2.5: Students whose cumulative grade point average on at least 24 credits is below 2.5 must withdraw for twelve months.

4. Petition to continue without interruption:

Students who have been required to withdraw may submit a petition to the Atkinson Faculty Council Office requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. Students granted such a petition would be allowed to continue their studies on debarment warning.

5. Reactivation after required withdrawal:

Students who have been required to withdraw may apply for reactivation after the requisite period of absence by submitting a form obtainable from Student Client Services. Students who return to their studies after such a required withdrawal (as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the Committee on Awards and Petitions) receive a debarment warning.

6. Debarment warning:

Students who have been required to withdraw from the Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies, or from another Faculty at York, or elsewhere receive a debarment warning upon continuing their studies in the Faculty.

Debarment warning conditions. Students on debarment warning must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.0 (C) within the next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.0 (C+) in the session in which the 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative average reaches 4.0 (C), and must then maintain this average. Students who do not fulfill these conditions will be debarred from the University. Students whose cumulative grade point average falls below 2.5 at any time while on debarment warning will be debarred.

7. Debarment:

Students who fail to meet the debarment warning conditions outlined above will be debarred from the University. Debarment, the minimum period for which is normally two years, means that the student is no longer a student at York University.

8. Petition to continue without interruption:

Students who have been debarred may submit a petition to the Atkinson Faculty Council Office requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. Students granted such a petition would be allowed to continue their studies on academic probation.

9. Reapplying after debarment:

Students who have been debarred and who wish to resume their studies must apply for readmission through the Admissions Office, and must provide persuasive evidence that they are ready and able to complete a degree program. Students who are readmitted (as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the Committee on Awards and Petitions) receive an academic probation.

10. Academic probation:

Students who have been debarred and who subsequently resume their studies in the Faculty whether by petitioning to continue without interruption or by applying for readmission, receive an academic probation. Students on academic probation must meet the debarment warning conditions outlined above; otherwise, they will be debarred.

11. Suspension:

A penalty imposed for serious academic offences for a variable but limited period during which students may not be registered in the University. This penalty may be imposed only by a Faculty-level committee which has received authority to do so from a Faculty Council.

12. Rustication:

A sanction terminating the right of students to continue as a student of the University permanently or for a fixed or indefinite period of time, imposed by the University Discipline Tribunal for non-academic misconduct.

Petitions and Appeals

Students are expected to familiarize themselves with the University policy on Petitions and Grade Reappraisal before taking any steps which may have costly repercussions or affect their academic progress. The purpose of a petition is to request an exemption from a regulation or deadline. Ignorance of regulations or deadlines does not constitute a valid reason for a petition.

For further information, Atkinson students may contact: the Atkinson Faculty Council Office, 121 Atkinson Building, telephone: 416-650-8193, fax: 416-650-8179, e-mail: akcouncil@mail.atkinson.yorku.ca.

1. Petition:

A written request for the waiver of an academic regulation or deadline. A petition cannot be used to create legislation (i.e. a degree program) that does not exist. Petitions are submitted to and considered by a student's home Faculty.

Petitions relating to a student's enrolment status in a course will only be considered if they are submitted within 30 days of the last day of classes. Such petitions may be considered for a period of up to one year if they are based on special circumstances.

2. Petitions procedures:

The Committee on Petitions, on behalf of the Atkinson Faculty Council, considers Atkinson student petitions for exceptions to all Faculty regulations, including petitions to continue studies without interruption in cases where a student has been required to withdraw or debarred. The Committee will give due consideration to transition difficulties documented by students in their first university session. Petitions are held in the strictest confidence. The Committee considers the petition itself, any supporting documentation (from professors or medical practitioners) and other relevant information contained in the student's record. Students may not normally appear in person.

3. Initiating a petition:

To initiate a petition, Atkinson students should obtain a petition package and relevant forms such as a Student Course Performance Summary (CPS) form, and/or an Attending Physician's Statement (APS) form, and/or a Statement by Counselling and Development Counsellor form. All forms are available from the Atkinson Faculty Council Office, 121 Atkinson Building or online at <http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca>.

Note: Students in the Faculties of Arts, Fine Arts, Education and Pure and Applied Science must petition to the Registrar's Office. Students from faculties not listed should contact the respective Office of Student Programs.

Student academic petitions must be presented on the appropriate petition form (available from the Atkinson Faculty Council Office) and accompanied by a personal letter outlining the specific request and grounds for the petition as well as relevant original supporting documentation such as medical certificates, letters from employers etc.

Note: Student petitions regarding standing in a course must be accompanied by a Student Course Performance Summary (CPS) form filled out by the course director.

When a petition appears to be complete and has been processed by the Atkinson Faculty Council Office, it will normally be heard at the next regular meeting of the Committee on Petitions.

Students will be notified in writing of the decisions made on their petitions.

4. Appeal:

An appeal is a written request for the alteration of the decision taken on a petition generally made to the same level but to another person, panel or committee.

Appeals against decisions of the Atkinson Petitions Committee will be permitted only on the grounds of:

- (a) new evidence, or
- (b) evidence of procedural irregularity in the committee's consideration of the case.

Some courses (in particular the section Q courses) also require an Internet link. For students who do not have their own computers, there are a limited number that can be used in York University drop-in microlabs.*

Note 2: Students may take one of the following courses as an acceptable alternative to a major course in administrative studies. These courses do not count as electives outside the administrative studies major.

Students are advised when choosing management science courses to consult individual course prerequisites and Honours options. (Students are also advised that only six credits in this area will count in the bachelor of administrative studies (Honours) degree.)*

Note 4: 4000-level courses are open only to students in the Honours program, except for certain courses included within certificates where there is a C+ grade requirement on prerequisite courses. Any student may take these courses provided requirements are met.

Note 5: Students are recommended to consider, when choosing their elective courses, the following courses in related disciplines through the School of Social Sciences: AK/POLS 3410 6.00, AK/POLS 3420 6.00, AK/POLS 4100 6.00.

Computer Science

Department of Computer Science and Engineering
Contact: George Tournakis

Prerequisites for the first course in the computer science major: One of (1) – (4) must be met:

1. (New high school curriculum): Advanced functions and introduction to calculus, and geometry and discrete mathematics, with a minimum mathematics average of 75 per cent and no mathematics grade below 65 per cent.

2. (Old high school curriculum): OAC calculus and one other OAC mathematics (normally finite mathematics or algebra and geometry) with an average grade of at least 75 per cent in all OAC mathematics and no grade less than 65 per cent.

3. Completion of six credits from York University mathematics courses (not including AK/MATH 1710 6.00 or courses with second digit 5) or equivalent with a grade of 5.0 (C+) or better over these credits.

4. Completion of AK/MATH 1710 6.00, or six credits from York University mathematics courses whose second digit is 5, with an average grade not below 7.0 (B+).

A maximum of three 2000-, 3000- or 4000-level computer science courses in one term is permitted. In the summer term students are not permitted to take more than six credits in computer science. If any student enrolls in more than the allowed number of courses per term they will be removed from whichever courses the department requires the space. The department also reserves the right to move students from a course in one term to the same course in the next term should such steps be necessary to ensure equitable access to courses. This includes movement from fall to winter or winter to summer.

All degree candidates must also satisfy the general education, elective, and upper-level course requirements of Atkinson, as described.

Program Requirements

AK/MATH 1710 6.00 is required to fulfill the general education requirement. Refer to AK/MATH 1710 6.00 course description notes for further details.

Students interested in other liberal studies themes should contact the appropriate school noted below.

The purpose of a BA liberal studies degree is to allow students to follow a program of studies of related courses which offers greater flexibility than a major program or that lies in an area for which there may not be a major program. Students in liberal studies individualized studies are advised to make an appointment with the Office of Student and Academic Services to discuss course selection and theme approval. The major program consists of at least 48 credits in a designated theme area, which form a coherent pattern of study, including at least 18 credits at the 3000 level or above. A liberal studies degree program may contain no more than 24 credits from any one academic discipline. Cross-listed courses may not be used to exceed 24 credits from any one discipline.

It is possible for students to take the equivalent of an Honours program in liberal studies if they enrol under general Honours. Students may initiate programs to suit particular interests. Students are advised to consult a student advisor in Office of Student and Academic Services or program coordinator.

Individualized Studies

Contact: Office of Student and Academic Services (OSAS)

The purpose of a BA liberal studies individualized studies degree is to allow students to follow a program of studies of related courses which offers greater flexibility than a major program or which lies in an area for which there may not be a major program. Students may initiate their own programs to suit their particular interests. Students must make an advising appointment with the Office of Student and Academic Services to discuss course selection and theme approval.

Program Requirements

BA: 90 credits

Major: 48 credits as follows:

In consultation with the Office of Student and Academic Services, the major program consists of at least 48 credits in a designated theme area, which form a coherent pattern of study, including at least 18 credits at the 3000 level or above. No more than 24 credits may be taken in any one discipline in the degree.

BA (General Honours) (Type A): 120 credits

Major: 66 credits as follows:

In consultation with the Office of Student and Academic Services, at least 36 credits in one major discipline including 12 credits at the 4000 level, and at least 30 credits in related disciplines including six credits at the 4000 level and 18 credits at the 3000 level. All 66 credits must form a coherent pattern of study.

BA (General Honours) (Type B): 120 credits

Major: 90 credits as follows:

In consultation with the Office of Student and Academic Services, at least 90 credits to form a coherent pattern of study including at least 18 credits at the 4000 level and 30 credits at the 3000 level.

Psychology

Department of Psychology
Contact: Ron Okada

Students may choose to major in psychology as part of the requirements for the BA or the BSc degree. The main difference between these two degrees is that for the BSc degree, students must take elective courses in mathematics and the physical sciences. Courses taken for either degree are fully compatible with the requirements for the BA (Honours) degree.

Program Requirements

Admission to all 2000, 3000, and 4000 level courses in psychology (with the exception of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2020 6.00, AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00, and AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2022 3.00) is conditional upon satisfactory completion of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00.

Students must obtain a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 to be permitted to continue as a major in psychology, as well as to take any further psychology courses for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite.

Under exceptional circumstances, non-majors who have not obtained a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 may apply for special consideration to enrol in an upper-level psychology course for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite. This application should be made to the psychology undergraduate program director in the Faculty offering the course.

BA: 90 credits

Major: 30 credits in psychology including:

AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 (with a minimum grade of C):

- (a) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00, AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2030 3.00; and
- (b) 18 credits in psychology at the 2000/3000 level, including: (i) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2100/3100 3.00 series; and (ii) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2200/3200 3.00 series.

BA (Specialized Honours): 120 credits

Major: 54 credits in psychology including:

AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 (with a minimum grade of C):

- (a) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2022 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2030 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 3010 3.00; and
- (b) 18 credits in psychology at the 2000/3000 level, including (i) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2100/3100 3.00 series, and (ii) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2200/3200 3.00 series, and
- (c) at least 18 credits in psychology at the 4000 level, including AK/AS/SC/PSYC 4000 6.00. Only six credits in clinical courses (see department mini-calendar for the list of clinical courses) may be taken to fulfill requirements. This does not prevent students from taking more than six credits in clinical courses.
