Prerequisites for the first course in the computer science major: One of (1) – (4) must be met:

- (New high school curriculum): Advanced functions and introduction to calculus, and geometry and discrete mathematics, with a minimum mathematics average of 75 per cent and no mathematics grade below 65 per cent.
- (Old high school curriculum): OAC calculus and one other OAC mathematics (normally finite mathematics or algebra and geometry) with an average grade of at least 75 per cent in all OAC mathematics and no grade less than 65 per cent.
- Completion of six credits from York University mathematics courses (not including AK/MATH 1710 6.00 or courses with second digit 5) or equivalent with a grade of 5.0 (C+) or better over these credits.
- Completion of AK/MATH 1710 6.00, or six credits from York University mathematics courses whose second digit is 5, with an average grade not below 7.0 (B+).

A maximum of three 2000-, 3000- or 4000-level computer science courses in one term is permitted. In the summer term students are not permitted to take more than six credits in computer science. If any student enrolls in more than the allowed number of courses per term they will be removed from whichever courses the department requires the space. The department also reserves the right to move students from a course in one term to the same course in the next term should such steps be necessary to ensure equitable access to courses. This includes movement from fall to winter or winter to summer.

All degree candidates must also satisfy the general education, elective, and upper-level course requirements of Atkinson, as described.

Psychology

Department of Psychology

Contact: Ron Okada

Students may choose to major in psychology as part of the requirements for the BA or the BSc degree. The main difference between these two degrees is that for the BSc degree, students must take elective courses in mathematics and the physical sciences. Courses taken for either degree are fully compatible with the requirements for the BA (Honours) degree.

Program Requirements

Admission to all 2000-, 3000-, and 4000-level courses in psychology (with the exception of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2020 6.00, AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00, and AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2022 3.00) is conditional upon satisfactory completion of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00.

Students must obtain a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 to be permitted to continue as a major in psychology, as well as to take any further psychology courses for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite.

Under exceptional circumstances, non-majors who have not obtained a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 may apply for special consideration to enrol in an upper-level psychology course for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite. This application should be made to the psychology undergraduate program director in the Faculty offering the course.

BA: 90 credits

Major: 30 credits in psychology including:

- (a) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 (with a minimum grade of C):
- (b) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00, AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2030 3.00; and
- (c) 18 credits in psychology at the 2000/3000 level, including: (i) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2100/3100 3.00 series; and (ii) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2200/3200 3.00 series.

Note: At least 12 of the 30 credits in psychology must be at the 3000 level or above.

BA (Specialized Honours): 120 credits

Major: 54 credits in psychology including:

- (a) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 (with a minimum grade of C):
- (b) AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2022 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2030 3.00; AK/AS/SC/PSYC 3010 3.00; and
- (c) 18 credits in psychology at the 2000/3000 level, including (i) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2100/3100 3.00 series, and (ii) at least six credits chosen from the AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2200/3200 3.00 series; and
- (d) at least 18 credits in psychology at the 4000 level, including AK/AS/SC/PSYC 4000 6.00. Only six credits in clinical courses (see department mini-calendar for the list of clinical courses) may be taken to fulfill requirements. This does not prevent students from taking more than six credits in clinical courses.

Women's Studies

School of Women's Studies

Atkinson Coordinator: Ruby Newman

The School of Women's Studies offers a consolidated undergraduate program which brings together the women's studies programs from the Faculties of Arts, Atkinson and Glendon College. This merged undergraduate program provides students with increased flexibility and access to a greater number and variety of women's studies courses. Courses offered through the School of Women's Studies will count as in-Faculty courses for Atkinson, Arts, and Glendon students, and will be offered during the day and evening on both the Keele campus and the Glendon campus. Please consult the School of Women's Studies mini-calendar for further information, available at the school's main office, S711 Ross, 416-650-8144 (press 1).

The undergraduate women's studies curriculum is built around four different kinds of courses.

Required Courses

- AK/AS/GL/WMST 2500 6.00 or AK/AS/GL/WMST 2510 9.00: required for all women's studies majors;
- AK/AS/GL/WMST 4500 6.00: required for all women's studies majors in an Honours BA program.

Core Courses

The core courses are offered by the School of Women's Studies and, like the required courses, have the second digit five (5) in the course number, e.g. WMST 2500 6.00. Students are required to select between 12 and 24 credits of core courses depending on their degree program. Core courses cover themes deemed essential to women's studies and will explicitly aim to develop critical reading, writing and oral presentation skills, research skills and more advanced research and theoretical skills as appropriate to the course and year level. The required and core courses will:

- focus primarily on women;
- be taught from feminist perspectives;
- be interdisciplinary;
- address the intersections of race, ethnicity, disability, sexual identity and gender;
- acknowledge the different perspectives on women in a global context;
- explicitly identify the critical skills to be developed in the course.

Non-Core Courses

The School of Women's Studies will offer a small number of non-core courses designed to serve a narrower disciplinary focus than the core courses, meet a particular program need (e.g. independent study or special topics courses), or appeal to non-women's studies majors. These courses will have the second digit 8 in the course number, e.g. WMST 4802 3.00.

Courses Offered by Other Units

Courses offered by other teaching units may be accepted for program credit or cross-listed with the School of Women's Studies. These courses will count towards the major requirements in women's studies. Please consult the School of Women's Studies mini-calendar, available in the school's main office, S711 Ross Building, 416-650-8144 (press 1).

Program Requirements

Note: All courses mounted by the School of Women's Studies with a five (5) as the second digit (e.g. AK/AS/GL/WMST 2501 3.00) are considered core courses.

Department of Computer Science and Engineering
Contact: George Tourlakis

Prerequisites for the first course in the computer science major: One of (1) – (4) must be met:

- (New high school curriculum): Advanced functions and introduction to calculus, and geometry and discrete mathematics, with a minimum mathematics average of 75 per cent and no mathematics grade below 65 per cent.
- (Old high school curriculum): OAC calculus and one other OAC mathematics (normally finite mathematics or algebra and geometry) with an average grade of at least 75 per cent in all OAC mathematics and no grade less than 65 per cent.
- Completion of six credits from York University mathematics courses (not including AK/MATH 1710 6.00 or courses with second digit 5) or equivalent with a grade of 5.0 (C+) or better over these credits.
- Completion of AK/MATH 1710 6.00, or six credits from York University mathematics courses whose second digit is 5, with an average grade not below 7.0 (B+).

A maximum of three 2000-, 3000- or 4000-level computer science courses in one term is permitted. In the summer term students are not permitted to take more than six credits in computer science. If any student enrolls in more than the allowed number of courses per term they will be removed from whichever courses the department requires the space. The department also reserves the right to move students from a course in one term to the same course in the next term should such steps be necessary to ensure equitable access to courses. This includes movement from fall to winter or winter to summer.

All degree candidates must also satisfy the general education, elective, and upper-level course requirements of Atkinson, as described.

Psychology

Department of Psychology

Contact: Ron Okada

Students may choose to major in psychology as part of the requirements for the BA or the BSc degree. The main difference between these two degrees is that for the BSc degree, students must take elective courses in mathematics and the physical sciences. Courses taken for either degree are fully compatible with the requirements for the BA (Honours) degree.

Admission to all 2000-, 3000-, and 4000-level courses in psychology (with the exception of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2020 6.00, AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2021 3.00, and AK/AS/SC/PSYC 2022 3.00) is conditional upon satisfactory completion of AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00.

Students must obtain a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 to be permitted to continue as a major in psychology, as well as to take any further psychology courses for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite.

Under exceptional circumstances, non-majors who have not obtained a minimum grade of C (4.0) in AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 may apply for special consideration to enrol in an upper-level psychology course for which AK/AS/SC/PSYC 1010 6.00 is a prerequisite. This application should be made to the psychology undergraduate program director in the Faculty offering the course.

Programs of Study – Bachelor of Science in Nursing Degree (BScN)

School of Nursing

Undergraduate Program Directors:

Collaborative Program - Eleanor Pask

Post-RN Program - Irene Swinson

There are three routes to the Bachelor of Science in Nursing honours degree: to become a Registered Nurse (two routes) or for Registered Nurses to earn a degree. The Bachelor of Science in Nursing program is offered in three distinct streams. The School of Nursing also offers two certificates: Health Informatics and Primary Health Care Nurse Practitioner.

The BScN (Honours) program focuses on the development of the theoretical, scientific and philosophical knowledge of human caring. The role of nurses, through caring relationships, in promoting and preserving health and healing is emphasized through both theory and self-reflective practice. Graduates will be prepared to practise collaboratively in a variety of settings to enhance individual, family, community and global health.

1. Collaborative BScN Program. This program is for students entering the nursing profession. In collaboration with Seneca and Georgian Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology, the first two years of the integrated four-year curriculum are completed at one of the College partners and the last two years are completed at York. Applicants may obtain further information from the School of Nursing (York) 416-736-5271, or the Nursing Programs at Seneca College 416-491-5050 ext. 5013, Georgian College 705-728-1968 ext. 1448.

2. 2nd Entry BScN Program. This program is for students entering the nursing profession. Two options are available for completing the program. A three academic year advanced standing option is designed for students meeting admission prerequisites, who wish to study through the fall and winter terms. A two calendar year advanced standing option is a concentrated six semester program, requiring students to study fall, winter and summer terms over two years. Both options require full time study and admission through OUAC. Information can be obtained from the School of Nursing at 416-736-5271 or from the Office of Admissions at 416-736-5000.

3. Post-RN BScN Program. This program is for Registered Nurses in Ontario or Internationally Educated Nurses. Information about the BScN program may be obtained from the School of Nursing 416-736-5271 or from the Office of Admissions at 416-736-5000.

4. Health Informatics Certificate. This certificate is open to students who have a health-related college diploma or university degree. Students enrolled in the BScN degree may take the Health Informatics Certificate concurrently. Information can be obtained from the School of Nursing at 416-736-5271.

5. Primary Health Care Nurse Practitioner Certificate. A Primary Health Care Nurse Practitioner Certificate is also available for Registered Nurses holding a completed baccalaureate degree in nursing. This certificate may be taken on a full-time or part-time basis. Information can be obtained from the School of Nursing at 416-736-5271. Please see the Web site <http://np.education.ca/>.

Certificates

“Undergraduate Certificate” is the term applied to a program of study attesting to a level of competence or skill in a particular area or field. It is distinct from a defined undergraduate degree program, stream, specialization or informal concentration. A certificate recognizes a specific grouping of courses that are cross-disciplinary but with a thematic coherence; form a coherent yet distinctive complement to the major of a degree program, or: lead to the acquisition of specific skills or professional expertise that may meet requirements of outside accrediting bodies.

1. Categories of Certificates: Atkinson offers advanced, cross-disciplinary, general and professional certificates. For titles and patterns of study, refer below.

2. Admission: Students seeking direct entry to a certificate program must submit written application when applying for admission to the University. Students already enrolled in an undergraduate degree program are also expected to apply for entry to a certificate program, normally prior to completion of 36 credits of their undergraduate degree program. Applications should be obtained and filed with the unit administering the certificate program.

Students who were admitted to a Professional Certificate offered by the School of Administrative Studies prior to Fall/Winter 2005-2006 may elect to follow the old certificate regulations or the new Certificate regulations whichever is more advantageous. All students admitted from September 2005 must follow new regulations.

3. Minimum Standards:

- (i) Advanced certificates: As described by program

(ii) Cross-disciplinary certificates: Minimum 24 credits, at least 18 of which must be at the 2000 level or above, including six credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

(iii) General certificates: As described by program.

(iv) Professional certificates: Normally 24 credits, 18 credits of which would be at the 3000 level or above. In most cases, at least 12 credits of the disciplinary courses that satisfy certificate requirements must be in addition for those used to satisfy requirements of an undergraduate major being completed concurrently.

Note: To obtain a professional certificate offered by the School of Administrative Studies, at least 18 credits of the ADMS course credits that satisfy certificate requirements must be in addition to those used to satisfy a degree.

Note: Some certificate programs may have specific academic standing requirements.

4. Minimum requirements for multiple certificates: Students may acquire more than one certificate provided that at least 18 credits in each certificate are unique to the specific certificate.

5. General Information:

(i) All academic regulations applying to degree students in degree programs will apply to students in certificates.

(ii) A student who wishes to change from a certificate to a degree must re-apply to the York University Admissions Office.

(iii) Students enrolled in a certificate program and who are not concurrently enrolled in a degree program may take only the courses required for the completion of the certificate.

6. Residency requirement: The University residency requirement for undergraduate certificate programs are as follows:

(i) 18 credits to be completed at York for a certificate requiring up to 36 credits

(ii) 50 per cent of the required credits to be completed at York for certificates comprising more than 36 credits

(iii) Normally, for undergraduate certificate programs requiring 18 credits or less, all credits are completed at York

7. Graduating with a certificate: Except where otherwise stated, a minimum cumulative grade point average of 4.0 is required to satisfy certificate requirements. Students must submit an Application to graduate from a certificate program. Applications should be obtained and filed with the Unit administering the certificate program. Certificates will not be conferred until candidates have successfully completed and undergraduate degree program if they are simultaneously enrolled in a degree and a certificate program. Exception: students who were admitted to a certificate prior to Fall 2005.

The Faculty does not award certificates retroactively.

General Certificates

Professional Ethics

School of Analytic Studies and Information Technology

Contact: Patricia Kazan

Ethical issues are becoming increasingly central to almost all areas of professional and public life. As work becomes faster, more technologically and bureaucratically complex, and evermore economically productive, ethical issues increase in difficulty and seriousness. As a result, the demand for people with qualifications in professional ethics is growing in all sectors. Our especially large range of courses in the area of professional ethics concentrates on real situations and case studies. Almost all of these courses are cross-listed with the relevant professional department or discipline. By taking a number of these courses, students encounter many different concrete ethical issues and learn a variety of perspectives and methodologies for dealing with them. Our style of professional ethics recognizes the diversity of values, traditions and points of view that are brought to bear today on actual current ethical problems. Nonetheless, these courses constantly attempt to integrate this situational approach by means of a search for generally applicable methodologies and ways of theorizing such issues. The certificate therefore gives students a wide range of experience and methodologies for understanding institutional practices that deal with ethical issues in the public and private sectors. They develop capacities to flexibly adapt this knowledge to different institutions and unforeseen ethical problems in such areas as education, business, health, media, government, law, social work, politics and personal life. Because the resolution of concrete ethical issues needs a creative response to the particularities of unforeseen situations, practice on cases in a number of different institutions and professions helps one to prepare for dealing with problems in one's own.

Professional Development Courses/Workshops in Dispute Resolution

This professional development series is designed to assist mediators and other practitioners to develop and refine their skills within specialized areas of practice and management. The series will explore three key areas of specialization: Dispute Resolution in the Workplace; Building a Successful Mediation Practice and Family Mediation.

Introduction to Dispute Resolution in the Workplace

The workplace constitutes a complex and fascinating area of study for HR managers, supervisors and other practitioners, and for students of dispute resolution. In the workplace, the broadest range of disputes arise such as daily inter-personal conflicts, important issues of workplace regulation, efficiency, productivity, safety, and issues of human rights. In this 18-hour non-credit workshop, participants will explore the dispute resolution options that are available within the workplace, in the context of relevant statutes and laws. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Labour Relations: Options for Dispute Resolution

As a matter of law, every collective agreement in Ontario must contain an arbitration provision. This ensures a timely hearing of grievance arbitrations and provides a predictable pathway to grievance resolution. This intensive, interactive 18-hour non-credit workshop will provide participants with the opportunity to take a careful look at grievance arbitration, examine its process, and its alternatives. For greatest impact and relevance, fact situations used in the workshop will be based on the participants’ actual workplace experiences and relevant arbitration awards. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Managing Harassment in the Workplace

In every organization, interpersonal conflicts may result in complaints of harassment. This 18-hour non-credit workshop discusses positive workplace culture and reviews the processes and procedures for managing harassment complaints in the organizational setting. It provides a complete system for managers to deal effectively with complaints and their resolution. This workshop will provide the information to ensure that your organization is in compliance with the required processes for dealing with harassment and as a result provide employees with a positive work environment. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Building a Successful Mediation Practice

To establish and maintain a successful mediation practice practitioners must have business know-how, marketing skills and administrative expertise. This 39-hour non-credit course will help dispute resolution practitioners develop these skills, design the kind of practice they want, attract a desirable clientele, and lead their business in profitable new directions. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Introduction to Family Mediation

This 39-hour non-credit course will explore major issues in family mediation including custody and access; custodial designation; expectations of referral sources, clients and mediators; screening for appropriateness of mediation; interim arrangements; property and support; asset evaluation and distribution; and termination. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Advanced Family Mediation Skills Training

This 21-hour non-degree workshop will enable participants to move to a more advanced level when dealing with complex financial and child-related cases in family mediation.

Participants will have the opportunity to practice their skills with a coach/student ratio of 1:5, along with receiving videotaped feedback on their role-play(s). The course utilizes the performance-based training model, in which the role-play becomes the learning forum, rather than an extension of the lecture. There will be demonstrations by the instructor during the workshop. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Assessing and Screening for Domestic Violence

Research suggests that power and control issues that underlie domestic violence may heighten during separation/divorce proceedings and child custody disputes. Mediators and other professionals who work with families involved in divorce proceedings need to be concerned about domestic violence. This 21-hour non-degree credit workshop will assist mediators and other practitioners to develop theoretical knowledge and practise skills in recognizing domestic violence and determining whether and under what conditions divorce mediation is appropriate.

This workshop is also designed to meet the Domestic Violence Training requirements set by the OAFM and FMC for their members. OAFM requires that all mediators who are seeking certification have a minimum of 15 hours of domestic violence education/training. FMC requires that their members receive 21 hours of similar training. (http://www.atkinson.yorku.ca/~dce/Programs/Professional/ProDev_DR/ProDevDRDesc.html)

Family Mediator Certification Preparation

This 21-hour non-credit workshop will provide participants with a review of the family mediation literature and field of practice, an understanding of the correlation between the literature and the credential examination offered through Family Mediation Canada (FMC), and examination requirements and exam writing strategies.
