At a joint meeting, held on January 14, 1999, the executive committees of the Board of Governors and the Senate agreed to recommend to their respective bodies that they endorse the new York University mission statement. It was endorsed by the Senate at its meeting on January 28, and by the Board of Governors on February 22, 1999.

These endorsements validated a shared vision of the University's mission and values as York continues to prepare for the challenges and opportunities of the future. The mission statement is intended to provide a sense of common direction and aspiration for the University's governing bodies and for all members, alumni and friends of York.

I. York University Mission Statement

The mission of York University is the pursuit, preservation and dissemination of knowledge. We promise excellence in research and teaching in pure, applied and professional fields. We test the boundaries and structures of knowledge. We cultivate the critical intellect.

York University is part of Toronto: we are dynamic, metropolitan and multicultural. York University is part of Canada: we encourage bilingual study, we value tolerance and diversity. York University is open to the world: we explore global concerns.

A community of faculty, students and staff committed to academic freedom, social justice, accessible education and collegial self-governance, York University makes innovation its tradition.

Tentanda via: the way must be tried.

II. Important Notice and Disclaimer

This PDF version of the York University Undergraduate Calendar is provided to you on the same terms and conditions as those governing access to and use of the University's Web site <http://www.yorku.ca>, with necessary modifications. These terms and conditions are set out at http://www.yorku.ca/web/about_yorku/privacy.html.

This calendar is intended to assist readers to understand the academic and administrative structure and policies and procedures of the University, and to describe the academic programs offered. By the act of registration each student becomes bound by the policies and regulations of York University, including the Faculty in which the student is registered. Students are responsible for familiarizing themselves with the general information, rules and regulations contained in the calendar, and with the specific information, rules and regulations of the Faculty or Faculties in which they are registered or enrolled or seek registration or enrolment, as well as the specific requirements of each degree, diploma or certificate sought. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the courses chosen are appropriate to the program requirements.

York reserves the right to make changes in the information contained in the calendar without prior notice. Not every course listed in the calendar will necessarily be offered in any academic year. York reserves the right to limit the number of students who enrol in any program or course. While reasonable efforts will be made to offer courses as required within programs, admission to a program does not guarantee admission to any given course.

If there is an inconsistency between the general academic regulations and policies published in the calendar and such regulations and policies as established by resolution of a Faculty or of the University Senate, the version of such material as it is established by a Faculty or the University Senate will prevail.

York University disclaims all responsibility and liability for loss or damage suffered or incurred by any student or other party as a result of delays in or termination of its services, courses, or classes by reason of force majeure, fire, flood, riots, war, strikes, lock-outs, damage to University property, financial exigency or other events beyond the reasonable control of the University.

York University disclaims any and all liability for damages arising as a result of errors, interruptions or disruptions to operations or connected with its operations or its campuses, arising out of computer failure or non-compliance of its computing systems.

About York University

Since its inception in 1959, York University has become world renowned for its unique interdisciplinary approach to teaching and research. A York University education provides a broad perspective and a modern approach to real world issues studied from every angle. York is where students and faculty from differing disciplines join together to explore their subjects to the fullest possible extent. The result is a dynamic, all-round perspective that delivers a more relevant learning experience. Our graduates are better able to develop advanced solutions to complex problems, and benefit from a unique perspective that is both flexible and optimistic.

York University is also known for its interdisciplinary approach to research and scholarship. We are home to 26 research centres covering a wide spectrum of interests from Sustainability and Vision Research, to Earth and Space Science and Refugee Studies.

York is an academic community of over 60,000 people, over 7,300 faculty and staff, 52,000 undergraduate and graduate students and over 200,000 alumni. The University graduates more than 8,000 students annually from its 10 Faculties: Education, Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Glendon College, Graduate Studies, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, Osgoode Hall Law School, Schulich School of Business, and Science and Engineering.

On July 1, 2009 the majority of the programs from the Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies and the Faculty of Arts – both at the Keele campus – will be moved to the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies. This Faculty will comprise the most comprehensive range of interdisciplinary academic programs and researchers in social sciences, humanities and related professional programs in Canada.

York University offers a world-class, modern academic experience in Toronto, Canada's most international city. York is at the centre of innovation, with a thriving community of faculty, students, staff and alumni who challenge the ordinary and deliver the unexpected. Working together, we redefine the possible.

York as a Secular University

From its inception in 1959, York University was created as a secular institution. York's Mission Statement emphasizes its multicultural nature, and the value it places on tolerance and diversity. It also emphasizes a commitment to testing the boundaries and structures of knowledge and to cultivating the critical intellect. It is in this context that the university is governed and its curriculum developed and delivered.

What this can mean in practice is that those who have strong commitments to various faith communities or political ideologies may find their beliefs challenged by others and/or they may find that material presented in the curriculum criticizes or offends some of their values. This is to be expected in a pluralistic society. The university is a reflection of our society and more: it is a place where knowledge and beliefs are subject to critical assessment.

York University is committed to providing a place of study and work which upholds the democratic and pluralistic values of Canadian society. The university's policies and procedures, including its academic rules and regulations, are designed to be fully in compliance with all legal requirements, specifically the Ontario Human Rights Code, in providing accommodation for the observance of significant religious occasions by its faculty, staff and students. This position is reflected in the Senate Policy on Sessional Dates which confirms the university's respect for such observance and its commitment to accommodation in the scheduling of examinations. It is the responsibility of students, faculty and staff to comply with Senate policy in both requesting and providing such accommodation. For further information go to <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/regobs/>.

Registration and Fees

The Senate, the Board of Governors and the administration of York University reserve the right to make changes in both the fees and regulations given in the Undergraduate Calendar, without prior notice.

All students, whether newly admitted, returning or continuing, must formally enrol in their courses.

Once you have selected and enrolled in courses, the next major step is to register. Registration is the process by which you become listed on the official student records of the University.

In order to register, you must: (i) pay all outstanding financial liabilities owing to the University; (ii) enrol in a program of study for which you are eligible and in courses to which you are entitled; (iii) pay your current academic fees.

Please note: for complete information on enrolment, consult the most recent online Undergraduate Enrolment Guide available at <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca/enrolmentguides/>.

YU-card (Student Card)

The YU-card is the one card you'll need during your stay at York University. It is York's official photo ID and campus debit card. The YU-card serves as photo ID for exams and as your library card, and provides access to recreation facilities. You can load up your YU-card with money and use it as a debit card at participating locations across campus, including food outlets, vending machines, the York Bookstore and printing and photocopying services in libraries and labs. Using your YU-card for purchases is fast and convenient – perfect for students on the go!

Obtaining your YU-card is easy. Bring your student number and one piece of valid government-issued photo ID (acceptable photo ID includes passports, driver's licences, citizenship cards etc.) to the YU-card Office while you are on campus for your advising appointment. We will take your photo and you will receive your card on the spot. Best of all, your first YU-card is free!

To find out more, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/yucard/>.

Official Examination Identification

Students are required to present identification at each examination during the official examination period. The following items will be accepted:

- a YU-card with a photo;
- a YU-card without a photo plus a photo-bearing form of identification such as a driver's licence or passport.

The College System

A distinguishing feature of York University is the college system which uniquely bridges the large multi-Faculty University to smaller units for a closer relationship between faculty members and students. York colleges are small interdisciplinary communities, with distinctive characters and mandates, that offer a welcoming, innovative and convivial environment supportive of students' successful adjustment to the university and the successful completion of their degree requirements. Each undergraduate student entering York University for the first time becomes affiliated with a college. The eight colleges serving students – Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, New, Norman Bethune, Stong, Vanier and Winters – provide a wide range of academic and extracurricular activities to complement the instructional programs of the various Faculties and to enrich the experience of the York student. College facilities may include common rooms, dining halls, coffee shops, study areas, computer rooms, seminar and small lecture rooms, in addition to a variety of recreational facilities. Colleges accommodate about 260 out-of-town students, about 10 per cent of the total college enrolment, in well-equipped residences adjacent to college buildings. For further information, please consult the Academic Services and Support section.

The college is self-governed in its day-to-day activities by both faculty members and students. Each college is administered by a master and academic adviser, and by the residence life coordinator and dons in the residence. Each college also has a College Council, elected by students, which plans and finances a full range of social, cultural and athletic programs. Academic Orientation and Peer Advising, especially for first-year students in each college, is coordinated by the college's academic adviser with the support of specially trained upper-level students. Fellows, who are valued members of the college and York community offer additional support in accordance with the academic mandate of each college.

The recent Task Force on the Colleges (2007) recommended a new alignment of affiliation between colleges and Faculties, with the college masters reporting to the deans of the affiliated Faculty as of July 1, 2007. Colleges are affiliated with Faculties to support the academic mandate and enhance the student experience for Faculties. Colleges will continue to encourage an interdisciplinary approach to academic life. The new Faculty affiliations for colleges are:

- Calumet College – Faculty of Health and Schulich School of Business
- Founders College – Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Faculty of Environmental Studies
- McLaughlin College – Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies
- New College – Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies
- Norman Bethune College – Faculty of Science and Engineering
- Stong College – Faculty of Health
- Vanier College – Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies
- Winters College – Faculty of Fine Arts and Faculty of Education

Glendon College, which is a constituent Faculty, offers daytime bilingual (French and English) undergraduate programs on a separate campus. Please consult the Glendon section for further information.

College Programs

The college programs provide a variety of cocurricular events and activities that support the distinctive academic mandates of each college and enhance the student experience. Norman Bethune College offers foundations courses as well as a special series of first year courses (first year university seminar: FYUS) linked to the Faculty of Science and Engineering. Winters College academic offerings are linked to the Faculty of Fine Arts Cultural Studies program. The colleges are located in two complexes with both offering an updated computer lounge for students to relax, conduct academic work and/or utilize the provided computers. These lounges also provide a wireless environment for students who bring their own laptop computers. Events offered by the colleges can be found on each college's Web site (see below) or by referring to: <http://www.yorku.ca/colleges/events/>.

Calumet College

Calumet College was founded in 1970, sixth of the eight undergraduate colleges. It was initially housed in the Steacie Library and later at Atkinson. The unique character of Calumet College life and governance developed during the many years in Atkinson when Calumet served only commuter students. Master Eric Winter opened the college's first computer lab and introduced computer-related college courses. In 1991, through the leadership of Master Peggy Keall, Calumet College and Calumet Residence buildings were opened. Calumet is affiliated with the Faculty of Health and the Schulich School of Business.

Calumet aims to provide services, facilities and opportunities for students in all aspects of university life: academic, social, cultural and recreational. All members of the Calumet community, students, Fellows, alumni, alumnae and administration are encouraged to participate.

Behind all of Calumet's activities there is a fundamental point of view, a theme, which celebrates the individual. It cherishes the differences among its students; it seeks to demonstrate the role of lively discussion and eventual consensus through mutual tolerance and understanding. Calumet College Council (CCC) and Calumet Residence Council (CRC) provides opportunities to get more involved in college life. CCC publishes the college paper, The Pipe, its name suggestive of its role in the flow of information; CRC organizes workshops, symposiums, seminar series, social events and recreational sports. Calumet College's focus has been around its mandate or theme: Technology and the Arts which is currently under review with its new affiliation with the Faculty of Health. Several cocurricular events and activities enrich the student experience. Students can benefit from help provided by the College Advising Team in the areas of essays and assignments, stress management, time management, course selection and academic policies.

Calumet provides a PC microcomputer lab serving the complex comprising Bethune, Calumet and Stong Colleges. Both the college and residence buildings are networked and connected to the fibre-optic backbone of the campus-wide computer facilities.

Recreational activities of the college are extensive. Calumet teams play in a wide range of intramural sports: hockey, broomball, water polo, softball and soccer to name a few. In some sports there are men's and women's teams, while others are coed. Usually there are separate teams for highly competitive and for recreational athletes. All students with a desire to play are encouraged to participate.

The Calumet Residence consists of 43 six-person coeducational suites. Suites normally have four single bedrooms and one double. Each suite also includes a lounge area, a kitchenette and two bathrooms. The suites are grouped into seven houses, each with a don: the entire residence is overseen by the residence life coordinator. Suite members are responsible for cleaning their own room; the cleaning of the common spaces, such as kitchens, lounges, entrances and stairwells, is shared by all suite members. Network drops in each room allow "res" students with their own computers to join the Calumet computer network and enjoy high quality access to e-mail, University library catalogues and the Internet.

Throughout the year, students spend time organizing a variety of social activities including dances, movie nights, gala dinners and other events. Much of the activity is formed around the interests of involved students.

The student government, Calumet College Council (CCC), is entrusted with the monies collected from the student body and the disbursement of those funds on activities and services for the benefit of all students. Elections for positions on CCC occur in March, and shortly after that planning is initiated for the activities for the next school year. The student government holds regular open meetings (Calumet Open Forum, COF) at which all members of the community are welcome and encouraged to participate.

Founders College

Founders College was the first college established on the Keele campus and it is proud of the part that its Fellows and students have played in the development of York University. The theme of Founders College is "Self, Culture and Society", which reflects the special interests of the college in the disciplines of anthropology, French studies, Italian studies, history and environmental studies, as well as its strong commitment to internationalism and contemporary issues. Founders College supports and houses African Studies, East Asian Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, South Asian Studies and International Development Studies. Founders has a special affiliation with the undergraduate program of the School of Women's Studies and provides extensive women's studies facilities.

The Fellows of Founders are chiefly professors from a number of different departments who have come together to support the college's goals, but they also include administrators and external people such as journalists, writers and artists. Over 40 of the academic Fellows have their offices in the college, and are available for interaction with Founders students. The Fellows, with the students, are the lifeblood of the community. Fellows of the college are active in many ways, especially in fostering their academic interests in an interdisciplinary environment, mounting cocurricular events such as seminars and conferences, and participating in the strong advising program for student members of the college, under the direction of an academic adviser. A rich network of peer advising including student academic resource advisers, is operated by the academic adviser for the benefit of all Founders students.

The following program-related groups are associated with the college: History Students Association, the African Students Association, the East Asian Studies Students Association at York, the Caribbean Students Association and the Anthropology Students Association. Founders College also houses the East Asian Studies Jerome Ch'en Reading Room, which has recently expanded to include a large collection of Chinese-language texts; the Nellie Langford Rowell Women's Studies Library (also recently enlarged, with a bigger focus on its international collection); the Elia Chair in Italian-Canadian Studies, and the Harriet Tubman Resource Centre on the African Diaspora. The college organizes and supports a variety of activities related to the arts, including art exhibitions in the Arthur Haberman Art Gallery. The gallery, the Reading and Listening Room, the Addition Cyber Cafe are amongst the excellent array of academic and social facilities managed by the Founders College Student Council and available for commuter as well as residence students. The college also has an attractive assembly hall; newly renovated large junior common room; and a historic pub, renamed the Bull Pub. An annual festival of the art, Poesis, involves students and Fellows in a competition including painting, sculpture, photography, poetry and music. Lectures and colloquia are regularly offered in a wide variety of academic and cultural areas associated with the college. Finally, Founders is home to Canada's most prestigious popular/academic feminist journal, Canadian Woman Studies/les cahiers de la femme.

The college is governed by the master, the academic adviser and the residence life coordinator, assisted by an office staff headed by the administrative assistant and by a variety of committees involving Fellows and students. A student council, Founders College Student Council (FCSC), administers an important budget derived from an annual operating grant, organizes a variety of programs and manages services and enterprises in the college.

A four-story residence (without elevators) for 250 undergraduate students is composed of seven houses, each named for a painter of the Group of Seven. Five of these houses are coed. It tries to maintain a fine balance between a lively environment and one conducive to serious study. The residence is governed by a residence life coordinator, dons and students forming a residence council.

The college encourages in its students both active participation in college life, and academic excellence, an internship program that places 12 students with programs and units in the college, each supported by a University Service Bursary. Founders College tries to remain faithful to what is best in the collegial tradition – hard study, stimulating interaction between Fellows and students and a lively community spirit.

McLaughlin College

Founded in 1968, McLaughlin College was named in honour of the late Colonel R. S. McLaughlin, business pioneer and philanthropist. Public policy is the academic mandate of the college. The college is dedicated to fostering knowledge and critical attitudes about public policy. Special attention is given to inviting policy analyses and review aimed at improving our society – the local community, the province, Canada and the global commons. A full range of cocurricular and extracurricular activities fills the college public policy program: panel discussions, lectures and noon-hour seminars on issues of the day. Public policy concerns that are either national or international in scope are included in the series of symposia.

Each year McLaughlin jointly plans and sponsors with Vanier College a conference entitled "Encounter Canada", on an important issue of the day. The college also features an annual public policy address by a person of distinction in the field of public policy. Other forums on matters important to student life – gender concerns, academic integrity, aboriginal issues – enhance the varied cocurricular program. We try to carry on the ideal of the college's first Master, George Tatham by providing an environment for the development of the all-round, "whole person". The college sponsors a University-wide poetry contest at our annual Burns Night, welcomes jazz sessions in the college pub and encourages students to become active in intramural and intercollegiate athletics. We also organize special art shows and cinema festivals in our combination gallery and screening room.

Social and cultural activities include trips to special musical and theatre events in Toronto organized by the McLaughlin College Student Council. Its athletic program is oriented to winning the York Torch. Social activities include talent nights, special Halloween and Valentine's Day dances, Christmas and year-end dinner formals and an annual ski trip. A well-equipped weight room, Dyna-Macs, is available to students on a membership basis. Locker rooms with showers are adjacent.

Through our affiliation with the Faculty departments, student associations representing majors in health and society, law and society, labour studies, political science, public policy and administration, international relations and sociology are invited to make McLaughlin College their base of activities. These groups work with the master and with McLaughlin College Council to develop cocurricular programs for students majoring in those fields and for the wider community.

The college provides offices for Fellows from a wide variety of York's divisions and departments. Fellows are available to students for advice about courses and careers.

McLaughlin College serves both non-residence and residence students. McLaughlin's 13 storey Tatham Hall offers single and double-room accommodation in six houses for men and women. Each house has a common recreation room. The residence life coordinator and dons work closely with house presidents and an active residence council. A full calendar of residence events provides a rounded social and cultural life on campus. The master of McLaughlin, the academic adviser and their administrative staff have an open door policy. They warmly welcome students who drop by for information, advice or a social visit.

New College

New College opens its doors on July 1, 2009. Despite its age, New College has a proud history. Formerly Atkinson College, it was the only college in the Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies. When the Atkinson Faculty merged with the Faculty of Arts, Atkinson College continued its commitment to professional programs by supporting three large professional departments, namely the School of Administrative Studies, the School of Information Technology and the School of Human Resource Management.

New College has a mandate to support professionally oriented students through their programs of study. To this end, the college sponsors case competitions, career workshops, and professional networking events. There is also an opportunity to be involved in cocurricular activities that include peer tutoring, mentoring and workshops on topics such as working in groups and stress management.

The college has a strong group of student leaders represented by the New College Council. The college also houses a number of student clubs including the York Business Network, Accounting Students Association at York, National Finance Association, American Marketing Association, Strategic Human Resources Professionals and the ITEC Club.

New College continues a strong tradition of connecting students, faculty, staff and the professional community. Its programs and events will continue to develop as we settle into the new Faculty and respond to faculty and student needs.

Norman Bethune College

Norman Bethune College is named in honour of the famous Canadian physician and social activist who became a Chinese folk hero. Bethune College whose theme is "Science and Society", is affiliated with the Faculty of Science and Engineering and the Faculty of Environmental Studies. The college welcomes students from these disciplines as well as any York student who is interested in science and society, in our clubs and facilities, our intramural sports teams, our college council and our academic courses.

On the social side, the college houses a number of student clubs, including the Association of Chinese Students and Scholars at York University (ACSSY), Astronomy Club at York University, Kinesiology and Health Science Student Organization (KAHSSO), Students for the Exploration and Development of Space (SEDS), York University Anime and Manga Association (YAMA), York Chemical Society at York University (YCS), York Pre-Med Society (YPMS), Physics Society, Research Society, Engineers Without Borders, Photography Club, Displaced Animals Re-Integration Program (DARP), Vetzoo and York University Outing Club (YUOC). The Bethune Athletic Council enters teams in both competitive and recreational sports for the York Torch award. Bethune's College Council is a communal blend of elected and appointed students and representatives from the college's alumni, Fellows and the Master's Office. This council receives a portion of your student activity fees and uses it to fund social events, the college newspaper – The Lexicon, concerts, orientation events and a variety of worthwhile campus activities. We welcome and encourage student participation.

Bethune College also provides friendly and accessible student academic support and cocurricular opportunities – e.g. programs that can help you identify potential careers and professional paths. The college hosts a comprehensive academic orientation for new students as well as a series of one-day summer orientations. All Bethune students are served by the Student Ombuds Service (SOS), a walk-in office and resource centre, staffed by knowledgeable upper- year students who can assist you in all manner of academic and personal issues. The Bethune Writing Centre provides one-on-one tutorial support, by appointment, to help you develop university-level critical writing skills. Bethune College's Fellows (faculty, staff and community members) are a diverse group who provide a wide range of skills and interests, knowledge and wisdom.

Bethune College offers academic (for credit) elective courses, including the First-Year University Seminars in Science course and an upper-year science writing course. In addition to courses, Bethune offers a rich mix of seminars, speakers, discussion groups and special programs of interest to students and faculty alike.

The residence has a mix of single rooms, double rooms and apartment-style suites. Save for one female-only floor all floors are coed. An in-house cafeteria offers a full menu of healthy and varied fare.

Stong College

Established in 1969 Stong College is named for the pioneering Stong family, who came to this area from Pennsylvania in 1800 and farmed the lands upon which York University is built. Stong takes pride in its roots in a pioneer heritage, which finds its modern counterpart in the immigrants of today.

Four major themes have traditionally characterized Stong College, although, like all of the other colleges of York University, it welcomes diversity of thought, experience and academic specialization. The first theme includes English language and literature, both past and present, and critical thinking and writing, all of which are seen to be related under the general heading of the arts of discourse. The second principal interest of the college is in other languages, literatures and cultures. The scholarly pursuit of these subjects has given the college a multicultural flavour. Pride in the rich multiculturalism of Stong College, York University, Metropolitan Toronto and Canada goes well with a third major theme of the college: its strong social commitment. Through programs with a neighbouring school and other projects, the college is pleased to acknowledge its inseparable relationship with the society around us and its debt to it. Finally, Stong College has shown a consistent commitment to study of sport as a social institution. The college houses three of the School of Kinesiology and Health Science's specialized certificate programs: Coaching, Sport Administration and Athletic Therapy. Moreover, its students have participated enthusiastically and successfully in Recreation York's inter-college sports programs. Stong College has recently embraced its new affiliation with the Faculty of Health which will be reflected in its future thematic emphasis.

As a college concerned and involved in all aspects of student life, Stong has a wide variety of facilities and programs that reflect the diversity of life at Stong. The Samuel J. Zacks Art Gallery, whose mandate is to feature student art, has a number of showings throughout the year that feature the work of traditional and native, international and professional artists. The student newspaper, The Flying Walrus and The Orange Snail pub and coffee shop, provide many opportunities for discussion, debate and celebration of life at Stong and York.

Stong has a rich tradition of supporting the financial needs of its students through a wide and varied bursary and scholarship program. Funded in large part by an active and involved alumni, these awards reflect the caring side of our college and provide evidence that our students' commitment and involvement with Stong continues beyond graduation.

The Academic Resource Centre in the college lobby serves as a centre for our peer advising program, and also as a nerve centre for student support resources on campus. Additionally, the academic adviser, the residence life coordinator, the staff of the Master's Office and a long list of Fellows from a variety of disciplines are available and enthusiastic resource people intent on helping you gain the most from your university career.

Stong College is a happy and vibrant college that values and honours diversity, academic endeavours and achievement. The college encourages initiative and provides numerous opportunities for fulfillment and invites you to embrace the Stong "way" through a lifestyle of active participation in the rich mosaic of cultural, social and athletic life here in Stong.

Vanier College

Vanier College is proudly named after Governor General Georges Vanier, one of the most distinguished and socially conscientious Canadians of the 20th century who himself embodied the humanistic values of this institution. The college is comprised of students, residents, Fellows and staff who all contribute to the college's academic and social life.

Vanier is affiliated with the Division of Humanities (whose administrative offices are housed in the college), the Faculty of Education, the departments of Philosophy and Psychology, and the programs in Creative Writing, Classical Studies and Religious Studies.

The Fellows of Vanier College are a highly varied group, including humanists, social scientists, many distinguished researchers, award winning teachers, administrators, social activists, artists and writers – all of whom have great knowledge and skills to share with the Vanier community. Vanier provides opportunities for many different kinds of interactions including: cocurricular lectures linked to Vanier foundations courses; a full year of musical and dramatic presentations by Vanier College Productions; a regular symposium, "Encounter Canada," on current Canadian moral ethical issues co-hosted by McLaughlin College; yoga and relaxation courses to promote community well-being; a "Creative Writing" series co-sponsored by the Creative Writing program which includes opportunities for students not only to meet contemporary writers, but also to present their own work and on-going scholarly seminars and lectures.

The master, academic adviser, Fellows and staff are readily available to all Vanier students as are the academic resource and peer advisers. In addition, there are faculty members from Classical studies, creative writing, education, English, history, humanities, philosophy and psychology who have offices in Vanier. The college also houses York International, the Centre for Jewish Studies, the Canadian Children's Culture Collection, the Wellness Centre at York University and a variety of student clubs.

The student government, Vanier College Council, is central to the college life and organizes social and sports activities through which student can enhance their university experience. The Council also supports a literary journal, Existere and a newspaper, The Vandoo. Facilities in the college especially for students include a computer lab, the Vanier Studio Theatre, the Judith Rosner-Siegel Resource collection and the junior common room known as "The Renaissance" where students can study, socialize and relax.

Through all it is and does, Vanier College aims to provide a home on campus for every member of its diverse community, seeking to link them to each other and to the University.

Winters College

Winters College is named in honour of the late Robert Winters, first Chair of York University's Board of Governors. The college shares with the Faculty of Fine Arts the common goal of providing an environment where the development and expression of creativity is paramount. Recently, the Faculty of Education has moved into the Winters College building which has established a new relationship and opportunities for services to students.

Through the Master's Office, events are planned with a view to offering both commuter and resident students the chance to be inspired, entertained and challenged. Workshops, performances, film screening, presentations, special lectures and conferences are offered, and tickets are purchased for the ballet, theatre, symphony and opera at special discounted rates.

Wandering around the newly renovated college building is a visual and auditory treat. One can hear a music rehearsal taking place, catch a glimpse of a dance recital or a juggling practice, or see the work of many of York's visual artists, both student and faculty, hanging on the walls, in the courtyards and in the Eleanor Winters Art Gallery. Music, poetry and spoken word performances are regularly staged here, in the junior and senior common rooms and the Winters Dining Hall. Similar events also take place in the Absinthe Coffee Shop and Pub, the heart of the college and a popular venue for emerging local bands. The Ab is student run and is managed by Winters College Council, a lively mix of resident and commuter students who also organize frosh week, the formal and various other events throughout the year. Winters College Council and the Master's Office work in close collaboration and our primary concern is the creation of a rich social, cultural and academic milieu for all Winters' students. Ideas and suggestions are always welcome.

But Winters is not exclusively fine arts. Many of the students who are affiliated with us come from a wide variety of disciplines, and this diversity informs and enriches the community. We are also home to the York University Portuguese Association, as well as other student clubs, and benefit enormously from their activities in the college. Faculty of Education students have now also joined and been embraced as part of the Winters community.

Winters has long been known for its vitality and creative spirit, and it is also a community of serious scholars where academic excellence is fostered. We have a Student Peer Advising and Information booth where students can come to get information, discuss both academic and personal issues and talk to student peer advisers and our academic adviser. Throughout the college a variety of study spaces – the junior common room, the dining hall and in the warmer months, the courtyard – offer students a place to talk, to curl up with a book or to simply find a quiet retreat. Winters scholarships, bursaries and book prizes are offered yearly.

V. Admission

York's Office of Admissions ensures that all qualified applicants are considered for admission in a fair and equitable manner. The University makes offers of admission to the highest qualified candidates.

The following pages address admission information for undergraduate studies. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> for detailed information about undergraduate programs. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/graduatestudents/> for detailed information about graduate studies.

Categories of Admission

There are several ways to achieve your academic goals at York. Different categories of admission are described below. In order to be considered for admission, you must meet the prerequisite(s) and minimum average requirements of the program(s) to which you apply. Requirements vary by program and admission is not guaranteed. For details, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/>.

Undergraduate Degree

Individuals with appropriate preparation may apply for admission to an undergraduate degree program at York. Undergraduate direct-entry degrees include the bachelor of administrative studies, bachelor of applied science, bachelor of arts, bachelor of business administration, international bachelor of business administration, bachelor of design, bachelor in environmental studies, bachelor of fine arts, international bachelor of arts, bachelor of health studies, bachelor of human resources management, bachelor of science and international bachelor of science.

The bachelor of education and bachelor of laws require previous postsecondary studies.

The bachelor of science in nursing and bachelor of social work are offered as both direct-entry degree programs and ones which require previous postsecondary studies.

Joint Undergraduate Degree/Diploma

York students have the opportunity to combine a university degree program with a diploma/certificate program at a college of applied arts and technology in a variety of areas. Students can only apply in upper years and enrolment is very limited.

Undergraduate Certificates

Individuals with appropriate preparation may apply for admission to complete an undergraduate certificate. Certificate programs develop professional expertise or skills in specific fields. Certificates are normally completed at the same time as a degree program, although some certificates can be done on their own. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> and click on Courses & Programs for details.

Visiting Student

York will consider for admission individuals who wish to take credit courses, but who do not intend to complete a degree or a certificate at York. Visiting students are individuals who already hold an undergraduate degree or are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take York courses on a letter of permission issued by their home institution, or do not hold an undergraduate degree but want to enrol in York courses to fulfill the academic, upgrading or professional development requirements of a professional designation.

Provisional Student

In very exceptional circumstances, York will admit an individual on a provisional basis, for a maximum of one academic year (normally in anticipation of admission as a degree candidate). Provisional status is granted at the discretion of the University and on the basis of compelling evidence of an applicant's ability to complete the requirements for a degree or certificate.

Admission Requirements

York gives admission consideration to applicants who present successful academic credentials earned at recognized/accredited institutions around the world. The following information describes the types of academic preparation York recognizes. In addition, York requires minimum overall average grade requirements and course prerequisites. Some programs also require supplementary admission information. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> for further details. Please note that meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission to the University. If you feel that your academic record does not reflect your abilities, you are invited to present documentation outlining circumstances that may have affected your academic performance. All information will be taken into consideration.

Academic Preparation

Secondary School

British Columbia and Yukon: High-school diploma with four academic courses, including Faculty- or program-specific prerequisites at the Grade 12 level. Academic courses do not have to be provincially examinable courses.

- Three passes at the Standard Level and three passes at the Higher Level; or
- Two passes at the Standard Level and four passes at the Higher Level.

Minimum diploma point scores of 28 or higher recommended. Certificate students will be considered individually and on the basis of their high-school diploma.

Transfer credit may be granted for Higher Level IB courses with grades of 5 or better, to a maximum of 18 credits, depending on the program.

Baccalauréat français: Baccalauréat général with a minimum overall score of 10 (mention passable) from a lycée accredited by the French Ministry of Education or an accrediting agency. Transfer credit of up to 30 credits granted for grades of 12 or better depending on program.

Advanced Placement Courses: Transfer credit of up to 30 credits may be granted for final scores of 4 or 5 on the College Entrance Examination Board Advanced Placement (AP) exams, depending on the programs to which you apply. Students must also meet Faculty-specific requirements of the program they are applying to.

General Certificate of Education (GCE): Minimum of two Advanced Level (A-level) and three GCSE or IGCSE Ordinary Level (O-level) passes. Two Advanced Subsidiary Level (AS-level) courses may be substituted for one Advanced Level course. A minimum average of C is required on Advanced Level and Ordinary Level passes. Transfer credit of up to 18 credits may be granted for Advanced Level courses with final grades of C or better, depending on the programs applied to. Students must also meet Faculty-specific requirements of the program they are applying to.

Caribbean Advanced Proficiency Examinations (CAPE): Completion of the CAPE diploma with a total of at least six units, including prerequisites, and grades of 1, 2 or 3 in each unit. A minimum overall average of 3 out of 7 is required. Transfer credit granted for courses passed at the 2-unit level with grades of 1, 2 or 3, depending on the program (maximum of 18 credits).

International High School: For admission requirements from other educational systems, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/>.

University

University transfer students who have completed a minimum of four full courses or one year of accredited full-time degree studies or equivalent with a minimum overall grade point average of 2.00 on a 4-point scale (C/60 per cent or equivalent) may be considered for admission. In addition, all Honours-level programs require a minimum overall grade point average of 2.30 on a 4-point scale (C+/65 per cent or equivalent). All courses taken, including failed courses, will be used to calculate the admission average. If a student's transcript shows repeated courses, the second grade achieved is the grade that will be used for the purpose of calculating average(s). Meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission to the University. Some programs will require higher minimum averages. All Faculty- and program-specific requirements must also be met.

University courses taken may be assessed for potential transfer credit. In order for the Office of Admissions to assess your eligibility for transfer credit, you must submit detailed course descriptions for any academic studies completed at an accredited university outside of Canada or the United States. These course descriptions must be prepared by your former institution or be available on the institution's Web site. Please provide the exact URL or print out the course descriptions from the Web site. For more information, see the Eligibility for Transfer Credit section.

Official English or French translations (by a certified translator) of original transcript(s) that are not in English or French are also required. Course descriptions not in English or French can be translated into English or French by the applicant and submitted with the institutionally prepared copy.

College

- College transfer students who have completed a minimum of two full semesters or one year of full-time study in an academic program from a College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) or Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning (ITAL) in Ontario with a minimum overall average of 3.00 on a 4-point scale (B/70 per cent), including all attempted courses, may be considered for admission; or
- A minimum of one year of full-time study in an academic program at an accredited/recognized college outside of Ontario with a minimum overall average of 3.00 on a 4-point scale (B/70 per cent or equivalent), including all attempted courses, may be considered for admission.

If a student has not graduated from a college program and the transcript shows repeated courses, the second grade achieved in the course(s) is the grade that will be used for the purpose of calculating average(s). Some programs will require higher minimum averages for admission. Meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission to the University. All Faculty- and program-specific requirements must also be met.

Academic college courses may be assessed for potential transfer credit. In order for the Office of Admissions to assess your eligibility for transfer credit, you must submit detailed course descriptions for any academic studies completed at an accredited college outside of Canada or the United States. These course descriptions must be prepared by your former institution or be available on the institution's Web site. Please provide the exact URL or print out the course descriptions from the Web site. For more information, see the Eligibility for Transfer Credit section.

Official English or French translations (by a certified translator) of original transcript(s) that are not in English or French are also required. Course descriptions not in English or French can be translated into English or French by the applicant and submitted with the institutionally prepared copy.

Mature Student

To be considered for admission under the University's "Mature Student" regulations you must:

- be at least 21 years of age or older as of the first day of classes of the session for which you have applied;
- have been out of full-time high-school studies for at least two years or have returned to upgrade after a two-year absence;
- have attempted less than one full year of studies at an accredited university or college;
- not have an unfavourable academic record; and
- have demonstrated potential for success through academic, professional or volunteer activities and other accomplishments.

You may also be considered for admission as a mature student if you have completed a York University pre-university course, offered through the Division of Continuing Education or a Women's Bridging course, with a minimum grade of B, if you also meet specific program and language-proficiency requirements.

Senior Citizens

Senior citizens who wish to be admitted to the University (as candidates in a degree program or as visiting students) are evaluated as mature students unless they have completed previous postsecondary studies (see the appropriate sections above).

In order to be eligible for a domestic tuition fee waiver, applicants must be Canadian citizens/permanent residents and 60 years of age or older by May 1 for the summer session or September 1 for the fall/winter session. The fee waiver is capped for senior citizens to the level of tuition fees assigned to domestic, non-professional undergraduate arts, science and other programs as defined in the tuition fee guidelines from the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities. The tuition fee waiver for an eligible senior citizen is restricted to a maximum of one undergraduate or graduate degree. Eligible senior citizen tuition waiver students are required to pay all other fees attached to a course or program, or required during the process of registration (including centrally collected ancillary fees, fees approved by student referenda, material fees, financial penalties etc.).

Please contact Student Client Services for additional information.

Language Proficiency Requirements

If you apply to an undergraduate program at York, you may meet our English-language requirements if you have successfully completed, or are in the process of successfully completing, one of the following:

- Four full years of study in Canada in English or French at the secondary-school level.
- Four full years of study at the secondary-school level in English in a country where English is a primary language.
- One full year of study in an accredited university degree program in English in a country where English is a primary language.
- Two full years of study in an accredited college diploma program in English in a country where English is a primary language.

Note: Time spent in ESL courses will not be counted towards meeting these requirements. Language requirements will not be waived based on letters written by students or as a result of completing senior-level high-school English courses.

These are general guidelines only. York University reserves the right to request a successfully completed language proficiency test.

If you are unsure whether or not you meet York's language requirements, you should submit an acceptable English-language test score as soon as possible to avoid potential delays in the processing of your application for admission.

Language test scores are reviewed in combination with academic credentials to determine your admissibility to the University.

Applicants to the Glendon Campus

Since Glendon is a bilingual (French/English) campus, you may choose to provide proof of language proficiency in either English or French. You may choose to write one of the acceptable tests of English noted below or the French Language Admissions Test administered by the Glendon Recruitment and Liaison Office (416-487-6710, liaison@glendon.yorku.ca).

Language Test Exemption for Students who Complete Courses at the York University English Language Institute (YUELI)

YUELI offers a range of non-credit, full-time and part-time English-language training courses that prepare students for university study.

Completion of the YUELI Intensive Program Level 6 with Distinction, Honours or Pass satisfies York's English Language Proficiency requirements for admission to most of York's undergraduate programs. Engineering and the Schulich School of Business programs require Distinction.

For more information, contact YUELI at 416-736-5353 or visit <http://yueli.yorku.ca>.

Application Procedures

How to Apply

- Ontario high-school students: apply using the Ontario Universities' Application Centre (OUAC) 101 application form. Contact your school's guidance office for details.
- All other applicants: apply online or obtain an application form from the Ontario Universities' Application Centre (OUAC) Web site at <http://www.ouac.on.ca>.
- If you are applying to a certificate program or as a visiting student, use the York application form available at <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> or by calling the Office of Admissions at 416-736-5000.

Evaluations/Auditions for the Faculty of Fine Arts

Most York Fine Arts applicants participate in a supplemental evaluation, which may include an audition, interview, written exercise or portfolio. Most evaluations take place during the winter months on the Keele campus. If distance precludes an on-campus evaluation, other arrangements can be made. For details, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>.

Supplementary Admission Information Form for the Schulich School of Business

Before submitting a Supplementary Admission Information Form, future students must first apply to York University through the Ontario Universities' Application Centre by the deadline date. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/deadlines.html> for application deadlines.

Submission of the Supplementary Admission Information Form is mandatory. Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/forms.html> for a copy of the form and the deadline dates for submission.

Supplementary Admission Information Form for Bachelor of Social Work

The Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) is offered as a direct-entry, full-time, daytime program and as a post-degree, part-time program, offered primarily in the evening.

Applicants to both BSW programs, who are not applying directly from high school, must submit a completed Supplementary Admission Information Form and supporting documents. For a copy of the form go to <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/forms.html>.

For more information about programs of study, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> and click on Courses & Programs.

Special Admission Consideration for Students with Disabilities

York has a policy of supporting and accommodating students with physical, learning or psychiatric disabilities who wish to pursue higher education.

If you have a diagnosed disability, it is important to identify yourself during the admission process.

If you do not meet our minimum admission requirements, you may wish to be considered for modified admission consideration.

If your circumstances do not impact your admissibility to the University (in other words, you meet our admission requirements), we want to make sure you know about the support services we have in place.

In no way will identifying yourself be a disadvantage to you. We want to know who you are so we can ensure you get the support you need both during the admission process and afterwards. Even if you don't presently need any support, this could change.

York provides a number of support services for students with physical, learning or psychiatric disabilities. If you are admitted to York and need support and accommodations, consult with an adviser before the beginning of the academic year. You may request accommodation in teaching style, evaluation methods or other course requirements in all courses. Arrangements should be made before the start of the academic term. Failure to make these arrangements may jeopardize your opportunity to receive academic accommodations.

For more information visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/disabilities.html>.

Application Deadlines

Visit <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/deadlines.html> for all deadlines. To ensure a timely response to the program of your choice, you should apply and provide all official documentation much earlier than the final deadlines.

Faculty of Education: refer to the Education section for application procedures.

Osgoode Hall Law School: refer to the Osgoode Calendar published separately.

Faculty of Graduate Studies: refer to the Graduate Calendar published separately.

Eligibility for Transfer Credit

All information regarding previously completed postsecondary studies must be provided upon application to York University. Applicants admitted to York University who present accredited previous postsecondary studies may be eligible for transfer credit. The determination of transfer credit eligibility will take into consideration the applicant's complete record of accredited postsecondary study. The amount of transfer credit granted depends on the nature of the program completed, the grades received and the program to which the student has applied at York. A separate application requesting transfer credit consideration is not required. The receipt of all transfer credit documentation and the evaluation of all possible transfer credits available at the time of admission must be completed within one academic term from the date of admission to the University. (Fall term and fall/winter session admission: completed by the end of the fall/winter session; winter term admission: completed by the end of the summer session; summer session admission: completed by the end of the fall term.) Applicants admitted to York who were not in good standing at all previous postsecondary institutions may be eligible for transfer credit consideration and will be assessed on an individual basis.

Institutionally-prepared, detailed course descriptions are required for all academic work completed outside of Canada and the United States at the postsecondary level. These course descriptions must be prepared by the former institution or be available on the institution's Web site. Please provide the exact URL or print out the course descriptions from the Web site. Course descriptions not in English or French can be translated into English or French by the applicant and submitted with the institutionally-prepared copy. Official English or French translations (by a certified translator) of original transcripts that are not in English or French are also required.

For all students, detailed descriptions of postsecondary work completed in the intended major are recommended to determine if any transfer credits can be applied to the major.

If you have previously completed business-related courses (e.g. accounting, taxation), you must also provide institutionally-prepared course outlines/syllabi, including a list of all required textbooks, in order to evaluate previous studies.

Undergraduate University Degree Programs

Applicants admitted to York who have completed degree credit work toward baccalaureate degrees at an accredited postsecondary institution may be considered for transfer credit. Transfer credit consideration is given to course work in which the grade achieved is that normally required of a continuing York student. Transfer credits are determined in accordance with the requirements of the Faculty to which the student is admitted.

York University accepts the Pan-Canadian Protocol on the transferability of university credits, and undertakes to ensure that all course work completed by transfer students during the first two years of university study in Canada [including the final year of studies leading to a diploma of college studies (DCS) in Quebec and the university transfer courses offered by community colleges and university colleges in British Columbia and Alberta] will be recognized and fully credited for the purposes of granting a degree provided that:

- 1 the transfer student is deemed admissible and has been presented with an offer of admission;
- 2 the transfer student has achieved a passing grade in his/her course(s) and has obtained grade levels that would normally be required of continuing students; and
- 3 the credits earned are related to the program of study in which the transfer student will register, or the credits can be counted as electives for the program of study.

Should a student transfer to a different program after admission to York University, the transfer credits assigned upon admission may be reassessed.

Should a student, having left York to pursue study at another postsecondary institution, decide to return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Depending on the Faculty to which the student is admitted, not all transfer credits granted may be used to fulfill the requirements of a given program of study.

College Diploma Programs

Applicants admitted to York who have completed at least one year of full-time study in an academic program at a College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) or Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning (ITAL) in Ontario or an accredited college outside of Ontario may be considered for transfer credit. The minimum requirement for transfer credit consideration is a minimum overall average of 3.00 on a 4-point scale (B/70 per cent) on all courses taken, including failed courses. Transfer credits are determined in accordance with the requirements of the Faculty to which the student is admitted. Articulation agreements with a College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) or Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning (ITAL) or equivalent may result in enhanced transfer credit.

Should a student transfer to a different program after admission to York University, the transfer credits assigned upon admission may be reassessed.

Should a student, having left York to pursue study at another postsecondary institution, decide to return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Depending on the Faculty to which the student is admitted, not all transfer credits granted may be used to fulfill the requirements of a given program of study.

Failure and Debarment

Students who have been debarred may be re-admitted in a subsequent session only if they give convincing evidence to the Committee on Admissions that they can benefit from further university work. Applications for re-admission will not be considered until two years from the date of debarment. In cases of failure at another university, or where another university's regulations on failure and debarment differ from York's, or where that institution calculates years or semesters differently from the York method, the York regulations will normally apply.

VI. Academic Information

General Information

Academic Sessions

The academic year is divided into two “sessions”: the fall/winter session and the summer session. The fall/winter session normally begins in September and ends in April or May. Within the fall/winter session there are two “terms”: the fall term, that begins in September and ends in December and the winter term that begins in January and ends in April or May. The fall and winter terms last for approximately 13 weeks each and the fall/winter session lasts about 26 weeks.

The summer session normally begins in May and is completed in August. This session is comprised of numerous terms ranging in varying lengths of instructional time from six to 13 weeks. Information on sessional/term dates can be found on the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Course Numbering

Courses listed in this publication have the form: AP/EN 1000 6.00 which contains the following key parts: AP = the designation of the Faculty offering the course (in this case, the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies); EN = the prefix of the teaching unit offering the course (in this case, English); 1000 = the number of the course, the first digit of which identifies the level of the course; and 6.00 = the suffix indicating the “credit value” of the course.

Credit Value of Courses

The Faculties at York University may offer courses with varying credit value. Each course will have a suffix identifying the credit value for that particular course. For example, AP/EN 1000 6.00 has the suffix “6.00”, signifying that the course carries a credit value of six. The credit value normally correlates to the length of the course and the number of hours the course meets per week. A course with a “3.00” suffix would meet three hours per week for one term while a “6.00” suffix would normally meet for three hours per week for the session (or two terms).

The York Courses Web site (<https://w2prod.sis.yorku.ca/Apps/WebObjects/cdm>) lists the courses being offered as well as the terms, days of the week, time and location of each course.

Cross-listed Courses

As has been noted, the prefix of a course indicates the unit or program which offers the course. Many courses are “cross-listed”: that is, they are offered jointly by two or more teaching units such as departments or divisions. In some cases, courses are cross-listed between units in two different Faculties. Cross-listed courses may not be “double-counted” in order to fulfill degree requirements; e.g. if AP/HUMA 4610 6.00 is cross-listed with HH/PSYC 4120 6.00, it may be counted as a humanities course or a psychology course, but not as both.

Overlapping Courses

Some courses overlap significantly with other courses in terms of content and approach. There are two categories of overlap: course substitutions and course credit exclusions.

Course substitutions: These are pairs of courses which are similar enough in content that they can replace each other in order to fulfill program requirements. Note that only one of the pair can be taken for degree credit. Course substitutions are identified in the Programs of Study section of the Undergraduate Calendar.

Course credit exclusions: These are pairs of courses which may not both be taken for degree credit since their content overlaps significantly. If degree requirements specify that one of the pair is required to fulfill a program requirement, you may not enrol in the other – it can not be used to fulfill degree requirements. Course credit exclusions are listed in the course descriptions found online on the Courses Web site or in the Courses of Instruction section of the Undergraduate Calendar.

Year-of-Study Equivalents

A student’s progress towards a degree is measured in terms of credits passed rather than years of study completed. Where it is necessary or helpful to equate credits passed with years of study, the following table may be used:

Credits Completed	Year Equivalent
fewer than 24 credits earned	1
24 credits to less than 54 credits earned	2
54 credits to less than 84 credits earned	3
84 credits or more	4*

*References to year 4 apply to students in Honours programs only. Education courses taken by students coregistered in the Faculty of Education are not included in an Academic Faculty’s (e.g. Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, Glendon etc.) year-of-study equivalents.

Enrolment and Registration

Enrolment and registration should not be confused. They are two separate actions which are defined as follows:

a. Enrolment: Students who are eligible to enter or proceed, enrol by placing themselves in courses, using the University’s enrolment system, in accordance with the regulations of the Faculty and its teaching units.

b. Registration: Students register by paying tuition fees for courses in which they are enrolled, in accordance with the regulations of the Registrar’s Office. Students who are not registered in a course are not entitled to have their work in the course graded.

Grades and Grading Schemes

Except for courses taken under the pass/fail option, courses in the undergraduate Faculties represented in this publication are graded according to the following scale. The grade point values are used to compute averages. For information regarding the pass/fail option regulations, refer to the grading information available in your Faculty’s section of the Undergraduate Calendar.

Note: Only courses taken at York University are included in the grade point averages. The percentages indicated are not part of the official grading scheme and are meant only to be used as guidelines. The letter-grade system is the fundamental system of assessment of performance in undergraduate programs at York University.

Grade	Grade Point	Per Cent Range	Description
A+	9	90-100	Exceptional
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Very Good
B	6	70-74	Good
C+	5	65-69	Competent
C	4	60-64	Fairly Competent
D+	3	55-59	Passing
D	2	50-54	Marginally Passing
E	1	(marginally below 50%)	Marginally Failing
F	0	(below 50%)	Failing

Note: All of the above-noted grades are used to calculate averages and credits.

Definitions of Grading Descriptions

A+ Exceptional. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques and exceptional skill or great originality in the use of those concepts/techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

A Excellent. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a high degree of skill and/or some elements of originality in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

B+ Very Good. Thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a fairly high degree of skill in the use of those concepts/techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

B Good. Good level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

C+ Competent. Acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

C Fairly Competent. Acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with some skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

D+ Passing. Slightly better than minimal knowledge of required concepts and/or techniques together with some ability to use them in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

D Barely Passing. Minimum knowledge of concepts and/or techniques needed to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

E Marginally Failing.

F Failing.

Calculation of Averages

Two types of averages are calculated and reported to students: sessional and cumulative. All averages calculated for purposes such as determining eligibility to proceed and graduate are credit-weighted.

Sessional grade point average: This average reflects a student's grades for a particular academic session (e.g. Fall/Winter 2009-2010 Session).

Cumulative grade point average: This average reflects a student's grades over the entire undergraduate career in a student's particular degree program.

Definitions of Pass and Fail

Passed courses

A passed course is one in which the student has achieved a grade of D or better.

Failed courses

There are two failing grades on the Undergraduate Grading Scheme: E (marginal failure) and F (failure).

Grades Release Dates (Grade Reports and Transcripts)

Grades submitted by an instructor are subject to review by the teaching unit in which the course is offered and by the Faculty Council or Faculty Committee on Academic Policy and Planning. Final course grades may be adjusted to conform to program or Faculty grades distribution profiles. Grades and transcripts are normally released by the Registrar's Office when the review has been completed.

Withdrawal

Withdrawal from a Session

You are considered officially withdrawn from the academic term or session and from the University after you drop your last course via the registration and enrolment system. Your official student record at the University is then annotated to indicate that you have formally discontinued your studies in a given program and academic term or session.

Discontinuation of studies/non-attendance of courses does not constitute official withdrawal for purposes of regulations and fee adjustments.

Ignorance of the regulations or proof of other activity does not constitute grounds for retroactive withdrawal.

In the case of withdrawal, Student Financial Services will use the date of notification or the date you dropped your courses to compute the amount of fees owing or to be refunded.

Re-admission After Withdrawal

Normally, students who withdraw from a term or session and who wish to attend a subsequent session may request reactivation through the Registrar's Office. Students who attend another institution without first obtaining a letter of permission, must reapply for admission and supply supporting documentation where necessary. Students who withdraw from their first session at York without having completed any courses, may request reactivation within one academic year. If longer, a student is required to reapply for admission.

Tuition Refunds After Withdrawal

Refunds for withdrawal will be based on the University Refund Table, which is available on the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>).

Note: Students may not withdraw from any course(s) in which a charge of academic dishonesty is being considered against them or in which they have been found guilty of academic dishonesty. Students who are found innocent of a charge of academic dishonesty may continue in the course and may request that someone other than the instructor grade their work. Alternatively students who are found innocent of a charge of academic dishonesty may withdraw from the course(s) in question without academic penalty by informing the Faculty Dean's Office in writing.

Deregistration

The University Registrar is empowered to deregister students who:

- do not meet the University's admissions requirements or the conditions of admission imposed by the Admissions Office;
- are not eligible or entitled to enrol in a program of study, and are not authorized to enrol by the Faculty;
- do not meet the country's citizenship and immigration laws;
- contravene the policies stated in the York University Act, upon instructions from the President.

Students who are deregistered on these grounds will be deemed not to have registered in the academic session. No registration or academic activity records will be retained. Students will be refunded their academic fees in full less any indebtedness to the University.

The University Registrar or other appropriate officer will inform the student, and appropriate academic and service areas.

A student who enrolls or registers for courses pending notification of academic standing at the end of the previous session or pending the result of a petition bearing on academic standing may have that enrolment subsequently cancelled or be subsequently deregistered if academic standing is such as to require withdrawal, debarment or suspension.

Classification of Students

For general purposes, a student is deemed by the University to be full-time if they take the equivalent of 18 credits or more in a given two-term session. For further information, contact Student Client Services.

Student Records Policy on Access to Records and Protection of Privacy

Access to student records is governed by York University's Policy on Access to Information and Protection of Privacy and complies with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. The University shall collect and record personal information related to its students in accordance with the following guidelines.

Access to Student Records Guidelines

By applying for admission to York University and by enrolling in a program at the University, students consent to the collection of their personal information by York University for educational, administrative and statistical purposes. The information is needed to process their admission application and their enrolment and registration in academic programs; to record and track their academic progress; to provide the basis for awards and governmental funding and for related recordkeeping purposes. Students agree that all information and documentation submitted to the University in support of an application for admission, counselling and disability services, residence accommodation or financial award, or any petition or appeal, becomes the property of the University.

York University may be required to disclose student information

- in situations where the University is required to comply with the law
- as part of law enforcement investigations or proceedings
- in situations where personal student health or safety is of concern or
- in compassionate circumstances

An electronic record of students' achievements at the University is preserved permanently, but all other documentation contained in students' files may be destroyed in accordance with the University's records retention policies.

Access to Confidential Student Records and Disclosure of Information

Public access

It is the University's policy to make the following information routinely available:

- current registration status in a particular college, school, Faculty or division in a particular session including whether or not a student is currently pursuing studies on a full or part-time basis;
- current field of studies (e.g. major, minor, certificate program, stream);
- whether or not a student has received a particular academic award, honour or distinction whether from York or an external third party; and,
- degree(s) or credential(s) that have been conferred by the University and the date(s) of conferral.

Except as specified above, other information contained in the record will be disclosed with the student's written consent. This restriction applies to requests from all third party inquirers including parents, spouses and credit bureaus.

Students who are currently registered in a program/course at the University are entitled to submit a written request to the Registrar's Office if they do not wish to allow release of their active registration status, their current field of study, information about any academic awards, honours or distinctions and if they have not successfully graduated.

Student access

Students have the right to inspect all documents contained in their own record, with the exception of evaluations and letters of reference supplied to the University with the understanding that they be kept confidential.

Students have the right to request that erroneous information contained in their records be corrected and that recipients of any information found to be in error be advised of the correction.

Students wishing to inspect their record must make an appointment with the Associate Registrar, Student Services.

Upon written request to the Registrar's Office, students whose fee account shows no outstanding balance may request to have an official transcript of their record of studies at the University sent to a third party.

Documents pertaining to a student's achievement at another institution, which may have been received by the University, will not be released or redirected.

Employee access

Employees of the University are permitted access to information contained in student records, if they need to know the information in order to perform their official duties. As a general rule, employees involved in some aspect of academic administration or student affairs are given access to a student's record. The level and nature of access should be related to their particular administrative duties. Supervising managers and/or the University Registrar have the authority to withdraw access to student records from any employee.

Third party/student organization access

All third party organizations and student organizations are required to sign FIPPA-compliant confidentiality agreements with an authorized officer of the University before obtaining access to student records. Student information may only be used or disclosed in accordance with the provisions of the confidentiality agreements.

All requests from student organizations must be approved by the Office of Student Community and Leadership Development within the Division of Students. Listings of members will be made available upon written request to the Office of Student Community and Leadership Development and must be accompanied by a signature of the authorized officer of that organization.

All requests from other third party organizations must be approved by the Registrar's Office.

If someone other than the student wishes to pick up a document on behalf of a student (e.g. transcript, diploma etc.), the student must provide that person with a signed authorization. The third party must provide the signed authorization as well as photo identification.

Legally mandated access

Specified records or portions thereof may be provided to persons or agencies pursuant to a court order directing the University to release information to Statistics Canada or to the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities.

Transcripts of Academic Record

A student's signature, or Passport York login is required for the release of their own records. Transcripts issued directly to the student are stamped "Issued to Student". York University is not responsible for transcripts lost or delayed in the mail.

In accordance with University policy, transcripts and diplomas will not be released to students who have an outstanding account with the University.

Change of Name

Each student is required to provide, either on application for admission or in personal data required for registration, his/her full legal name. Any requests to change a name, by means of alteration or deletion, substitution or addition, must be accompanied by appropriate supporting documentation. Upon making application for graduation a student may be asked to provide proof of their name. Students may verify their official name on record online at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Change of Address

A student must maintain current and up-to-date permanent and mailing address information on the records of the University in order to receive pertinent mailings.

Address changes are done online at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Emergency Situations Requiring Student Access

On occasion, a personal emergency may require students to be contacted quickly. In emergency situations involving the health and safety of an individual, or in compassionate situations, the University Registrar or designate may, if considered to be in the best interest of the student, authorize the release of personal information about the student. The University will then inform the student of the disclosure.

Students are urged to provide those who may need to be reached in an emergency with an up-to-date copy of their class timetable, specifying days, times and locations. In addition, students are required to routinely update their next of kin and emergency contact information through the Web at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Notification of Disclosure of Personal Information to Statistics Canada

Statistics Canada is the national statistical agency. As such, Statistics Canada carries out hundreds of surveys each year on a wide range of matters, including education.

It is essential to be able to follow students across time and institutions to understand, for example, the factors affecting enrolment demand at postsecondary institutions. The increased emphasis on accountability for public investment means that it is also important to understand "outcomes". In order to carry out such studies, Statistics Canada asks all colleges and universities to provide data on students and graduates. Institutions collect and provide to Statistics Canada student identification information (student's name, student ID number, Social Insurance Number), student contact information (address and telephone number), student demographic characteristics, enrolment information, previous education and labour force activity.

The Federal Statistics Act provides the legal authority for Statistics Canada to obtain access to personal information held by educational institutions. The information may be used only for statistical purposes, and the confidentiality provision of the Statistics Act prevents the information from being released in any way that would identify a student.

Students who do not wish to have their information used are able to ask Statistics Canada to remove their identifying information from the national database.

Further information on the use of this information can be obtained from the Statistics Canada Web site: <http://www.statcan.ca/english/concepts/ESIS/> by writing to the Postsecondary Section, Centre for Education Statistics, 17th Floor, R.H. Coats Building, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0T6 or by calling 1-613-951-1666.

VII. Student Financial Services

Student Financial Services is responsible for:

- The administration of scholarships and awards programs for undergraduate and graduate students.
- Serving as the principal point of contact for students applying for OSAP loans and grants.
- Providing assistance to students who are experiencing financial difficulties.
- The administration of all aspects of students' financial accounts with the University.
- The administration of Research at York (RAY), Service Bursary and Work/Study programs.
- Providing online tax receipts (T2202A and T4A) for students.

Students are served through information posted on the Web (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>), by phone at 416-872-9675 or in person at Student Client Services in the Bennett Centre for Student Services.

Academic Fees

Academic fees for undergraduate students are assessed on either a per credit or per program basis (see Academic Tuition Fee Categories below). Fees and refund tables for each academic session are posted on the Web. It is the responsibility of students to make themselves aware of changes in fees and financial penalties associated with dropping courses.

A current schedule of academic fees can be found at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Supplementary Fees

The Ontario Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities permits universities to charge supplementary fees in addition to regular tuition fees. At York, there are three types of supplementary fees: a) those which are centrally collected and are part of the tuition fee; b) those approved by student referenda; and c) associated course fees. The procedures and policies which govern associated course fees differ from those which govern tuition and supplementary fees.

- Centrally collected: supplementary fees covering athletics/recreation, counselling, cultural and special services are permitted and included in tuition/program fees.
- Approved by student referenda: supplementary fees approved by student referenda are included in the per-credit tuition fee.
- Associated course fees: fees for work-term placements, learning materials or special clothing retained by the student and production material for items which become student property, may be listed on your student account statement or may be charged locally.

If you have any questions about whether a particular supplementary fee falls into one of the above categories and can be charged in addition to your tuition, first contact the Chair of the department or unit charging the fee. If, after having done so, you wish to pursue the matter further, please address your concerns to Student Client Services; directions and hours of operation can be found at <http://www.yorku.ca/scsweb/>.

In accordance with Canada Revenue Agency regulations, the supplementary fee component of a tuition fee payment and any course material fees cannot be included in the tuition tax credit and therefore are not captured on the T2202A Tuition and Education Credit Certificate (see below).

Academic Tuition Fee Categories

There are two academic tuition fee categories at York University: a) the domestic tuition rate, which is charged to students who are specifically exempted by the government of Ontario regulations from the international student charge; and b) the international tuition rate charged to students who are not so exempted, or who are unwilling or unable to provide documentary proof of exempted status to the Registrar's Office. Information on the interpretation of eligibility for exemption, tuition rate reassessment, deadlines for submitting documents, or changes of status in Canada, must be confirmed by the Registrar's Office.

Fees may also vary depending on the Faculty, program or course selections, or on the year of entry into a particular program of study.

A) Domestic Tuition Rate

You are eligible for the domestic tuition rate if you fall into one of the exempt categories listed below and are able to give satisfactory proof of your status to the Registrar's Office by the following deadline dates:

Note: All changes or corrections to your tuition rate on your York record must be done before the deadline dates below. Any changes or corrections made after these dates will only be applicable to the next term or session and will not be retroactive to any previous term or session.

Fall/Winter Session Deadline Dates

- October 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete fall/winter session.
- January 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the winter term only of the fall/winter session.

Summer Session Deadline Dates

- June 30 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete summer session.
- July 16 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for certain summer session courses which begin later in the session, e.g. July 2. Questions regarding specific courses should be directed to the Registrar's Office.

Documentation Required

If you wish to be considered for exemption under one of the approved categories, you must contact the Registrar's Office regarding the official documentation necessary to support such a request. Original documents must be presented. Photocopies of documents are not accepted. All documents presented in support of consideration for exemption, or if requested as proof of status, must be submitted to the Registrar's Office, before payment of academic tuition. If you are unable to provide the required documentation before paying your academic tuition, you are required to pay at the international tuition rate.

Retaining Your Exemption

In order to retain an exemption for a subsequent term or session, you may, at a later date, be required to submit supplementary or new documents to prove that your status has been maintained.

If you present acceptable documentation for exemption from the international tuition rate, and this documentation contains an expiry date, it is your responsibility to bring updated documentation to the Registrar's Office no later than 10 working days after the expiry date on the original documentation. This must be done to maintain your exemption.

Spouses and Dependents

Certain exemption categories specify that both the person who has the status, and his/her dependants, are eligible for exemption from the international tuition rates. The definition of a "dependant" of a person includes his/her:

- spouse
- unmarried child, or
- spouse's unmarried child.

The dependent status must be fully documented, the dependant status must have been established a minimum of three years prior to the student's application for exemption, and this status continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption.

University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP) Charges

If your tuition fee rate on your York record has been changed to domestic and you have been charged for the University Health Insurance Plan on your student account, you must contact York International's UHIP office. The Registrar's Office cannot make any changes or revisions to the health charges on students' accounts. Please visit the UHIP Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkint/uhip/>.

Note: The exemption categories are subject to change at any time on the decision of the government of Ontario and on the approval of the Board of Governors of York University.

Domestic Tuition Fee Categories

(i) a citizen of Canada within the meaning of the Citizenship Act or a person registered as an Indian within the meaning of the Indian Act;

(ii) a student who is the legal dependant of a Canadian citizen may be exempted from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was instituted a minimum of three years prior to the deadline dates and that this status was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;

(iii) a person officially recognized by Citizenship and Immigration Canada as a permanent resident in Canada;

(iv) a student who is the legal dependant of a permanent resident may be eligible for exemption from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was instituted a minimum of three years prior to the deadlines and that this status was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;

(v) an applicant for permanent resident status, provided the applicant has met all the preliminary requirements for the granting of that status, and provided the applicant obtains an official statement from Citizenship and Immigration Canada which confirms this;

(vi) a student who is the legal dependant of an applicant for permanent resident status (as outlined in category (v)) may be exempted from the international tuition rates. Documentation must be provided which verifies that the dependant status, e.g. by marriage or adoption, was established a minimum of three years prior to the deadline dates and was continuously maintained to the date of application for exemption;

(vii) a person who is admitted to and remaining in Canada, with official accreditation from the Canadian government, to carry out official duties as a diplomatic or consular officer; or as a Canadian government-accredited representative or official of a country other than Canada, of the United Nations or any of its agencies, of any intergovernmental organizations of which Canada is a member; or as a dependant or a member of the staff of any such diplomat, consular officer, representative or official accredited to Canada by the Canadian government; or a member of a foreign military force or of a civilian component thereof admitted to Canada under the Visiting Forces Act or any dependants of such personnel.

Note: a student who has been exempt under this category, but whose exemption status changes during the course of his/her program due to circumstances beyond the student's control, continues to be exempt from the payment of international student tuition for the duration of the program of study in which the student is registered at the time of the change in status. Contact the Registrar's Office regarding official documentation required;

(viii) a person and his/her dependants, who is officially recognized by Citizenship and Immigration Canada as admitted to and remaining in Canada for the purpose of employment. This category excludes graduate teaching and research assistants;

(ix) a person and his/her dependants, who is officially recognized by Citizenship and Immigration Canada as a Convention Refugee;

(x) a person and his/her dependants, who is a refugee claimant in Canada, only if the claim for refugee status was made to Citizenship and Immigration Canada before January 1, 1989;

(xi) a person who is a participant in an Ontario government sponsored exchange agreement.

B) International Tuition Rate

As the result of a policy decision made by the government of Ontario, all non-exempt international students in an undergraduate program of study are subject to the international tuition rate.

Note: All changes or corrections to your tuition rate on your York record must be done before the deadline dates below. Any changes or corrections made after these dates will only be applicable to the next term or session and will not be retroactive to any previous term or session.

Fall/Winter Session Deadline Dates

- October 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete fall/winter session.
- January 31 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the winter term only of the fall/winter session.

Summer Session Deadline Dates

- June 30 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for the complete summer session.
- July 16 - deadline for reassessment at the domestic tuition rate for certain summer session courses which begin later in the session, e.g. July 21. Questions regarding specific courses should be directed to the Registrar's Office.

International Students and the University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP)

International students who register in courses and attend York University are automatically enrolled in the mandatory University Health Insurance Plan (UHIP). Students can opt out only if they have comparable coverage under a limited number of pre-approved plans and should contact York International directly before purchasing alternate coverage. UHIP provides comprehensive medical coverage for students and eligible dependents who accompany them to Ontario.

The cost of the plan is based on the length of coverage and number of dependents. The premium charged is in addition to academic fees and is posted to the student's account. To receive proof of coverage, students must apply to York International, 108 Vanier College, at the beginning of each academic year. For further details, please visit the Web at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkint/uhip/>; call 416-736-5028 or e-mail uhip@yorku.ca.

Methods of Payment

Students are encouraged to pay their fees and other charges (e.g. residence and meal plan) through electronic methods such as Web or telephone banking. Detailed information is available at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Outstanding Academic Debts

York University Senate policy stipulates that graduation privileges, enrolment, transcript requests etc. be withheld from any student until all outstanding financial liabilities to the University are settled.

Undergraduate students with an outstanding balance of $75 or more will be blocked from enrolling in courses at the University. In addition, certain sanctions are in place throughout the year such that academic and administrative services are withheld until the liabilities to the University are settled satisfactorily. Detailed information is available at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Tuition and Education Credit Certificate

In accordance with Canada Revenue Agency regulations, each year the University provides electronic copies of the Tuition and Education Credit Certificate for eligible students by the end of February. Forms are posted online so that students can download them and print copies as needed; these forms are not mailed to students. Entitlements are based on the calendar year rather than the academic year. Detailed information on these tax forms are available at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Eligible Tuition Fees

Only direct tuition fees are eligible for the tuition tax credit. Both the supplementary fees and any course material fees you have paid are not eligible and will not be included in the receipt.

Education Benefit: Months in Attendance

In order to be eligible for the education benefit in any month, a student must be registered for at least part of the month.

For information concerning eligibility and entitlement, as well as other aspects of income tax requirements, please consult the Canada Revenue Agency's Web site (<http://www.cra-arc.gc.ca/>) or contact your local Canada Revenue Agency office.

Residents of Quebec: York does not routinely distribute the Certificate Respecting the Exemption for Full-Time Post-Secondary Studies (TP-697V) required by Revenu Québec. Quebec residents attending York who require this form in order to complete an income tax return should contact Glendon Student Financial Services at 416-487-6701 for assistance.

Service Charges

Late charges are calculated monthly on outstanding student account balances. Detailed information is available at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

- wireless Internet access on campus

For more information on these services, visit the York Computing Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/computng/students/>.

English Language Institute

York University English Language Institute (YUELI) offers a range of non-credit, full-time and part-time English-language courses, primarily for students who wish to improve their English language skills for university entrance and/or professional advancement. Programs include:

YUELI Academic. A seven-level program offered throughout the year that teaches the language, critical thinking, information retrieval and study skills required to be a successful undergraduate or graduate student in a university where English is the language of instruction. Completion of Level 6 of this program with Distinction, Honours or Pass (depending on Faculty/program applied for) satisfies York's English language proficiency requirements for entry to most undergraduate and graduate programs.

Pre-MBA Program. A full-time, eight-week program offered twice a year, designed to prepare students who have already earned an undergraduate degree to be successful in an MBA program in an English-medium North American university.

YUELI Part-Time. Part-time programs (generally two evenings a week for seven weeks) that focus on specific aspects of English language proficiency such as Speaking English, Pronunciation and Business Writing.

Summer Language Program. A special four-week intensive program, offered in August, which emphasizes speaking and listening in English. Cultural visits and trips are an integral part of each course.

Custom-Designed Programs. Developed, often in collaboration with York faculty members, for specific groups of students with particular educational and/or professional needs. These programs can be delivered on-site at York University, elsewhere in Canada, and abroad, or by distance education. Individual tutoring is also available.

Institute for Social Research (ISR)

The Institute for Social Research provides consultative and support services, many of which are offered without charge, to undergraduate students conducting research primarily in the social sciences, but also in the biological and physical sciences.

The Institute houses the largest university-based survey research organization in Canada and the staff of ISR's Survey Research Centre carries out all phases of survey research, from questionnaire and sample design, through data collection, to the preparation of machine-readable data files, statistical analyses and report writing.

The Institute's Statistical Consulting Service (SCS) provides assistance in research design, sampling, questionnaire design, statistical computing and statistical analysis. SCS also sponsors short courses on statistical analysis, research methodology and the use of statistical software (including SAS and SPSS). These courses are offered in the fall, winter and spring each year.

The Institute's annual Spring Seminar Series on Social Research Methods presents short courses in questionnaire and sample design, using focus groups for social research, how to analyze qualitative data, conducting Web-based surveys, and survey data analysis.

ISR's Data Archive provides access to results of studies conducted by the Institute and other major Canadian surveys. The archive also provides access to official statistics such as the census aggregate and public-use data files from the Canadian Census.

York students may contact the Institute to arrange for consultation in any of these areas or to enquire about upcoming courses.

Writing Centre

The Writing Department's Writing Centre provides students with one to one and group instruction designed to assist students to become effective independent writers both in their academic life and beyond. Instruction, both individual and group, is based on students' course assignments, usually on the draft of an essay, or other writing assignment, in progress. All Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies students, at any stage of a particular course assignment, are welcome to make appointments and take advantage of the opportunity to work on their writing with one of the centre's experienced faculty. Some students in other Faculties also may use the centre (information available on the Writing Department Web site). Appointments are for 50 minutes and are available in the day Monday through Saturday as well as evenings Monday through Thursday. The centre also regularly offers group workshops on various issues and skills related to writing effectively in university. For more information contact the Writing Department at 416-736-5134.

Multimedia Language Centre

The Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies Multimedia Language Centre provides service primarily to the Department of French Studies and the Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics. For more information, contact the Language Laboratory at S117 Ross, 416-736-5197.

Learning Skills

The Learning Skills Program in the Counselling and Development Centre offers individual learning skills counselling as well as regular workshops on selected topics designed to improve your study habits, organizational skills and learning strategies. Please consult the Student Services section below for further information.

Libraries

York's five libraries provide essential support for York's teaching, learning, and research activities. The largest of our libraries, Scott Library, holds our major collections in the humanities, social sciences and fine arts. The Scott Library building also houses the Clara Thomas Archives and Special Collections, the Map Library and the Sound and Moving Image Library. In addition, the Peter F. Bronfman Business Library, the Steacie Science and Engineering Library and the Law Library are all located on the Keele campus. The Leslie Frost Library supports the curriculum and research on the Glendon campus in both French and English. In total, York's libraries contain over 6.5 million items including books, periodicals, theses, archival materials, microforms, maps, films, videos, CDs, DVDs—even a skeleton.

Professional librarians are available in all these locations to assist with research needs. Assistance is available in person as well as by e-mail, telephone and live Web chat. Instruction in library use and research methods is also offered by librarians in course-specific sessions and through general drop-in workshops. These classes provide an introduction to selecting and narrowing a research topic; finding books, scholarly journal articles and Internet materials; critically evaluating information; and using it ethically. Students who attend information literacy classes are better equipped for academic success and are better able to engage as active learners in their courses and beyond.

The libraries have made both collections and services accessible on the Web. The libraries' online collections are available 24 hours a day at <http://www.library.yorku.ca>. Our site functions as a gateway to more than 40,000 full-text electronic scholarly journals and other electronic resources including e-books, encyclopedias, dictionaries, subject pathfinders, government documents, datasets and image collections. The libraries also provide RefWorks®, a premier Web-based citation management program. All these licensed "e-resources" can be used online by students and researchers with YU-card (or other valid library card) from home or elsewhere beyond the library buildings. For additional information on how to access our e-resources remotely, please consult <http://www.library.yorku.ca/ccm/Home/eResources/RemoteAccess.htm>.

In addition our print collections remain a crucial research resources. Because the libraries exist to meet the information and research needs of the whole York University community, borrowing regulations are essential to ensuring fair access to collections, services and facilities. These regulations include the designation of specific loan periods, restrictions on the circulation of certain library materials, the definition of borrower privileges and responsibilities, and the definition of access to and the use of library services and facilities. Privileges are granted subject to users' continuing adherence to established library regulations. For more information, please visit <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/About/Policies/LendingCode.htm>.

The libraries provide study facilities for students of various kinds. There are areas and furnishings suitable for group work, including some 30 group study rooms. There are also silent study rooms for both undergraduate and graduate use. In addition to the provision of alternate format materials for students with disabilities, we have an adaptive equipment lab for drop-in use. Students can sign out laptop computers for use in the library building or use any of our approximately 350 desktop computers, most of which also provide access to word processing, spreadsheet and presentation applications. Our libraries are open from early morning to late evening most days and the first floor of Scott Library is open for study until 1am most weeknights (see hours online <http://www.library.yorku.ca/ccm/Home/Hours/>).

We welcome you to the libraries and we encourage frequent visits, whether you come to read at a carrel, debate with classmates in a group study room or search a database through our Web site. Librarians and other library staff members are here to help you get the most out of the libraries: do ask us!

Co-operative Daycare Centre

The York University Co-operative Daycare Centre, located in Atkinson Residence on the Keele campus has served the York community for 39 years. It is licensed for 119 children between the ages of six weeks and 10 years.

Effective Jan. 1, 2009, fees range from $479 to $1,098 per month, plus one hour's participation per week per child. The centre has a Purchase of Service Agreement with the City of Toronto, that permits it to accept subsidized children. Priority is given to children of students, staff and faculty of the York University, then children from the surrounding community.

Qualified staff, playgrounds, delicious meals prepared on the premises and optional Martial Arts program are offered.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the daycare centre by telephone: 416-736-5190, by e-mail daycare@yorku.ca or by mail to:

York University Co-operative Daycare Centre
Apt. 128, 90 Atkinson Rd.
Toronto, ON M3J 2S5

You may download an application form from our Web site <http://www.yorku.ca/daycare/>.

Counselling and Disability Services

Beginning in Summer 2007, the assistant vice-president (Student Community Development) and the directors of the units providing counselling and disability services launched an initiative to align and organize services to best serve students at York University.

Effective Spring 2009, we anticipate that all counselling and disability services will be integrated within one organization at York University – Counselling and Disability Services (CDS). CDS provides programs and services previously provided by: The Counselling and Development Centre (CDC), i.e. the Personal Counselling Program, the Learning Skills Program, the Learning Disabilities Program (LDP), and the Psychiatric Dis/Abilities Program; The Atkinson Counselling and Supervision Centre; The Office for Persons with Disabilities (OPD); The Glendon Counselling and Career Centre. The information provided below was current at the time of printing, but is subject to change as the transition to one organization progresses.

Vision

York University's Counselling and Disability Services provides a professional and supportive environment in which all York students will have access to a range of services that assist in facilitating their academic success. We are committed to a collaborative, best-practice model that reflects innovative and research-based service delivery.

Services Provided

Personal Counselling

York students are invited to discuss their personal concerns with a counsellor. In order to make an appointment, come to N110 Bennett Centre for Student Services Monday to Friday, or by telephone at 416-736-5297. All interviews are confidential. We also offer groups and workshops with a variety of focuses and themes, including: assertiveness training, effective presentation skills, eating and body image, anger management, achieving goals, stress management, mindfulness, building self-esteem and self-confidence and avoiding procrastination among others. Most groups are offered during both the fall and winter terms depending on enrolment. Check the CDS Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/cdc/>) and watch for advertisements in The Excalibur student newspaper in early September and January for information about groups offered and registration.

Learning Skills

Through individual consultation and workshops, students can work at improving reading, listening, note taking, memory, time management, exam preparation, essay writing skills and academic stress management.

Physical, Learning and Psychiatric Disabilities

CDS provides a range of specialized services to students with physical, learning or psychiatric disabilities, including orientation to campus facilities and services, provision of academic accommodations, advice on courses and academic programs, psycho-educational assessment, counselling, educational workshops, mentorship, support for self-advocacy and other services as necessary.

Community Mental Health Consultation and Outreach

The staff of CDS are available to consult with any member of the York University community with regard to aspects of campus psychological well-being and development. Outreach programs may be tailored to community needs.

Centre for Human Rights

Welcome to York University's Centre for Human Rights. The mandate of the centre is to provide an independent, impartial and private process through which any current student, staff or faculty member of the York University community may pursue the just, fair and equitable resolution of complaints about University-related human rights concerns. Such complaints may either pertain to:

- Alleged inequality and/or unfairness in a University process, application of a process or absence of a process as outlined in its policies, procedures, rules or directives founded upon a prohibited ground under the Ontario Human Rights Code (Code)
- Alleged discrimination and/or harassment as defined in the Code

The centre assists individuals and groups to address and resolve allegations of discrimination and harassment as defined by the Code. When such allegations are raised, an inquiry will be conducted at an informal level, seeking resolution early and effectively for the individual(s) involved. Where a complaint cannot be resolved informally by the centre, the matter will be investigated in accordance with established University policies, practices and agreements.

The centre serves as a repository of information including the maintenance of a resource centre about human rights issues. Employees are available to provide accurate information, referrals and advice to all sectors of the community.

The centre advocates for the adherence to both the spirit and intent of the provisions of the code as well as all human rights policies at York. It therefore does not act as an advocate for the complainant nor does it serve as an apologist for the respondent. In the event that the evidence supports a basis for the complainant's allegations, the centre's role will be to make appropriate recommendations to address the issue. In exceptional situations the centre may assist an individual because of their particular circumstances in seeking an appropriate resolution. In these circumstances, however, the actions of the centre will be oriented towards seeking referrals and/or securing professional services on or off campus.

The centre plays a significant role in human rights education by promoting a culture of equity and mutual respect and mounting educational initiatives. As part of its educational role, the centre will liaise with human rights groups, committees, associations, and organizations both within the University and in the external community as resources permit with a view to gaining knowledge and information about emerging issues as well as best practices.

The Centre for Human Rights is located at S327 Ross South Building. It is open daily from 9am to 5pm and if you need to see us outside office hours, we can arrange that. You can reach us at 416-736-5682, TTY 416-650-8023 or by e-mail at rights@yorku.ca.

Religious Activities

York University offers a unique environment for faith-based programming on campus. The Interfaith Council is designed to provide a forum where harmony and good will permit the diversified religious communities at York to address common concerns and express mutual support.

The Interfaith Council at York is administered and supported by the Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD), which devotes staff time and resources to the smooth and effective operation of the Interfaith Council with a view of enhancing the faith-based student club experience at York. The Chair and other members of the Interfaith Council may be contacted through SC&LD, S172 Ross Building, 416-736-5144.

The Scott Religious Centre provides a comfortable chapel for religious services and peaceful meditation room for individual introspection and quiet prayer. It also provides office space for many of the faith-based student clubs.

The chapel may be booked on a regular basis or for a single religious event through SC&LD (416-736-5144) from September 1 through April 30 and Hospitality York (416-736-5020) from May 1 through August 31. The Scott Religious Centre has entrances on the ground floor in Central Square and outside on the second floor between the Scott Library and the Ross Building.

Security, Parking and Transportation Services

York University Security Services

York University Security Services is located in the William Small Centre, room 228, at the Keele campus and in the Greenhouse at the Glendon campus. We are comprised of dedicated security personnel who are focused on the delivery of quality security services to all people within our community. Our service is "community based". This means we seek collegial partnerships with community stakeholders and provide inclusive solutions to security problems for our campus' that best meet the needs of the large and diverse community we serve. Security Services remains committed to the timely delivery of security services in a professional and sensitive manner, treating all persons with the utmost respect, dignity and absolute fairness.

York University Security Services is comprised of five primary operational sections: Patrol, Campus Relations, goSAFE, Emergency Preparedness and CCTV and Access Control. Each partners with various community groups or external agencies to provide a specific need to the community, such as pro-active patrolling, service response, emergency response, pro-active event planning, crime prevention, safety programs, statistical analysis, outreach/liaison, and investigation of complaints and criminal activity. Security Services has partnerships within the University community and with external agencies and organizations to provide a better, more efficient and effective service to our community.

The security and safety of the campus requires the cooperation and support of the whole community. Security Services encourages the community to take personal precautions and report any suspicious activity immediately.

The Security Control Centre is staffed and operational 24 hours a day/365 days a year. Any security related information may be obtained by contacting Security Services' general telephone number at 416-650-8000 or ext. 58000. For all urgent matters contact 416-736-5333 or ext. 33333.

Security Control Centre

Located in 228 William Small Centre, the Security Control Centre is open 24 hours a day/365 days a year and houses a dispatch centre, Closed Circuit Television Operation (CCTV), alarm monitoring equipment and a first aid station. The Security Control Centre ensures that appropriate community related security services and emergency response are available to the Keele and Glendon community at all times.

Security Officers

Security Officers are customer service professionals trained in non-violent crisis intervention, crime prevention, emergency response, first aid, CPR, Automated External Defibrillators and a variety of other relevant skills. While maintaining strong working relationships with the Toronto Police Service, they serve a different role. Their primary duties are to provide community security services, proactive visual patrolling, medical response and a variety of other duties, such as assisting community members, alarm response, responding to reports of crime, report writing and investigations. Uniform officers can be seen on foot patrol, in marked patrol vehicles and on mountain bikes. Security Officers have extensive knowledge of York University regulations, grounds, departments and services.

Campus Relations

Campus Relations Officers are a support body within Security Services that initiates and formulates proactive security and safety oriented communication ties with community groups, activity leaders, administration and academic liaisons. Campus Relations Officers function in a security capacity for events and incidents, using community liaisons to manage the security component of the events. The aim is to provide prevention, non-violent crisis intervention and/or de-escalation, information services and readiness. These officers actively educate community members regarding departmental policies, activities and accomplishments, as well as provide tips about personal safety.

York University Security Services - Behind the Scenes

Investigations

In addition to investigating and providing follow-up to criminal and provincial offences committed on campus, York Security Services proactively researches upcoming events to ensure student safety while continuing to provide a peaceful forum for York educational objectives. On a continual basis Security Services works in conjunction with the Toronto Police Service to enhance the level of service provided to our community.

Crime Prevention

Part of Security Services' crime prevention mandate consists of compiling and analysing statistical information to proactively deploy campus patrols and formulate crime prevention programs and services. These programs are designed to educate people in the community. Through education, individuals become increasingly resilient to the factors that can trigger and influence criminal behaviour. The department also fosters Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) to make it harder, riskier or less rewarding for offenders to commit crime. The CPTED program introduces ways to deter crime by changing the design of buildings and public spaces.

Emergency Preparedness

York Security Services actively upgrades and sustains an emergency response plan, which is designed to protect life and property, prevent injury and reduce the negative impact of an emergency on the University community.

Medical Assistance

York Security Services provides 24-hour medical assistance to individuals experiencing illness or injury. The advanced Security Control Dispatch Centre allows the department to ensure appropriate emergency services are dispatched and escorted to the scene, ensuring the fastest and most appropriate response in an emergency.

For more information, please visit our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/security/>.

goSAFE

The primary role of the goSAFE program is to provide safer movement after dark for students, faculty and staff. Student Safety Officers will meet you at campus bus stops, parking lots, buildings and/or residences and safely accompany you to either your destination or one of the goSAFE stops on campus. There are two routes on campus the North Route and the South Route with 11 pick up/drop off locations. It is a complimentary safety service provided to the York community by Security Services, CSBO. The service operates daily during the academic year (September to April) from 6pm to 2am, and during the summer months (May to August) from 8pm to 2am.

For more information, please call York Student Security/Escort Service at 416-736-5454 or ext. 55454 or visit us at <http://www.yorku.ca/gosafe/>.

Lost and Found

A Lost and Found office is maintained on the Keele campus at S107 Ross, with operating hours from 11am to 3pm, Mondays through Fridays, and from 5 to 7pm, on Wednesdays and Thursdays. We can also be reached via e-mail at lost@yorku.ca. If you are leaving a message by phone or e-mail, please indicate a description of the item that you lost, the date and time that you last saw it, and a contact name and number (or e-mail) where you can be reached. Any items turned into this office are retained for 30 days only. On the Glendon campus, enquiries should be directed to the Security and Parking Office in the Greenhouse or call 416-487-6808.

The University regrets that it cannot be responsible for items of personal property left unattended on the grounds or within buildings.

For further information, please visit our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/gosafe/lostfound.html> or call us at 416-736-2100, ext. 33369.

Parking Services

A limited supply of parking permits are available to all community members on a first come, first serve basis. Parking Services encourages early purchases for the availability of space and to avoid any line ups.

Please ensure you have fully completed an application form. Incomplete applications will result in unnecessary delays. In order to purchase a parking permit you must provide a valid vehicle ownership or registration (photocopy of the front and back of your vehicle ownership will be sufficient for mail/fax and drop off applications). If the vehicle driver is different than the vehicle owner, the vehicle owner must also sign the application.

Parking permits can not be issued to persons or vehicles with outstanding violations on their parking account. For information regarding outstanding violations please call 416-736-5705 for Keele campus, and 416-487-6788 for Glendon campus and ask to speak with a Violations Officer.

Acceptable payment methods to purchase your permit are cash, cheque, debit, Visa, Mastercard or AMEX. To avoid line-ups and the need to apply in person, applications can be processed by mail/fax.

Applicants renewing their parking permits may be eligible to renew online. Please visit our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/parking/> for more information.

Transportation Services

Carpooling

Carpooling is a simple way for students and staff to save thousands on gas, maintenance and parking by sharing a ride. Carpooling is an effective option for individuals who commute long distances to and from school/work and have limited access to public transit. For information on how to start carpooling or to register for a free ride-matching service, go to the Smart Commute North Toronto, Vaughan Web site <http://www.smartcommuteNTV.ca> to find a carpool partner to York University.

On average it costs $9,000 a year to own and operate a personal vehicle. When you switch from driving alone, you can save a lot of money while helping to reduce traffic congestion, improve air quality and conserve energy.

VAN GO

VAN GO is a service designed to assist persons with disabilities with their transportation needs at York University. This service is a joint effort between Transportation Services and the Office for Persons with Disabilities, in consultation with ABLE York. The service operates from 8am to 10pm, Mondays to Fridays, during the academic year.

For more information, please call 416-736-2100 ext. 82646 (VANGO) or the Office for Persons with Disabilities at 416-736-5140.

Sport and Recreation

York University, through the School of Kinesiology and Health Science, has developed programs in both sport and recreation, aimed at offering opportunities across the broad continuum of physical activity to all students. Programs are designed to allow individuals to select appropriate levels of physical activity participation and, where possible, personal development, wellness and/or leadership opportunities to meet their individual needs and aspirations.

Students not only have the opportunity to participate in sport and recreation activities at York, but become involved in the planning, organization and implementation of programs, either as a volunteer, workstudy student or part-time employee. The University also encourages students to take advantage of the exciting environment generated through Sport and Recreation at York by attending events held on campus throughout the season.

Interuniversity Sport

The interuniversity sport program is an integral part of the University's educational mission and complements the potential for personal growth that the York experience fosters. All full-time students are welcome to try out for any of the 23 interuniversity teams offered by Sport York. Sport programs give student-athletes the opportunity for skill development and the pursuit of excellence through qualified coaching and competitive schedules.

A Proud and Growing Tradition. For more than 40 years, York University student-athletes have been making their mark on the Canadian sport scene. Provincial and national team titles, combined with numerous athletes and coaches who participate on many of Canada's national teams, attest to the success of York University.

Coaches. The coaching staff at York is composed of experienced, highly qualified and dedicated professionals, many of whom hold full-time positions within the University. A majority of our coaches also hold leadership positions in provincial and national sport organizations and are experts in their field of coaching. These individuals are dedicated to the attainment of the student-athletes' potential in the sport and in the classroom.

Interuniversity Teams. York University offers the opportunity to participate at the highest level of university competition. In Ontario, universities compete in each sport for the provincial championship title within Ontario University Athletics (OUA). Nationally, York competes within Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS).

Men's teams: badminton, basketball, cross country, football, ice hockey, soccer, swimming, tennis, track and field, volleyball and water polo.

Women's teams: badminton, basketball, cross country, field hockey, ice hockey, rugby, soccer, swimming, tennis, track and field, volleyball and water polo.

Recreation

An important dimension of the total educational experience is the participation in physical activity. The Recreation York program provides an opportunity for the University community to participate in a wide range of activities including intramural sport competitions, fitness/lifestyle and instructional classes, sport clubs and casual recreation. The aim of the program is to provide activities that meet the individual needs, interests and abilities of York students. Registered students may enrol free of charge in most Recreation York programs (space permitting).

Intramural Sports. A variety of individual and team activities are offered at both a competitive and recreational level. The program features 44 tournament and sport leagues including three-on-three basketball and the All-Night Rage Volleyball Tournament. Join a team from your college or form your own team with a group of university friends.

Fitness/Lifestyle and Instructional Classes. For the fitness enthusiast, more than 50 instructional classes are offered each week. Several different levels of step classes, total body conditioning, cardio taekwondo and hi/lo are among the variety of fitness classes available. For those with other interests, instructional courses are offered in the areas of martial arts, dance, aquatics, relaxation and sports like tennis, skating and squash (for an additional charge).

Sport Clubs. For those who would like to join other members of the York community in an activity or sport that may not be offered at either the interuniversity or intramural level, there is a sport club program. Squash, table tennis and curling are a few of the many clubs waiting to welcome new members.

Casual Recreation. For those who like to swim, run, skate, play tennis or squash, or work out, there are many casual recreational opportunities for the person who enjoys the flexibility of self-directed physical activity. Of particular interest is the Tait McKenzie Fitness Centre, featuring state of the art exercise machines and free weights, and staffed by qualified fitness personnel who can assist with equipment use and provide exercise prescription. There are also casual use times set aside in facilities such as the gymnasium and the ice rink for pick-up hockey, skating, badminton, basketball, volleyball, indoor soccer, table tennis, outdoor tennis and squash.

Facilities

York University offers state-of-the-art sport and recreation facilities and amenities. At the Keele campus, the Tait McKenzie Centre serves as the centre of activity. For outdoor events, York Stadium is the main attraction. The University also serves as the home of the City of Toronto Track and Field Centre, the Rexall (tennis) Centre and Canlan Ice Sports - York. At the Proctor Field House on the Glendon campus, a variety of facilities and amenities are also available, including a renovated gymnasium and unique walking/hiking trails that lead to local parks.

Keele campus: stadium, four gymnasias, five studios, five squash courts, five sport playing fields, four softball fields, nine outdoor tennis courts, swimming pool, a recreational cricket pitch, a 12,000-square-foot fitness centre with 45 cardio machines, 23 selectorized machines and free weights and a Sport Injury Clinic.

Plus: Canlan Ice Sports at York University (six rinks), City of Toronto Track and Field Centre at York University (indoor and outdoor), Rexall Centre (outdoor and indoor tennis courts).

Glendon campus: two gymnasias, five squash courts, swimming pool, fitness studio, weight room, indoor golf driving range, three outdoor tennis courts, softball diamond, playing field, walking/hiking trails.

The Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD)

Reporting to the Assistant Vice President, Student Community Development, the Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD) is dedicated to continuously improving the quality of student life at York University.

Through the efforts of a dedicated, student focused staff team, the centre coordinates a wide range of services and activities which directly benefit students' communal and co-curricular life on the York University campus, including: leadership development; student government liaison; elections support; administration of student clubs; off-campus housing listings; coordination of first-year orientation events, the Information Fair and Parents' Orientation; Health Education and Promotion, Residence Life and York is U. Through a combination of assessment, planning, and meaningful program design, we can effectively maximize opportunities for academic excellence and personal development.

Student Community and Leadership Development enriches student life by promoting education, awareness and growth; celebrating diversity, encouraging collaboration and developing citizenship.

The Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development is located at S172 Ross Building, 416-736-5144; TDD 416-736-5940. E-mail: scld@yorku.ca. Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/>.

Student Conduct & Dispute Resolution (SCDR)

The purpose of the Office of Student Conduct & Dispute Resolution is to build community by upholding the values of York University through support and accountability programming in order to positively impact the student experience. SCDR is committed to fostering student success by assisting with informal resolution of conflicts, upholding the behavioural expectations outlined in the University's non-academic Student Code of Conduct and providing support to students impacted by critical incidents. Under the Code, students are expected to conduct themselves in a way that supports an atmosphere of civility, diversity, equity and respect. Any community member may file a complaint about a student or group of students under the Code. Students wishing to make a complaint about another student or student group's behaviour must complete a Complaint Form and submit it to the Office of Student Conduct & Dispute Resolution. The office will assess the complaint and take appropriate action. The Office also offers advice, referrals, education, alternative dispute resolution/dialogue processes, local adjudication and the University Tribunal process. SCDR provides support to students, parents/guardians and the community in its role as a University liaison in the management of critical incident cases. For more information on the Code, filing a complaint, seeking advice and/or support for students impacted by a critical incident please visit <http://www.yorku.ca/scdr/> or call 416-736-5231.

Student Government

York Federation of Students (YFS)

The York Federation of Students is dedicated to the representation and support of the student movement at York University. It is a democratic, non-profit, service-oriented organization committed to working towards a university environment wherein members of the federation (all undergraduate students) can pursue academic excellence as well as personal and social growth free from all forms of discrimination and harassment.

YFS is committed to universally accessible postsecondary education and rejects all impediments to postsecondary education including, but not limited to, financial constraints through tuition fees, residence costs, streaming and discrimination based upon gender, race, sexual orientation, class, religion, colour, ethnicity, nationality, geographic location, state of health or age.

The federation strives for the highest quality of postsecondary education available. It supports student organizations, on and off campus, which promotes its stated principle.

The federation offers many services, including a health plan, a student datebook, a courtesy phone, five cent photocopies and free International Student Identity Cards and Student Saver Cards.

YFS is located in 336 Student Centre, 416-736-5324. Come and visit for more information.

College and Faculty Student Governments

Student governments take different forms in each of the colleges and the Faculties but have the same general goal - to serve their student members using funds made available to them each year and to represent their interests in a variety of dealings with the University Faculties, service offices and departments, both academic and administrative.

Graduate Student Governments

At the graduate level, the student governments are the Graduate Students' Association, the Graduate Business Council, and the Graduate Environmental Studies Students' Association. Each of these organizations collects an annual levy from its members to finance its activities and programs. Student societies receive over one million dollars of support in this way. Annual elections within each unit provide the executive officer group which is responsible for the administration and accounting for these funds. Many of these organizations publish newspapers and newsletters to inform their members about their services and programs.

Other Student Organizations

Several student organizations receive annual levies from their constituents: Excalibur Publications, CHRY North York Community Radio, Community and Legal Aid Services Program (CLASP), ProTem, Theatre Glendon, Ontario Public Interest Research Group (OPIRG) (refundable), Glendon Women's Centre, York Women's Centre (refundable), Sexual Assault Survivor's Support Line (SASSL) (refundable) and World University Services of Canada (WUSC) (refundable). These organizations are subject to the same financial reporting requirements as student governments. Constitutions and financial reports of these councils are public documents and are available through the Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD), or the office of the individual organization.

Student Representation on University Committees

The participation of students in the governance of the University is an important element in effective decision making and policy development at York University. Students are entitled to participate as full voting members on the Board of Governors, the University Senate, Faculty Councils and other bodies. The system of governance established by the York University Act is bicameral, with two central governing bodies: the Board of Governors and the Senate. Decision-making powers are divided and/or shared among the Chancellor, the President, the Board and the Senate and some of these powers are delegated to or shared with other bodies.

The Board of Governors. The Board of Governors is vested by the York Act with authority for the “government, conduct, management and control of the University and of its property, revenues, expenditures, business and affairs”. The board consists of 30 members in addition to the President and the Chancellor. There are two designated seats on the board for students. By agreement of the board and the Student Senator Caucus, the selection of one student nominee each year has been done through a process of popular election among registered York University students, usually held in the spring. Upon election, the student’s nomination must be confirmed by the Student Senator Caucus and recommended to the board. The term of office is two years. The board conducts much of its business through committees such as the Finance and Audit Committee, the Academic Resources Committee, Land and Property Committee, the Investment Committee and Community Affairs Committee.

The Senate. The Senate is responsible for the academic policy of the University, including the recommendation to establish new Faculties and colleges, admission standards, student aid policies, the establishment of degrees and diplomas and the structure and content of all academic programs. It is composed of the Chancellor, the President, the Chair and representatives of the Board of Governors, vice-presidents, deans, department Chairs and elected faculty members from each Faculty with some representation from other groups both inside and outside the University. Students are elected to the senate through their Faculty Councils. Students are represented on most senate committees, examples of which include Executive; Tenure and Promotion; Senate Appeals; Academic Policy and Planning; Curriculum and Academic Standards; Admissions, Recruitment and Student Assistance; and Research.

Faculty Councils. York University consists of 11 Faculties and each has a Faculty Council which is responsible for making decisions on the variety of matters affecting the curriculum and academic policies of the Faculty. Each Faculty Council is a committee of senate and has, in turn, a number of council committees on which students sit as members. More details on the specific structure and student participation in a Faculty Council may be obtained through the office of the secretary of the council in your Faculty.

Students are also members of a variety of advisory and decision-making bodies throughout the University. Information about these positions can be obtained by contacting academic units or administrative offices. General questions about student participation in university governance should be directed to the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>).

The Centre for Women and Trans People

The Centre for Women and Trans People is a student-funded, collectively run, volunteer-driven organization at York University. We are a progressive, pro-choice, anti-racist, queer-positive, trans-positive, feminist organization committed to:

- breaking the social isolation that women and trans people face on campus through programming, socials and networking events;
- individual and collective empowerment through esteem building, education and decolonization;
- providing services such as peer-to-peer crisis intervention, peer counselling, advocacy and referrals from a feminist, anti-oppressive framework;
- acting as a resource base for understanding, exposing and organizing on issues around gender violence and social justice;
- creating working relationships between students and the University administration, where students are directly involved in developing programs and policies that make the campus safer for everyone;
- developing a culture of resistance and celebration by supporting initiatives by local artists.

We offer a comfortable lounge with couches and chairs, free phone, computer and Internet access, a fridge, a microwave and good company! Whether you want to debrief with someone about your day, or are looking for a place to chill, eat your lunch, catch up on your readings, get involved in our work — don’t be shy, drop by and check us out!

York International

Office of the Associate Vice-President International

Internationalization is a strategic priority of York University. The Office of the Associate Vice-President International works collaboratively with students, faculty members, staff, institutions and governments to provide leadership in turning this priority into a reality.

York University’s approach to internationalization is built on the following principles:

- Academic priorities are the principal motivation for internationalization at York University.
- Internationalization will be consonant with the University’s commitment to social justice and equity.
- Internationalization will build on and contribute to York’s tradition of interdisciplinarity.
- Internationalization requires the collaboration and support of all Faculties and all areas of the University.

With these principles in mind, we are working towards reaching four key goals:

- To make internationalization pervasive and integral to teaching and learning at York.
- To provide as many opportunities, and as many different kinds of opportunities, for York students to have an international experience – at York as well as by going away - and to increase the numbers of students taking advantage of them.
- To establish York University as the national leader in internationalization.
- To raise the international profile of York University.

International Student Services and Programs

York University is home to a diverse community, which includes approximately 3,200 international and exchange students from over 130 different countries. York International provides a range of student services and programs that further the achievements of York students, while providing the university community at large with learning opportunities to extend their understanding of world knowledge and cultures.

York International provides a variety of programs for students including orientation for international students, a ‘buddy’ program that connects domestic and international students and Cultural Galas.

International students can visit York International to receive individual advising on the University Health Insurance Plan and immigration updates including the Off Campus Work Program. There are workshops on social adjustment, business etiquette, immigration issues and income tax.

Further information on annual services and programs for international students is available at <http://international.yorku.ca>.

Study Abroad

York University has over 100 official academic exchanges with universities in Asia, Australia, Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean. A full list of partner universities and application details can be found on the York International Web site. The York International Resource Centre in 029 Vanier College maintains an extensive collection of multimedia materials on these exchanges as well as other study, work and volunteer opportunities. Students interested in going abroad are encouraged to attend one of the frequently held information sessions. A schedule of these sessions and details about the exchange program are available at <http://international.yorku.ca>.

Housing

Undergraduate Residences

Living on campus presents an affordable opportunity for undergraduate students to experience a diverse community and make lifelong friends while being conveniently situated at the centre of social, cultural and academic life, with a wide array of campus services at their doorstep.

York has approximately 2,280 beds available for undergraduate students across eight buildings on the Keele campus and an additional 400 on the Glendon campus. Most residences are arranged in a traditional style with comfortably furnished double and single rooms, and shared common lounges and washrooms. With most rooms, students will purchase a mandatory meal plan that can be used at over 35 food outlets offering a wide selection of food types on the Keele campus and a main dining hall and fast food outlet at the Glendon campus. York's Keele campus also has some space available in suite-style units where groups of four to six students share a small kitchen, living area and in-suite washroom. The Pond Road Residence is York's Keele campus newest undergraduate residence and offers 428 spaces arranged in 2 bedroom suites, each with a separate washroom and kitchen. Residence costs will vary according to accommodation styles; however, students should estimate $7,000 for a typical arrangement of a double occupancy room with a meal plan.

Undergraduate students are welcome to apply for residence as long as they enrol in and plan to remain in a minimum of 24 credits or four full courses. Information about how to apply online to residence will be included with your offer of admission to York.

York University Apartments

On the Keele campus only, accommodation is also available in the York University Apartments to eligible graduate students, and other mature students who are 21 years of age or over or who require family style accommodation. A limited number of York apartments are available to students with physical disabilities. The apartments consist of furnished and unfurnished bachelor, one-bedroom and two-bedroom units. The York apartments are not suitable for a couple with more than two children.

Beverage Services

University regulations governing The Sale, Service and Use of Alcohol on Campus are at <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/document.php?document=36>.

Specific areas in the University are approved for the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages under York's policies and licences granted to various independent campus caterers by the Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO); these are available as appendix I to the above and at http://www.yorku.ca/univsec/policies/background_docs/Alcohol%20Procedures/040702%20Alcohol%20Procedures.revisedappendixI.pdf.

Enquiries regarding the University Liquor Policy should be directed to the manager of food services 416-736-5517 or ahussain@yorku.ca.

Off-Campus Housing

Students who require assistance finding off-campus accommodation can use the online off-campus housing service, Places4students. This service is available free to students who use the Places4students Web site to look for vacancies or advertise for a roommate. For more information, visit <http://www.Places4Students.com> and click on "Partner Schools".

Students can drop by the Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD) for publications and guides that can assist them with their housing search. These publications are also available online by going to <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/offcampushousing/> and clicking on "Important Rental Information for Students".

IX. University Policies and Regulations

For a comprehensive listing of University policies and procedures, visit <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>.

Student Conduct and Responsibilities (Academic and Non-Academic)

Students and instructors are expected to maintain a professional relationship characterized by courtesy and mutual respect and to refrain from actions disruptive to such a relationship. Moreover, it is the responsibility of the instructor to maintain an appropriate academic atmosphere in the classroom and the responsibility of the student to cooperate in that endeavour. Further, the instructor is the best person to decide, in the first instance, whether such an atmosphere is present in the class. A statement of the policy and procedures regarding disruptive and/or harassing behaviour by students in academic situations is available from the Deans' offices, the Vice-President Academic and the Vice-President Students, or on the Web site of the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>).

Students who violate University rules or public law may be disciplined by the University after an investigation which would include an opportunity to hear the student's interpretation of the events in question. Participation in these procedures is a fundamental obligation of any student and, in order to permit the University to act fairly and with sufficient information and understanding, students must be accessible to communication. A current and effective mailing address must be left with the University at all times. (Changes are to be submitted by students through the Student Address Module <https://wrem.sis.yorku.ca/Apps/WebObjects/SAM.woa/wa/DirectAction/sam>.) Failure of a student to respond to communications from the University will not affect the University's right to conclude its investigation.

Rustication (expulsion from all University courses and activities) is the most serious sanction which may be imposed. For further information, see the Student Code of Conduct under University Policies on the Web site of the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Convocation

What is the difference between graduation and convocation? Graduation is the term used to acknowledge that you have met your degree requirements and you have been approved by Senate to graduate from the program. Convocation refers to the ceremony where the Chancellor confers the degree.

Students from the Faculties of Arts (June or October 2009 only), Atkinson (June or October 2009 only), Education, Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Science and Engineering must apply to graduate online. Students from the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Glendon, Osgoode Hall Law School and Schulich School of Business are strongly encouraged to apply online. This can be done online by going to the Current Students Web site located at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>, clicking on My Student Records and under My Graduation Status, clicking on Apply to graduate with an undergraduate degree. The deadlines to apply are announced each year, and are usually four months prior to the ceremony. If not applying online, graduates from the Faculty of Environmental Studies should contact the Office of Student Affairs Services. Graduates from the Osgoode Hall Law School should contact the Osgoode Student Services Office. Graduates from the Schulich School of Business should contact the Schulich Office of Student Services and International Relations.

Students must ensure that the University has the correct spelling of their full names on file so that diplomas are prepared accurately. Students may verify the name which will appear on their diploma through the Web at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>), clicking on My Student Records and under My Personal Info, selecting Verify my official name.

Ceremonies are scheduled for June, for those students who complete their course work in the fall or winter terms and in October for those who complete their course work in the summer term.

Diplomas are normally distributed the day of the convocation ceremonies. For those students who are unable to attend, or who did not receive their diploma the day of the ceremony, diplomas may be picked up from Student Client Services after convocation has taken place. Students who are unable to attend and wish to have their diplomas mailed to them may do so by making these arrangements with Student Client Services or via fax to the Registrar's Office. A fee will be charged for packaging and mailing. For more information, contact Student Client Services at 416-872-YORK (9675) or visit the convocation Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/>. Diplomas that have not been picked up or mailed will be kept on file for approximately one year. As such, students are advised to pick up or arrange to have their diplomas mailed as soon as possible.

Some Faculties and colleges arrange composite photographs. Contact information for photographs can be found at http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/Convocation/contacts_photo.

Detailed information about the schedule of ceremonies, rsvps, robe rental, guests and receptions is available online at <http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/>.

A student obtains a diploma for satisfactory completion of his or her academic program on the condition that all of their University debts have been paid.

Academic Sanctions for Outstanding Debts to the University

In accordance with Senate policy, students who have debts to the University and are not in good standing with respect to those debts shall have grade reports and conferral of degrees withheld.

Grading Scheme and Feedback

The grading scheme for each course (that is, the kinds and weights of assignments, essays, exams etc.) shall be announced, and be available in writing, within the first two weeks of class. Under normal circumstances, graded feedback worth at least 15 per cent of the final grade for fall, winter or summer term and 30 per cent for 'full year' courses offered in the fall/winter session should be received by students in all courses prior to the final withdrawal date from a course without receiving a grade. Exceptions include graduate or senior undergraduate courses where course work typically, or at the instructor's discretion, consists of:

- a single piece of work (for example, honours theses or graduate research papers not due by the drop date etc.);
- practicum courses;
- ungraded courses;
- courses in Faculties where the drop date occurs within the first three weeks of classes;
- courses which run on a compressed schedule (a course which accomplishes its academic credits of work at a rate of one credit hour per two calendar weeks or faster).

Note: Under unusual and/or unforeseeable circumstances which disrupt the academic norm, instructors are expected to provide grading schemes and academic feedback in the spirit of these regulations, as soon as possible. Information on other policies related to grades is available from Faculties, departments and schools, and the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

Policy

York University shall make reasonable and appropriate accommodations and adaptations in order to promote the ability of students with disabilities to fulfill the academic requirements of their programs.

The nature and extent of accommodations shall be consistent with and supportive of the integrity of the curriculum and of the academic standards of programs or courses.

Provided that students have given sufficient notice about their accommodation needs, instructors shall take reasonable steps to accommodate these needs in a manner consistent with the guidelines established hereunder.

'Disabilities' shall be defined as those conditions so designated under the Ontario Human Rights Code in force from time to time, and will in any event include physical, medical, learning and psychiatric disabilities.

Guidelines for this policy can be accessed on various University Web sites, including the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Computing and Information Technology Facilities

In order to promote the ethical and responsible use of computing and other information technology facilities, general guidelines have been established for all students by the Senate Committee on Academic Computing in consultation with an administrative task force on computing at York. York's Budget and Policy Committee has also approved the principles and guidelines set out below.

1. York University's computing and information technology facilities are made available to students in support of their academic objectives and requirements; to faculty in support of their teaching, research and administrative activities; to staff in support of their assigned responsibilities; and to other authorized users. Such facilities may include computers and associated peripherals, the communication infrastructure and related equipment, facsimile machines, scanners, copiers, telephone, video and other multimedia devices and forms of software.
2. Computing and information technology facilities may be used only in a manner which does not contravene York University's relevant policies, codes, agreements, network protocols and provincial and federal laws.
3. Access to computing and information technology facilities is a privilege. Users who contravene the relevant policies and laws may be subject to immediate withdrawal of the privilege and/or disciplinary procedures. Illegal acts involving computing and information technology facilities may also be subject to criminal prosecution or other legal action.

Information about guidelines associated with this policy can be obtained from the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>).

Student Code of Conduct

1. Introduction

York University is a place of research, teaching and learning where people value civility, diversity, equity and respect in their interactions with one another. Freedom of speech, freedom of association, freedom to study and to learn, freedom to engage in research, and the freedom to write and to publish are all recognized as central to the mission of the institution. It is acknowledged that these values can only be meaningful, and these freedoms fully realized, in an atmosphere of safety and security.

Since their inception, universities have been recognized as clearly distinguishable communities within the larger community and have dealt with issues of misconduct internally. Under the York University Act, 1965, 13(2)(c), the President has the power to formulate and implement regulations governing students and student activities. The President has assigned to the Vice-President Students, through the Office of Student Conduct and Dispute Resolution, the responsibility for the administration of this Code of Student Conduct.

This Code has been developed through extensive consultation with students, staff, and faculty, and affirms their stated values of equity and respect. It is based on a model that supports a progressive discipline approach that encourages appropriate conduct¹. The process the Code outlines for dealing with transgressions is designed to be perceptibly fair, easy to understand, and transparent. In addition, the sanctions it proposes have been developed through community consultation and are understood to be reasonable and suitable for a wide variety of misconduct. Wherever possible and appropriate, sanctions will be corrective rather than punitive.

2. The Reason for a Student Code of Conduct

This Student Code of Conduct identifies those behaviours which, if left unchallenged and unchecked, would disrupt the academic purposes of the University, make the campus² less safe, diminish the dignity of individuals and groups, or erode essential freedoms. It applies specifically to students because the behaviours of non-student members of the University community are held to comparable standards of account by other statutes, policies, and contracts.

Nothing in this Code is intended as a method or excuse to suppress peaceful protest, civil debate or lawful conduct, so long as that conduct is not prohibited by this Code.

3. Application of this Code

This Code applies to non-academic student conduct. Academic student conduct is governed by University Senate policies and is beyond the scope of this Code.

This Code applies to students and student groups, and all references to "student" include "students" and "student groups." Student hosts are responsible for the conduct of their guests and the University expects and requires that they discourage inappropriate behaviour. For the purposes of this Code, "student" means a person who is registered and enrolled as a student at York University and who is therefore bound by University policies and regulations.

This Code applies to (a) conduct on University premises³, and (b) conduct not on University premises but which has a real and substantial link to the University. Examples of such a link would be events where students are acting as delegates or designated representatives of the University, events held off-campus by a recognized student group, or events held off-campus by an unrecognized student group that is readily identifiable with the University or any part of it.

There may be additional community standards required of persons choosing to live in University residences. A breach of residence rules is a breach of this Code and will be dealt with in the same manner and process as breaches of rules on the rest of the campus.

The University reserves the right to determine if a matter should be addressed under this Code regardless of the actions of external agencies, such as the police, and may use information provided by such agencies.

1. In this Code, "progressive discipline" means an incremental and proportionate approach to applying sanctions.
2. In this Code, "campus" includes all York University campuses, namely, Keele, Glendon and York Professional Centres.
3. In this Code, "University Premises" means buildings and/or land owned and/or occupied by the University.

4. Standard of Student Conduct

Students are expected to conduct themselves in a way that supports research, teaching and learning, and that promotes an atmosphere of civility, diversity, equity and respect in their interactions with one another. They should strive to make the campus safe, to support the dignity of individuals and groups and to uphold essential freedoms.

The following behaviours are prohibited. This list is not exhaustive but provides examples of breaches of the standard of conduct. This Code deliberately does not place violations in a hierarchy. The University views all complaints made under the provisions of this Code as serious.

- a) Breaking federal, provincial or municipal law, such as: breaking into University premises; vandalism; trespassing; unauthorized use of keys to space on campus; unauthorized possession or use of firearms, explosives, or incendiary devices; possession or consumption of, or dealing in, illegal drugs; smoking of legal substances outside designated areas; cruelty to animals; theft of University or private property including intellectual property; unauthorized copying of documents; possession of stolen property.
- b) Threats of harm, or actual harm, to a person's physical or mental wellbeing, such as: assault; verbal and non-verbal aggression; physical abuse; verbal abuse; intimidation; sexual assault; harassment; stalking; hazing⁴.
- c) Disruption of, or interference with, University activities such as: causing a substantial disorder; bomb threats; creating dangerous situations; making or causing excessive noise; proffering false identification; setting off false fire alarms; blocking exit routes.
- d) Damage to the property of the University or its members such as: damaging or defacing University or another person's property including computer systems and intellectual property; tampering with University fire extinguishing or prevention equipment;
- e) Violation of University Policies, Procedures, or rules, such as: Temporary Use of University Space Policy; Policy on Computing and Information Technology Facilities; Policy on the Sale, Service and Use of Alcoholic Beverages on campus; Parking and Transportation Policy; unauthorized use of identification to obtain goods or services.
- f) Abuse of, or disrespect for, the processes of this Code, such as: bringing unfounded complaints with malicious, frivolous, or vexatious intent; failure to comply with the reasonable requests of a University official; failure to attend meetings or hearings regarding alleged breaches of this Code; failure to comply with Code sanctions.

As a general principle, impairment by alcohol or illegal drugs is not a defence for prohibited behaviours.

5. The Process for dealing with a Complaint

The University recognizes that many disputes can be resolved without resorting to the provisions of this Code. Wherever it is possible and proper to do so, members of the University community are encouraged to continue to use simple requests for corrective behaviour rather than invoking the following complaint process.

Initially every complaint made under this process will be directed to a Local Adjudicator in the relevant College, Faculty, Residence or Administrative Unit. For complaints that do not inherently belong in one of those areas, the Local Adjudicator will be a representative of the Office of Student Conduct. The Local Adjudicators will be appointed by the Vice-President Students.

The standard of proof required for a determination that there has been a breach of the Code will be "on a balance of probabilities," meaning that the person(s) deciding a case must find that it is more probable than not that a contested allegation is established as fact, or not.

4. In this Code, "hazing" means an act that endangers the mental or physical health and/or safety and/or dignity of a student, and done as a condition of membership.

The Complainant has the right to attend any hearing on the matter where evidence he or she has provided is being used. The Complainant also has the right to know the outcome of the complaint process, unless the Local Adjudicator or University Tribunal finds that there are grounds to order otherwise.

a) Filing a Complaint

- i. Any person (a Complainant) may file a complaint (a Complaint) under this Code, alleging a violation of the standard of student conduct by a student.
- ii. The Complaint must be in writing with the Complainant's name attached to it; anonymous Complaints will not be taken forward.
- iii. The Complaint must be filed within three months of the alleged violation of the Code unless the Local Adjudicator or the University Tribunal, upon first addressing the Complaint, considers it reasonable to extend that time limit.
- iv. A Complaint must be filed with a Local Adjudicator.
- v. When a Local Adjudicator receives a Complaint, he or she will assess whether it should be dismissed, or whether an investigation is warranted. Where an investigation is warranted, the student against whom the Complaint is made (the Respondent) will be given a copy of this Code so that he or she may be informed of his or her rights and responsibilities. The Respondent will also be given a copy of the Complaint including the name of the Complainant. Contact information for the Complainant will be kept confidential.

b) Investigation of a Complaint

The Local Adjudicator will gather the facts of the case by holding whatever meetings are appropriate.

The Respondent will be allowed a reasonable amount of time to consider the Complaint against him or her and to respond to it, and will be advised in advance, and given an opportunity to comment on, any sanctions that are being considered.

Both Complainant and Respondent are required to be present for meetings and hearings held under this Code when required. The Respondent must not retaliate against the Complainant.

If, after the investigation, the Local Adjudicator determines that there has been a breach of this Code, sanctions may be imposed. The Local Adjudicator will issue a written decision stating the reasons upon which it is based, within 10 days from the date on which the Respondent is advised orally of the decision.

The written decision of the Local Adjudicator will be provided to the Complainant and the Respondent and will be filed with the Office of Student Conduct.

If, at any time after receiving a Complaint, the Local Adjudicator is of the opinion that the nature of the Complaint makes resolution by the Local Adjudicator inappropriate, the Local Adjudicator will refer the Complaint to the University Tribunal for a hearing to be held.

c) Request for a University Tribunal Hearing following a Local Adjudicator's Decision

- i. Following a decision of a Local Adjudicator, a Respondent may request a hearing before the University Tribunal on the grounds that:
 - 1) the Local Adjudicator had no power under this Code to reach the decision or impose the sanctions he or she did;
 - 2) the Local Adjudicator made a fundamental error in procedure prejudicial to the Respondent;
 - 3) the Respondent has new evidence to present that could not reasonably have been presented earlier; or
 - 4) the Respondent is entitled to relief on compassionate grounds not considered by the Local Adjudicator.

The request must include detailed reasons and be in writing delivered to the University Tribunal within 10 days after the date on which the Local Adjudicator's written decision was issued.

- ii. The request for hearing will be considered in written form only, and will either be granted or denied, by a single member of the University Tribunal, with written reasons.

- iii. All sanctions ordered by the Local Adjudicator will be suspended pending the decision of the University Tribunal as to whether a hearing will be granted. In cases which involve issues of safety and security of person or property, the Local Adjudicator may determine that the sanctions imposed will stay in effect from the time that the decision was made pending the completion of the University Tribunal proceedings.
- iv. If the University Tribunal denies the request for a hearing, the sanctions will immediately become enforceable as of the date of that decision.

6. University Tribunal

a) University Tribunal Composition

The members of the Tribunal are students, faculty, and staff volunteers appointed by the Vice-President Students to serve for a two-year term, renewable once, unless terminated earlier by the Vice-President Students.

Each Tribunal Hearing panel will be comprised of three persons, one of whom will be a student. They will elect a Chair for the proceedings.

b) University Tribunal Hearing Process

Tribunal Hearings provide an opportunity for a balanced airing of facts. The hearings are held in "private", i.e. restricted to persons who have a direct role or interest in the hearing, or persons who are acting as witnesses. At the discretion of the Chair other persons may be admitted to the hearing for training purposes or other reasonable considerations.

The Tribunal Hearing panel is not bound to observe strict legal procedures, but in order to ensure that its procedures are as fair as possible in the context of University circumstances and traditions it shall comply with the following procedural guidelines:

- i. The Office of Student Conduct presents the Complaint and any supporting documentation and witnesses, including the Complainant, to the Tribunal Hearing panel.
- ii. The Respondent has the opportunity to ask questions of any witnesses. Members of the Tribunal will also have the opportunity to ask questions of the presenter and the witnesses.
- iii. After the Office of Student Conduct has presented the Complaint, the Respondent will have the opportunity to present his or her response to the Complaint, including any supporting documentation and witnesses.
- iv. The Office of Student Conduct and the Tribunal panel will have the opportunity to ask questions of the Respondent and of any witnesses.
- v. Both the Office of Student Conduct and the Respondent then explain their respective interpretations of the evidence presented.
- vi. Both the Office of Student Conduct and the Respondent will have the opportunity to suggest what sanctions, if any, they believe are appropriate to the matter before the Tribunal.
- vii. Whenever possible, decisions of the Tribunal will be made orally immediately following the hearing. The decision will then be put in writing no more than 14 days from the end date of the hearing and delivered to the Respondent and the Complainant by regular mail, express post or e-mail and filed with the Office of Student Conduct.

c) Student Rights at a University Tribunal Hearing

Respondents have the following rights:

- i. The right to bring an advocate or adviser. This may be any person chosen by the Respondent to help present his or her case. Where possible, the name of the advocate or adviser should be provided to the Office of Student Conduct at least two days prior to a hearing.
- ii. The right to see all the evidence that the Office of Student Conduct will present and to know what sanctions, if any, the Office will request.

- iii. The right to challenge the suitability of any member of the Tribunal panel based on a reasonable apprehension of bias against the Respondent's case. The Tribunal panel will determine if a reasonable apprehension of bias is warranted. Its decision will be final. If it does find a reasonable apprehension of bias, it will direct the Office of Student Conduct to reschedule the hearing with a new panel.
- iv. The right to have his or her case heard in a timely manner, meaning that except in exceptional circumstances (such as University holiday closure) the Respondent will have a hearing within 20 business days⁵ of the determination that the Complaint will be heard by the University Tribunal.
- v. The right to prior notice of hearing of at least seven days, unless there are special circumstances (as determined by the Office of Student Conduct), in which case the matter may be heard before the seven-day notice period has elapsed.
- vi. The right to notice: hearing notice will be hand-delivered, or sent by e-mail or regular mail or Express Post. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the University has his or her current contact information. If a student fails to receive any notice under this Code by reason of the student's own failure to meet this requirement, such notice will still be treated as valid and effective.
- vii. The right to a "private" hearing as explained in section 6(b).

7. Appeals of University Tribunal decisions

- a) The Respondent or the University may appeal a University Tribunal decision to the Appeal Panel only on the following grounds:
 - i. that the University Tribunal had no power under this Code to reach the decision or impose the sanctions it did;
 - ii. that the University Tribunal panel made a fundamental procedural error seriously prejudicial to the Respondent;
 - iii. the Respondent has new evidence to present that could not reasonably have been presented earlier; or
 - iv. that the Respondent is entitled to relief on compassionate grounds not considered by the University Tribunal panel.
- b) Appeals must be made in writing to the Director of Student Conduct within 14 days following the date on which the written decision of the University Tribunal was issued. The Respondent must provide a written statement setting forth the grounds upon which the Respondent intends to rely. It is the Respondent's responsibility to ensure that the University has his or her current contact information. Any notice not received because the Respondent has failed to meet this requirement will have no bearing on the proceedings.
- c) Non-monetary sanctions apply pending the outcome of any appeal (monetary sanctions are automatically suspended pending the outcome of the appeal). No compensation will be made if a non-monetary sanction is overturned on appeal. The Respondent may apply to the Appeal Panel to stay the operation of the sanctions pending the outcome of the appeal. The Appeal Panel will convene a hearing at the earliest possible date to deal with the request for a suspension of sanctions. Where some more immediate response is required, application may be made to the Director of Student Conduct.
- d) The Appeal Panel will be comprised of three members from the University Tribunal. They will not be any of the same members who heard the original case.
- e) The Appeal Panel will hear the appeal within 20 business days except in exceptional circumstances, and will give the Respondent, and the Office of Student Conduct notice of the time and place of the appeal hearing.

5. In this Code, "business days" means Monday to Friday, except for the holidays stated in the University Calendar or unforeseen closures due to weather, emergencies, or work stoppages.

- f) The Appeal Panel will render a written decision no more than 14 days from the end of the Appeal Panel Hearing, disposing of the appeal by:
- allowing the appeal;
 - affirming or modifying the Tribunal decision;
 - affirming, reducing or increasing the sanctions appealed against; or
 - requiring that the Tribunal conduct a new hearing or reconsider some pertinent aspect of its decision.
- g) The written decision of the Appeal Panel will be delivered to the Respondent and the Complainant by regular mail, express post, or e-mail and filed with the Office of Student Conduct.
- h) The Appeal Panel decision is final and binding.
- i) Respondents have the following rights at an Appeal Panel Hearing:
- The right to bring an advocate or adviser. This may be any person chosen by the Respondent to help present his or her case. Where possible, the name of the advocate or adviser should be provided to the Office of Student Conduct at least two days prior to a hearing.
 - The right to challenge the suitability of any member of the Appeal Panel based on a reasonable apprehension of bias against the Respondent's case. The Appeal Panel will determine if a reasonable apprehension of bias is warranted. Its decision will be final. If it does find a reasonable apprehension of bias, it will direct the Office of Student Conduct to reschedule the hearing with a new panel.
 - The right to have the appeal heard in a timely manner.
 - The right to a "private" hearing as explained in section 6(b).

8. Records

A record of final decisions made under this Code will remain in the Office of Student Conduct and Dispute Resolution.

9. Sanctions

The following sanctions may be imposed for a breach of the Code. More than one sanction may be imposed concurrently for a single breach. When imposing a sanction, prior breaches of the Code may be considered.

a) Sanctions that may be imposed by Local Adjudicators

The following sanctions may be imposed by Local Adjudicators:

- reprimand;
- an apology and/or statement of regret to the person making the complaint;
- an apology and/or statement of regret to a larger community (e.g. team, classmates);
- community service, reflective essay, or research on a specified topic;
- Behavioural undertaking which may be secured by a deposit of money up to $500;
- restrictions on behaviour;
- fines up to $250;
- full restitution for damage up to $500;
- withdrawal of non-essential Services⁶;
- relocation to other University housing.

b) Additional Sanctions that may be imposed by the University Tribunal

In addition to the sanctions listed in 8(a) above, the University Tribunal may impose the following sanctions:

- fines up to $1,000;

6. In this Code, "non-essential services" means services that, if withdrawn, may restrict a student's full participation in campus life, but do not make it impossible for a student to complete their academic requirements.

- restitution;
- campus restrictions;
- removal from University residence;
- notation on student record;
- suspension;
- expulsion.

10. Emergency Suspension

If the Director of the Office of Student Conduct determines that the presence at the University of a Student poses a risk to safety and security, he/she may impose an immediate suspension of up to 10 days. The Student will be notified of the decision to invoke an emergency suspension.

If, after further investigation, it is determined that the Student continues to pose a risk to safety and security, the Director of the Office of Student Conduct can, with the agreement of the Vice-President Students, suspend a student for more than 10 days to a maximum of 60 days. A Tribunal hearing must be commenced within the 60 days.

11. Review of this Code

This Code will be reviewed after one year and thereafter every two years.

Senate Policy on Academic Honesty

1. Senate Policy on Academic Honesty

The Policy on Academic Honesty is an affirmation and clarification for members of the University of the general obligation to maintain the highest standards of academic honesty. As a clear sense of academic honesty and responsibility is fundamental to good scholarship, the policy recognizes the general responsibility of all faculty members to foster acceptable standards of academic conduct and of the student to be mindful of and abide by such standards.

Academic honesty requires that persons do not falsely claim credit for the ideas, writing or other intellectual property of others, either by presenting such works as their own or through impersonation. Similarly, academic honesty requires that persons do not cheat (attempt to gain an improper advantage in an academic evaluation), nor attempt or actually alter, suppress, falsify or fabricate any research data or results, official academic record, application or document.

Suspected breaches of academic honesty will be investigated and charges shall be laid if reasonable and probable grounds exist. A student who is charged with a breach of academic honesty shall be presumed innocent until, based upon clear and compelling evidence, a committee determines the student has violated the academic honesty standards of the university. A finding of academic misconduct will lead to the range of penalties described in the guidelines which accompany this policy. In some cases the University regulations on non-academic discipline may apply. A lack of familiarity with the Senate Policy and Guidelines on Academic Honesty on the part of a student does not constitute a defence against their application. Some academic offences constitute offences under the Criminal Code of Canada; a student charged under University regulations may also be subject to criminal charges. Charges may also be laid against York University students for matters which arise at other educational institutions.

Information about guidelines and procedures related to this policy can be obtained from the University Secretariat Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Academic Petitions and Grade Reappraisals

Guidelines for the Consideration of Petitions/Appeals by Faculty Committees

These guidelines should inform the actions and decisions of Faculty committees and administrative personnel in responding to student academic petitions and appeals. They are not intended to direct the decisions of the Faculty in these matters; jurisdiction to waive academic regulations, extend deadlines and reappraise work clearly resides with Faculties in the first instance. These guidelines are to advise the relevant parties in their work to help foster equitable and consistent decisions across the University. It is recognized that the nature (performance, professional, graduate) and size of the various Faculties make it highly improbable to have uniform procedures and processes. There are areas in which greater consistency among the Faculties' processes can be achieved and it is to that end that these guidelines are proposed.

1. Structure

Faculties may, and are encouraged, to have a two-tiered structure for the consideration of academic petitions: a) an academic petitions committee/associate dean and b) an administratively approved process.

- a) Academic Petitions Committee/Associate Dean: As all Faculties have agreed to consider requests for exceptions from Faculty regulations, there shall be a committee or a senior academic administrator charged with the responsibility of reviewing the academic petitions and rendering decisions on the basis of the reasons and supporting documentation provided by the student.
- b) Administratively Approved Academic Petitions: To help offset large caseloads, academic petitions may be recommended for approval by the Petitions Officer (or equivalent) and confirmed by the Chair of the Academic Petitions Committee (or designate)⁷. In accordance with the general considerations for granting petitions (set out below), the Petitions Officer shall identify cases which clearly meet the considerations and present them as such to the Chair for confirmation. All cases which are not clear and require discretion are forwarded to the Academic Petitions Committee for a decision. No academic petitions will be administratively refused on the basis of their merits. Students failing to provide the necessary documentation requested by the Faculty within a specific time frame will not have their academic petition considered, and the Petitions Officer shall inform the student in writing in such cases.

2. Principles

- a) Procedures: Each Faculty shall have written procedural rules that are widely available to students (e.g. in the Undergraduate Calendar, on the University Web site, at the Registrar's Office). Faculty academic petition/appeal procedures must be consistent with the Senate guidelines.
- b) Deadlines: The Senate approved policy on the deadline for submitting an academic petition for late withdrawal is that "Normally academic petitions for late withdrawal from a course will only be considered if they are submitted within 30 days of the last day of classes [of the relevant course]. Such academic petitions may be considered for a period of up to one year if they are based on special circumstances." The Senate policy on the deadline for deferred standing requests is "Normally requests for deferred standing must be communicated within one week following a missed examination or the last day to submit course work." The period during which the University is officially closed for December holidays and on statutory holidays throughout the year is not counted in the determination of deadline days.
- c) Representation: Appellants have the right to have a representative assist in the preparation of written submissions and, if granted an appearance before a committee, represent them at that meeting.

7. With the exception of academic petitions to waive debarments which should be considered by a committee.

- d) Jurisdiction: Students shall petition all academic matters to their home Faculty with the exception of grade reappraisals which are considered by the department/Faculty offering the course. Otherwise, Faculties shall consider requests for exceptions to all Faculty regulations.
- e) Bias: Any member of an academic petitions/appeals committee or a person reviewing an academic petition who has a lack of neutrality on the issue to be decided shall excuse him/herself from the consideration of that case. An appearance of bias or a reasonable apprehension of bias is also sufficient for a party to disqualify her/himself from considering an academic petition.
- f) Appearances: Students and/or their representatives may appear before a committee only at the discretion or invitation of the Committee.
- g) Anonymity: Requests from students for anonymity in the academic petitions process should be honoured. Students provided the opportunity to appear before a committee, however, will have to decide whether they wish to forego anonymity. Confidentiality in this process shall always be maintained.
- h) Decisions: To help fulfill the requirements for natural justice and fairness in adjudicative processes, academic petitions and appeals committees, administrators rendering decisions on academic petitions must give reasons in writing for the decision. Without reasons, a party may have to speculate why an adverse decision was made and may not be able to decide whether to appeal. Similarly, a subsequent committee or a reviewing court may have difficulty understanding the rationale for a decision without reasons and may draw inferences adverse to the initial committee from its failure to give reasons.
- i) Appeals: The route of appeal for students shall be included in the written decision.

Principles Regarding Grade Reappraisals

1. Students may, with sufficient academic grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised (which may mean the review of specific pieces of tangible work). Non-academic grounds are not relevant for grade reappraisals; in such cases, students are advised to petition to their home Faculty. Students are normally expected to first contact the course director to discuss the grade received and to request that their tangible work be reviewed. Tangible work may include written, graphic, digitized, modelled, video recording or audio recording formats, but not oral work.

Students need to be aware that a request for a grade reappraisal may result in the original grade being raised, lowered or confirmed.

2. In the event that students are still not satisfied with the final grade or the course director is not available to review the work, they may submit in writing a formal request for a grade reappraisal to the department or unit in which the course is offered⁸. The Senate approved deadline for submitting grade reappraisals is February 15 for fall term grades, June 15 for fall/winter session and winter term grades, September 30 for summer session grades, or a minimum of 21 days from the release of grades, whichever is later. When a submission deadline occurs on a weekend or holiday, requests will be accepted up until the end of the next available business day. Exercising discretion about minor delays in meeting the deadline which result from slow mail delivery or extraordinary circumstances is reasonable.
3. If the condition of sufficient academic grounds has been met, the relevant department committee, department Chair, associate dean or graduate/undergraduate program director will be responsible for ensuring that the work is reappraised by an appropriate faculty member, ensuring anonymity of both the student and the

8. The exceptions are as follows:

for Osgoode, Schulich, and the Faculty of Education the requests for reappraisal are submitted to the office of the relevant associate dean.

reappraiser, and for communicating the result of the reappraisal (including the reappraiser's comments) and the route of appeal to both the student and the course director. The reappraiser will be given the nature of the assignment and the rationale for the original grade. It is expected that every effort will be made to render the decision within 30 days of the reviewer having received the work.

4. Parties to the decision may appeal a negative decision on a request for a reappraisal, or the result of the reappraisal itself to a Faculty-level appeals committee in the Faculty in which the course is offered (or, in the case of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, to the dean) only on the ground of procedural irregularity. Procedural irregularity is defined as actions taken or not taken by a department, Faculty, graduate program officers, committees, or members with respect to the previous disposition of the case which violate or nullify one or all of the following:
 - a) normal and written procedures of the University, Faculty, graduate program or department concerned;
 - b) consistency in the Faculty's, graduate program's or department's handling of cases substantially similar to that being appealed;
 - c) principles of equity, natural justice or fairness, whether or not such violation occurred in accord with written or customary procedures. Appeals based on allegations of these last procedural irregularities should allege and demonstrate obvious bias or other misbehaviour on the part of the officers or agents of the University and for which redress was not provided by an authority which considered the case prior to the appeal.

Appeals must be submitted within 21 days of notification of the decision. Faculty committees may waive that deadline when special circumstances are established by the appellant. No member of the Faculty committee shall consider an appeal if s/he considered the matter at an earlier level. At the discretion of the Faculty committee, the student and/or the faculty member may be invited to meet with the committee to present his/her case orally. The committee's decision will be taken in camera and it is expected that parties will be informed of the decision in writing within 30 days of the filing of the appeal.

5. Parties to the appeal at the Faculty-level may file an application for leave to appeal the decision to the Senate Appeals Committee (SAC) on the ground of procedural irregularity at the Faculty-level. Applications for leave to appeal must be submitted within 21 days of the notification of the Faculty decision. SAC may waive that deadline when special circumstances are established by the appellant. No member of SAC shall consider the application if they considered the matter at an earlier level. As explained in the SAC procedures, parties may appear before the committee if leave to appeal is granted to make oral submissions on the ground of procedural irregularity. The committee's decision will be taken in camera and it is expected that the parties will be informed of the decision in writing within 30 days of the filing of the application.
6. Parties to the decision of the Senate Appeals Committee may apply to the committee to have the matter reconsidered if there is evidence of procedural irregularity on the part of SAC. Applications must be submitted within 21 days of the posting of the decision. SAC reserves the right to waive this deadline in special circumstances. Requests for reconsideration of a SAC decision will be considered by a panel of SAC members who did not serve on the panel first hearing the matter; it is expected that a decision will be rendered within 30 days of its submission.

Deferred Standing Agreement

The Deferred Standing Agreement (DSA) is a process by which students who are either unable to write their final examination at the scheduled time or submit term work before the Faculty deadline to submit final grades reach an agreement with the course director about granting deferred standing in the course and setting a date for writing the exam or submitting the outstanding work. Using the standard DSA form, it is the responsibility of students to make arrangements with the course director to complete the course and file the DSA form with the appropriate departmental/unit office by the deadline specified on the form. Course directors have the option not to consider requests for deferred standing; in such cases students must file an academic petition with the relevant Faculty-level committee for consideration within the established deadline.

Students' Responsibilities in the Academic Petition/ Appeal Processes

The University has established regulations, procedures and deadlines through its legislative bodies to which students must adhere. Students are expected to monitor their progress in courses, taking into account their personal and academic circumstances, and to make the necessary adjustments to their workload to meet the requirements and deadlines. The University recognizes, however, that specific circumstances may justify waiving the regulations/requirements/deadlines on an individual basis. Requests for a waiver of a regulation/requirement/deadline are initiated by an academic petition.

Students opting to initiate an academic petition should be assured that confidentiality is a hallmark of this process.

While it is the University's responsibility to provide students with proper information, guidance and advice, it is incumbent upon students to:

- be aware of and adhere to all Faculty and program regulations, requirements and published deadlines;
- familiarize themselves with their Faculty's written academic petition/appeal procedures and make requests in a timely fashion;
- provide all documentation to support their academic petition/appeal and to do so in a timely fashion;
- indicate and document all their relevant circumstances upon submitting their academic petition in the first instance.

University's Responsibilities in the Academic Petition/ Appeal Processes

Just as the students who submit academic petitions and appeals have responsibilities to meet the requirements of the process, the University has responsibilities in administering it.

Non-academic staff:

It is incumbent upon members of the non-academic staff to:

- make available to students advice and guidance regarding options, deadlines, required documentation, and appeal routes by way of written notification, the University Web site, personal appointments or communication over the telephone;
- direct students to the appropriate office for information on academic petitions/appeals;
- attend to academic petitions and appeals efficiently to prevent undue delay;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Faculty members:

It is incumbent upon faculty members to:

- respond to requests for information from students and non-academic staff in a timely manner;
- help direct students to the appropriate office for information on academic petitions/appeals;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Academic Petition/Appeal officers/committees:

It is incumbent upon academic petition/appeal officers or committees to:

- ensure parties receive fair, consistent and ethical treatment;
- give thorough and serious attention to all requests;
- render decisions only after careful deliberation;
- supply parties with reasons for decisions;
- maintain students' right to confidentiality.

Religious Accommodations/Senate Policy on Women's Remembrance Day

Senate's policy governing the setting of sessional dates and examination schedules includes a statement on religious observances which has two parts:

"York University is committed to respecting the religious beliefs and practices of all members of the community and making accommodations for observances of special significance to adherents."

"Every effort will be made to avoid scheduling in-class or formal examinations on days of special religious significance throughout the year. A schedule of dates for such days for various faiths will be compiled annually and distributed widely. Students will be informed of procedures for requesting and arranging accommodations."

In May 1998 Senate approved a policy to commemorate Women's Remembrance Day that encourages the planning and funding of activities appropriate to Women's Remembrance Day. The Senate policy also encourages faculty to highlight Women's Remembrance Day in their classes and to incorporate in their classes, as appropriate, some of the issues facing women, particularly violence against women. The administration is asked to support the development of workshops to assist faculty with their preparations.

Information about this policy is provided to students in publications such as the Undergraduate Calendar. The University community will also be informed in advance of activities associated with Women's Remembrance Day.

Senate Policy on the Academic Implications of Disruptions or Cessations of University Business Due to Labour Disputes or Other Causes

The University Senate has enacted a policy to apply in the event that academic activities are substantially interrupted or impeded as a result of strikes, lockouts, demonstrations, natural disasters or other like causes. The policy contains three governing principles, which are outlined below. Further information about the policy may be obtained from the University Secretariat (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

A. Academic Integrity

In the event of a disruption, the primary obligation of Senate is to ensure the academic integrity of all programs. No dilution of standards normally expected of students should be permitted and there should be as little diminution as possible in the instructional or supervisory support given to students.

B. Fairness to Students

Students who do not participate in academic activities because (a) they are unable to do so owing to a disruption or (b) they choose not to participate in academic activities owing to a strike or a lockout on campus, are entitled to immunity from penalty, to reasonable alternative access to materials covered in their absence, to reasonable extensions of deadlines and to such other remedy as Senate deems necessary and consistent with the principle of academic integrity. Such remedies shall not alter the academic standards associated with the missed activity nor shall it relieve the student of the responsibility for mastering materials covered. The availability of a remedy under this policy does not guarantee students the same learning experience that they would have received in the absence of a disruption.

C. Timely Information

Students, staff and faculty members have a right to be informed in a timely manner of changed requirements, rescheduled academic activities and procedures to be in effect at the conclusion of the disruption.

Lors d'une réunion conjointe, tenue le 14 janvier 1999, les comités exécutifs du Conseil d'administration et du Sénat se sont entendus pour recommander à leur collègues respectifs d'approuver le nouvel Énoncé de mandat de l'Université York. L'Énoncé de mandat a été approuvé par le Sénat lors de la séance du 28 janvier et par le Conseil d'administration à sa séance du 22 février 1999.

Cette homologation entérine une vision commune du mandat de l'Université et des valeurs qui sont les siennes au moment où elle se prépare à ouvrir de nouveaux horizons. L'Énoncé de mandat apporte à toutes les instances dirigeantes, à tous les membres, aux anciens et aux amis de York, une vision et des objectifs communs à tous.

X. Université York, Énoncé De Mandat

L'Université York a pour mandat d'accroître, de préserver et de diffuser le savoir. Nous nous engageons à ce que la recherche et l'enseignement, qu'ils soient purs, appliqués ou professionnels, se placent à un degré d'excellence élevé. Nous repoussons les limites et les structures du savoir. Nous cultivons le sens critique.

L'Université York partage avec la métropole de Toronto son caractère dynamique et multiculturel. L'Université York partage avec le Canada son encouragement aux études bilingues, son attachement à la tolérance et à la diversité. L'Université York s'ouvre sur le monde et s'interroge sur les grandes préoccupations internationales.

Composée d'enseignants, d'étudiants et de membres du personnel dévoués à la cause de la liberté, de la justice sociale, du libre accès à l'enseignement et de la direction démocratique, l'Université York a fait de l'innovation sa tradition.

Tentanda Via : Ouvrir des voies nouvelles.

XI. Remarques importantes et avis de non-responsabilité

Cette version en format PDF de l'annuaire des programmes d'études de premier cycle vous est fournie selon les mêmes modalités d'accès et d'utilisation du site Web <http://www.yorku.ca> de l'Université, avec les modifications nécessaires. Ces modalités sont énoncées au http://www.yorku.ca/web/about_yorku/privacy.html.

Cet annuaire est publié pour aider ses lecteurs à connaître l'organisation des services et programmes universitaires, ainsi que les règlements. Il décrit également les différents programmes offerts par l'Université. En s'inscrivant à un cours, un étudiant accepte de respecter les lois et règlements de l'Université York et de la faculté dans laquelle il est inscrit. Il appartient aux étudiants de prendre connaissance des renseignements d'ordre général contenus dans cet annuaire, ainsi que des renseignements concernant la faculté dans laquelle ils sont admis ou demandent à être admis. Il appartient également aux étudiants de prendre connaissance de tous les règlements particuliers concernant le diplôme ou certificat qu'ils préparent. Ils doivent s'assurer que les cours qu'ils choisissent de suivre répondent aux exigences de leur programme d'études.

L'Université se réserve le droit d'apporter des changements aux renseignements contenus dans cet annuaire sans préavis. Tous les cours indiqués dans cet annuaire ne sont pas nécessairement enseignés chaque année. L'Université se réserve le droit de limiter les inscriptions à n'importe quel programme. L'Université fera tout son possible pour offrir les cours et les classes exigés pour chaque programme. Cependant, les étudiants intéressés doivent savoir que le fait d'être admis dans un programme particulier ne garantit pas nécessairement l'admission à un cours ou une classe en particulier.

Dans le cas où il existerait une incompatibilité entre les lois et règlements universitaires généraux publiés dans les annuaires, et les lois et règlements similaires édictés par les facultés ou le Sénat de l'Université, c'est la version des règlements établis par la faculté et le Sénat de l'Université qui prévaut.

L'Université York décline toute responsabilité pour toute perte ou dommage subi par un étudiant ou par une tierce partie à la suite d'un retard ou de la cessation de services offerts, de cours ou de classes, causés par un cas de force majeure : incendie, inondation, émeute, guerre, grève, lock-out, dommage aux biens de l'Université, contrainte financière ou autre événement échappant au contrôle de l'Université.

L'Université York décline toute responsabilité pour tout dommage subi par suite d'erreurs, d'interruption ou de perturbation de ses activités directes ou indirectes, causés par une panne d'ordinateur ou l'incompatibilité de son système informatique.

XII. Renseignements d'ordre général

Quelques mots sur l'Université York

Depuis sa fondation en 1959, l'Université York a acquis une renommée mondiale pour son approche interdisciplinaire unique en matière d'enseignement et de recherche. Une éducation à l'Université York fournit une perspective globale et une méthode contemporaine pour analyser les vrais problèmes mondiaux sur tous les angles. À l'Université York, étudiants et professeurs de diverses disciplines se regroupent pour explorer à fond leurs domaines d'étude. Il en résulte une perspective dynamique et exhaustive qui procure une expérience d'apprentissage plus pertinente. Nos diplômés sont mieux préparés pour trouver des solutions avant-gardistes aux problèmes complexes et bénéficient d'un point de vue unique, à la fois souple et optimiste.

L'Université York est aussi reconnue pour son approche interdisciplinaire, à la fois dans son enseignement et dans ses recherches. Elle peut s'enorgueillir de ses 26 centres de recherche dans des domaines qui vont du développement durable à l'élaboration d'une vision, en passant par les sciences de la terre et de l'espace et les études sur les réfugiés.

L'Université York possède une population de plus de 60 000 personnes, dont plus de 7 300 professeurs et membres du personnel administratif et de soutien, 52 000 étudiants de premier, deuxième et troisième cycles, et plus de 200 000 Anciens. Plus de 8 000 étudiants, répartis entre les dix facultés : sciences de l'éducation, études environnementales, beaux-arts, Collège universitaire Glendon, études supérieures, santé, arts libéraux et études professionnelles, École de droit Osgoode Hall, École Schulich des hautes études commerciales et sciences et de l'ingénierie, reçoivent leur diplôme chaque année.

Le 1er juillet 2009, la majorité des programmes de la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles d'Atkinson et de la faculté des arts – toutes les deux sur le campus Keele – seront regroupées dans la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles. Cette faculté comprendra la gamme la plus complète de programmes et recherches universitaires interdisciplinaires en sciences sociales, humanité et programmes professionnels connexes au Canada.

L'Université York offre, à Toronto, l'une des villes les plus cosmopolites du Canada, une expérience moderne de classe internationale. York est au cœur de l'innovation, avec une communauté vibrante regroupant professeurs, étudiants, personnel administratif et anciens; on y défie l'ordinaire et offre l'inattendu. Ensemble, nous redéfinissons le possible.

York, une université laïque

L'Université York a été fondée en 1959 en tant qu'institution laïque. Son énoncé de mission insiste sur sa nature multiculturelle et l'importance qu'elle accorde à la tolérance et à la diversité. Il souligne également son engagement à tester les frontières et structures du savoir et à cultiver une intelligence critique. C'est donc ainsi que l'université est gouvernée et que ses programmes d'études sont développés et présentés.

En pratique, cela signifie que ceux et celles qui ont de solides croyances religieuses ou idéologies politiques pourraient voir leurs valeurs remises en question par les autres ou trouver que la matière présentée dans le programme d'études critique ou offense certaines de leurs valeurs. Ce genre de situation est normal dans une société multiraciale. L'université est un reflet de notre société et un endroit où les connaissances et les croyances font l'objet d'une évaluation critique.

L'Université York est déterminée à fournir un environnement d'études et de travail qui prône les valeurs démocratiques et multiculturelles de la société canadienne. Les politiques et procédures de l'université, y compris ses règlements universitaires, respectent fidèlement toutes les exigences juridiques, particulièrement le Code des droits de la personne de l'Ontario, en permettant aux professeurs, employés et étudiants d'observer les fêtes religieuses importantes. Cette position se reflète dans la politique du sénat sur les dates de session, qui confirme que l'Université respecte de telles pratiques et qu'elle est déterminée à établir les horaires d'examen en conséquence. Les étudiants, employés et professeurs doivent respecter la politique du sénat lorsqu'ils demandent et accordent de tels accommodements. Pour tout complément d'information, rendez-vous au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/regobs/>.

Inscription et droits à acquitter

Le Sénat, le Conseil d'administration et la direction de l'Université York se réservent le droit d'apporter, sans préavis, des changements aux règlements gouvernant l'inscription et aux droits à acquitter, indiqués dans cet annuaire.

Les étudiants, qu'ils soient nouvellement admis ou qu'ils reprennent ou continuent leurs études, sont tenus de s'inscrire officiellement à leurs cours.

Une fois que les étudiants ont sélectionné leurs cours et s'y sont inscrits, ils doivent finaliser leur inscription en payant les droits. L'inscription à l'Université permet aux étudiants d'avoir leur nom inscrit dans les dossiers officiels de l'Université.

Pour s'inscrire, les étudiants doivent : i) s'acquitter de toutes les obligations financières en souffrance vis-à-vis de l'Université; ii) s'inscrire à un programme d'études qui leur est ouvert et à des cours auxquels ils ont droit; iii) payer les droits pour la session en cours.

N.B. : Pour plus de renseignements concernant les inscriptions, consultez en ligne le guide d'inscription aux cours de premier cycle au <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca/enrolmentguides/>.

Pour obtenir votre Carte UY, il vous suffit d'apporter votre numéro d'étudiant et une pièce d'identité valide avec photo émise par le gouvernement (p. ex. un passeport, un permis de conduire, une carte de citoyeneté etc.) au bureau de la Carte UY lorsque vous êtes sur le campus pour rencontrer votre conseiller pédagogique. Nous prendrons votre photo et vous remettrons votre carte tout de suite. Et ce n'est pas tout, votre première Carte UY est gratuite!

Pour plus de détails, visitez le <http://www.yorku.ca/yucard/>.

Identification lors des examens

Les étudiants doivent présenter une carte d'identité lors de chaque examen pendant la période d'examen officielle. Les documents suivants sont acceptés :

- une Carte UY avec photo;
- une Carte UY sans photo, plus un document d'identification avec photo, comme un permis de conduire ou un passeport.

Le système des collèges

et leur mission. Les étudiants y trouvent un environnement accueillant, novateur et convivial qui les aide à s'habituer à la vie universitaire et leur permet d'étudier dans des conditions optimales. Tous les étudiants de premier cycle qui entrent pour la première fois à l'Université York sont affectés à un collège. Les huit collèges existants – Calumet, Founders, McLaughlin, New, Norman Bethune, Stong, Vanier et Winters – offrent une grande variété d'activités universitaires et récréatives qui s'ajoutent aux programmes d'études des différentes facultés afin d'enrichir l'expérience des étudiants de York. Les collèges peuvent mettre à la disposition des étudiants des salles de réunion, des salles à manger, des cafés, des salles d'études, d'ordinateurs, de travaux pratiques et de petites salles de lecture en plus d'installations de loisirs. Chaque collège peut loger environ 260 étudiants venant de l'extérieur de Toronto, ce qui représente environ 10 p. 100 du nombre total d'étudiants inscrits par collège, dans des résidences bien équipées, adjacentes aux bâtiments des collèges. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez consulter la partie « Services universitaires et services d'aide ».

Les collèges sont autogérés dans leurs activités quotidiennes par des professeurs et des étudiants. Chaque collège est dirigé par un directeur et conseiller aux études et par le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence et un don dans chaque résidence. Il compte un conseil de collège, élu par les étudiants, qui organise et finance toute une gamme d'activités sociales, culturelles et sportives. L'orientation pédagogique et les conseils entre étudiants, surtout ceux destinés aux étudiants de première année, sont coordonnés par le conseiller pédagogique du collège et par des étudiants de niveau supérieur dûment formés à cet effet. Les associés, membres estimés du collège et de la communauté de York, offrent une aide complémentaire conformément au mandat de chaque collège.

Le récent groupe de travail sur les collèges (2007) a recommandé un nouvel alignement des affiliations entre les collèges et facultés, et depuis le 1^{er} juillet 2007, les directeurs des collèges relèvent des doyens de la faculté affiliée. Les collèges sont affiliés aux facultés pour soutenir les mandats pédagogiques et rehausser l'expérience des étudiants au sein des facultés. Les collèges continueront à favoriser une approche interdisciplinaire à la vie universitaire. Les nouvelles affiliations des collèges sont les suivantes :

- Collège Calumet – Faculté de la santé et l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales
- Collège Founders – Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles et Faculté des études environnementales
- Collège McLaughlin – Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles
- Collège New – Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles
- Collège Norman Bethune – Faculté des sciences et de l'ingénierie
- Collège Stong – Faculté de la santé
- Collège Vanier – Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles
- Collège Winters – Faculté des beaux-arts et Faculté des sciences de l'éducation

Le Collège universitaire Glendon est une faculté bilingue (français et anglais) de l'Université York, qui offre des programmes de jour de premier cycle sur son propre campus. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez consulter la partie « Collège universitaire Glendon ».

Programmes des collèges

Les programmes des collèges fournissent différentes activités parallèles dans l'optique du mandat particulier de chaque collège et rehausse l'expérience des étudiants. Le Collège Norman Bethune offre les cours de formation fondamentale ainsi qu'une série de cours de première année (FYUS : First Year University Seminar) liés aux facultés des sciences et de l'ingénierie. Le Collège Winters offre des cours liés au programme d'études culturelles de la Faculté des beaux-arts. Les collèges sont situés sur deux complexes, tous les deux dotés d'une salle d'ordinateurs rénovée où les étudiants peuvent se détendre, effectuer leurs travaux scolaires ou utiliser les ordinateurs. Ces salles offrent aussi un environnement sans fil pour les étudiants qui apportent leur ordinateur portable. Les activités proposées par les collèges sont affichées sur le site Web (voir ci-dessous) et sur le <http://www.yorku.ca/colleges/events/>.

Collège Calumet

Fondé en 1970, le Collège Calumet a été le sixième des huit collèges de premier cycle à voir le jour. Il a d'abord été abrité dans la bibliothèque Steacie et, plus tard, dans le bâtiment Atkinson. C'est durant les années où il était à Atkinson que le collège a acquis le caractère original de sa vie et de son organisation, lorsqu'il ne servait que des étudiants non résidents. C'est le directeur Eric Winter qui en a inauguré le premier laboratoire d'ordinateurs et les premiers cours d'informatique. En 1991, étaient ouverts, sous l'égide de la directrice Peggy Keall, le Collège Calumet et ses résidences. Calumet est affilié à la Faculté de la santé et de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales.

Le Collège Calumet a pour mission d'offrir à ses étudiants tous les services relatifs aux nombreux aspects de la vie universitaire : études, convivialité, culture, loisirs. On encourage tous les membres de la communauté du collège - étudiants, professeurs, anciens étudiants, personnel administratif - à participer à ses activités.

En arrière-plan de toutes les activités de Calumet se trouve un point de vue fondamental, un thème qui célèbre l'individu. Le collège apprécie les différences parmi ses étudiants et cherche à montrer l'importance de la concertation et du consensus pour susciter la tolérance et la compréhension. Le conseil du Collège Calumet (CCC) et le conseil de résidence de Calumet (CRC) sont là pour permettre une bonne intégration à la vie collégiale. Le CCC publie le journal du collège « The Pipe », dont le nom évoque son rôle dans la diffusion de l'information. Le CRC organise des ateliers, des symposiums, des séminaires, des rencontres sociales et des activités sportives de loisirs. Le point de mire du Collège Calumet porte sur le thème de la technologie et des arts, lequel fait actuellement l'objet d'une révision à la lumière de sa nouvelle affiliation avec la Faculté de la santé. Plusieurs activités et événements parallèles enrichissent l'expérience des étudiants. Les étudiants peuvent se faire aider par l'Équipe d'aide du collège dans les domaines suivants : rédaction des essais et des travaux écrits, gestion du stress, aménagement personnel de son temps, choix des cours et politique universitaire.

Calumet dispose de laboratoires de micro-ordinateurs à la disposition des étudiants des collèges Bethune, Calumet et Stong. Le collège et ses résidences font partie d'un réseau d'interconnexion à fibres optiques avec le système informatique général de l'Université.

Le collège offre de très nombreuses activités récréatives. Les équipes de Calumet participent à un grand nombre de rencontres sportives internes : hockey, ballon-balai, water-polo, softball, football, pour n'en citer que quelques-unes. Certains sports comptent des équipes masculines et des équipes féminines; d'autres, des équipes mixtes. En général, les athlètes de haut niveau et les sportifs amateur appartiennent à des équipes différentes. Tous les étudiants désirant faire du sport sont encouragés à faire partie de ces équipes.

La résidence de Calumet est constituée de 43 appartements mixtes pour six personnes. Les appartements comprennent en général quatre chambres simples et une double, un salon, une cuisinette et deux salles de bain. Les appartements sont regroupés en sept maisons ayant chacune leur don. Une coordonnatrice de la vie en résidence supervise l'ensemble. Chaque appartement est géré par ses occupants qui sont responsables de l'entretien et de la propreté de leur unité ainsi que des parties communes, des couloirs et des escaliers. Toutes les chambres sont connectées au réseau informatique de Calumet et les résidents disposant d'un ordinateur personnel ont accès au courrier électronique, au catalogue de la bibliothèque et à l'Internet.

Les étudiants participent toute l'année à l'organisation et au bon déroulement des activités sociales telles des bals, soirées de cinéma, dîners de gala et autres. La plupart de ces activités découlent naturellement de l'intérêt des membres actifs.

Le gouvernement étudiant du collège (CCC) a la responsabilité des collectes d'argent effectuées auprès des étudiants ainsi que des dépenses faites pour les activités et les services qui leur sont destinés. Les élections au CCC ont lieu en mars et, peu de temps après, commence la planification des activités de l'année universitaire suivante. Le gouvernement étudiant a des réunions régulières ouvertes à tous (Calumet Open Forum) auxquelles peuvent assister les membres de la communauté.

Collège Founders

Le Collège Founders a été le premier collège fondé sur le campus Keele et il est fier du rôle que ses associés et ses étudiants ont joué dans le développement de l'Université York. L'identité spéciale du Collège Founders est centrée sur « la connaissance de soi, la culture et la société », thèmes qui montrent l'intérêt spécial du collège pour des disciplines telles que l'anthropologie, les études françaises et italiennes, l'histoire, les études environnementales, ainsi que pour toutes les questions internationales et contemporaines. Le Collège Founders abrite également les programmes d'études africaines, d'études de l'Asie de l'Est, d'études de l'Amérique latine et des Caraïbes, d'études d'Asie du Sud et du développement international. Il est affilié tout particulièrement au programme de premier cycle de l'École des études des femmes et dispose de très importantes ressources pour les études des femmes.

Les associés du collège sont surtout des professeurs de différents départements qui se sont regroupés pour appuyer les objectifs du collège, mais on compte aussi parmi eux des administrateurs, des journalistes, écrivains et artistes. Plus de 40 associés ont un bureau au collège et sont disponibles pour discuter avec les étudiants. Ils sont un élément vital et participent activement à la vie du collège en dispensant leur enseignement dans un contexte interdisciplinaire, en organisant des séminaires et des conférences et en offrant aux étudiants du collège des conseils pédagogiques sous la direction d'un conseiller d'études qui dirige aussi un important réseau de conseil par des pairs au service de tous les étudiants de Founders.

Sont plus spécialement associées au programme du collège les organismes suivants : l'Association des étudiants d'histoire, l'Association des étudiants en études africaines, les Étudiants en études est-asiatiques à York et l'Association des étudiants de l'Amérique latine et des Caraïbes, l'Association des étudiants en anthropologie. Le Collège Founders abrite également la salle de lecture Jerome Ch'en, qui s'est récemment enrichie d'une belle collection de textes en langue chinoise, la bibliothèque des études féminines Nellie Langford Rowell (qui s'est elle aussi récemment enrichie d'une collection d'ouvrages internationaux), la Chaire Elia en études italo-canadiennes et le Centre de ressources Harriet Tubman sur la Diaspora africaine. Le collège organise, en outre, en collaboration avec le Programme d'études des femmes, une série de conférences faisant appel à des femmes célèbres. Le collège organise également et subventionne une grande variété d'activités artistiques, y compris des expositions dans la Galerie Arthur Haberman. La Galerie, le salon de lecture et de musique, ainsi que le ADDICTION CYBER CAFE font partie des installations et des ressources destinées aux études comme aux loisirs, gérées par le Conseil étudiant du Collège Founders et mises à la disposition des étudiants externes comme de ceux qui vivent dans la résidence universitaire. Le collège dispose d'une grande salle de réunion et d'un grand salon nouvellement rénové. Son pub historique, renommé le Bull Pub. Chaque année, un festival des arts, Poiesis, réunit associés et étudiants pour un concours de peinture, de sculpture, de photographie, de poésie et de musique. Des conférences et des colloques sont régulièrement organisés sur de nombreux sujets universitaires et artistiques liés aux intérêts du collège. Enfin, le Collège Founders abrite la revue féministe prestigieuse, à la fois revue savante et de vulgarisation, Canadian Woman Studies/Les cahiers de la femme.

Le collège est administré par une directrice, une conseillère d'études, un coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, assistés par du personnel et une adjointe administrative et différents comités formés d'associés et d'étudiants. Le conseil étudiant (FCSC) gère un important budget provenant de subventions annuelles, organise différentes activités et contrôle plusieurs services et entreprises dans le collège.

Une résidence de quatre étages (sans ascenseur), divisée en sept maisons, portant chacune le nom d'un membre du Groupe des sept, permet de loger 250 étudiants de premier cycle. Cinq maisons sur sept sont mixtes. Il essaie de maintenir dans la résidence un environnement vivant tout en offrant une atmosphère propice aux études. La résidence est dirigée par le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, les dons et les étudiants du conseil de résidence.

Pour encourager la participation active des étudiants et l'excellence universitaire, le collège accorde un programme de stages prestigieux qui place douze étudiants dans des programmes et des unités du collège financés par le service de bourses d'études de l'université. Le Collège Founders tient à rester fidèle au meilleur de la tradition des collèges — études sérieuses, échanges stimulants entre les associés et les étudiants, vif esprit communautaire.

Collège McLaughlin

Fondé en 1968, le Collège McLaughlin porte le nom du regretté colonel R.S. McLaughlin, homme d'affaires et philanthrope. La mission du collège est centrée sur la politique publique et le développement de l'esprit critique vis à vis de cette politique. L'un des objectifs du collège est d'inspirer chez ses étudiants le désir de l'analyse critique de la vie politique en vue d'améliorer notre société, la collectivité locale, la province, le Canada et le monde entier. Un ensemble d'activités universitaires et extra-universitaires font partie du programme d'activités publiques : tables rondes, conférences et séminaires du midi sur des questions d'actualité. Des symposiums proposent des discussions sur des questions de politique nationale et internationale.

Chaque année, les étudiants de McLaughlin, en collaboration avec les étudiants du Collège Vanier, préparent et parrainent un symposium d'une journée, « Encounter Canada », sur un sujet important de l'actualité. Le collège propose également, chaque année, une allocution sur la politique publique faite par une personnalité du domaine. D'autres forums sur des questions importantes de la vie étudiante — le statut social de l'homme et de la femme, l'intégrité universitaire, les questions autochtones — enrichissent le programme extra-universitaire. Nous nous efforçons de perpétuer l'idéal du premier directeur du collège, George Tatham, en offrant un environnement propice au développement de « l'Être complet ». Le collège parraine un concours de poésie pan- universitaire qui se déroule durant la Nuit Burns, accueille des soirées de jazz dans son pub et encourage ses étudiants à participer à des compétitions sportives internes et inter-collégiales. Nous organisons également des expositions et des festivals de film dans notre galerie d'art-salle de spectacle.

Le conseil des étudiants du Collège McLaughlin propose un programme complet d'activités sociales et culturelles, notamment des sorties soirées musicales ou théâtrales à Toronto. Le programme de sports cultive l'ambition de remporter le Flambeau de York. Les activités sociales sont nombreuses et variées - soirées des talents, soirée d'Halloween, bals de la Saint-Valentin, banquets de Noël et de fin d'année, et une sortie de ski annuelle. Une salle d'haltérophilie bien équipée, Dyna-Macs, est ouverte à tous les étudiants membres; des vestiaires avec douches y sont adjacents.

Par l'intermédiaire de l'affiliation du collège avec les départements de la Faculté, les organismes étudiants représentant les étudiants qui se spécialisent en santé et société, droit et société, droit du travail, science politique, politique publique et administration, relations internationales et en sociologie sont invitées à organiser leurs activités au collège. Ces groupes travaillent en collaboration avec le directeur de McLaughlin et avec le conseil du collège pour mettre sur pied des programmes à l'intention des étudiants qui se spécialisent dans ces domaines, et pour la communauté tout entière.

Le collège abrite les bureaux des associés qui enseignent dans différentes facultés, départements et divisions de York et que les étudiants peuvent consulter pour avoir des conseils sur leurs cours et leur carrière future.

Le Collège McLaughlin est au service de tous les étudiants, résidents ou non-résidents. La résidence de McLaughlin, le pavillon Tatham, comprend, sur treize étages, des chambres pour une personne et des chambres pour deux personnes. Elle est organisée en six maisons pour hommes et pour femmes. Chaque maison a une salle de loisirs commune. Le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence et les dons travaillent en étroite collaboration avec les présidents de maison et le conseil des résidences. Durant l'année, toutes sortes d'activités culturelles et sociales sont organisées par la résidence. Le directeur de McLaughlin, le conseiller d'études, et leur personnel administratif sont toujours prêts à recevoir les étudiants. Ils les encouragent à venir les voir pour des renseignements ou des conseils.

Collège New

Le Collège New a ouvert ses portes le 1^{er} juillet 2009 et, malgré son jeune âge, il a une histoire dont il peut être fier. Anciennement connu sous le nom du Collège Atkinson, c'était le seul collège des arts libéraux et études professionnelles de la Faculté d'Atkinson. Lorsque la Faculté d'Atkinson a fusionné avec la Faculté des arts, le Collège Atkinson a maintenu son engagement envers les programmes d'études professionnelles en soutenant trois grands départements d'études professionnelles, c'est-à-dire l'École des études administratives, l'École de la technologie de l'information et l'École de la gestion des ressources humaines.

Le Collège New a le mandat de soutenir les étudiants qui s'orientent vers une profession par l'entremise de leurs programmes d'études. À cette fin, le collège commandite des concours, des ateliers sur les carrières et des activités de réseautage professionnel. Il propose aussi des activités parallèles aux programmes, telles le tutorat entre pairs, le mentorat et des ateliers sur des sujets comme le travail en groupes et la gestion du stress.

Le collège bénéficie d'un groupe solide d'étudiants leaders représenté par le conseil du Collège New. Il héberge également plusieurs clubs d'étudiants dont le York Business Network, l'Accounting Students Association at York, la National Finance Association, l'American Marketing Association, le Strategic Human Resources Professionals et l'ITEC Club.

Le Collège New poursuit une solide tradition favorisant les contacts entre les étudiants, les professeurs, le personnel et les professionnels de la collectivité. Ses programmes et activités continueront à se développer alors que nous nous installons dans la nouvelle Faculté et répondons aux besoins des professeurs et des étudiants.

Collège Norman Bethune

Le Collège Norman Bethune, du nom du célèbre médecin canadien, philanthrope dévoué, devenu héros national en Chine, a pour devise « Science et société ». Le collège est affilié aux facultés des sciences et de l'ingénierie et des études environnementales. Il accueille dans ses locaux et ses clubs, ses équipes de sports et son Conseil de collège, et ses salles de cours, non seulement les étudiants de ces disciplines mais aussi tout étudiant de York qui s'intéresse au thème Science et société.

Pour la vie sociale, le collège possède divers clubs d'étudiants comme l'Association des étudiants et universitaires chinois à York, (ACCSY), le Club d'astronomie, l'Association des étudiants en kinésiologie et sciences de la santé (KAHSSO), les Étudiants pour l'exploration et la découverte de l'espace (SEDS), l'Association Anime et Manga de l'Université York (YAMA), la Société de chimie de York (YCS), le Club Pre Med (YPMS), la société de physique, la société de recherche, Ingénieurs sans frontières, un club photo, Displaced Animals Re-Integration Program (DARP), Vetzo et le Club des excursionnistes de l'Université York (YUOC). Le Conseil athlétique du Collège Bethune parraine un certain nombre d'équipes de sports qui rivalisent avec celles des autres collèges pour le Flambeau de York. Le Conseil du Collège Bethune est composé d'étudiants élus ou nommés, de représentants des Anciens du collège, d'associés et de représentants de la direction du collège. Le Conseil utilise une partie des droits payés par les étudiants pour la publication du journal collégial, Lexicon, pour faire venir des groupes de musique, pour organiser des concerts, des activités d'orientation, pour financer des activités sociales, le journal du collège, The Lexicon, des concerts, des séances d'orientation et toute une gamme d'activités auxquelles les étudiants peuvent participer.

Le Collège Bethune dispense aussi une aide amicale et efficace, par exemple, dans le cadre de programmes qui aident les étudiants à choisir une carrière. Il organise également une session d'orientation pour les nouveaux étudiants ainsi qu'une série de sessions d'orientation d'une journée offertes en été, et tous les étudiants de Bethune, nouveaux et anciens, ont recours un jour ou l'autre au S.O.S. (Student Ombuds Service), qui est un centre de ressources dont les employés sont des étudiants chevronnés qui reçoivent sans rendez-vous les étudiants qui désirent leur parler de questions de nature universitaire et personnelle. Le centre de rédaction, quant à lui, offre sans rendez-vous des séances de travail individuelles qui ont surtout pour but le développement des aptitudes critiques nécessaires à la rédaction de travaux universitaires. Les associés du Collège Bethune (professeurs et membres du personnel non enseignant et de la collectivité) constituent un groupe qui met à la disposition des étudiants un large éventail d'aptitudes, d'intérêts et de connaissances.

Le collège Bethune offre des cours à option comprenant un cours de première année en sciences et un cours de science de niveau plus avancé. Il propose également une riche diversité de séminaires, de conférences, de groupes de discussion et de programmes spéciaux, qui passionnent étudiants et professeurs.

La résidence du Collège Norman Bethune met à la disposition de ses locataires des chambres pour une personne et pour deux personnes et des appartements. La plupart des étages sont mixtes, mais l'un d'eux est réservé aux femmes. Il y a aussi une cafétéria qui offre des menus variés et équilibrés.

Collège Stong

Fondé en 1969, le Collège Stong porte le nom d'une famille de pionniers qui arriva en 1800 de Pennsylvanie pour s'établir et cultiver les terres sur lesquelles se situe l'Université York aujourd'hui. C'est l'orgueil du collège d'avoir ainsi ses racines parmi les pionniers du pays, dont on retrouve l'esprit chez les immigrants d'aujourd'hui.

Quatre thèmes majeurs ont traditionnellement caractérisé le Collège Stong, bien que, comme tous les autres collèges de l'Université York, il accueille volontiers la diversité de pensée, d'expérience et de spécialisation. Le premier thème couvre la langue et la littérature anglaise, d'hier et d'aujourd'hui, la pensée et l'écriture, et tout ce qui appartient au domaine général de l'art du discours. Le second centre d'intérêt du collège porte sur d'autres langues, littératures et cultures. C'est l'intérêt marqué pour ces cultures qui a donné au collège son identité multiculturelle. La passion pour la riche vie multiculturelle du collège, de l'Université York, de la ville de Toronto et du Canada se marie bien avec le troisième thème du collège, à savoir l'engagement social. Grâce aux programmes offerts en collaboration avec les écoles de notre voisinage et à d'autres programmes, le collège est heureux d'honorer le lien fondamental qui le rattache à la société qui l'entoure et la dette qu'il a envers elle. Et, enfin, le Collège Stong a toujours manifesté un engagement soutenu envers l'étude du sport en tant qu'institution sociale. Le collège a déjà eu l'occasion d'offrir plusieurs cours sur les sports et leur apport historique et culturel, et trois des programmes de certificat de l'École de kinésiologie et sciences de la santé y sont offerts. Ce sont « Entraînement sportif », « Administration des sports » et « Thérapie par le sport ». De plus, nos étudiants participent avec enthousiasme aux compétitions intercollégiales. Le Collège Stong a récemment épousé sa nouvelle affiliation avec la Faculté de la santé, laquelle se reflétera dans ses futurs aspects thématiques.

Le collège s'intéresse à la vie étudiante et participe à tous ses aspects. Il organise dans ses murs même une grande variété d'activités et d'événements culturels et sociaux : la Galerie Samuel J. Zachs, spécialisée dans l'exposition d'œuvres d'art réalisées par des étudiants, expose des œuvres d'artistes divers, professionnels ou amateurs, parfois traditionnels, parfois d'avant-garde, du pays ou d'ailleurs. Les étudiants ont la possibilité de participer à de nombreux débats et discussions dans le pub-café Orange Snail et par le biais du journal étudiant du collège The Flying Walrus.

Depuis toujours, grâce à son important programme de bourses et d'aide financière, Stong fait tout pour aider ses étudiants qui en ont besoin. Financées principalement par la très active et très dévouée amicale des Anciens, les bourses offertes sont un témoignage permanent de l'intérêt et de l'engagement des membres du collège, qui continuent à se manifester longtemps après l'obtention de leur diplôme.

Le centre de documentation universitaire, dans le hall du collège, abrite le Programme d'entraide et est devenu le principal centre de ressources et d'aide aux étudiants du campus. De plus, le conseiller d'études, le coordonnateur de la vie en résidence, tout le personnel du bureau de la direction, ainsi qu'une longue liste d'associés appartenant à tout un éventail de disciplines sont prêts à mettre leurs connaissances et leur expertise variée à la disposition des étudiants pour les aider à tirer le plus grand profit de leur vie universitaire.

Le Collège Stong est un collège actif et plein de vie. Il encourage toutes les expériences éducatives et offre toutes les possibilités de réussite. Il vous convie à étudier, à vous développer et à participer à la vie communautaire de l'Université York, dans l'atmosphère studieuse d'une riche vie culturelle, sociale et sportive.

Collège Vanier

Le collège porte avec fierté le nom de Georges Vanier, cet ancien gouverneur général qui compte parmi les Canadiens du XXe siècle les plus célèbres et les plus dévoués au service du public et qui représentait les valeurs humanistes de cette institution. Il comprend les étudiants, les résidents, les associés et le personnel, tous contribuant à la vie universitaire et sociale.

Le Collège Vanier est affilié à la Division des humanités (dont les bureaux sont situés dans le collège même), à la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation, aux départements de philosophie et de psychologie, de création littéraire, d'études classiques et d'études religieuses.

Les associés de Vanier viennent de tous les secteurs du campus et de la collectivité. Ce sont des scientifiques et des érudits de renom, des citoyens dévoués, des artistes, des hommes et des femmes qui veulent participer à la vie sociale et universitaire de la collectivité de Vanier.

Le Collège Vanier compte des locaux et des organismes pour toutes sortes d'activités. On y organise par exemple une série de conférences publiques liées aux cours offerts par le collège. Les Productions du Collège Vanier commanditent durant toute l'année des spectacles musicaux et dramatiques. Les collèges Vanier et McLaughlin organisent conjointement « Encounter Canada », symposium annuel portant sur des sujets de morale et d'éthique touchant la société canadienne. En collaboration avec le programme de création littéraire, Vanier organise chaque année le « festival des écrivains » qui permet à des étudiants de rencontrer et d'écouter des écrivains canadiens et de lire et d'interpréter leurs propres poèmes et autres écrits.

Le personnel du Collège Vanier, constitué de la directrice, du conseiller pédagogique, du personnel administratif et des associés du Collège, est là pour aider tous les étudiants du collège. De plus, des membres de diverses disciplines - études classiques, création littéraire, éducation, anglais, histoire, humanités, philosophie et psychologie ont leur bureau dans le collège. De nombreux étudiants de ces disciplines ont créé des clubs qui organisent leurs activités sociales et universitaires dans les locaux du collège. Ces mêmes locaux abritent également York International, le Centre des études juives, la Collection canadienne de la culture enfantine, le Wellness Centre at York University et différents clubs étudiants.

Des étudiants élus forment le Conseil du Collège Vanier. Cette gestion étudiante est au cœur des activités du collège et les « élus » organisent des activités sociales et sportives qui permettent aux étudiants de profiter au maximum de leur expérience estudiantine. Le Conseil appuie également une revue littéraire, Existere et un journal, The Vandoo. Vanier dispose de locaux pour les étudiants, notamment un laboratoire informatique, le Théâtre Vanier, la bibliothèque Rosner-Siegel et la Junior Common Room, connue sous le nom de Renaissance, où les étudiants peuvent étudier, nouer des contacts et se détendre.

Par-dessus tout, le Collège Vanier vise à offrir un chez-soi à tous les membres divers de la communauté qui le constitue, permettant de tisser des liens entre eux et avec l'Université.

Collège Winters

Le Collège Winters, fondé en 1967, porte le nom de feu Robert Winters, premier président du conseil d'administration de l'Université York. Il partage avec la Faculté des beaux-arts la stimulante mission d'offrir à tous les étudiants de toutes les facultés un milieu propice à l'expression de la créativité, ce qu'il considère essentiel. La Faculté des sciences de l'éducation a récemment été transférée dans l'édifice du Collège Winters et a établi une nouvelle relation et de nouvelles occasions pour servir les étudiants.

Par le biais du bureau de la directrice, sont organisées des activités dans le but d'offrir aux étudiants, résidents et non-résidents, la possibilité d'être stimulés, de trouver une inspiration et d'assister à des spectacles. Les étudiants peuvent ainsi participer à des ateliers, voir des spectacles, entendre des présentations et des conférences, visionner des films. Ils peuvent également se procurer des billets à prix réduit pour des spectacles de danse, des pièces de théâtre, des concerts et l'opéra.

Une promenade dans l'édifice du collège nouvellement rénové réjouit à la fois les yeux et les oreilles : ici une répétition musicale, là un récital de danse ou une séance de jonglerie. On peut également y voir les œuvres de nombreux artistes visuels de York, étudiants comme professeurs, sur les murs, dans les jardins ou la galerie Eleanor Winters. Musique, poésie, chœurs parlés y sont régulièrement présentés, dans les Junior et Senior Common Rooms et dans la salle à manger Winters. Des spectacles du même type ont lieu au café-pub Absinthe, âme du collège et scène privilégiée pour des orchestres locaux soucieux de se produire. L'Absinthe est tenu par les étudiants et géré par le Conseil du Collège Winters, agréable mélange d'étudiants résidents et non résidents qui organisent également la semaine frosh, ainsi que les différentes activités, officielles ou non, tout au long de l'année. Le Conseil du collège et le bureau de la direction travaillent de concert et leur premier souci est la création d'un milieu social, culturel et universitaire florissant pour tous les étudiants de Winters. Nous accueillons volontiers idées et suggestions.

Pourtant, le Collège Winters ne se cantonne pas aux disciplines artistiques. Nombre d'étudiants qui s'y inscrivent viennent d'autres disciplines très diverses, et cette diversité enrichit la communauté. Le collège abrite également l'Association portugaise de l'Université York, ainsi que d'autres clubs dont il bénéficie des activités. Les étudiants de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation font maintenant partie de la communauté du Collège Winters.

Le collège est depuis longtemps connu pour sa vitalité et son esprit créatif; il compte aussi d'éminents chercheurs qui encouragent l'excellence au niveau des études. Nous avons un service de conseils entre étudiants et un kiosque de renseignements où les étudiants peuvent venir pour discuter de questions universitaires ou personnelles, parler avec des étudiants plus âgés ou à notre conseiller des études. Dans tout le collège, des espaces sont réservés à l'étude - la Junior Common Room, la salle à manger et, aux beaux jours, le jardin - et offrent aux étudiants des lieux pour échanger, lire un livre lové dans le coin d'un sofa ou tout simplement pour se retrouver un peu au calme. Des bourses Winters - études, entretien et livres - sont décernées chaque année.

XIV. Admission

Le Bureau d'admission de l'Université York s'assure que tous les dossiers des candidats qualifiés sont traités de façon juste et équitable. L'Université offre l'admission aux candidats les plus qualifiés.

Les pages qui suivent présentent les renseignements pour les programmes de premier cycle. Consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> pour des renseignements précis concernant les programmes de premier cycle. Pour obtenir de l'information détaillée sur les programmes de deuxième et troisième cycles, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/graduatestudents/>.

Catégories d'admission

L'Université York offre aux étudiants plusieurs types de formation. On trouvera ci-dessous une brève description des différentes catégories d'admission. Pour être accepté au programme de votre choix, vous devez avoir la moyenne minimum et les préalables requis. Les exigences varient selon les programmes et l'admission n'est pas garantie. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/>.

Diplôme de premier cycle

Toute personne ayant la préparation suffisante peut présenter sa candidature pour être admise à l'Université York dans un programme de premier cycle. York admet directement des étudiants dans les programmes conduisant aux baccalauréats suivants : Baccalauréat en administration; Baccalauréat ès sciences appliquées, Baccalauréat ès arts; Baccalauréat en administration des affaires; Baccalauréat international en administration des affaires; Baccalauréat en graphisme; Baccalauréat ès études environnementales; Baccalauréat en beaux-arts, Baccalauréat ès arts international; Baccalauréat en sciences de la santé, Baccalauréat en gestion des ressources humaines; Baccalauréat ès sciences et Baccalauréat ès sciences International.

Une formation postsecondaire préalable est exigée pour le Baccalauréat en sciences de l'éducation et le Baccalauréat en droit.

L'Université York offre des programmes de Baccalauréat ès sciences en soins infirmiers et de Baccalauréat en service social aux étudiants qui entrent en première année et à ceux qui ont une formation postsecondaire préalable.

Programme conjoint Baccalauréat/Diplôme

Les étudiants de l'Université York peuvent préparer simultanément dans plusieurs domaines un diplôme universitaire et un programme menant à un certificat ou à un diplôme offert par les collèges d'arts appliqués et de technologie. Seuls les étudiants des dernières années sont admissibles et les places sont limitées.

Certificat de premier cycle

Les personnes ayant la préparation requise peuvent demander leur admission à un programme menant à un certificat du premier cycle. Ces programmes permettent d'acquérir une expertise professionnelle ou des compétences dans des domaines précis. En général, ces certificats s'obtiennent en même temps qu'un programme de baccalauréat, bien que certains certificats peuvent se préparer individuellement. Pour plus de détails, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> et cliquez sur Courses & Programs.

Étudiant libre

L'Université York peut admettre des personnes qui désirent suivre des cours crédités mais qui n'ont pas l'intention de préparer un baccalauréat ou un certificat à York. Ce sont des « étudiants libres », c'est-à-dire des personnes qui sont déjà titulaires d'un baccalauréat ou qui sont inscrites concurrentiellement dans une autre université reconnue et qui désirent suivre des cours à York avec une lettre de permission de leur université, ou qui ne sont pas titulaires d'un baccalauréat mais désirent s'inscrire à des cours à York pour satisfaire aux exigences d'une désignation professionnelle en matière d'études, de recyclage ou de développement professionnel.

Étudiant provisoire

Dans des cas très exceptionnels, l'Université York admettra, pour une période ne dépassant pas une année universitaire (et ce, normalement, en prévision d'une admission dans un programme de baccalauréat) de façon provisoire. L'Université accorde cette admission provisoire à sa discrétion sur présentation de preuves montrant irréfutablement que la personne ainsi admise pourra satisfaire aux exigences d'un baccalauréat ou d'un certificat.

Exigences d'admission

L'Université York envisage l'admission de candidats du monde entier possédant déjà un diplôme décerné par un établissement reconnu ou accrédité. On trouvera, ci-dessous, des renseignements sur le type de formation que reconnaît York. L'Université exige également pour l'admission une moyenne minimum ainsi que des cours préalables. Pour certains programmes, les candidats doivent également fournir des renseignements supplémentaires. Pour plus de détails, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/>. Le fait de satisfaire aux exigences minimales ne garantit pas nécessairement l'admission à l'Université. Tout candidat qui estime que son dossier scolaire ne donne pas une juste image de ses capacités est invité à soumettre tous les documents qui donnent les raisons pour lesquelles ses résultats scolaires ne sont pas ce qu'ils devraient être. Tous les documents seront pris en considération.

Scolarité préparatoire

Enseignement secondaire

Colombie-Britannique et Yukon : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec quatre cours théoriques, incluant les cours de la douzième année exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé. Les cours théoriques n'ont pas besoin d'être soumis à un examen provincial.

Alberta, Territoires du Nord-Ouest et Nunavut : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec cinq cours théoriques, incluant les cours 30 et 31 exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé.

Saskatchewan : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec le cours d'anglais (ELA) 30 English Language Arts A30 et B30 (ou ELA 30 A et Français30/Grasakois 30 A ou B recommandés) et quatre cours théoriques supplémentaires, incluant les cours de la douzième année exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé.

Manitoba : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec English 40S et quatre cours théoriques au niveau 40 ou supérieur, incluant les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé.

Ontario : Diplôme d'études secondaires de l'Ontario DESO ou l'équivalent. Au minimum six cours de la douzième année classés 4U ou M, y compris le cours Eng4U, tous les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé et au moins un cours 4U ou 4M dans l'UNE des disciplines suivantes : études canadiennes et mondiales, études et langues classiques et internationales, français, mathématiques, sciences sociales et lettres ou études amérindiennes.

*Les étudiants de langue française peuvent y substituer le cours FRA4U, FIF4U ou FEF4U.

*Les étudiants qui fréquentent une école secondaire de langue française peuvent remplacer ENG4U par FRA4U, FIF4U ou FEF4U.

Ontario (CPO) : Diplôme d'études secondaires de l'Ontario DESO ou l'équivalent et six cours pré-universitaires de l'Ontario (CPO), incluant les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé. Tous les cours exigés par une faculté doivent être au niveau CPO.

Québec (Cégep) : Une année de cégep avec un minimum de 12 cours théoriques d'un trimestre, y compris les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé. (Les cours équivalents de l'école secondaire ne sont pas acceptés). Tous les cours suivis en plus seront évalués pour des crédits d'équivalence. Les candidats avec le diplôme DEC peuvent recevoir l'équivalent d'une année d'études en crédits d'équivalence.

Québec (12e année) : Certificat de réussite à la 12e année avec six sujets théoriques (préparatoires à l'entrée à l'université), y compris le cours d'anglais de 12e année et les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé.

Québec (secondaire V) : Peuvent être admis à Glendon. Diplôme d'études secondaires du Québec. Cinq cours de secondaire V. Anglais et français recommandés. Pour économie et commerce, économie, technologie de l'information, mathématiques et mathématiques pour le commerce, des études préalables en mathématiques sont vivement recommandés.

Nouveau-Brunswick : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec six cours théoriques, incluant les cours de la douzième année exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé (120, 121 ou 122). Nous acceptons le cours Calcul intégral et différentiel 120 au lieu de Mathématiques avancées, pré-calcul intégral et différentiel 120.

Nouvelle-Écosse : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec cinq cours théoriques ou avancés, incluant les cours de la douzième année exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé. Lorsqu'ils sont disponibles, les cours de calcul intégral et différentiel sont préférables au cours de pré-calcul intégral et différentiel.

Île-du-Prince-Édouard : Diplôme d'études secondaires avec cinq cours théoriques, incluant les cours de la douzième année exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé (621 ou 611).

Terre-Neuve et Labrador : Onze crédits au niveau 3000, y compris le cours d'anglais 3101, ainsi que les cours exigés par la faculté.

Baccalauréat international : Diplôme du BI avec note de passage dans six matières y compris les cours exigés par la faculté ou le programme demandé.

- trois notes de passage au niveau standard et trois au niveau avancé ou
- deux notes de passage au niveau standard et quatre au niveau avancé.

Les diplômes avec une note d'au moins 28 points sont recommandés. Le dossier des étudiants désirant préparer un certificat sera étudié individuellement et le diplôme d'études secondaires sera pris en compte.

York accorde des crédits d'équivalence - jusqu'à un maximum de 18 crédits selon la faculté choisie - pour les cours du BI de niveau avancé réussis avec une note minimum de cinq.

Baccalauréat français : Baccalauréat français avec une note minimum de 10 (passable) d'un lycée agréé par le Ministère Français de l'Éducation ou une agence compétente. Nous accorderons jusqu'à un maximum de 30 crédits d'équivalence pour des notes de 12 ou plus, selon le programme.

Test de classement de niveau avancé : Selon la faculté que vous choisissez, des équivalences universitaires peuvent être octroyées jusqu'à un maximum de 30 crédits si vous avez obtenu une note de 4 ou 5 dans certaines disciplines au Test de classement de niveau avancé de la Commission d'examen d'entrée au collège. Les étudiants doivent également répondre aux exigences d'admission de la faculté du programme dans lequel ils s'inscrivent.

Certificat Général d'Enseignement (GCE) : Réussite à deux niveaux avancés (Niveau-A) et trois niveaux ordinaires (Niveau-O) GCSE ou IGCSE. On peut remplacer un cours de niveau avancé par deux cours de niveau auxiliaire avancé (Niveau AA). Une note minimum de C est exigée pour l'admission aux niveaux avancé et ordinaire. Des équivalences universitaires peuvent être octroyées jusqu'à un maximum de 18 crédits pour les cours de niveau avancé ayant obtenu une note finale de C ou plus, selon le programme choisi. Les étudiants doivent également satisfaire aux exigences d'admission de la faculté du programme dans lequel ils s'inscrivent.

Caribbean Advanced Proficiency Examinations (CAPE) : Diplôme CAPE avec un total d'au moins six unités, incluant les cours préalables, et des notes de 1, 2 ou 3 dans chaque unité. Une moyenne générale d'au moins 3 sur 7 est exigée. Crédits accordés pour des cours réussis au niveau « 2-unit » pour lesquels le candidat a obtenu des notes de 1, 2 ou 3, selon le programme demandé (maximum de 18 crédits).

École secondaire internationale : Si vous venez d'un autre système éducatif, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/> pour obtenir des précisions.

Université

Les étudiants qui viennent d'une autre université et ont terminé un minimum de 4 cours complets ou une année d'études à temps plein menant à un diplôme ou l'équivalent dans un établissement reconnu et qui ont obtenu une moyenne générale de 2 sur une échelle de 4 (C/60 %) seront considérés comme candidats. De plus, pour être admissibles à tous les programmes spécialisés, les étudiants doivent avoir une moyenne générale de 2,3 sur une échelle de 4 (C+/65 % ou l'équivalent). Tous les cours suivis, y compris les cours auxquels l'étudiant a échoué seront inclus dans le calcul de la moyenne pour l'admission. Si le relevé indique que l'étudiant a repris un cours, la deuxième note sera utilisée pour calculer la moyenne générale. Le fait de satisfaire aux exigences minimales ne garantit pas l'admission à l'Université. Certaines facultés peuvent exiger des moyennes plus élevées. Vous devez également satisfaire aux critères de l'ensemble des programmes et facultés.

Les cours universitaires peuvent être évalués pour l'octroi de crédits d'équivalence. Pour que le Bureau d'admission puisse évaluer l'équivalence de vos crédits, vous devez soumettre la description officielle des cours que vous avez suivis dans des universités reconnues à l'extérieur du Canada et des États-Unis. Ces descriptions officielles doivent être rédigées par l'établissement que vous avez fréquenté ou être disponibles sur son site Web. Veuillez fournir l'adresse URL exacte ou imprimer les descriptions de cours affichées sur le site Web. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez la section « Obtention d'équivalences universitaires (crédits d'équivalence) ».

Collège

- Les étudiants qui viennent d'un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie ou d'un institut de technologie et d'enseignement supérieur (ITAL) de l'Ontario et qui ont terminé deux semestres complets d'études collégiales ou une année d'étude à temps plein dans le cadre d'un programme d'études avec une moyenne générale de 3 sur une échelle de 4 (B/70 %), calculée en incluant tous les cours suivis peuvent être considérés comme candidats; ou
- Les étudiants qui viennent d'un collège reconnu à l'extérieur de l'Ontario et qui ont terminé une année d'études à temps plein dans le cadre d'un programme d'études et qui ont obtenu une moyenne générale de 3 sur une échelle de 4 (B/70 %), calculée en incluant tous les cours suivis peuvent être considérés comme candidats.

Si un étudiant n'a pas obtenu un diplôme collégial et que son relevé indique qu'il a repris un cours, la deuxième note obtenue pour le(s) cour(s) sera utilisée dans le calcul de la moyenne générale. Certaines facultés peuvent exiger des moyennes plus élevées. Il importe de noter que même si un étudiant satisfait aux conditions minimums, son admission à l'Université n'est pas garantie. L'étudiant doit également satisfaire aux critères de l'ensemble des programmes et facultés.

Les cours collégiaux peuvent être évalués pour l'octroi de crédits d'équivalence. Pour que le Bureau d'admission puisse évaluer l'équivalence de vos crédits, vous devez soumettre la description officielle des cours que vous avez suivis dans des collèges reconnus à l'extérieur du Canada et des États-Unis. Ces descriptions officielles doivent être rédigées par l'établissement que vous avez fréquenté ou être disponibles sur son site Web. Veuillez fournir l'adresse URL exacte ou imprimer les descriptions de cours affichées sur le site Web. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez la section « Obtention d'équivalences universitaires (crédits d'équivalence) ».

Les relevés de notes originaux rédigés dans une autre langue que le français ou l'anglais doivent être traduits par un traducteur certifié. Les descriptions de cours peuvent être traduites par le candidat et soumises avec le texte original de l'établissement.

Étudiant adulte

Pour poser votre candidature dans la catégorie « étudiant adulte » vous devez :

- avoir 21 ans ou plus le jour où débute la session à laquelle vous êtes inscrit(e);
- avoir quitté l'école secondaire à temps plein depuis au moins deux ans (si vous avez suivi des cours après deux ans d'absence pour améliorer vos notes, vous pouvez déposer une demande d'admission);
- avoir été inscrit à moins de quatre cours dans une université ou un collège reconnu;
- ne pas avoir obtenu de mauvais résultats scolaires au cours d'une période récente; et
- avoir fait preuve, par vos activités scolaires, professionnelles, bénévoles ou autres, d'une bonne capacité d'entreprendre des études universitaires.

Vous pouvez aussi envisager de déposer une demande d'admission en tant qu'étudiant adulte si vous avez réussi un cours pré-universitaire de York offert par l'entremise du département de l'éducation permanente, ou un cours de transition pour femmes, avec une note minimum de B et si vous satisfaites aux exigences du programme et de compétence linguistique.

Personnes du troisième âge

Les personnes du troisième âge qui désirent être admises à l'Université (à un programme menant à un diplôme ou comme étudiants libres) sont considérées comme des candidats de la catégorie étudiant adulte à moins qu'elles n'aient déjà terminé des études postsecondaires. (Voir les sections pertinentes ci-dessus).

Pour avoir droit à une dispense des frais de scolarité, les étudiants doivent être citoyens canadiens ou résidents permanents et avoir atteint 60 ans le 1er mai pour la session d'été et le 1er septembre pour la session automne/hiver. La dispense des frais de scolarité accordée aux personnes du troisième âge est plafonnée au niveau des frais de scolarité applicables aux étudiants canadiens, non professionnels de premier cycle en arts, sciences et autres programmes, tel qu'il est spécifié dans les lignes directrices sur les frais de scolarité du ministère de la Formation et des Collèges et Universités. La dispense des frais de scolarité des personnes du troisième âge admissibles est limitée à un maximum d'un diplôme de premier, deuxième ou troisième cycle. Les personnes du troisième âge admissibles à la dispense des frais de scolarité doivent payer tous les autres frais relatifs à un cours ou un programme, ou exigibles lors du processus d'inscription (y compris les frais auxiliaires, les frais approuvés par référendum étudiant, les frais de matériel pédagogique et les pénalités financières).

Pour plus de précisions, contactez le Bureau des Services financiers étudiants.

Exigences de compétence linguistique

Si vous souhaitez vous inscrire à un programme de premier cycle à l'Université York, votre niveau linguistique doit être suffisant pour que vous puissiez faire vos travaux universitaires en anglais, si vous avez effectué avec succès, ou êtes sur le point de terminer avec succès, un des programmes suivants :

- Quatre années d'études au niveau secondaire en anglais ou en français au Canada.
- Quatre années d'études au niveau secondaire en anglais dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.
- Une année d'études postsecondaires en anglais dans un établissement postsecondaire reconnu dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.
- Deux années d'études collégiales en anglais dans un collège reconnu dans un pays où l'anglais est la première langue.

Remarque : Les périodes passées à suivre des cours ESL ne peuvent pas compter dans les exemptions indiquées ci-dessus. Un candidat ne peut être dispensé de satisfaire aux exigences de compétence linguistique en soumettant une lettre qu'il a rédigée lui-même ou en soumettant une preuve qu'il a suivi des cours d'anglais du niveau secondaire.

Les indications ci-dessus sont à titre indicatif seulement. L'Université York se réserve le droit de demander les résultats obtenus à des tests de compétence linguistique.

Si vous n'êtes pas sûr de satisfaire aux exigences de compétence linguistique, nous vous conseillons de soumettre les résultats obtenus à un test de compétence linguistique en anglais afin d'éviter tout retard éventuel dans le traitement de votre demande d'admission.

Les résultats des tests de langue et les diplômes obtenus sont examinés en même temps pour déterminer votre admissibilité à l'Université.

Candidats pour le Collège universitaire Glendon

Le Collège universitaire Glendon étant une faculté bilingue, vous pouvez choisir de faire preuve de vos compétences linguistiques soit en français soit en anglais. Vous pouvez choisir de subir un des tests d'anglais indiqués ci-dessous ou le test de langue française administré par le Collège universitaire Glendon. Contactez le Service de recrutement et liaison au 416-487-6710 ou liaison@glendon.yorku.ca.

Exemption des tests de compétence linguistique pour les étudiants qui ont terminé des cours à l'Institut de langue anglaise de l'Université York (YUELI)

L'Institut YUELI offre toute une gamme de cours de langue anglaise non sanctionnés par des crédits, à temps plein et à temps partiel, pour préparer les étudiants à des études universitaires.

La réussite à un cours ESL de niveau six, dans le programme intensif avec mention Très Bien, Bien ou Passable répond à l'exigence de compétence linguistique en anglais en vue de l'admission à presque tous les programmes de premier cycle. Les programmes d'ingénierie et de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales exigent la mention Très Bien.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, adressez-vous à l'Institut YUELI au 416-736-5353, ou visitez le site <http://yueli.yorku.ca>.

Candidatures

Modalités de candidature

- Les élèves des écoles secondaires de l'Ontario doivent soumettre leur demande d'admission en remplissant la demande d'admission 101 du Centre de réception des demandes d'admission aux universités de l'Ontario (OUAC). Pour plus de détails, adressez-vous au bureau d'orientation de votre établissement.
- Tous les autres candidats peuvent soumettre une demande en ligne ou remplir une demande qu'ils se procureront auprès du Centre de réception des demandes d'admission aux universités de l'Ontario (OUAC). Consultez le site <http://www.ouac.on.ca>.
- Si vous faites une demande pour vous inscrire à un programme menant à un certificat, ou si vous êtes un étudiant libre, remplissez la demande d'admission que vous vous procurerez sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> ou en appelant le Bureau d'admission au 416-736-5000.

Évaluations, auditions et portfolios pour la Faculté des beaux-arts

La plupart des candidats pour la Faculté des beaux-arts doivent participer à une évaluation supplémentaire qui peut comprendre une audition, une entrevue, un exercice écrit ou l'évaluation de leur portfolio. Cette évaluation a lieu en général durant les mois d'hiver au campus Keele. Cependant, si, pour des raisons d'éloignement, cette évaluation ne peut se faire à ce campus, d'autres méthodes d'évaluation sont possibles. Rendez-vous sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/> pour plus de détails.

Formulaire de renseignements supplémentaires pour l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales.

Avant de soumettre le formulaire de renseignements supplémentaires, les candidats doivent faire une demande d'admission à l'Université York par l'entremise du Centre de réception des demandes d'admission aux universités de l'Ontario avant la date butoir. Renseignements sur le site : <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/deadlines.html>.

Formulaire de renseignements supplémentaires pour le Baccalauréat en service social

Les étudiants peuvent s'inscrire directement au Baccalauréat en service social (BSW) offert le jour à temps plein. Ce programme est également offert à temps partiel, principalement en soirée, pour les étudiants qui ont déjà un diplôme de premier cycle.

Les candidats pour les deux programmes de BSW de York qui ne viennent pas directement d'une école secondaire doivent présenter le formulaire de renseignements supplémentaires et toutes les pièces justificatives. Pour obtenir une copie de ce formulaire, visitez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/forms.html>.

Pour plus de renseignements sur les programmes d'étude, visitez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/> et cliquez sur Courses & Programs.

Admission spéciale pour les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux

L'Université York s'engage à aider et à tenir compte des besoins des étudiants qui souhaitent poursuivre leurs études mais qui ont des difficultés sur le plan physique ou de l'apprentissage ou qui ont des troubles psychiatriques.

Si vous avez un handicap physique, il est important que vous le signaliez durant le processus d'admission.

Si vous ne répondez pas à nos critères minimum d'admission, vous souhaitez peut-être faire une demande d'admission adaptée.

Si votre situation ne gêne pas votre admission à l'Université (en d'autres termes, si vous répondez à nos critères d'admission), nous voulons nous assurer que vous connaissez les services de soutien à votre disposition.

Le fait de signaler un handicap physique ne sera d'aucune façon à votre désavantage. Nous souhaitons seulement savoir qui vous êtes de façon à nous assurer que vous disposez de l'aide dont vous avez besoin durant le processus d'admission et par la suite. Même si vous n'avez pas actuellement besoin d'aide, il se peut que votre situation change.

York offre un certain nombre de services de soutien aux étudiants ayant des handicaps physiques, des difficultés d'apprentissage ou des troubles psychiatriques. Si vous êtes admis à l'Université York et que vous avez besoin d'aide ou d'adaptation, voyez un conseiller avant le début de l'année universitaire. L'adaptation peut toucher le style d'enseignement, les méthodes d'évaluation ou d'autres exigences dans tous les cours. Toute disposition doit être prise avant le début du trimestre universitaire, faute de quoi vous risquez de nuire à vos chances de disposer d'un logement universitaire.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/disabilities.html>.

Dates limites de dépôt des demandes

Consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/futurestudents/requirements/deadlines.html> pour connaître les dates limites de dépôt des demandes. Si vous souhaitez recevoir une réponse en temps voulu pour le programme que vous avez choisi, le mieux est que vous déposiez votre demande, accompagnée de tous les documents officiels, bien avant les dates limites.

Faculté des sciences de l'éducation : consultez la section concernant cette faculté dans le présent annuaire pour connaître les démarches particulières.

Faculté de droit Osgoode Hall : consultez l'annuaire séparé de cette faculté.

Faculté des études de deuxième et troisième cycles : consultez l'annuaire séparé de cette faculté.

Obtention d'équivalences universitaires (crédits d'équivalence)

Toutes les informations concernant des études postsecondaires antérieurement terminées doivent être communiquées à l'Université York au moment du dépôt de la demande d'admission. Les candidats admis à York qui sont titulaires de diplômes d'études postsecondaires d'établissements reconnus peuvent avoir droit à recevoir des équivalences universitaires ou des crédits d'équivalence. Pour déterminer l'admissibilité à des équivalences universitaires, il sera tenu compte du dossier complet des études postsecondaires du candidat dans un établissement reconnu. Le nombre d'équivalences accordées dépend de la nature du programme suivi, des notes obtenues et du programme auquel la personne désire s'inscrire à York. Il n'est pas nécessaire de fournir une demande séparée d'équivalences universitaires. La réception du dossier complet de demande d'équivalences et l'évaluation de toutes les équivalences possibles au moment de l'admission doit se faire durant un trimestre universitaire à compter de la date d'admission à l'Université. (Ainsi, l'admission à la session d'automne et à la session d'automne/hiver doit être terminée avant la fin de la session d'automne/hiver; l'admission à la session d'hiver doit être terminée à la fin de la session d'été; l'admission à la session d'été doit être terminée à la fin de la session d'automne.) Les candidats admis à York qui n'étaient pas en règle avec leurs établissements postsecondaires antérieurs peuvent déposer une demande d'équivalences et les dossiers seront étudiés au cas par cas.

Une description détaillée des cours, préparée par l'établissement, est obligatoire pour tous les cours suivis dans des établissements postsecondaires en dehors du Canada et des États-Unis. Ces descriptions doivent être préparées par l'établissement reconnu ou être disponibles sur son site. Il convient donc de fournir l'adresse URL exacte ou d'imprimer les descriptions directement du site Web.

Les descriptions de cours rédigées dans une autre langue que le français ou l'anglais peuvent être traduites en français ou en anglais par le candidat et la traduction doit être présentée avec le document préparé par l'établissement. Nous exigeons également une traduction officielle en français ou en anglais (faite par un traducteur certifié) des relevés de notes originaux qui n'existent ni en français ni en anglais.

Il est recommandé que tous les étudiants remettent une description détaillée du travail postsecondaire terminé pour la majeure qu'ils envisagent afin de voir s'il est possible d'obtenir des équivalences dans le domaine de la majeure.

Les étudiants qui ont complété des cours en commerce (p. ex. comptabilité, fiscalité) doivent également fournir la description et le plan officiels du cours, y compris la liste de tous les manuels requis aux fins d'évaluation des études antérieures.

Programmes de préparation d'un diplôme universitaire de premier cycle

Un étudiant admis à York qui a fréquenté un établissement postsecondaire agréé et obtenu des crédits en vue de l'obtention d'un baccalauréat peut demander des équivalences. L'étude de son dossier tiendra compte des cours pour lesquels les notes obtenues sont celles normalement exigées d'un étudiant poursuivant ses études sans interruption. Les équivalences sont déterminées en fonction des exigences de la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire.

L'Université York reconnaît le Protocole pancanadien sur la réciprocité des crédits universitaires et entreprend de s'assurer que tous les cours suivis par un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement durant les deux premières années d'études universitaires au Canada (y compris les dernières années d'études menant à un diplôme d'études collégiales (DEC) au Québec, et les cours universitaires offerts par les collèges communautaires et les collèges universitaires en Colombie-britannique et en Alberta) seront reconnus et feront l'objet d'une équivalence totale pour l'obtention d'un diplôme pourvu que :

- 1 l'étudiant soit censé être admissible et ait reçu une offre d'admission;
- 2 l'étudiant ait obtenu une note de passage aux cours qu'il a suivis et ait le niveau normalement exigé d'un étudiant poursuivant ses études sans interruption; et que
- 3 les crédits obtenus soient en lien avec le programme d'études auquel l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire, ou que les crédits puissent être comptés comme facultatifs pour ledit programme.

Si un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement choisit un autre programme une fois admis à York, les équivalences obtenues à l'admission peuvent faire l'objet d'une réévaluation.

Si un étudiant qui quitte York pour poursuivre ses études dans un autre établissement postsecondaire décide d'y revenir, il devra faire une nouvelle demande à l'Université York et toutes les équivalences antérieures devront être réévaluées.

Selon la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant est admis, il se peut que les équivalences accordées ne soient pas toutes utilisées pour satisfaire aux exigences d'un programme d'études donné.

Programmes de préparation d'un diplôme collégial

Un étudiant admis à York qui a terminé au moins un an d'études à temps plein dans un programme d'un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie (CAAT) ou dans un programme d'un institut de technologie et d'enseignement supérieur (ITAL) en Ontario ou dans un collège agréé en dehors de l'Ontario peut chercher à obtenir des équivalences. Le minimum requis est une moyenne générale de B/70, soit 3 sur une échelle de 4, pour tous les cours suivis, y compris les cours où il a échoué. Les équivalences sont déterminées en fonction des exigences de la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant souhaite s'inscrire. Les accords avec un collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie ou un collège assimilé peuvent entraîner des équivalences plus larges.

Si un étudiant venant d'un autre établissement choisit un autre programme une fois admis à York, les équivalences obtenues à l'admission peuvent faire l'objet d'une réévaluation.

Si un étudiant qui quitte York pour poursuivre ses études dans un autre établissement postsecondaire décide d'y revenir, il devra faire une nouvelle demande à l'Université York et toutes les équivalences antérieures devront être réévaluées.

Selon la faculté à laquelle l'étudiant est admis, il se peut que les équivalences accordées ne soient pas toutes utilisées pour satisfaire aux exigences d'un programme d'études donné.

Échec et renvoi

Les étudiants qui ont été renvoyés peuvent être réadmis dans une session ultérieure à condition de pouvoir prouver au comité des admissions qu'ils pourront tirer profit de nouvelles études universitaires. Aucune demande de réadmission ne sera considérée dans un délai de deux ans après la date du renvoi. En cas d'échec dans une autre université, ou lorsque les règlements d'une autre université sur le renvoi diffèrent de ceux de York, ou lorsque cette université calcule les années et les semestres d'une façon différente de York, ce sont en général les règlements de York qui s'appliquent.

XV. Renseignements universitaires

Renseignements généraux

Sessions universitaires

L'année universitaire comprend deux « sessions » : La session d'automne-hiver et la session d'été. La session d'automne/hiver commence habituellement en septembre et se termine en avril ou mai. La session d'automne-hiver se divise en deux « trimestres », le trimestre d'automne qui commence en septembre et se termine en décembre, et le trimestre d'hiver qui commence en janvier et se termine en avril ou mai. Les trimestres d'automne et d'hiver comprennent en général 13 semaines chacun et la session d'automne-hiver environ 26 semaines.

La session d'été commence habituellement en mai et se termine en août. Cette session comprend différents « trimestres » qui durent de 6 à 13 semaines de cours. On trouvera tous les renseignements concernant les dates de sessions et de trimestres sur le site Current Students (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Numérotation des cours

Les cours décrits dans cet annuaire se présentent sous cette forme : GL/SOCI 2510 6.00 et se décomposent ainsi : GL désigne la faculté qui offre le cours (dans ce cas, le collège universitaire Glendon); SOCI désigne le département qui offre le cours (dans ce cas, le département de sociologie); 2510 est le numéro du cours. Le premier chiffre identifie le niveau du cours (dans ce cas, cours de deuxième année); et le suffixe 6.00 donne la « valeur en crédits » du cours.

Valeur en crédits des cours

Les facultés de York offrent des cours dont la valeur en crédits est variable. Chaque cours est désigné avec un suffixe qui en indique la valeur en crédits. Ainsi le cours GL/SOCI 2510 6.00 porte le suffixe « 6.00 », ce qui indique que le cours vaut six crédits. La valeur en crédits est en général liée à la durée totale du cours et au nombre d'heures de classe par semaine. Les cours de trois crédits, désignés par le suffixe « 3.00 » ont en général trois heures de cours par semaine durant un trimestre. Les cours de six crédits, désignés par le suffixe « 6.00 », ont en général trois heures de cours par semaine durant deux trimestres.

Le site des cours de York (<https://w2prod.sis.yorku.ca/Apps/WebObjects/cdm>) donne la liste des cours offerts, le trimestre, le jour de semaine, l'heure et la classe.

Cours interdépartementaux

Comme on l'a vu, le préfixe d'un cours désigne l'unité ou le programme qui offre le cours. De nombreux cours sont « interdépartementaux », c'est-à-dire qu'ils sont offerts conjointement par au moins deux unités d'enseignement (départements ou programmes). Dans certains cas, des cours peuvent être offerts conjointement par deux unités appartenant à deux facultés différentes. Les cours interdépartementaux ne peuvent pas être utilisés deux fois pour satisfaire à des exigences différentes. Ainsi, si AP/HUMA 4610 6.00 est jumelé à HH/PSYC 4120 6.00, il peut compter comme un cours d'humanités ou de psychologie, mais pas pour les deux à la fois.

Cours se chevauchant

Dans certains cours, le contenu et la pédagogie chevauchent de façon importante le contenu et la pédagogie d'autres cours. Il y a deux catégories de chevauchement : les cours de substitution et les cours non créditaibles.

Cours de substitution : Il s'agit de cours appariés dont le contenu est suffisamment semblable pour que les cours soient substitués un à l'autre en vue de satisfaire aux exigences du programme. Il importe de noter que seulement un des cours appariés peut être crédité. Les cours de substitution sont indiqués à la section des Programmes d'études de l'annuaire.

Cours non créditaibles : Il s'agit de cours appariés qui ne peuvent tous les deux être crédités puisque leur contenu est trop identique. Si les exigences du diplôme précisent qu'un des cours appariés est requis pour satisfaire aux exigences du programme, vous ne pouvez vous inscrire à l'autre cours, car il ne peut être utilisé pour satisfaire aux exigences du diplôme. Les cours non-créditaibles sont indiqués sur le site des cours de York ou dans la section des descriptions de cours de l'annuaire.

Équivalence d'année d'études

La progression des étudiants dans leurs études est déterminée par le nombre de crédits obtenus plutôt que par le nombre d'années passées aux études. Voici un tableau d'équivalence qui pourra aider à déterminer le niveau atteint par les étudiants dans leurs études :

Crédits obtenus	Année d'études
Moins de 24 crédits obtenus	1re
De 24 crédits à moins de 54	2e
De 54 crédits à moins de 84	3e
84 crédits et plus	4e*

*La référence à la 4e année ne s'applique qu'aux étudiants des programmes de spécialisation. Les cours de pédagogie suivis par les étudiants de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation ne sont pas inclus dans le compte des cours de la faculté mère (c.-à-d. la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles, Glendon etc.) pour déterminer l'année d'études.

Inscription aux cours et paiement des droits

On ne doit pas confondre inscription aux cours et paiement des droits. Il s'agit de démarches différentes décrites ci-dessous.

a. Inscription aux cours : Les étudiants nouvellement admis et ceux qui poursuivent leurs études s'inscrivent aux cours choisis par l'entremise du système d'inscription de l'Université, selon les règlements de leur faculté et de ses unités d'enseignement.

b. Paiement des droits : En payant les droits unitaires correspondant aux cours auxquels ils sont inscrits, selon les règlements publiés par le Bureau du registraire, les étudiants confirment leur inscription aux cours. Les étudiants qui n'ont pas payé les droits des cours ne peuvent pas recevoir de notes.

Notes et système de notation

Les étudiants suivant des cours dans les facultés de 1er cycle décrits dans cet annuaire sont notés selon le barème de notes présenté ci-dessous, à l'exception des cours évalués selon l'option réussite/échec. Les points attribués aux différentes notes sont utilisés pour calculer les moyennes. Pour tout renseignement concernant l'option réussite/échec, voir dans cet annuaire la section correspondant au système de notation dans la faculté pertinente.

Remarque : Seuls les cours suivis à l'Université York sont inclus dans le calcul de la moyenne générale. Les pourcentages indiqués ne font pas partie de la notation et sont donnés à titre indicatif seulement. La notation officielle pour l'évaluation des travaux dans tous les programmes de 1er cycle de l'Université York repose sur l'échelle de lettres.

Lettre	Points	Pourcentage	Description
A+	9	90-100	Exceptionnel
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Très bon
B	6	70-74	Bon

C+	5	65-69	Compétent
C	4	60-64	Assez compétent
D+	3	55-59	Passable
D	2	50-54	À peine passable
E	1	Légèrement inférieur à 50%	Échec de peu
F	0	Inférieur à 50%	Échec

Remarque : Les points indiqués ci-dessus servent à calculer les moyennes et l'octroi de crédits.

Définitions et explications des notes

A+ Exceptionnel. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, associée à une compétence exceptionnelle ou grande originalité dans leur utilisation.

A Excellent. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, associée à une très grande compétence ou une certaine originalité dans leur utilisation.

B+ Très bon. Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques et grande compétence dans leur utilisation.

B Bon. Bon niveau de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et assez grande compétence dans leur utilisation.

C+ Compétent. Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et compétence acceptable dans leur utilisation.

C Assez compétent. Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et certaine compétence dans leur utilisation.

D+ Passable. Niveau de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques légèrement supérieur au niveau minimum exigé et certaine aptitude dans leur utilisation.

D À peine passable. Niveau minimum de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques exigé.

E Échec de peu.

F Échec.

Calcul des moyennes

Les étudiants reçoivent deux moyennes différentes : la moyenne pour la session et la moyenne cumulative. Les moyennes permettent de déterminer si un étudiant peut poursuivre ses études et obtenir son diplôme. Elles sont calculées dans le but de déterminer si l'étudiant est autorisé à poursuivre et elles sont pondérées par rapport au nombre de crédits.

Moyenne de la session : moyenne obtenue à tous les cours suivis durant une session universitaire, Ex. : Automne-hiver 2009-2010.

Moyenne cumulative : moyenne obtenue au cours de l'ensemble des études de premier cycle dans un programme particulier.

Définition de « Réussite » et d'« Échec »

Réussite aux cours

Pour réussir à un cours, il faut obtenir au minimum D.

Échec aux cours

Il y a deux notes d'échec aux cours : E signifie « Échec de peu » et F « Échec ».

Dates de remise des notes (Relevés de notes)

Les notes soumises par les enseignants peuvent être révisées par l'unité d'enseignement responsable du cours et par le Conseil de la faculté ou le comité de direction et de planification du Conseil. Les notes des cours finaux peuvent être ajustées conformément aux profils de distribution des notes du programme ou de la faculté. Les notes sont remises par le bureau du registraire après toute révision.

Abandon

Abandon de la session

On considère qu'un étudiant a abandonné la session à partir du moment où il a abandonné son dernier cours par le biais du système d'inscription. Son dossier indique alors qu'il a officiellement abandonné ses études durant le trimestre ou la session.

Pour les règlements universitaires et les remboursements de frais d'inscription, le fait d'arrêter ses études et de venir néanmoins aux cours ne constitue pas un abandon officiel.

Le fait d'ignorer ce règlement ou la preuve apportée d'une autre activité ne constitue pas un argument permettant d'obtenir un abandon rétroactif.

En cas d'abandon, les Services financiers étudiants utilise la date à laquelle il a reçu avis de l'abandon de la session ou au cours comme date officielle pour calculer les frais qui demeurent dus ou à rembourser.

Réadmission après l'abandon d'une session

Normalement, les étudiants qui ont abandonné une session et qui désirent s'inscrire à une session ultérieure peuvent demander que leur dossier soit réactivé en s'adressant au Bureau du registraire. Les étudiants qui suivent des cours dans un autre établissement sans premièrement avoir obtenu de lettre de permission doivent demander leur réadmission et fournir les documents nécessaires. Les étudiants qui abandonnent durant leur première session à York sans avoir terminé aucun cours, peuvent demander la réactivation de leur dossier seulement dans l'année qui suit leur inscription initiale. S'ils attendent plus longtemps, ils devront demander une nouvelle admission.

Remboursement des droits à la suite d'un abandon

Tous les renseignements sur le remboursement des droits sont indiqués dans la table de remboursement que l'on peut consulter dans l'horaire des cours de premier cycle et sur le site Current Students (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>).

Remarque : Un étudiant ne peut abandonner un cours dans lequel pèse contre lui une accusation d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire ou dans lequel il a été accusé d'un tel délit. Si l'étudiant est reconnu innocent d'une accusation de ce type portée contre lui, il peut alors continuer de suivre le cours et demander qu'un autre enseignant évalue son travail. Il peut aussi abandonner le cours en question sans subir de sanction universitaire. Il doit alors informer de son intention, par écrit, le bureau du doyen.

Annulation de l'inscription

Le registraire de l'Université a le droit d'annuler l'inscription d'étudiants qui :

- ne répondent pas aux exigences d'admission de l'université ou aux conditions d'admission imposées par le Service des admissions;
- ne sont pas admissibles à un programme d'étude et ne sont pas autorisés par ailleurs par la faculté à s'inscrire à ce programme;
- ne sont pas en règle avec les lois d'immigration et de citoyenneté du pays;
- contreviennent aux règlements contenus dans la Loi sur l'Université York (sur les instructions de la présidente).

Les étudiants dont l'inscription aura été ainsi annulée seront censés ne pas avoir été inscrits à la session universitaire. Aucune mention de leur inscription ni de leurs activités universitaires ne sera conservée. On remboursera aux étudiants la totalité de leurs droits payés, moins toute somme due à l'Université.

Le registraire ou tout autre employé habilité informera les étudiants ainsi que les programmes et services concernés.

Les étudiants qui s'inscrivent à des cours et qui sont en attente d'une décision concernant leur statut universitaire à la fin de la session précédente ou en attente du résultat d'une pétition portant sur leur statut à l'université peuvent voir leur inscription annulée si, à cause de leur statut, leur abandon, leur renvoi ou leur suspension s'impose.

Classification des étudiants

D'un point de vue général, les étudiants sont considérés par l'Université comme étudiants à temps plein s'ils sont inscrits à l'équivalent d'au moins trois cours (18 crédits) dans une session de deux trimestres. Pour plus de précision, consultez le Service clients.

Politique sur l'accès aux dossiers des étudiants et la protection de la vie privée

L'accès aux dossiers des étudiants est régi par la politique sur l'accès à l'information et la protection de la vie privée de l'Université York et respecte la Loi sur l'accès à l'information et la protection de la vie privée. L'Université collecte et consigne des renseignements personnels de ses étudiants conformément aux lignes directrices ci-dessous.

Lignes directrices sur l'accès aux dossiers des étudiants

En présentant une demande d'admission à l'Université York et en vous inscrivant à un programme d'études à l'Université, les étudiants consentent à la collecte de leurs renseignements personnels par l'Université York pour des fins éducatives, administratives et statistiques. L'Université a besoin de ces renseignements pour traiter les admissions et les inscriptions aux programmes d'études; consigner et suivre les progrès universitaires des étudiants; fournir des renseignements de base pour les prix et le financement gouvernemental et pour d'autres besoins administratifs connexes. Les étudiants conviennent que les renseignements et documents soumis à l'Université en faveur d'une demande d'admission, de counseling, de services pour invalides, d'hébergement en résidence, d'un prix financier ou de toute requête ou tout appel devient la propriété de l'Université.

L'Université York peut être tenue de dévoiler les renseignements personnels d'étudiants :

- pour se conformer à la loi;
- dans le cadre d'une enquête policière ou d'une poursuite judiciaire;
- si la santé ou la sécurité d'un étudiant est compromise; ou
- dans des circonstances de compassion.

L'Université conserve de façon permanente les dossiers électroniques des réalisations des étudiants, mais détruit tous les autres documents versés dans les dossiers des étudiants conformément à ses politiques de conservation des dossiers.

Accès aux dossiers confidentiels des étudiants et divulgation de renseignements

Accès public

L'Université a pour politique de rendre les renseignements suivants habituellement accessibles :

- état d'inscription des étudiants à temps plein et à temps partiel dans un collège, une école, faculté ou division;
- domaine d'études courant (p. ex. majeure, mineure, programme menant à un certificat, domaine d'études);
- si un étudiant a reçu une distinction, un prix ou un honneur universitaire particulier de York ou d'un tiers; et
- les diplômes et crédits accordés par l'Université aux dates indiquées.

Sauf tel qu'il est indiqué précédemment, les autres renseignements contenus dans le dossier ne seront divulgués que sur consentement écrit des étudiants. Cette restriction s'applique aux demandes de tous les tiers y compris les parents, conjoints et bureaux de crédit.

Les étudiants actuellement inscrits à un programme/cours à l'Université peuvent soumettre une demande écrite au bureau du registraire s'ils refusent que soient divulgués leur état d'inscription active, leur domaine d'études courant, les renseignements sur tout prix, honneur ou distinction universitaire qu'ils ont reçu ou s'ils n'ont pas obtenu leur diplôme.

Accès des étudiants à leur dossier

Les étudiants peuvent inspecter tous les documents contenus dans leur dossier, à l'exception des évaluations et lettres de référence fournies à l'Université sous le sceau de la confidentialité.

Les étudiants peuvent demander que tout renseignement erroné dans leur dossier soit corrigé et que tous les récipiendaires de ce renseignement qui s'est avéré faux soient avisés de la correction.

Les étudiants qui désirent inspecter leur dossier doivent prendre rendez-vous avec le registraire adjoint, Services aux étudiants.

Sur réception d'une demande écrite au bureau du registraire, l'Université envoie à un tiers un relevé de notes du dossier d'études de l'étudiant, dans la mesure où son compte n'est pas en souffrance.

Les documents que l'Université reçoit sur les réalisations des étudiants dans d'autres institutions ne sont ni divulgués ni redirigés.

Accès des employés aux dossiers des étudiants

Les employés de l'Université peuvent avoir accès aux renseignements contenus dans les dossiers des étudiants s'ils ont besoin de ces renseignements pour s'acquitter de leurs fonctions officielles. En règle générale, les employés chargés de l'administration universitaire ou des affaires étudiantes ont accès aux dossiers des étudiants. Le niveau et la nature de l'accès sont fonction de leurs responsabilités administratives particulières. Les agents de supervision et le registraire ont le pouvoir de révoquer l'accès d'un employé aux dossiers des étudiants.

Accès des tierces parties ou organisations d'étudiants aux dossiers des étudiants

Toutes les organisations de tierces parties et organisations d'étudiants doivent signer des ententes de confidentialité conformes à la Loi sur l'accès à l'information et la protection de la vie privée avec un représentant autorisé de l'Université avant d'avoir accès aux dossiers des étudiants. Les renseignements des étudiants ne peuvent être utilisés ou divulgués que conformément aux dispositions de confidentialité des ententes.

Toutes les demandes d'organisations d'étudiants doivent être approuvées par le Office of Student Community and Leadership Development de la division des étudiants visés. La liste des membres est offerte sur demande écrite auprès du Office of Student Community and Leadership Development et signée par un dirigeant autorisé de cette organisation.

Toutes les autres demandes de tierces organisations doivent être approuvées par le bureau du registraire.

Accès prescrit par la loi

Certains dossiers ou parties de dossiers peuvent être fournis aux personnes ou organismes en vertu d'une ordonnance enjoignant l'Université à divulguer des renseignements à Statistique Canada et au ministère de Formation et des Collèges et Universités.

Relevés de notes

La signature de l'étudiant ou le code d'utilisateur du Passeport de York est requis pour la distribution des relevés de notes. Les relevés de notes remis directement aux étudiants portent l'estampille « Issued to Student » (remis à l'étudiant). L'Université York ne peut être tenue responsable des relevés de notes perdus pour retardés lors du transit postal.

Conformément à la politique de l'Université, les relevés de notes et les diplômes ne seront pas remis aux étudiants qui ont des dettes envers l'Université.

Changement de nom

Les étudiants doivent fournir lors de leur demande d'admission ou inscription, leur nom légal complet. Toute demande de changement de nom, que ce soit par altération, substitution, suppression ou ajout, doit être accompagnée de la documentation justificative appropriée. Les étudiants qui présentent une demande d'obtention de diplôme pourraient devoir présenter une preuve de nom. Les étudiants peuvent vérifier le nom officiel consigné à leur dossier via Internet sur le site Web des étudiants au (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Changement d'adresse

Il incombe aux étudiants de s'assurer que les dossiers de l'Université contiennent toujours leur adresse permanente et adresse postale courantes afin de recevoir les documents pertinents.

Vous pouvez effectuer votre changement d'adresse sur Internet au site Web des étudiants (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>).

Situations d'urgence nécessitant l'accès au dossier d'un étudiant

Il peut arriver qu'une situation d'urgence exige qu'un étudiant soit contacté rapidement. Dans des situations d'urgence où la santé ou la sécurité d'une personne peut être compromise ou dans des situations de compassion, le registraire de l'Université ou la personne désignée peut, s'il est considéré dans l'intérêt de l'étudiant, autoriser la divulgation de renseignements personnels sur l'étudiant. Dans un tel cas, l'Université informe l'étudiant de la divulgation.

Nous encourageons les étudiants à fournir aux personnes pouvant devoir les joindre en cas d'urgence une copie à jour de leur horaire de classe précisant les jours, heures et emplacements. En outre, les étudiants doivent actualiser les renseignements sur leur plus proche parent et personne à contacter en cas d'urgence via Internet sur le site Web des étudiants au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>.

Avis de divulgation de renseignements personnels à Statistique Canada

À titre d'organisme statistique national, Statistique Canada mène des centaines de sondages chaque année sur une foule de sujets dont l'éducation.

Il est essentiel de pouvoir suivre les étudiants et les institutions au fil du temps pour comprendre, par exemple, les facteurs qui affectent les demandes d'inscription auprès des institutions postsecondaires. Et vu l'obligation de rendre des comptes sur les investissements publics, il faut aussi comprendre les résultats. Afin de mener ces études, Statistique Canada demande à tous les collèges et universités de fournir des données sur les étudiants et diplômés. Les institutions collectent des étudiants des renseignements identificateurs (nom, numéro d'étudiant, numéro d'assurance sociale), leurs coordonnées (adresse et numéro de téléphone), leurs caractéristiques démographiques, les renseignements sur l'inscription et leurs antécédents en matière d'éducation et d'emploi qu'elles fournissent à Statistique Canada.

La loi fédérale sur la statistique confère à Statistique Canada l'autorité nécessaire pour accéder aux renseignements personnels que détiennent les institutions d'enseignement. Ces renseignements peuvent être utilisés à des fins statistiques; toutefois, la disposition de confidentialité de la Loi sur la statistique interdit qu'ils soient rendus publics de façon à pouvoir identifier les étudiants.

Pour en savoir plus sur l'utilisation de ces renseignements, rendez-vous sur le site Web de Statistique Canada au <http://www.statcan.ca/francais/concepts/ESIS/>, écrivez à la Section postsecondaire, Centre des statistiques sur l'éducation, 17^e étage, R.H. Bâtiment Coats, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0T6 ou composez le 1-613-951-1666.

XVI. Services financiers étudiants

Les services financiers étudiants sont chargés de :

- gérer les programmes de bourses pour les étudiants des trois cycles;
- servir de relais principal pour les étudiants qui font une demande auprès de OSAP;
- fournir de l'aide aux étudiants qui ont des difficultés financières;
- gérer tous les aspects des comptes financiers des étudiants vis-à-vis de l'Université;
- gérer les programmes Recherches à York, Bourse de service et Travail-études; et
- fournir aux étudiants les reçus en ligne pour fins d'impôts (T2202A et T4A) en ligne.

Nous servons nos étudiants en affichant des renseignements sur Internet (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>), par téléphone au 416-872-9675, ou en personne au bureau des Services aux étudiants, situé au Centre Bennett de services aux étudiants.

Droits universitaires

Les droits universitaires des étudiants de premier cycle sont calculés soit en fonction du nombre de crédits, soit en fonction du programme (voir les sections Frais de scolarité ci-dessous). À chaque session, les droits et tableaux des remboursements sont affichés sur Internet. Il appartient aux étudiants de se tenir au courant des droits à payer et des pénalités financières entraînées par l'abandon de cours.

Les étudiants peuvent consulter le tableau à jour des droits universitaires dans le site <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Frais supplémentaires

Le ministère de l'Éducation, de la Formation et des Collèges et Universités de l'Ontario autorise les universités à imposer des frais supplémentaires qui s'ajoutent aux droits universitaires. À York, il y a trois catégories de frais supplémentaires: a) les frais perçus par l'administration et faisant partie des droits universitaires, b) les frais approuvés par référendum étudiant et c) les frais supplémentaires associés à des cours. Les procédures et politiques qui régissent les frais associés aux cours diffèrent de celles qui régissent les frais de scolarité et les frais supplémentaires.

- Frais perçus par l'administration. Les frais supplémentaires couvrant les services d'orientation et les activités sportives et récréatives ainsi que les services culturels et spéciaux sont inclus dans les droits universitaires.
- Frais approuvés par référendum. Les frais supplémentaires approuvés par référendum sont inclus dans les droits universitaires par crédit.
- Frais supplémentaires associés à des cours. Ces frais comprennent par exemple les frais de test de classement, de matériel pédagogique, de vêtements spéciaux conservés par les étudiants, de matériel de production conservé par les étudiants. Ces frais peuvent être inscrits sur votre relevé de compte étudiant, ou sont encaissés séparément. Les étudiants qui veulent savoir si certains frais supplémentaires entrent dans une des catégories énumérées ci-dessus et peuvent être exigés en plus de leurs frais de scolarité devraient s'adresser d'abord à la direction du département ou du service qui exige ces frais particuliers. Si, après cette démarche, ils désirent poursuivre la question ils devraient alors s'adresser au Bureau des services étudiants. L'adresse et les heures de bureau se trouvent au <http://www.yorku.ca/scsweb/>.

Selon les règlements de l'Agence du revenu du Canada, le montant des frais supplémentaires de droits de scolarité et les frais de matériel pédagogique ne donnent pas droit à une déduction d'impôt; par conséquent, ils ne figurent pas sur la formule T2202A, Certificat pour le crédit d'impôt pour frais de scolarité et études. (voir ci-dessous).

Tarifs et catégories de droits d'inscription

Il y a deux catégories différentes de droits d'inscription à l'Université York: a) le tarif national pour les étudiants qui sont expressément exemptés par les règlements gouvernementaux ontariens du supplément imposé aux étudiants internationaux et b) le tarif international imposé aux étudiants qui ne bénéficient pas de cette exemption ou à ceux qui ne veulent ou ne peuvent pas donner au Bureau du registraire la preuve de leur statut d'exempté.

Les frais peuvent aussi varier en fonction de la faculté, du programme, des cours sélectionnés, ou de l'année de début d'un programme d'études en particulier.

A) Tarif national

Vous êtes admissibles à ce tarif si vous vous classez dans l'une des catégories exemptées indiquées ci-dessous et pouvez fournir au Bureau du registraire des preuves suffisantes de votre statut avant les dates limites indiquées ci-dessous.

Remarque : Si vous voulez apporter un changement ou une correction au tarif indiqué sur votre dossier, vous devez le faire dans les délais prescrits ci-dessous. Les changements ou corrections apportés après ces dates ne s'appliqueront qu'à la prochaine session ou au prochain trimestre et non rétroactivement aux trimestres ou aux sessions écoulés.

Dates limites pour la session automne/hiver

- 31 octobre - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète automne/hiver.
- 31 janvier - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour le trimestre d'hiver seulement de la session automne/hiver.

Dates limites pour la session d'été

- 30 juin - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète d'été.
- 16 juillet - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif régulier national pour certains cours de la session d'été qui commencent plus tard dans la session (le 2 juillet). Toute question pour connaître quels sont les cours concernés doit être adressée au Bureau du registraire.

Documentation requise

Les étudiants qui désirent bénéficier d'une exemption au titre d'une des catégories approuvées doivent s'adresser au Bureau du registraire pour se renseigner sur les pièces justificatives à fournir avec leur demande d'exemption. Ils doivent présenter les documents originaux. Aucune photocopie n'est acceptée. Tous les documents fournis par les étudiants, à l'appui d'une demande d'exemption, ou le cas échéant, comme preuve de leur statut, devront être présentés au Bureau du registraire, avant le règlement des droits universitaires. Les étudiants qui ne peuvent fournir les documents nécessaires avant de payer leurs droits universitaires doivent acquitter le tarif pour étudiant international.

Maintien de l'exemption

Pour conserver le bénéfice de l'exemption pour des sessions ultérieures, les étudiants qui ont obtenu une exemption peuvent avoir à présenter ultérieurement des documents supplémentaires afin de prouver que leur statut n'a pas changé.

Si des étudiants fournissent des documents valables pour l'exemption du tarif pour étudiant international et que ces documents portent une date d'expiration, il est de leur responsabilité de présenter les documents mis à jour au Bureau du registraire au plus tard dans les dix jours suivant la date d'expiration indiquée sur les documents originaux, et ce, afin de leur permettre de conserver leur statut d'exemption.

Conjoints et enfants à charge

Certaines catégories d'exemption précisent que la personne qui a le statut d'exempté, ainsi que les personnes à sa charge, ont droit à l'exemption du tarif pour étudiant international. Le terme de personne à charge inclut les personnes suivantes :

- le conjoint ou la conjointe,
- le fils ou la fille célibataire de cette personne,
- le fils ou la fille célibataire du conjoint de cette personne.

Le statut de personne à charge doit être pleinement authentifié, avoir été acquis au moins trois ans avant la présentation de la demande d'exemption par l'étudiant et être encore valable à la date de la demande d'exemption.

Frais du Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire (RAMU)

Si votre tarif d'inscription a été changé au tarif national dans votre dossier de York et qu'on vous a facturé les frais du RAMU sur votre compte étudiant, vous devez communiquer avec le bureau du RAMU de York International. Le bureau du registraire ne peut effectuer ce changement ni réviser les frais du RAMU sur les comptes étudiants. Visitez le site Web du RAMU au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkint/uhip/>.

Remarque : Les catégories visées par l'exemption sont sujettes à changement sur décision du gouvernement de l'Ontario, et sur approbation du Conseil d'administration de l'Université York.

Catégories de droits d'inscription nationaux

- les citoyens canadiens au sens de la Loi sur la citoyenneté canadienne ou toute personne inscrite à titre d'Indien au sens de la Loi sur les Indiens;
- les étudiants internationaux légalement à la charge d'un citoyen canadien peuvent bénéficier d'une d'exemption des droits internationaux. Ils doivent fournir des documents attestant qu'ils ont obtenu leur statut de personne à charge, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et qu'ils l'ont conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption;
- les personnes officiellement reconnues comme résidentes permanentes par Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada;
- les étudiants internationaux à la charge d'une personne ayant obtenu le statut de résident permanent peuvent bénéficier d'une exemption des droits internationaux. Ils doivent fournir des documents attestant qu'ils ont acquis leur statut de personne à charge, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et qu'ils l'ont conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption;
- les personnes ayant demandé le statut de résident permanent, à condition qu'elles répondent à toutes les exigences pour l'attribution du statut et qu'elles obtiennent de Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada une déclaration officielle le confirmant;
- les étudiants internationaux à la charge d'une personne ayant demandé le statut de résident permanent (voir paragraphe v précédent) peuvent bénéficier d'une exemption du tarif pour étudiants internationaux. Ils doivent fournir des documents attestant qu'ils ont acquis leur statut de personne à charge, par mariage ou par adoption, au moins trois ans avant les dates limites et qu'ils l'ont conservé sans interruption jusqu'au moment de la demande d'exemption;
- les visiteurs admis au Canada et y demeurant qui ont obtenu une accréditation officielle du gouvernement canadien pour y occuper un poste officiel de diplomate ou d'agent consulaire ou un poste de représentant accrédité du gouvernement canadien ou de dignitaire d'un pays autre que le Canada, des Nations Unies ou d'une de ses agences, ou de tout organisme intergouvernemental dont le Canada est membre, ou les personnes à charge ou les membres du personnel de ces diplomates ou agents consulaires, ou en tant que représentant officiel accrédité au Canada par le gouvernement Canadien ou en tant que membre de Forces Armées d'un pays autre que le Canada ou en tant que civil admis au Canada en vertu de la Loi sur les Forces étrangères présentes au Canada ou en tant que personne à charge de ces derniers.

Remarque : Un étudiant inscrit sous cette catégorie d'exemption, dont le statut change pour des raisons qui échappent à son contrôle au cours de la session universitaire à laquelle il est inscrit, conserve son statut d'exempté du tarif international pendant toute la durée de la session à laquelle il était inscrit au moment où est survenu le changement. Prière de contacter le Bureau du registraire pour connaître les documents officiels exigés;

- les personnes officiellement reconnues par Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada comme ayant été admises au Canada et y demeurant dans le but d'occuper un emploi et les personnes à leur charge;
- les personnes admises au Canada et y demeurant officiellement reconnues par Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada comme réfugiées aux sens de la Convention, ainsi que les personnes à leur charge;
- les personnes demandant le statut de réfugié au Canada et les personnes à leur charge. La demande de statut de réfugié doit avoir été soumise à Citoyenneté et Immigration Canada avant le 1er janvier 1989;
- les personnes participant à un échange parrainé par le gouvernement de l'Ontario.

B) Tarif international

À la suite d'une décision rendue par le gouvernement de l'Ontario, tous les étudiants internationaux non visés par l'exemption et inscrits à un programme de premier cycle, doivent payer le tarif international.

Remarque : Si vous voulez apporter un changement ou une correction au tarif indiqué sur votre dossier, vous devez le faire dans les délais prescrits ci-dessous. Les changements ou corrections apportés après ces dates ne s'appliqueront qu'à la prochaine session ou au prochain trimestre et non rétroactivement aux trimestres ou sessions écoulés.

Dates limites pour la session automne/hiver

- 31 octobre - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète automne/hiver.
- 31 janvier - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour le trimestre d'hiver seulement de la session automne/hiver.

Dates limites pour la session d'été

- 30 juin - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif ordinaire national pour la session complète d'été.
- 16 juillet - date limite de demande de révision de statut au tarif régulier national pour certains cours de la session d'été qui commencent plus tard dans la session (le 2 juillet). Toute question pour connaître quels sont les cours concernés doit être adressée au Bureau du registraire.

Les étudiants internationaux et le Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire (RAMU)

Les étudiants internationaux qui s'inscrivent à des cours à l'Université York sont automatiquement inscrits au Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire (RAMU). Les étudiants peuvent s'abstenir de participer à ce régime à condition d'être couverts par certains régimes préapprouvés. Ils doivent alors en informer directement York International avant de souscrire à un autre régime. Le RAMU offre une protection générale aux étudiants internationaux et aux membres admissibles de leur famille qui les accompagnent en Ontario.

Le coût de ce régime varie en fonction de la durée de la protection et du nombre de personnes à charge. Les primes s'ajoutent aux droits universitaires et sont portées directement au compte des étudiants. Pour obtenir une attestation de leur protection, les étudiants doivent en faire la demande à York International, local 108, Collège Vanier, au début de l'année universitaire. Pour obtenir plus de renseignements, veuillez consulter le site <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkint/uhip/>, appeler le 416-736-5028 ou envoyer un courriel à uhip@yorku.ca.

Modalités de paiement

Les étudiants sont encouragés à acquitter leurs droits et tout autre frais (résidence et plan de repas) par voie électronique, notamment par Internet ou par service bancaire téléphonique. Des renseignements détaillés sont offerts au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Dettes universitaires

Les règlements du Sénat de l'Université York stipulent que l'inscription, la remise des diplômes, les relevés de notes etc. seront suspendus pour tout étudiant ayant une dette envers l'Université.

Les étudiants de premier cycle qui ont une dette impayée de 75 $ ou plus ne pourront s'inscrire aux cours à l'université. De plus, certaines sanctions sont prévues tout au long de l'année, de sorte que les services pédagogiques et administratifs peuvent être suspendus jusqu'au règlement satisfaisant d'une dette en cours. Des renseignements détaillés sont offerts au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Certificats de frais de scolarité et de déduction relative aux études

Conformément aux règlements de Revenu Canada, l'Université fournit tous les ans aux étudiants admissibles des copies électroniques des Certificats de frais de scolarité à la fin février. Les formulaires sont affichés en ligne et les étudiants peuvent les télécharger et imprimer le nombre de copies dont ils ont besoin. Ces formulaires ne sont plus envoyés par la poste aux étudiants. Les reçus sont basés sur l'année civile et non l'année universitaire. Des renseignements détaillés sur ces formulaires sont offerts au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Droits universitaires admissibles

Seuls les droits universitaires directs peuvent donner droit à des crédits d'impôts. Les frais supplémentaires et les frais de matériel ne donnent pas droit à des crédits et ne seront donc pas inclus dans le reçu.

Frais relatifs aux études : mois de cours

Pour avoir droit, quel que soit le mois, au crédit d'impôt pour les frais relatifs aux études, les étudiants doivent être inscrits à un cours pendant au moins une partie du mois.

Pour tout renseignement concernant les modalités complètes d'application de ce règlement financier, consultez le site Web de Revenu Canada (<http://www.cra-arc.gc.ca/>) ou adressez-vous au bureau de Revenu Canada de votre localité.

Résidents du Québec : Normalement, York ne délivre pas le Certificat d'exemption pour les études postsecondaires à temps plein (TP-697V) exigé par Revenu Québec. Les résidents du Québec inscrits à York qui ont besoin de ce formulaire pour remplir leur déclaration d'impôt doivent s'adresser au Bureau des services financiers étudiants de Glendon au 416-487-6701.

Frais d'administration

Les frais de retard sont calculés mensuellement et portés au solde du compte des étudiants. Des renseignements détaillés sont offerts au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/moneymatters/>.

Bourses et prix

Renseignements généraux

Les étudiants de premier cycle peuvent obtenir une aide financière de diverses sources telles les régimes gouvernementaux d'aide financière et les prix décernés par l'Université York et certaines organisations externes. L'Université York offre aux étudiants de premier cycle des bourses d'entrée et d'excellence, des prix et médailles pour récompenser les excellents résultats scolaires. De nombreux autres prix et bourses sont également offerts en reconnaissance de l'engagement communautaire ou du leadership, ou aux étudiants qui ont besoin d'une aide financière grâce aux fonds de l'Université et à des dons de compagnies, associations ou particuliers. Toutes les bourses mentionnées ici peuvent être modifiées sans préavis. Les étudiants trouveront une base de données consultable sur les bourses sur le site Web des services financiers étudiants. Pour de plus amples renseignements concernant ces prix et bourses, s'adresser au Bureau des services financiers étudiants à l'adresse suivante :

Institut d'anglais

L'Institut d'anglais de l'Université York (YUELI) offre une grande variété de cours de langue anglaise à temps plein et à temps partiel qui ne sont pas sanctionnés par des crédits universitaires. Ces cours sont principalement destinés aux étudiants qui désirent améliorer leur compétence en langue anglaise pour pouvoir être admis à l'Université ou pour favoriser leur avancement dans leur carrière. Les programmes de cours comprennent :

Le programme universitaire YUELI. Programme de 7 niveaux offert durant toute l'année pour enseigner la langue anglaise, la pensée critique, la recherche documentaire à l'aide de la technologie et les méthodes de travail nécessaires pour réussir dans les études universitaires de premier ou de deuxième et troisième cycles dans une université de langue anglaise. La réussite au Niveau 6 avec mention Très Bien, Bien ou

Passable (selon la faculté ou le programme recherché) satisfait à l'exigence en langue anglaise pour la plupart des programmes de premier, deuxième et troisième cycles.

Le programme Pré-MBA. Ce programme de 8 semaines, offert deux fois par an, prépare les étudiants qui ont déjà obtenu un diplôme de premier cycle à bien réussir dans un programme de MBA d'une université de langue anglaise d'Amérique du Nord.

Les programmes YUELI à temps partiel. Ces programmes (généralement sur deux soirs par semaine pendant sept semaines) sont orientés principalement sur des aspects précis de la langue anglaise tels que le parler, la prononciation et la rédaction commerciale.

Le programme d'été de langue anglaise. Un programme intensif spécial de quatre semaines, offert en août, orienté vers le parler et l'écoute de la langue anglaise. Chaque cours comporte des visites et des voyages culturels.

Des programmes à la carte. Ces programmes sont adaptés aux besoins de groupes précis avec des objectifs professionnels ou d'apprentissage particuliers. Ils sont préparés en collaboration avec des membres de la faculté. Ils peuvent être offerts sur le campus de l'Université ou ailleurs au Canada et à l'étranger, ou par téléenseignement. Il existe également des cours particuliers.

Institut de recherches sociales (IRS)

Les étudiants de premier cycle peuvent s'adresser à l'Institut de recherches sociales pour obtenir des conseils et de l'aide, le plus souvent gratuitement, principalement pour leurs recherches en sciences sociales, mais également en sciences physiques et biologiques.

L'Institut abrite la plus grande unité de recherches par enquêtes dans les universités canadiennes, et le personnel de son centre de recherches par enquêtes effectue toutes les étapes d'une recherche avec enquête, depuis la conception d'un questionnaire et de l'échantillonnage, à la collecte et préparation des données pour enregistrement automatique, jusqu'à l'analyse des statistiques et la rédaction des rapports. Le service d'aide pour les statistiques de l'Institut (SCS) aide ses clients dans la conception de leurs recherches, la préparation de leur échantillonnage, la conception de questionnaires, le traitement informatique des données et l'analyse des statistiques. Le service organise également des mini-cours d'analyse statistique, de méthodologie de la recherche, de formation aux logiciels pour les statistiques (notamment SAS et SPSS). Ces cours sont offerts durant les sessions d'automne, hiver et printemps, chaque année.

Les ateliers offerts par l'Institut chaque printemps sur les méthodes de recherche sociales présentent une formation courte sur la conception de questionnaires, l'échantillonnage, l'utilisation de groupes types pour les recherches sociales, l'analyse qualitative des données, les sondages en ligne et l'analyse des données d'enquête.

Les données conservées par l'IRS permettent d'avoir accès aux résultats d'études effectuées par l'Institut lui-même, ainsi qu'aux résultats des plus grandes enquêtes canadiennes. Les archives permettent également d'accéder aux statistiques officielles telles que les données globales du recensement et données publiques tirées de Recensement du Canada.

Les étudiants de York sont invités à communiquer avec l'Institut pour obtenir de l'aide dans n'importe lequel de ces domaines ou pour se renseigner sur les cours prévus.

 WRIT 3988 3.00 Rédaction et recherche efficaces
 WRIT 3989 3.00 Rédaction en milieu de travail

Centre de perfectionnement en rédaction

Le Centre de perfectionnement en rédaction offre des séances de tutorat individuel et de groupe conçues pour aider les étudiants à apprendre à rédiger de façon indépendante et efficace, autant à titre d'étudiants que de professionnels. Les séances individuelles et de groupe sont fondées sur les études universitaires des étudiants, habituellement sous forme de brouillons ou d'essais, ou d'autres travaux de rédaction en cours. Tous les étudiants de la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles peuvent s'inscrire aux séances du centre à n'importe quelle étape de leurs travaux de rédaction et prendre rendez-vous afin de recevoir de l'aide individuelle pour leurs travaux écrits dispensée par des instructeurs chevronnés. Des étudiants d'autres facultés peuvent aussi utiliser le centre (visiter le site Web pour tout renseignement sur le Département de rédaction). Les rendez-vous, offerts le jour du lundi au samedi et en soirée du lundi au jeudi, sont d'une durée de quinze minutes. Le centre offre aussi régulièrement des ateliers de groupe sur différents sujets et diverses techniques touchant la rédaction de travaux universitaires. Pour tout complément d'information, prière de communiquer avec le Département de rédaction au 416-736-5134.

Centre de langues multimédia

Le Centre de langues multimédia de la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles est principalement destiné aux étudiants du Département de français et du Département de langues, littératures et linguistique. Pour tout renseignement, contactez le laboratoire de langues, S117 Ross, 416-736-5197.

Méthodes d'apprentissage

Le programme de méthodes d'apprentissage du Centre d'orientation et de consultation aide les étudiants à améliorer leurs capacités d'étude et propose des ateliers réguliers conçus pour améliorer les habitudes d'études, les compétences organisationnelles et les stratégies d'apprentissage. Pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez voir la section « Services aux étudiants » ci-dessous.

Bibliothèques

Les cinq bibliothèques de York procurent une aide essentielle pour les activités d'enseignement, d'apprentissage et de recherche de York. La plus grande de nos bibliothèques est la bibliothèque Scott qui compte les principales collections dans le domaine des humanités, des sciences sociales et des beaux-arts. Elle abrite aussi les collections spéciales des archives de Clara Thomas, la cartothèque ainsi que la sonothèque-cinéma. En outre, la bibliothèque commerciale Peter F. Bronfman, la bibliothèque Steacie de sciences et de génie, et la bibliothèque de droit sont toutes sur le campus Keele. La bibliothèque Leslie Frost offre, au campus Glendon, les services de soutien des programmes d'études et de la recherche en français et en anglais. Ces bibliothèques renferment en tout plus de six millions et demi de documents, livres, périodiques imprimés, thèses, documents d'archives, microformes, cartes, films, vidéos, CDs et DVDs, et même un squelette.

Des bibliothécaires professionnels sont à la disposition des étudiants pour les aider dans leurs recherches. Cette aide peut se faire sur place, par courriel, par téléphone ou en direct par conversation en temps réel. Des bibliothécaires proposent une formation pour savoir comment utiliser les bibliothèques dans le cadre de certains cours et une aide plus ponctuelle dans des ateliers occasionnels pour les étudiants qui souhaitent s'informer. Ces cours introduisent les étudiants à la façon de faire une recherche par sujet, de trouver des ouvrages et des articles de revues scientifiques ou spécialisées et du matériel sur l'Internet et d'évaluer les renseignements et de les utiliser de façon éthique. Les étudiants qui ont la possibilité de participer à l'un de ces ateliers sur la culture de l'information sont mieux équipés pour réussir leurs études universitaires et deviennent des apprenants plus actifs dans les cours qu'ils suivent et au-delà.

Les bibliothèques ont rendu leurs collections et leurs services accessibles par Internet. Les collections en ligne des bibliothèques sont accessibles 24 heures sur 24 au <http://www.library.yorku.ca>. Notre site ouvre la porte à plus de 40 000 revues spécialisées intégrales en version électronique ainsi qu'à d'autres ressources électroniques, dont des livres électroniques, encyclopédies, dictionnaires, système de découverte d'un sujet, documents gouvernementaux, bases de données et collections d'images. La bibliothèque offre également RefWorks®, le premier programme de gestion de citations en ligne. Étudiants et chercheurs peuvent utiliser des ressources électroniques en ligne avec leur Carte UY (ou autres cartes valides de bibliothèque), de chez eux ou de n'importe quel point à l'extérieur de la bibliothèque. Pour obtenir de plus amples renseignements sur la façon d'accéder à distance aux ressources électroniques, consulter <http://www.library.yorku.ca/ccm/Home/eResources/RemoteAccess.htm>.

De plus, nos collections imprimées demeurent des ressources de recherches indispensables. Étant donné que les bibliothèques sont là pour répondre aux besoins en information et en recherche de toute l'Université York, les règlements concernant le prêt sont essentiels pour assurer un juste accès aux collections, aux services et aux installations. Ces règlements touchent la durée des prêts, les restrictions sur le prêt de certains documents, les droits et les responsabilités de l'emprunteur, et les conditions d'accès aux bibliothèques et à leurs services. Pour continuer à utiliser ces services, l'emprunteur se doit de respecter les règlements de la bibliothèque. Pour de plus amples renseignements, consulter <http://www.library.yorku.ca/Home/About/Policies/LendingCode.htm>.

Les bibliothèques incluent divers espaces d'études. Les aires meublées, dont des salles d'études pour 30 personnes, peuvent accueillir des groupes d'étudiants. Les étudiants de premier, deuxième et troisième cycles peuvent également utiliser des salles d'études silencieuses. En plus des ressources disponibles en divers formats pour les étudiants souffrant d'une invalidité, nous avons un laboratoire sans rendez-vous doté d'un équipement adapté. Les étudiants peuvent emprunter des ordinateurs portables aux fins d'utilisation dans la bibliothèque ou utiliser un des quelque 350 ordinateurs de bureau, dont la plupart sont équipés de logiciels de traitement de texte, tableur et diaporama. Nos bibliothèques ouvrent tôt le matin et ferment en fin de soirée la plupart des jours et la Bibliothèque Scott reste ouverte pour l'étude jusqu'à une heure du matin la plupart des jours de fin de semaine (vérifiez les heures d'ouverture au <http://www.library.yorku.ca/ccm/Home/Hours/>).

Nous vous invitons aux bibliothèques et vous encourageons à vous y rendre souvent, que ce soit pour aller lire dans un isolat, pour discuter avec des camarades de classe dans une salle d'études ou pour interroger la base de données de notre site Web. Les bibliothécaires et autres membres du personnel de la bibliothèque sont là pour vous aider à tirer le plus grand parti possible des bibliothèques. Alors, n'hésitez pas à demander de l'aide!

Services aux étudiants

Galerie d'art de l'Université York (GAUY)

La Galerie d'art de l'Université York est une galerie recevant une subvention publique, spécialisée dans l'exposition d'œuvres professionnelles et contemporaines, d'art canadien et international. Située sur le campus Keele, la galerie offre des expositions, un studio pour les artistes de l'université et des programmes hors site et éducatifs.

En tant que galerie d'art universitaire de premier plan, la GAUY a pour mission d'enrichir l'environnement culturel et intellectuel de l'Université York. Pour remplir ce mandat, elle organise des stages de recherche et des programmes travail-études pour les étudiants de York, et publie, les catalogues de différentes expositions offerts à la galerie.

La galerie est ouverte de septembre à juin, les lundi, mardi, jeudi et vendredi de 10 h à 16 h; le mercredi de 10 h à 20 h; le dimanche de 12 h à 17 h. Elle est maintenant située au 83 York Boulevard, Accolade Est.

Centre de placement et d'orientation professionnelle

Il n'en tient qu'à vous de tracer votre cheminement de carrière. Le Centre de placement propose des programmes et services pour vous aider tout au long de vos études universitaires à découvrir des perspectives de carrière; à dénicher l'emploi que vous convoitez, à acquérir l'expérience et les compétences requises pour un poste et à explorer des occasions de perfectionnement. Le Centre de placement a votre succès à cœur. Que vous soyez un étudiant de première année, un récent diplômé ou quelque part entre les deux, vous pouvez acquérir la confiance et les compétences pour assurer votre avenir. Visitez- nous au bureau 202, Collège McLaughlin ou en ligne au <http://www.yorku.ca/careers/> ou communiquez avec nous par tél. au 416-736-5351 ou par courriel à career@yorku.ca.

Clubs, organismes et organisations

De nombreux clubs, organismes et organisations offrent des activités aux communautés du campus Keele. Il est dans l'intérêt de ces organisations et organismes de s'inscrire au Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD). Les groupes inscrits peuvent demander l'utilisation des locaux ou des installations de l'Université dans les limites des disponibilités et demander une aide financière auprès de la Fédération des étudiants de York et auprès de différents services de l'Université. Les formulaires d'inscription et divers renseignements sur les clubs et autres organismes ou organisations sont disponibles au S172, Édifice Ross, Tél. : 416-736-5144. Les clubs et organisations à Glendon peuvent s'inscrire auprès de l'Association des étudiant(e)s du collège Glendon, <http://www.gcsu-aecg.ca>, 416-736-2100, poste 88230.

Garderie coopérative

La Garderie coopérative de l'Université York, située dans la résidence Atkinson au campus Keele, est au service de la communauté de York depuis 39 ans. Elle a un permis pour accueillir 119 enfants, de 6 semaines à 10 ans.

Depuis le 1er janvier 2009, les tarifs vont de 479 $ à 1 098 $ par mois, et une heure de participation par semaine et par enfant est demandée. La garderie a conclu une entente d'achat de services avec la ville de Toronto lui permettant d'accepter des enfants subventionnés. La priorité va aux enfants des étudiants et des employés et professeurs de l'université, puis aux enfants de la communauté avoisinante.

Un personnel qualifié s'occupe des enfants qui bénéficient de terrains de jeux, de délicieux repas préparés sur place et d'un programme facultatif d'arts martiaux.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, contactez la garderie par téléphone au 416-736-5190, par courriel à daycare@yorku.ca, ou par la poste à :

Centre de consultation et de services aux personnes handicapées

À l'été 2007, le vice-président adjoint (Student Community Development) et les directeurs des unités offrant des services de consultation et des services aux personnes handicapées ont lancé une initiative afin d'aligner et d'organiser les services dans le but de mieux servir les étudiants de l'Université York.

À compter du printemps 2009, nous nous attendons à ce que tous les services de consultation et les services aux personnes handicapées soient regroupés au sein d'une seule organisation à l'Université York, soit les Services de consultation et services aux personnes handicapées. Ces services proposent des programmes et services antérieurement dispensés par : le Centre d'orientation et de consultation, c.-à-d. le Service de consultation personnelle, le Programme d'aide à l'apprentissage, le Programme pour les troubles d'apprentissage, le Programme pour les troubles mentaux, le Centre de consultation psychologique d'Atkinson, le Bureau des services aux personnes handicapées et le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle de Glendon. Les renseignements ci-dessous étaient à jour au moment d'aller sous presse, mais pourraient changer au cours de la transition vers une seule organisation.

Vision

Le Centre de consultation et de services aux personnes handicapées de l'Université York fournit un environnement professionnel et compréhensif où tous les étudiants de York ont accès à une gamme de services favorisant leur réussite universitaire. Nous sommes déterminés à suivre un modèle coopératif et exemplaire qui reflète une prestation de services novatrice, fondée sur la recherche.

Services offerts

Service de consultation personnelle

Les étudiants de York sont invités à discuter de leurs préoccupations personnelles avec un conseiller. Pour fixer un rendez-vous, passez au Centre de services aux étudiants Bennett, bureau N110, entre 9 h et 14 h 30 h, du lundi au vendredi, ou téléphonez au 416-736-5297. Toutes les entrevues sont confidentielles. Nous proposons aussi des groupes et ateliers sur une grande variété de thèmes. On y enseigne, entre autres, des techniques d'entraînement à l'affirmation de soi, l'art de faire des présentations et de parler en public, l'alimentation, l'image corporelle, la maîtrise de la colère, la réalisation des objectifs, la gestion du stress, la prise de conscience, le développement de l'estime de soi et de la confiance en soi ainsi que des techniques pour apprendre à ne plus procrastiner. Ces ateliers sont offerts pendant les sessions d'automne et d'hiver en fonction des demandes. Vérifier le site Web (<http://www.yorku.ca/cdc/>) des Services de consultation et services aux personnes handicapées (CDS) et les annonces dans le journal étudiant The Excalibur au début de septembre et de janvier pour savoir quels groupes sont offerts et comment vous inscrire.

Aide à l'apprentissage

Handicaps physiques, troubles d'apprentissage et troubles mentaux

Les Services de consultation et services aux personnes handicapées (CDS) proposent une gamme de services spécialisés aux étudiants qui ont des handicaps physiques, des troubles d'apprentissage ou des troubles mentaux. On pourra y obtenir les détails des accommodations scolaires, des conseils sur les cours et programmes scolaires, une analyse des aptitudes psychopédagogiques, des services de consultation, des ateliers sur les méthodes d'étude, des services de mentorat, ainsi qu'une consultation sur la défense des droits et d'autres services, suivant les besoins.

Centre de consultation communautaire de santé mentale

Les membres de la communauté universitaire peuvent s'adresser au personnel des Services de consultation et services aux personnes handicapées pour toute question concernant la vie sociale du campus. Les employés seront heureux de mettre sur pied de nouveaux programmes pour répondre aux besoins de la communauté.

Santé et bien-être

Le Centre de santé et bien-être de l'Université est situé au Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development. Les étudiants peuvent prendre rendez-vous avec l'éducateur qui peut les aiguiller vers des services de soins de santé et répondre à leurs questions sur les relations sexuelles saines, les relations humaines saines, la contraception, la désaccoutumance du tabac, l'abus d'alcool et de drogues ou tout autre aspect de la santé. Tous les services sont gratuits et confidentiels. En outre, une équipe d'étudiants en éducation de la santé fait des présentations, planifie des événements de sensibilisation et organise des programmes comme Wellness Wednesday et Mellow Mondays. Pour de plus amples renseignements sur les services de santé offerts par York, consultez le site <http://www.yorku.ca/healthed/>, envoyez un courriel à healthed@yorku.ca ou appelez le 416-736-5196.

Centre des droits de la personne

Bienvenue au Centre des droits de la personne de l'Université York. Le mandat du centre consiste à fournir un processus indépendant, impartial et confidentiel par lequel les étudiants, employés et professeurs de la communauté de York peuvent obtenir une résolution juste et équitable de leurs plaintes envers l'Université York en ce qui a trait aux droits de la personne. Ces plaintes peuvent porter sur :

- une prétendue iniquité et/ou injustice dans un processus, l'application d'un processus ou l'absence d'un processus, tel que le décrivent les politiques, procédures, règles ou directives, et fondée sur un motif de distinction illicite selon le Code des droits de la personne de l'Ontario (le Code); ou
- une prétendue discrimination et/ou un harcèlement, conformément aux définitions du Code.

Le centre aide les personnes et les groupes à traiter et à régler les allégations de discrimination ou de harcèlement, conformément aux définitions du Code. Lorsque des telles allégations sont soulevées, une enquête est menée de façon informelle dans le but de résoudre la situation rapidement et efficacement entre les parties concernées. Lorsque le Centre ne peut résoudre une plainte de façon informelle, le cas fait l'objet d'une enquête conformément aux politiques, pratiques et ententes établies par l'Université.

Le centre sert de dépôt d'information et de centre de conservation des ressources sur les enjeux concernant les droits de la personne. Le personnel fournit des renseignements fiables, des références et des conseils à tous les secteurs de la collectivité.

Le centre prône l'adhérence à l'esprit et à la lettre des dispositions du Code ainsi qu'à celles de toutes les politiques de l'Université York sur les droits de la personne. Par conséquent, il n'agit pas à titre de défenseur du plaignant, ni d'apologiste auprès du défendeur. S'il est prouvé que les allégations du plaignant sont fondées, le centre devra faire les recommandations appropriées pour résoudre le problème. Dans des cas exceptionnels, le centre peut aider une personne à trouver une résolution appropriée en raison de ses circonstances particulières. Toutefois, dans ce cas, les actions du centre consisteront à aiguiller la personne ou à retenir les services d'un professionnel sur le campus ou à l'extérieur.

Le centre joue un rôle considérable en matière d'éducation sur les droits de la personne en favorisant une culture d'équité et de respect mutuel et en menant des initiatives éducationnelles. Dans le cadre de son rôle éducationnel, le centre assure la liaison avec les groupes, comités, associations et organisations sur les droits de la personne au sein de l'Université et de la collectivité, comme lui permet ses ressources, afin de s'informer sur les enjeux émergents et les pratiques exemplaires.

Le Centre des droits de la personne est situé dans l'Édifice Ross Sud, bureau S327. Il est ouvert tous les jours de 9 h à 17 h et des arrangements peuvent être pris pour obtenir un rendez-vous en dehors des heures de bureau. Vous pouvez joindre le Centre par téléphone au 416-736-5682, TTY 416-650-8023 ou par courriel à rights@yorku.ca.

Programme d'aide de vie indépendante/Marche des dix sous de l'Ontario

La Marche des dix sous/Programme d'aide de vie indépendante de York offre une aide non médicale aux étudiants et au personnel enseignant et administratif de l'Université York qui ont une déficience physique permanente. Des services auxiliaires sont disponibles sur réservation. De l'aide, sur demande, est offerte dans les situations d'urgence, 24 heures sur 24, chaque jour de l'année scolaire. Un service complet est fourni de 6 h à 1 h. Les services d'urgence sont disponibles de 1 h à 6 h. Le service comprend de l'aide pour des tâches quotidiennes comme l'hygiène personnelle, les repas, l'entretien ménager, les déplacements, le coucher et le lever ainsi que toutes autres tâches générales.

Le service est offert à la population étudiante, aux membres du personnel et au corps enseignant du campus Keele qui ont une déficience physique permanente. Les personnes qui font une demande d'aide devront accepter d'organiser et de diriger elles-mêmes les services qui leur seront prodigués. Toutes les demandes sont étudiées par le comité consultatif de La Marche des dix sous de York.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, communiquez avec le Bureau de la Marche des dix sous de l'Ontario/aide de vie indépendante au N112, Édifice Ross, Tél. 416-736-5167, ou avec le Bureau des services aux personnes handicapées, Tél. 416-736-5140, courriel omodyu@yorku.ca.

Activités religieuses

L'Université York offre un environnement inter-religieux unique sur le campus. Le Conseil inter-religieux fournit un forum où l'harmonie et la bonne volonté permettent aux diverses communautés religieuses de York d'aborder leurs préoccupations communes et de s'entraider.

Le Conseil inter-religieux de York est administré et soutenu par le Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD), qui consacre du personnel et des ressources pour assurer l'exploitation efficace et harmonieuse du Conseil inter-religieux, en vue de rehausser l'expérience spirituelle des étudiants de York. La personne qui dirige le Conseil inter-religieux ainsi que les autres membres peuvent être contactés par l'intermédiaire du SC&LD, Édifice Ross, bureau S172, 416-736-5144.

Le Centre religieux Scott a une chapelle confortable pour tenir des services religieux et une salle de méditation paisible et favorable à l'introspection ou à la prière. Il met aussi un bureau à la disposition des divers clubs religieux des étudiants.

Pour réserver la chapelle sur une base régulière ou pour une manifestation spéciale, prière de s'adresser au SC&LD (416-736-5144) du premier septembre au 30 avril et au Centre des conférences de York (416-736-5020) du premier mai au 31 août. On accède au Centre Scott par le rez-de-chaussée de Central Square et, à l'extérieur, par le premier étage, entre la Bibliothèque Scott et l'Édifice Ross.

Pour tout renseignement complémentaire, consultez notre site Web au <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/organizations/>.

Services de sécurité, de stationnement et de transport

Service de sécurité de l'Université York

Le Service de sécurité de l'Université York est situé au Centre William Small, bureau 228, sur le campus Keele, et dans la serre du campus Glendon. Il est doté d'un personnel de sécurité dévoué, qui se concentre sur la prestation de services de sécurité de qualité à l'ensemble de notre communauté. Il s'agit d'un service communautaire, ce qui signifie que nous cherchons à former des partenariats avec des intervenants de la collectivité et fournissons des solutions globales aux problèmes de sécurité sur nos campus, de façon à répondre aux besoins de la communauté vaste et diversifiée que nous servons. Le Service de sécurité est engagé à fournir des services rapides, professionnels et attentifs, en traitant tout le monde avec respect, dignité et équité.

Le Service de sécurité de l'Université York est composé de cinq principales sections opérationnelles : la patrouille, les relations inter-campus goSAFE, les préparatifs d'urgence et le CCTV et le contrôle des accès. Chaque groupe fait équipe avec divers groupes communautaires ou agences externes pour répondre à un besoin précis de la communauté, comme la patrouille proactive, le service réactif, les interventions d'urgence, la planification proactive d'événements, la prévention du crime, les programmes de sécurité, les analyses statistiques, les relations externes/la liaison et les enquêtes sur les plaintes et activités criminelles. Le Service de sécurité a conclu des partenariats avec la communauté universitaire, ainsi qu'avec des agences et organisations externes afin de fournir un service plus efficace et efficient à notre communauté.

La sécurité et la sûreté du campus nécessitent la coopération et le soutien de toute la communauté. Aussi, le Service de sécurité encourage la communauté à faire preuve de prudence et à signaler immédiatement toute activité suspecte.

Le Centre de contrôle de la sécurité est ouvert 24 heures sur 24, 365 jours par année. Pour tout renseignement relatif à la sécurité, veuillez communiquer avec le Service de sécurité au 416-650-8000, ou le poste 58000. En cas d'urgence, composez le 416-736-5333, ou le poste 33333.

Urgences

Composez le 416-736-5333, ou poste 33333 :

- si vous remarquez des personnes ou situations suspectes
- pour obtenir les premiers soins lors d'incidents ne constituant pas un danger de mort
- lorsqu'un crime, tel un vol, a été commis
- en présence d'un danger potentiel
- en cas de crimes haineux

Situations non urgentes et demandes de renseignements

Composez le 416-650-8000, ou poste 58000 :

- accès à un édifice ou à une salle
- inondations et renversements mineurs
- renseignements d'ordre général sur la sécurité
- clés perdues ou volées
- fenêtre cassée, mur endommagé ou graffiti

Appelez le 911 :

Lors d'une situation urgente constituant un danger de mort, appelez directement le 911

Lorsqu'une situation met la vie d'une personne en danger ou porte atteinte à la propriété, qu'il s'agisse d'une urgence médicale, d'un incendie ou d'un acte criminel, veuillez composer le 911 puis aviser le Service de sécurité au 416-736-5333, ou poste 33333. Le Service de sécurité de York accueille les véhicules d'urgence et les dirige directement sur les lieux de l'incident afin d'éviter que les préposés ne perdent leur temps à chercher un édifice ou un emplacement.

Centre de contrôle de la sécurité

Situé au Centre William Small, bureau 228, le Centre de contrôle de la sécurité est ouvert 24 heures sur 24, 365 jours par année. Il est doté d'un centre de déploiement, d'un système de télévision en circuit fermé (CCTV), d'un système de surveillance d'alarme et d'une station de premiers soins. Ce centre assure que les services de sécurité et d'intervention d'urgence appropriés sont disponibles en tout temps pour les communautés étudiantes des campus Keele et Glendon.

Agents de sécurité

Les agents de sécurité sont des professionnels en service à la clientèle formés en techniques d'intervention d'urgence non violente, de prévention du crime, d'intervention d'urgence, de premiers soins, de réanimation cardio-respiratoire ou à l'aide d'un défibrillateur automatique externe, ainsi que plusieurs autres techniques de sécurité pertinentes. Tout en maintenant d'étroites relations de travail avec les Services de police de Toronto, ils jouent un rôle différent. Leurs principales responsabilités consistent à fournir des services de sécurité communautaire, de surveillance visuelle proactive, d'intervention médicale, ainsi qu'une foule d'autres services tels qu'assister les membres de la communauté universitaire, intervenir en cas d'alarme ou de déclaration de crime, rédiger des rapports et mener des enquêtes. Des agents en uniforme patrouillent les lieux à pied, à bord de véhicules et sur des vélos de montagne. Ils connaissent très bien les règlements, terrains, départements et services de l'Université York.

Relations inter-campus

Les agents de relation inter-campus forment un service de soutien au sein des Services de sécurité. Ils initient et entretiennent des liens de communication proactifs en matière de sécurité et de sûreté avec les groupes communautaires, organisateurs d'activités, employés administratifs et agents de liaison universitaires. Ils assurent la sécurité des événements, interviennent en cas d'incidents et agissent à titre d'agents de liaison communautaire pour gérer les questions de sécurité des événements. Leur objectif consiste à fournir un service de prévention, d'intervention d'urgence non violente, d'allègement des conflits, d'information et de préparation. Ces agents informent les membres de la communauté universitaire sur les politiques, activités et réalisations des départements, et proposent des conseils de sécurité personnelle.

Services de sécurité de l'Université York – Dans les coulisses

Enquêtes

Prévention du crime

Une partie du mandat des Services de sécurité consiste à compiler et à analyser les données statistiques afin de déployer proactivement les patrouilles sur les campus et d'élaborer des programmes et services de prévention du crime, dans le but d'éduquer les membres de la communauté universitaire. Car l'éducation rend les gens plus intolérants aux situations pouvant provoquer et susciter des comportements criminels. Ce service favorise également la prévention du crime par l'aménagement du milieu (PCAM) afin de rendre les crimes plus difficiles à commettre, plus risqués et moins lucratifs. Le programme PCAM propose des façons de dissuader les criminels en modifiant l'aménagement des édifices et places publiques.

Préparatifs d'urgence

Les Services de sécurité de York perfectionnent constamment son plan d'intervention en cas d'urgence, afin de protéger la vie et la propriété de la communauté universitaire, de prévenir les blessures et réduire l'impact négatif que les situations d'urgence peuvent avoir sur la communauté.

Assistance médicale

Les Services de sécurité de York fournissent une assistance médicale 24 heures sur 24 aux personnes malades ou blessées. Le centre de déploiement du contrôle de la sécurité, à la fine pointe de la technologie, permet d'assurer que les services d'urgence appropriés sont dépêchés et escortés sur les lieux afin de garantir une intervention rapide et efficace en cas d'urgence.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, visitez notre site Web au <http://www.yorku.ca/security/>.

goSAFE

L'objectif principal du programme goSAFE consiste à permettre aux étudiants, professeurs et employés de se déplacer en toute sécurité lorsqu'il fait noir. Des agents de sécurité rencontrent les gens aux arrêts d'autobus, sur les stationnements, aux portes des édifices et résidences situés sur le campus, et les accompagnent en toute sécurité à leur destination ou à une des stations goSAFE du campus. Les deux routes du campus, la route nord et la route sud, présentent onze points d'embarquement et de débarquement. Ce service de sécurité gratuit est offert à la communauté de York par les Services de sécurité, SSST. Le service est offert tous les jours pendant l'année universitaire (septembre à avril) de 18 h à 2 h, et pendant les mois d'été (mai à août) de 20 h à 2 h.

Pour plus de renseignements, appelez le Service d'escorte de sécurité étudiante de York au 416-736-5454 ou le poste 55454 ou consultez notre site <http://www.yorku.ca/gosafe/>.

Objets perdus

Le Bureau des objets perdus est situé au S107 Ross, sur le campus Keele, et est ouvert de 11 h à 15 h du lundi au vendredi et de 17 h à 19 h les mercredis et jeudis. Vous pouvez aussi nous joindre par courriel au lost@yorku.ca. Si vous communiquez avec nous par téléphone ou courriel, veuillez décrire l'objet perdu, donner la date et l'heure ou vous l'avez vu la dernière fois, votre nom et un numéro de téléphone ou une adresse électronique ou l'on peut vous joindre. Nous gardons les articles rapportés pendant 30 jours seulement. Sur le campus Glendon, il faut s'adresser au Service de sécurité et de stationnement, situé dans l'Édifice Greenhouse, ou appeler le 416-487-6808.

Nous regrettons de ne pouvoir accepter aucune responsabilité pour les objets personnels laissés sans surveillance sur les campus et dans les édifices.

Pour de plus amples renseignements, consultez notre site au <http://www.yorku.ca/gosafe/lostfound.html>, ou appelez le 416-736-2100, poste 33369.

Services de stationnement

Un nombre limité de permis de stationnement est offert à tous les membres de la communauté universitaire. Les premiers arrivés seront les premiers servis et nous vous conseillons d'acheter le vôtre rapidement pour vous assurer d'en obtenir un et pour éviter les attentes.

Assurez-vous que votre formulaire de demande est dûment rempli. Les demandes incomplètes entraîneront des retards de traitement. Pour acheter un permis de stationnement, vous devez fournir une preuve de propriété ou d'enregistrement du véhicule (une photocopie recto-verso du certificat suffira pour les demandes soumises par la poste, par télécopieur et en personne.) Si le conducteur n'est pas le propriétaire du véhicule, le propriétaire du véhicule doit également signer le formulaire.

Nous ne pouvons émettre de permis aux personnes qui n'ont pas acquitté leurs contraventions. Pour obtenir des renseignements sur des contraventions non réglées, appelez le 416-736-5705, si vous êtes sur le campus Keele, ou le 416-487-6788 si vous êtes sur le campus Glendon et demandez le préposé aux contraventions.

Vous pouvez payer votre permis en espèces, par chèque, avec une carte de débit ou une carte de crédit Visa, MasterCard ou AMEX. Pour éviter les files d'attente, vous pouvez l'envoyer par la poste ou par télécopieur.

Les demandes de renouvellement peuvent être traitées en ligne. Consultez notre site au <http://www.yorku.ca/parking/> pour obtenir plus de renseignements.

Services de transport

Covoiturage

Le covoiturage est un moyen simple qui permet aux étudiants et aux employés d'économiser des milliers de dollars sur le coût de l'essence, de l'entretien et du stationnement et une solution intéressante pour ceux qui habitent loin de l'université et n'ont pas facilement accès aux transports en commun. Pour obtenir plus de renseignements sur le covoiturage ou vous inscrire à un service gratuit de covoiturage, consultez le site Web de Smart Commute North York, Vaughan, au <http://www.smartcommuteNTV.ca>. Posséder et conduire un véhicule coûte en moyenne 9 000 $ par an. Le covoiturage peut vous faire économiser beaucoup d'argent et vous aider à réduire la densité de la circulation, à améliorer la qualité de l'air et à conserver de l'énergie.

Sports et loisirs

L'Université York, par l'entremise de son département de kinésiologie et des sciences de la santé, propose aux étudiants des activités sportives et récréatives qui couvrent une vaste gamme d'activités physiques. Chacun peut choisir le programme d'activité physique, de développement personnel, d'encadrement qui lui convient en fonction de sa préparation, de ses compétences et de ses aspirations.

Les étudiants peuvent non seulement participer à des activités sportives ou récréatives organisées par l'Université mais également partager des responsabilités dans l'organisation et le déroulement de programmes, soit à titre bénévole, soit dans le cadre d'un stage travail-études ou d'un emploi à temps partiel. L'Université encourage également les étudiants à participer aux activités organisées sur les campus au cours de l'année par les départements de sports et loisirs.

Rencontres sportives inter-universitaires

Le programme de rencontres sportives inter-universitaires s'inscrit pleinement dans la mission éducative de l'Université York en encourageant l'épanouissement individuel qui est au cœur de sa mission universitaire. Tous les étudiants à temps plein sont encouragés à participer aux 23 équipes de sports inter-universitaires que possède le service des sports à York. Les programmes de sports développent les compétences des athlètes étudiants grâce à un encadrement de qualité et un entraînement rigoureux.

Une tradition prestigieuse et en plein essor. Depuis plus de 40 ans. Les étudiants-athlètes de l'Université York, ont marqué la scène du sport au Canada. Ces équipes, dont de nombreux membres, athlètes et entraîneurs, ont également appartenu à des équipes canadiennes de niveau national, ont remporté des titres provinciaux et nationaux et portent haut le flambeau de l'Université York.

Entraîneurs. Les entraîneurs de York sont des professionnels hautement qualifiés et dévoués et la plupart d'entre eux font partie du personnel permanent de l'Université. Nombreux sont ceux qui, experts reconnus dans leur profession, occupent également des postes dans des organismes sportifs nationaux. À York, ils ont à cœur d'aider les athlètes étudiants à atteindre leur plein potentiel dans les compétitions comme dans les salles de cours.

Équipes inter-universitaires. Les équipes sportives de l'Université York participent à des compétitions universitaires du plus haut niveau. En Ontario, toutes les universités concourent entre elles dans tous les sports pour les championnats universitaires ontariens de « l'Ontario University Athletics – (OUA) ». Sur le plan national, les équipes de York concourent dans la « Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS) ».

Équipes masculines: badminton, basketball, cross-country, football, hockey sur glace, soccer, natation, ski de fond, tennis, athlétisme, volleyball et water polo.

Équipes féminines: badminton, basketball, cross-country, hockey sur gazon, hockey sur glace, rugby, soccer, natation, tennis, athlétisme, volleyball et water polo.

Loisirs

Aucune formation ne serait complète sans une participation active à des activités physiques. Le programme d'activités de loisirs de York permet à tous les membres de la collectivité de participer à une vaste gamme d'activités, dont des tournois internes, des cours de conditionnement physique, des clubs de sport et autres activités amicales. On recherche avant tout à répondre aux besoins et préférences des individus, chacun selon ses capacités. Les étudiants réguliers de York peuvent participer sans aucun frais – dans la mesure des places disponibles – à la plupart des programmes proposés.

Tournois internes. Un grand nombre d'activités sportives individuelles et d'équipes sont proposées, soit pour le simple plaisir, soit dans le cadre de tournois. 44 tournois et ligues sportives incluant un tournoi de basketball trois-sur-trois et un tournoi de Volleyball de nuit. Participez à une équipe de votre collègue ou formez votre équipe avec un groupe d'amis de l'Université.

Cours de conditionnement physique et de style de vie. Les enthousiastes du conditionnement physique ont plus de 50 classes par semaine à leur disposition. On offre notamment différents niveaux de cours de « step », de conditionnement physique complet, de boxe cardio, de Hi/lo etc. Ceux qui préfèrent d'autres types d'exercices peuvent suivre des cours d'arts martiaux, de danse, de natation, de relaxation, de tennis, de patinage et d'escrime (avec un supplément financier).

Clubs sportifs. Ceux et celles qui aimeraient participer, avec d'autres membres de la collectivité de York, à des activités ou à des sports qui ne font pas partie des sports inter-universitaires ou intra-muros, peuvent adhérer à un club de sport pour pratiquer par exemple le squash, le ping-pong, le curling et bien d'autres sports encore.

Loisirs à la carte. Ceux et celles qui aiment nager, courir, patiner, jouer au tennis ou au squash, lever des poids et haltères etc. peuvent profiter des nombreuses installations et possibilités qu'offre l'Université. Le Centre de conditionnement physique du Pavillon Tait McKenzie, avec son équipement à la fine pointe du progrès, met par exemple à la disposition des usagers des équipements et des machines ultra modernes, et un personnel qualifié est là pour conseiller et guider les usagers. Des périodes spécifiques sont également réservées dans le gymnase et la patinoire pour des matchs par équipes libres de hockey, pour du patinage, du badminton, du basketball, du volleyball, du football (soccer) sur parquet, du ping-pong, du tennis et du squash.

Installations sportives

L'Université York met à la disposition de sa communauté des installations sportives et récréatives de dernier cri. Au campus Keele, le Centre d'éducation physique Tait McKenzie offre un très grand ensemble d'équipements de sports. Pour les sports d'extérieur, le grand terrain de sport de York est le principal lieu de rendez-vous. L'Université York accueille également sur son campus Keele le Centre d'athlétisme de Toronto, le Centre Rexall (tennis) et l'aréna Canlan Ice Sports - York. Le Pavillon des sports Proctor, à Glendon, offre lui aussi toute une gamme d'installations et d'équipements dernier cri, dont un gymnase rénové ainsi que des sentiers pour la marche ou la course, reliés à tout un ensemble de parcs publics.

Campus Keele: un grand stade, 4 gymnases, 5 studios de danse, 5 courts de squash, 5 terrains de sport, 4 terrains de balle molle, 9 courts de tennis extérieurs, une patinoire intérieure, une piscine, un terrain de cricket, un centre de conditionnement physique de 12 000 pieds carrés équipé de 45 machines cardio-vasculaires et de poids et haltères, et une clinique pour les blessures d'origine sportive.

Également: l'aréna Canlan Ice Sports de l'Université York (6 patinoires), le Centre d'athlétisme de Toronto à l'Université York (équipements intérieurs et extérieurs), le Centre Rexall (tennis) (courts de tennis extérieurs et 8 courts intérieurs).

Campus Glendon: deux gymnases, 5 courts de squash, piscine, studio de conditionnement physique, salle d'haltérophilie, salle d'entraînement au golf, 3 courts de tennis extérieur, terrain pour jeu de balle molle, terrain de sport, sentiers de marche ou de course.

Le Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD)

Sous l'égide du vice-président adjoint, Student Community Development, le Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD) est voué à améliorer de manière constante la qualité de vie des étudiants de l'Université York.

Grâce aux efforts d'une équipe d'employés dévoués et soucieux de la vie des étudiants, le centre coordonne tout un éventail de services et d'activités qui enrichissent la vie communautaire et cocurriculaire sur le campus de l'université York : développement du leadership, liaison avec la gestion étudiante, aide aux élections et aux référendums, gestion de clubs étudiants, liste de logements hors campus, coordination des activités d'initiation de première année, journées d'information et visite des parents, information sur la santé et la vie en résidence et York is U. Grâce à des méthodes d'évaluation et de planification et à des programmes bien pensés, nous sommes en mesure de favoriser l'excellence universitaire et le développement personnel.

Le Centre de développement de la communauté étudiante et du leadership enrichit la vie des étudiants en faisant la promotion de l'éducation, de la prise de conscience et de la croissance, en célébrant la diversité en encourageant la coopération et en développant le concept de citoyenneté.

Le Centre de développement de la communauté étudiante et du leadership est situé au S172, Édifice Ross. 416-736-5144. ATS 416-736-5940. Courriel : scld@yorku.ca. Site Web : <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/>.

Comportement des étudiants et résolution des conflits

La mission de l'Office of Student Conduct & Dispute Resolution consiste à bâtir une communauté qui adhère aux valeurs de l'Université York, grâce à des programmes de soutien et de responsabilisation ayant un impact positif sur l'expérience des étudiants. Le SCDR est déterminé à favoriser la réussite des étudiants en les aidant à résoudre leurs conflits de façon informelle, en faisant respecter les attentes comportementales décrites dans le code de conduite parascolaire des étudiants et en soutenant les étudiants touchés par des incidents critiques. Conformément à ce code, les étudiants doivent se comporter de façon à favoriser une atmosphère de civilité, de diversité, d'équité et de respect. Tous les membres de la communauté de York peuvent déposer une plainte à l'encontre d'un étudiant ou d'un groupe d'étudiants en vertu de ce code. Les étudiants qui désirent déposer une plainte à l'égard du comportement d'un autre étudiant ou d'un groupe d'étudiants doivent remplir un formulaire de plainte et le soumettre à l'Office of Student Conduct & Dispute Resolution. L'Office évaluera la plainte et prendra les mesures appropriées, et fournit également des conseils, des orientations, une éducation, des processus de dialogue de résolution de disputes, un service de règlement local et assure le processus de tribunal de l'Université. SCDR vient en aide aux étudiants, à leurs parents ou tuteurs et à la collectivité en gérant les incidents critiques au nom de l'Université. Pour en savoir plus sur le code de conduite, le dépôt de plainte et/ou le soutien offert aux étudiants touchés par un incident critique, visitez le <http://www.yorku.ca/scdr/> ou composez le 416-736-5231.

Gestion étudiante

Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York (FÉY)

La Fédération des étudiant(e)s de York représente et soutient le mouvement étudiant de l'Université York. C'est un organisme de service, démocratique, sans but lucratif, dont la mission est de favoriser pour tous les étudiants (de premier cycle) la recherche de l'excellence universitaire, ainsi que le développement personnel et social, dans un milieu exempt de discrimination et de harcèlement.

La FÉY est déterminée à promouvoir l'accessibilité universelle à l'éducation postsecondaire et rejette tous les obstacles qui entravent l'accès à l'éducation dont, entre autres, les obstacles financiers découlant des frais de scolarité et de résidence et la discrimination fondée sur le sexe, la race, l'orientation sexuelle, la classe sociale, la religion, la couleur de la peau, l'origine ethnique ou géographique, la nationalité, l'état de santé ou l'âge.

La Fédération offre divers services, notamment un plan d'assurance santé, un agenda étudiant, un poste téléphonique, une photocopieuse à 0,05 $ la copie ainsi que, gratuitement, des cartes internationales d'étudiant et des cartes de rabais pour étudiants.

La FÉY est située au bureau 336 dans le Pavillon des étudiants, Tél. : 416-736-5324. Nous vous invitons à vous y rendre pour obtenir d'autres renseignements.

Organismes étudiants des collèges et facultés

Les organismes étudiants ou collégiaux prennent diverses formes selon les collèges mais partagent le même but : se mettre au service des étudiants en utilisant les fonds mis à leur disposition chaque année et représenter leurs intérêts dans les négociations avec les facultés, les services et les départements de l'Université, sur le plan universitaire comme sur le plan administratif.

Organismes des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles

En outre, au niveau des études de deuxième et troisième cycles, les organismes étudiants sont l'Association des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles, le Conseil des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles de l'école de commerce et l'Association des étudiants de deuxième et troisième cycles en études environnementales. Chacun de ces organismes perçoit une cotisation annuelle de ses membres pour financer ses activités. Les associations étudiantes reçoivent sous cette forme plus de 1 000 000 $. Des élections annuelles à l'intérieur de chacune d'entre elles désignent le directeur responsable de l'administration et de la gestion financière. La plupart de ces organismes publient des journaux et des bulletins pour informer leurs membres de leurs services et de leurs programmes.

Autres organismes étudiants

Plusieurs organismes étudiants perçoivent une cotisation annuelle auprès de leurs membres : Excalibur, CHRY radio communautaire de North York, le Programme de service d'aide juridique et communautaire, ProTem, le Théâtre Glendon, Groupe de recherche d'intérêt public de l'Ontario (GRIFO) (remboursable), le Centre des femmes de Glendon, le Centre des femmes de York (remboursable), Sexual Assault Survivor's, Support Line (SASSL) (Ligne de soutien pour les victimes d'agression sexuelle) (remboursable) et Entraide universitaire mondiale du Canada (EUMC) (remboursable). Ces organisations doivent soumettre leurs rapports financiers au même titre que les organismes étudiants. Les rapports financiers et les statuts de ces organismes étudiants sont des documents publics ouverts à tous, qui peuvent être consultés au Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development (SC&LD) ou au bureau de chaque organisation.

Représentation étudiante aux comités de l'Université

La participation des étudiants au gouvernement de l'Université est un élément important dans les structures de prise de décision et d'élaboration des règlements à l'Université York. Les étudiants participent pleinement comme membres votants au Conseil d'administration, au Sénat, aux conseils de faculté et à d'autres comités. Le système de gouvernement établi par la Charte de l'Université York est un système à deux chambres. Il existe donc deux centres de décision : le Conseil d'administration et le Sénat. Le pouvoir de décision est divisé et partagé entre le chancelier, la présidente, le Conseil d'administration et le Sénat qui peuvent déléguer à leur tour une partie de leur pouvoir à des comités ou à des organismes.

Le conseil d'administration. La Charte de York confie au conseil d'administration la charge de « gouverner, diriger, gérer et contrôler l'Université, ses biens, ses revenus, ses dépenses et ses activités ». Le conseil comprend 30 membres, en plus de la présidente et du chancelier. Deux sièges sont réservés pour des étudiants. Selon un accord passé entre le conseil et le Caucus des sénateurs étudiants, chaque année, un étudiant est élu dans un vote général parmi les étudiants inscrits à l'Université York. Après l'élection, la nomination de l'étudiant élu doit être confirmée par le Caucus des sénateurs étudiants qui recommande sa nomination au conseil. La durée du mandat est de deux ans. Le conseil a créé divers comités chargés de responsabilités spécifiques. Il y a le comité financier et de vérification, le comité des ressources pédagogiques, le comité du terrain et de la propriété, le comité d'investissement et le comité des affaires communautaires.

Le Sénat. Le Sénat est chargé de la politique universitaire de l'Université. C'est lui qui recommande la création de nouvelles facultés ou de nouveaux collèges, qui établit les normes d'admission, qui fixe l'aide financière aux étudiants, qui autorise la création de diplômes et de certificats ainsi que la structure des programmes universitaires. Il est composé du chancelier, de la présidente, du président et de représentants du conseil d'administration, des vice-présidents, des doyens, de directeurs de département et de représentants élus des diverses facultés, auxquels s'ajoutent quelques représentants d'autres groupes intérieurs ou extérieurs à l'Université. Les membres étudiants sont élus au Sénat par leurs condisciples de faculté. Les étudiants sont représentés dans la plupart des comités du Sénat, tel que le comité exécutif, le comité de promotion et de permanence, le comité d'appel, le comité de direction et de planification universitaire, le comité des programmes et des normes académiques, le comité des admissions, le comité de recrutement et d'aide aux étudiants, le comité de la recherche.

Les conseils des facultés. L'Université York compte onze facultés qui ont chacune leur conseil de faculté. Celui-ci est responsable de toutes les décisions universitaires concernant les programmes et les règlements universitaires de la faculté. Chaque conseil de faculté est un comité du Sénat et établit à son tour un certain nombre de comités dans lesquels les étudiants peuvent jouer un rôle. Pour plus de détails sur la structure spécifique des conseils des facultés et la participation étudiante à ces derniers, prière de s'adresser au secrétariat du conseil de la faculté à laquelle vous êtes affilié.

Les étudiants sont également membres de divers organismes de consultation et de prises de décisions au sein de l'Université. Vous pouvez vous renseigner sur ces postes, en communiquant avec les unités d'enseignement ou bureaux administratifs. Pour les questions concernant la participation étudiante au gouvernement de l'Université, prière de s'adresser au Secrétariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>)

Centre des femmes et des transgenres

Le Centre des femmes et des transgenres est une organisation bénévole, financée et collectivement gérée par les étudiants de York. Il s'agit d'une organisation progressiste, pro-choix, antiraciste, anti-homophobe, trans-positive et féministe, déterminée à :

- mettre fin à l'isolement social des femmes et transgenres sur le campus par le biais de programmes et d'activités sociales et de réseautage;
- assurer l'autonomisation individuelle et collective en misant sur l'estime de soi, l'éducation et la décolonisation;
- fournir des services d'intervention entre pairs dans les moments de crise, d'entraide, de défense des droits et d'aiguillage, dans une atmosphère féministe et libérale;
- agir en tant que ressource pour la compréhension, la dénonciation et l'organisation en ce qui a trait aux questions de violence basée sur le sexe et de justice sociale;
- développer des relations professionnelles entre les étudiants et l'administration de l'Université, afin que les étudiants participent concrètement à l'élaboration de programmes et de politiques visant à accroître la sécurité de tout le monde sur le campus;
- développer une culture de résilience et de célébration en soutenant les initiatives d'artistes locaux.

Nous avons un salon confortable avec des sofas et des fauteuils, un téléphone gratuit, un ordinateur branché sur Internet, un réfrigérateur, un four à micro-ondes et des gens chaleureux! Que vous désiriez raconter votre journée à quelqu'un, avoir un endroit où vous détendre, casser la croûte ou lire, ou nous donner un coup de main – n'hésitez pas à venir nous rencontrer!

York International

Bureau du vice-président adjoint du Service international

L'internationalisation est une priorité stratégique de l'Université York. Le bureau du vice-président adjoint du Service international travaille en collaboration avec les étudiants, les professeurs, les employés, les institutions et les gouvernements pour fournir un leadership afin de faire de cette priorité une réalité.

L'approche de l'Université York en matière d'internationalisation s'articule autour des principes suivants :

- les priorités pédagogiques sont la principale motivation pour l'internationalisation de l'Université York;
- l'internationalisation respecte l'engagement de l'Université envers la justice sociale et l'équité;
- l'internationalisation poursuit la tradition d'interdisciplinarité de York;
- l'internationalisation nécessite la collaboration et le soutien de toutes les facultés et unités fonctionnelles de l'Université.

En gardant ces principes à l'esprit, nous travaillons vers l'atteinte des quatre objectifs suivants :

- faire de l'internationalisation une réalité omniprésente et intégrale de l'enseignement et de l'apprentissage à l'Université York;
- fournir des occasions nombreuses et variées pour que les étudiants de York bénéficient d'une expérience internationale, à York et en allant à l'étranger, et accroître le nombre d'étudiants qui en profitent;
- positionner l'Université York en tant que leader national en matière d'internationalisation; et
- rehausser le profil international de l'Université York.

Programmes et services pour les étudiants étrangers

L'Université York accueille une collectivité diversifiée et environ 3,200 étudiants étrangers ou participant à un programme d'échange d'étudiants de plus de 130 pays. York International propose une gamme de services et de programmes qui contribuent au succès des étudiants de York, tout en fournissant à toute la communauté universitaire des occasions d'accroître leurs connaissances du monde et des différentes cultures.

York International offre une variété de programmes, dont des services d'orientation pour les étudiants étrangers, un programme d'accompagnement qui met des étudiants étrangers en contact avec des étudiants d'ici et des galas culturels.

Les étudiants étrangers peuvent visiter York International pour obtenir des renseignements sur le Régime d'assurance-maladie universitaire, sur des questions d'immigration, ainsi que sur le programme d'emplois hors campus. Ils peuvent également participer à des ateliers sur les ajustements sociaux, l'étiquette professionnelle, l'immigration et les impôts sur le revenu.

Pour plus de renseignements sur les services et programmes annuels offerts aux étudiants étrangers, rendez-vous au <http://international.yorku.ca>.

Programme de mobilité étudiante

L'Université York dénombre plus de 100 échanges officiels d'étudiants avec des universités en Asie, en Australie, en Europe, en Amérique latine et aux Caraïbes. Pour obtenir la liste complète des universités associées et savoir comment présenter une demande, visitez le site Web de York International. Le Centre de ressources de York International situé au bureau Q29 du Collège Vanier maintient une vaste collection de ressources multimédias sur ces échanges ainsi que sur d'autres possibilités d'études, d'emplois et de bénévolat à l'étranger. Les étudiants intéressés à étudier à l'étranger devraient assister à l'une des fréquentes séances d'information. Le calendrier de ces séances et les détails sur le programme d'échange se trouvent au <http://international.yorku.ca>.

Logement

Résidences pour les étudiants de premier cycle

Vivre sur le campus présente plusieurs avantages pour les étudiants de premier cycle et notamment celui de vivre au sein d'une collectivité riche et variée, de se faire des amis pour la vie et de demeurer au cœur d'une riche vie sociale, culturelle et universitaire. Vivre sur le campus, c'est disposer, à sa porte même, de toute la gamme des services du campus.

L'Université York dispose d'environ 2 280 lits pour des étudiants de premier cycle, répartis dans huit bâtiments sur le campus Keele, et de 400 autres lits sur le campus Glendon. La plupart des résidences disposent, de façon traditionnelle, de chambres confortablement meublées pour une ou deux personnes, de salles communes et salles de bain. Les étudiants doivent acquérir, avec la plupart des chambres, un Plan repas qu'ils peuvent utiliser dans plus de 35 points de restauration, servant une vaste gamme de nourritures de différente nature sur le campus Keele, ainsi qu'une cafétéria et un restaurant-minute sur le campus Glendon. Le campus Keele de York dispose également de quelques places dans des appartements pour 4 à 6 personnes qui partagent une cuisine, un salon et une salle de bain. La résidence du chemin Pond est la plus nouvelle résidence pour étudiants de premier cycle du campus Keele et offre 428 appartements de deux chambres, chacun ayant une salle de bains et une cuisine séparées. Le prix pour demeurer en résidence varie selon le type de chambre. D'une façon générale, un étudiant doit compter environ 6 000 $ pour une place, avec le plan repas, dans une chambre pour deux personnes.

Tous les étudiants de premier cycle peuvent présenter leur demande pour une place en résidence à condition d'être inscrits à au moins 24 crédits, soit 4 cours complets. Les renseignements sur la façon de déposer une demande en ligne pour un logement en résidence accompagneront votre offre d'admission à York.

Appartements d'étudiants de l'Université York

Sur le campus Keele seulement, existent des appartements pour les étudiants admissibles de deuxième et troisième cycles et autres étudiants adultes de 21 ans et plus ou qui ont besoin d'un logement de type familial.

Un nombre limité d'appartements est réservé aux des étudiants qui ont une déficience physique.

Ces appartements, meublés ou non, comprennent des studios et des appartements de une ou deux chambres à coucher. Ils ne conviennent pas aux familles de plus de deux enfants.

Pour de plus amples renseignements sur le logement des étudiants, s'adresser au :

Services de boisson

Vous trouverez le règlement de l'université sur la vente, le service et la consommation d'alcool sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/document.php?document=36>.

L'Université a désigné des lieux où la vente et la consommation d'alcool sont autorisées, conformément aux politiques de York et aux permis octroyés aux différents traiteurs indépendants et autres organismes de l'Université par la Commission des alcools et des jeux de l'Ontario. Vous trouverez ce règlement et une liste des permis à l'annexe 1 du règlement susmentionné sur le site http://www.yorku.ca/univsec/policies/background_docs/Alcohol%20Procedures/040702%20Alcohol%20Procedures.revisedappendix1.pdf.

Pour toute information sur le Règlement de l'Université sur l'alcool, s'adresser au directeur du centre des services de restauration au 416-736-5517 ou hussain@yorku.ca.

Logement hors-campus

Les étudiants qui ont besoin d'aide pour se trouver un logement hors-campus peuvent se prévaloir du service de logement hors campus, Places4students. Ce service est offert gratuitement aux étudiants qui utilisent le site Web Places4students pour vérifier les logements disponibles ou annoncer la recherche d'un colocataire. Pour en savoir plus, rendez-vous au <http://www.Places4Students.com> et cliquez sur « Partner Schools ».

Les étudiants sont invités à se rendre au Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development pour obtenir des publications et des guides susceptibles de les aider à trouver un logement. Ces publications sont également disponibles en ligne en allant sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/offcampushousing/> et en cliquant sur « Important Rentals Information for Students ».

XVIII. Politique et règlements de l'Université

Pour une liste exhaustive des politiques et procédures de l'Université, visitez le <http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>.

Conduite et responsabilités (universitaires et non universitaires) des étudiants

Étudiants et professeurs doivent maintenir entre eux des relations professionnelles courtoises, faire preuve de respect les uns envers les autres et éviter tout geste ou toute parole préjudiciables à ces relations. Les professeurs doivent s'efforcer de maintenir dans la salle de classe une atmosphère propre aux échanges universitaires et les étudiants doivent collaborer à cet effort. Ce sont les professeurs qui sont le mieux placés pour décider, en première instance, si une telle atmosphère règne bien dans la salle de classe. Un exposé des lois et règlements concernant le comportement perturbateur ou le harcèlement de la part des étudiants dans le contexte universitaire est disponible dans le Bureau des doyens, le Bureau de la vice-présidente aux études, le Bureau du vice-président aux services étudiants, ou sur le site Web du Secrétariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>).

Les étudiants qui enfreignent les règlements de l'Université ou la loi seront soumis par l'Université à des mesures disciplinaires après une enquête au cours de laquelle ils auront la possibilité de présenter leur version des événements en litige. Les étudiants ont l'obligation fondamentale de participer à cette procédure et, pour pouvoir agir en toute justice et en bonne connaissance de cause, l'Université doit pouvoir entrer en communication avec les étudiants. Il est essentiel que l'Université dispose, en tout temps, de l'adresse postale à jour de tous les étudiants. (Tout changement d'adresse doit être signalé au module des adresses des étudiants au <https://wrem.sis.yorku.ca/Apps/WebObjects/SAM.woa/wa/DirectAction/sam>.) Le droit de l'Université de conclure son enquête ne pourra pas être affecté par l'absence de réponse d'un étudiant à une demande de l'Université.

L'exclusion (expulsion de tous les cours et de toutes les activités de l'Université) constitue la plus grave sanction qui puisse être imposée. Pour plus de renseignements, se reporter au code de conduite des étudiants.

Remise des diplômes

Quelle est la différence entre l'obtention d'un diplôme et la remise des diplômes? L'obtention d'un diplôme signifie que l'étudiant a satisfait à toutes les exigences du diplôme et qu'il a été approuvé par le sénat pour obtenir son diplôme. La remise des diplômes se rapporte à la cérémonie lors de laquelle le chancelier remet les diplômes.

Les étudiants de la Faculté des arts (juin ou octobre 2009 seulement), d'Atkinson (juin ou octobre 2009 seulement), des sciences de l'éducation, des beaux-arts, de la santé, de la Faculté des arts libéraux et études professionnelles et des sciences et de l'ingénierie doivent faire leur demande de diplôme en ligne. Nous encourageons aussi vivement les étudiants de la faculté des études environnementales, de Glendon, de la faculté de droit Osgoode Hall et de l'École des hautes études commerciales Schulich de faire leur demande de diplôme en ligne. Il suffit de se rendre sur le site Web des étudiants au <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>, de cliquer sur « My Student Records », puis sur « Apply to graduate with an undergraduate degree », sous « My Graduation Status ». Les dates limites de demande sont publiées chaque année et sont habituellement quatre mois avant la cérémonie. Les étudiants de la faculté des études environnementales qui ne présentent pas leur demande en ligne doivent s'adresser au service des affaires étudiantes. Les étudiants de la faculté de droit Osgoode Hall doivent communiquer avec le bureau des services étudiants de la faculté de droit Osgoode Hall. Les étudiants de l'École Schulich des hautes études commerciales doivent communiquer avec le bureau des services étudiants et des relations internationales de leur faculté.

Les étudiants doivent s'assurer que l'Université possède l'orthographe exact de leur nom, tel qu'il doit apparaître sur leur diplôme. Ils peuvent vérifier l'exactitude du libellé sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm> en cliquant sur « My Student Records », sur « My Personal Info », et en sélectionnant « Verify my official name ».

Les cérémonies de remise des diplômes auront lieu en juin pour les étudiants qui terminent durant les trimestres d'automne et d'hiver et en octobre pour ceux qui finissent pendant la session d'été.

Les diplômes sont normalement remis le jour de la collation des grades. Les étudiants qui ne peuvent être présents ou qui n'ont pas reçu leur diplôme le jour de la cérémonie peuvent l'obtenir auprès des Services aux étudiants une fois que la cérémonie de remise des diplômes a eu lieu. Les étudiants qui ne peuvent être présents ou préfèrent recevoir leur diplôme par la poste doivent prendre les arrangements nécessaires auprès du bureau des services étudiants ou communiquer par télécopieur avec le bureau du registraire. Des frais de manutention et d'affranchissement s'appliqueront. Pour plus de renseignements, veuillez communiquer avec les Services aux étudiants au 416-872-YORK (9675) ou visitez le <http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/>. Les diplômes qui ne sont pas cueillis ou postés seront conservés environ un an. Nous conseillons fortement aux étudiants de passer le prendre leur diplôme ou de le faire poster le plus tôt possible.

Certaines facultés et certains collèges organisent des séances de photo pour les diplômés. Pour en savoir plus, rendez-vous au http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/Convocation/contacts_photo.

Des renseignements détaillés sur le programme, le rsvp, la location de toges, les invités et les réceptions sont affichés sur le site <http://www.yorku.ca/mygraduation/>.

Un étudiant obtient son diplôme après avoir complété de façon satisfaisante son programme d'études et payé toutes ses dettes envers l'Université.

Sanctions universitaires concernant les dettes non payées envers l'Université

Conformément à la politique du Sénat, aucun diplôme ni relevé de notes ne sera décerné à un étudiant dont les dettes n'ont pas été réglées ou sont en souffrance.

Règlement concernant la notation

Les critères de notation pour chaque cours (c.-à-d., le type et la valeur des travaux, des dissertations, des examens etc.) doivent être annoncés et disponibles par écrit, dans les deux premières semaines de classe. Dans des circonstances normales, les étudiants devraient droit à une note d'une valeur d'au moins 15 % de la note finale pour tous les cours des sessions d'automne, d'hiver ou d'été ou 30 % des cours d'une année complète offert à la session automne/hivers abandonnés avant la date d'abandon finale sans se voir attribuer une note. Les exceptions incluent les cours de dernière année du premier cycle ou les cours du troisième cycle, lorsque l'évaluation est fondée généralement, ou à la discrétion du professeur, sur :

- un seul travail (par exemple, la thèse d'une spécialisation ou la recherche du niveau de la maîtrise qui ne sont pas dûs avant la date d'abandon etc.)
- des cours de stages
- des cours libres
- des cours dans les facultés pour lesquels la date d'abandon est prévue dans les trois premières semaines de classe
- les cours comprimés (pour lesquels les crédits sont octroyés à raison d'un crédit par heure sur une période de deux semaines ou moins).

Remarque : Dans des circonstances inhabituelles ou imprévisibles qui perturbent le cours universitaire normal, les professeurs doivent, dès que possible, faire connaître les critères de notation en tenant compte du présent règlement. Vous pouvez vous procurer les renseignements des autres politiques associées à la notation auprès des facultés, départements et écoles ou du Secréariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Politique concernant les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux

Politique

L'Université s'efforce de prendre des mesures raisonnables d'adaptation afin d'aider les étudiants ayant des besoins spéciaux à réussir leurs études.

Ces mesures et leur envergure ont pour but de soutenir l'intégrité des programmes d'études et des normes de réussite et elles seront en tout temps compatibles avec ces programmes et ces normes.

Si les étudiants ont fait part de leurs besoins spéciaux dans les délais prévus, les enseignants prendront des mesures raisonnables d'adaptation compatibles avec le guide ci-dessous.

L'expression « besoins spéciaux » désigne les conditions décrites dans le Code ontarien des Droits de la personne, telles les handicaps physiques, les problèmes médicaux, les difficultés d'apprentissage et les troubles d'ordre psychiatrique.

Les directives de cette politique sont accessibles sur divers site Web de l'Université, notamment le site du Secréariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Directives pour une conduite responsable dans l'utilisation des ordinateurs

Afin de promouvoir une utilisation éthique et responsable de l'informatique et autres technologies d'information, des directives générales ont été établies, pour tous les étudiants, par le comité du Sénat sur l'informatique à l'Université, en consultation avec une commission administrative sur l'informatique à York. Le comité du budget et de la planification de York a aussi approuvé les principes et directives présentés ci-dessous.

1. L'équipement informatique de l'Université York est à la disposition des étudiants pour les aider à atteindre leurs objectifs universitaires; du corps professoral pour l'enseignement, la recherche et les activités administratives; des membres du personnel pour les responsabilités qui leur sont assignées; et des autres utilisateurs autorisés. Cet équipement peut comprendre des ordinateurs, l'infrastructure de communication et son équipement, les télécopieurs, les scanners, les machines à photocopier, les téléphones, les appareils vidéo, les systèmes multimédia et les différents types de logiciels.
2. L'équipement informatique doit être uniquement utilisé d'une manière qui ne contrevient ni aux règlements, codes, accords, protocoles de réseaux de l'Université York, ni aux lois provinciales et fédérales.

Vous pouvez obtenir des renseignements sur les directives associées à cette politique auprès du Secréariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/>).

Code de conduite des étudiants

1. Introduction

L'Université York est un lieu de recherche, d'enseignement et d'apprentissage où l'on apprécie les valeurs de courtoisie, de diversité, d'équité et de respect dans les relations des uns avec les autres. La liberté d'expression, la liberté d'association, la liberté d'étudier et d'apprendre, la liberté de se livrer à des recherches, et la liberté d'écriture et de publication sont toutes au cœur de la mission de l'établissement. On s'accorde à reconnaître que ces valeurs ne peuvent avoir de sens, et ces libertés se réaliser complètement que dans une atmosphère de sécurité.

Depuis leur création, les universités constituent des communautés clairement distinctes dans le cadre d'une plus grande communauté et elles ont réglé à l'interne les problèmes d'inconduite. D'après la Charte de l'Université York, 1965, 13(2)(c), la présidente a le pouvoir d'édicter et de faire respecter des règlements contrôlant les activités des étudiants. La présidente a délégué au vice-président aux affaires étudiantes la responsabilité de l'administration de ce Code de conduite des étudiants, par l'intermédiaire du Bureau de la conduite étudiante et de la résolution de conflits.

Ce code a été élaboré dans le cadre d'une vaste consultation auprès des étudiants, du personnel, et du corps professoral et il reflète leurs valeurs d'équité et de respect. Il est basé sur une approche disciplinaire progressive qui encourage une conduite appropriée.⁹ Le processus présenté dans ce code pour traiter des transgressions est conçu pour être visiblement équitable, facile à comprendre, et transparent. De plus, les sanctions proposées ont été mises au point à l'aide d'une consultation communautaire et sont considérées raisonnables et pouvant s'adapter à de nombreux aspects d'inconduite. Chaque fois que ce sera possible et approprié, les sanctions devront être correctives plutôt que punitives.

2. Pourquoi avoir un code de conduite des étudiants ?

Ce code de conduite des étudiants identifie les comportements qui, laissés sans opposition ni contrôle, pourraient bouleverser les buts académiques de l'Université, restreindre la sécurité du campus¹⁰, diminuer la dignité des personnes et des groupes, ou saper les libertés fondamentales. Il s'applique principalement aux étudiants car les comportements des autres membres de la communauté universitaire sont tenus à des normes comparables par d'autres statuts, directives et contrats.

Il n'y a rien dans ce code qui puisse constituer une méthode ou une excuse pour supprimer la protestation pacifique, les débats civils, ou toute conduite licite aussi longtemps que cette conduite n'est pas interdite par le code.

3. Application du code

Ce code s'applique à la conduite non académique des étudiants. La conduite concernant les études des étudiants est régie par les politiques du Sénat de l'Université et est hors de la portée du code.

Ce code s'applique aux étudiants et aux groupes d'étudiants, et toutes les références aux « étudiants » comprennent les « étudiants » et les « groupes d'étudiants ». Les étudiants qui ont des invités sont responsables de leur conduite et l'Université s'attend à ce qu'ils découragent les comportements inappropriés. Pour les besoins de ce code, « un étudiant » signifie une personne qui est inscrite en tant qu'étudiante à l'Université York et donc tenue de respecter les politiques et règlements de l'Université.

Ce code s'applique (a) au comportement sur les lieux de l'Université¹¹, et (b) à la conduite hors de l'Université mais qui a un lien réel et important avec celle-ci. On pourrait donner comme exemples des événements où

9. Dans ce code, la « discipline progressive » signifie une approche progressive et proportionnelle aux sanctions.
10. Dans ce code, le « campus » inclut tous le campus de l'Université York, c'est-à-dire Keele, Glendon, et les Centres professionnels de York.
11. Dans ce code, les « lieux de l'Université » signifient les bâtiments, et/ou la terre en propriété et/ou le terrain occupé par l'Université.

les étudiants agissent en tant que délégués ou représentants de l'Université, des événements organisés hors campus par un groupe d'étudiants reconnu comme appartenant à l'Université, ou des événements organisés hors campus par un groupe d'étudiants non reconnu mais facilement identifiable avec l'Université ou toute partie de cette dernière.

À cela peut s'ajouter des normes communautaires exigées des personnes qui ont choisi d'habiter dans les résidences de l'Université. Un manquement aux règles de résidence est un manquement à ce code et sera traité de la même façon et sujet au même processus que les manquements aux règles sur le reste du campus.

L'Université se réserve le droit de décider si une question doit être examinée dans le cadre de ce code quelles que soient les actions des organismes externes, telle que la police, et pourrait utiliser les renseignements fournis par ces organismes.

4. Norme de la conduite étudiante

On s'attend à ce que les étudiants se conduisent de façon à soutenir la recherche, l'enseignement et l'apprentissage et à promouvoir une atmosphère de courtoisie, de diversité, d'équité et de respect dans leurs relations les uns avec les autres. Ils doivent s'efforcer d'assurer la sécurité du campus, de soutenir la dignité des personnes et des groupes, et de faire respecter les libertés fondamentales.

Les comportements suivants sont interdits. La liste n'est pas complète mais donne quelques exemples de manquement aux normes de conduite. C'est délibérément que le code ne place pas les violations dans un ordre hiérarchique. L'Université prend au sérieux toutes les plaintes présentées dans le cadre des dispositions de ce code.

- a) Infractions à la loi fédérale, provinciale ou municipale telles que : entrer de force dans les locaux de l'Université; le vandalisme; l'intrusion; l'utilisation illicite de clés pour pénétrer dans les locaux du campus; la possession illicite d'armes à feu, d'explosifs, ou de dispositifs incendiaires; la possession, consommation ou le trafic de drogues illégales; fumer des substances légales en dehors des endroits désignés; la cruauté envers les animaux; le vol des biens universitaires ou privés y compris la propriété intellectuelle; la copie de documents sans autorisation; la possession de biens volés.
- b) Menaces de préjudices ou préjudices réels contre le bien-être physique ou mental d'une personne tels que : assaut; agression verbale et non verbale; violence physique; violence verbale; intimidation; agression sexuelle; harcèlement; poursuite criminelle; initiation¹².
- c) Perturbation des activités universitaires ou interférences, telles que : causer un désordre important; proférer des menaces de bombes; créer des situations dangereuses; faire ou occasionner un bruit excessif; présenter une fausse identification; déclencher de fausses alertes d'incendie; bloquer les voies de sorties.
- d) Dommages à la propriété de l'Université ou de ses membres tels que : endommager ou dégrader la propriété de l'Université ou celle d'autres personnes, y compris les systèmes informatiques et la propriété intellectuelle; tenter d'altérer l'équipement d'extinction ou de prévention des incendies.
- e) Violations des politiques, procédures ou règlements de l'Université tels que : utilisation temporaire de la politique de l'Université concernant l'espace; Directives sur les aménagements informatiques et la technologie de l'information; Politique sur la vente, le service et l'utilisation des boissons alcooliques au campus; Règlements concernant le stationnement et les transports; l'utilisation illicite d'une identification pour obtenir des biens ou des services.
- f) Abus ou manque de respect pour les processus de ce code tels que : déposer une plainte sans fondement avec une intention nuisible, frivole ou vexatoire; ne pas obéir aux demandes raisonnables d'une personne autorisée par l'Université; ne pas assister aux réunions ou audiences relatives aux violations présumées de ce code; ne pas tenir compte des sanctions du code. De façon générale, les problèmes provoqués par l'alcool ou les drogues illégales ne constituent pas une défense contre les comportements interdits.

12. Dans ce code, « initiation » signifie un acte qui met en danger la santé et/ou la sécurité d'un étudiant, et/ou sa dignité, et qui est une condition d'appartenance.

5. Procédure des plaintes

L'Université reconnaît que bien des disputes peuvent être résolues sans avoir recours aux dispositions de ce code. Dans la mesure du possible, et lorsque c'est approprié, on encourage les membres de la communauté universitaire à demander un simple changement de comportement plutôt que de se tourner vers la procédure de plainte suivante.

Au départ, toute plainte relevant de cette procédure sera adressée à un arbitre local appartenant au collège, à la faculté, la résidence ou l'unité administrative concernée. Pour les plaintes qui ne sont pas naturellement du ressort de ces secteurs, l'agent local sera un représentant du Bureau de la conduite étudiante. Les agents locaux d'audiences seront nommés par le vice-président aux affaires étudiantes.

La norme de preuve exigée pour déterminer s'il y a eu violation du code sera basée sur la « prépondérance des probabilités », c'est-à-dire que la personne décidant le cas doit trouver si c'est plus probable que le contraire qu'une allégation contestée soit admise comme un fait ou non.

Le plaignant a le droit d'assister à toutes les audiences où l'on présente les preuves qu'il a soumises. Il a aussi le droit de connaître les résultats de la procédure de plainte, à moins que l'agent local ou le tribunal universitaire ne trouve des raisons pour en décider autrement.

a) Pour déposer une plainte

- i. Toute personne (le plaignant) peut déposer une plainte (la plainte) dans le cadre de ce code, concernant une violation par un étudiant de la norme de la conduite étudiante.
- ii. La plainte doit être présentée par écrit et comporter le nom du plaignant; les plaintes anonymes ne seront pas prises en considération.
- iii. La plainte doit être déposée dans les trois mois suivant la présumée violation du code à moins que l'arbitre local ou le tribunal universitaire, au cours du premier examen, considère qu'il est raisonnable de prolonger la limite de temps.
- iv. Une plainte doit être déposée auprès de l'arbitre local.
- v. Quand un arbitre local reçoit une plainte, il doit déterminer si celle-ci doit être rejetée ou si une enquête est justifiée. Si une enquête est justifiée, l'étudiant contre lequel la plainte a été faite (le répondant) recevra une copie du code afin d'être informé de ses droits et responsabilités. Le répondant recevra également une copie de la plainte avec le nom du plaignant. Les renseignements pour contacter le plaignant resteront confidentiels.

b) Instruction d'une plainte

L'arbitre local va recueillir les faits concernant le cas en tenant autant de réunions que nécessaire.

On accordera au répondant une période de temps raisonnable pour examiner la plainte déposée contre lui et y répondre. Il sera prévenu à l'avance, et aura la possibilité de donner son avis sur les sanctions possibles.

Le plaignant et le répondant doivent tous les deux assister aux réunions et aux audiences tenues en fonction de ce code lorsque leur présence est requise. Le répondant ne doit pas user de représailles envers le plaignant.

Si, après enquête, l'arbitre local décide qu'il y a eu manquement au code, des sanctions pourront être imposées. L'arbitre local présentera sa décision par écrit en donnant les raisons sur lesquelles il s'est basé, dans les 10 jours de la date à laquelle le répondant a été prévenu oralement de cette décision.

Le plaignant et le répondant recevront par écrit la décision de l'arbitre local, décision qui sera également envoyée au Bureau de la conduite étudiante.

Si, à tout moment après réception d'une plainte, l'arbitre local est d'avis que la nature de la plainte est telle qu'elle ne peut être résolue par son intermédiaire, il référera cette plainte au tribunal universitaire pour une audience.

c) Demande d'audience au tribunal universitaire à la suite de la décision d'un arbitre local

- i. À la suite de la décision d'un arbitre local, un répondant peut demander une audience devant le tribunal universitaire pour les raisons suivantes :
- 1) l'arbitre local n'avait pas l'autorité, dans le cadre de ce code, de prendre la décision qu'il a prise ou d'imposer des sanctions;
 - 2) l'arbitre local a fait une erreur de procédure fondamentale au détriment du répondant;
 - 3) le répondant va présenter de nouvelles preuves qui, raisonnablement, ne pouvaient pas être présentées plus tôt; ou
 - 4) le répondant a droit à un redressement pour des motifs de compassion qui n'ont pas été considérés par l'arbitre local.

La demande doit inclure le détail des raisons invoquées et être présentée par écrit au tribunal universitaire dans les 10 jours après la date d'issue de la décision écrite de l'arbitre local.

- ii. La demande d'audience doit être obligatoirement présentée par écrit, et sera accordée ou refusée par un seul membre du tribunal universitaire, les raisons en étant données par écrit.
- iii. Toutes les sanctions ordonnées par l'arbitre local seront suspendues en attendant la décision du tribunal universitaire relative à la demande d'audience. Dans les cas mettant en jeu des questions de sécurité de la personne ou de la propriété, l'arbitre local peut décider que les sanctions imposées resteront en effet à partir du moment où la décision a été prise jusqu'à la fin de la procédure du tribunal universitaire.
- iv. Si la demande est refusée par le tribunal universitaire, les sanctions deviendront exécutoires dès la date de cette décision.

6. Le Tribunal universitaire

a) Composition du tribunal universitaire

Le Tribunal est composé d'étudiants, de membres du corps professoral et du personnel, bénévoles nommés par le vice-président aux affaires étudiantes pour siéger pendant un terme de deux ans, renouvelable une fois, sauf s'il y a décision de résiliation à une date antérieure par le vice-président aux affaires étudiantes.

Chaque jury d'audience du tribunal comprend trois personnes, incluant un étudiant. Ces personnes éliront un président pour la procédure.

b) Procédure d'audiences du tribunal universitaire

Les audiences devant le tribunal universitaire donnent l'occasion d'aborder objectivement les faits présentés. Elles se tiennent en privé, c'est-à-dire que l'on permet seulement la présence des personnes qui ont un rôle ou un intérêt direct dans l'audience, ou les personnes qui sont là comme témoins. Le président a la discrétion d'admettre d'autres personnes pour une formation ou toute autre considération raisonnable.

Le jury d'audiences du tribunal n'est pas lié par une procédure légale stricte, mais pour s'assurer qu'il respecte des procédures aussi justes que possible dans le contexte des circonstances et traditions universitaires, il doit respecter les lignes directrices suivantes :

- i. Le Bureau de la conduite étudiante présente la plainte et toutes les pièces justificatives et les témoins, y compris le plaignant, au jury d'audiences du tribunal.
- ii. Le répondant a la possibilité de poser des questions à chacun des témoins. Les membres du tribunal peuvent aussi poser des questions à la personne qui présente et aux témoins.
- iii. Après que le Bureau de la conduite étudiante aura déposé la plainte, le répondant aura la possibilité de présenter sa réponse avec documents et témoins à l'appui.
- iv. Le Bureau de la conduite étudiante et le jury d'audiences du tribunal auront l'occasion de poser des questions au répondant et à tous les témoins.
- v. Le Bureau de la conduite étudiante et le répondant donnent alors leur propre interprétation de l'évidence présentée.

- vi. Le Bureau de la conduite étudiante et le répondant pourront suggérer quelles sanctions, le cas échéant, ils trouvent appropriées au cas devant le tribunal.
- vii. Dans la mesure du possible, les décisions du tribunal seront données verbalement immédiatement après l'audience. La décision sera alors mise par écrit pas plus de 14 jours après la fin de l'audience et envoyée au répondant et au plaignant par la poste, ou par courriel, et déposée au Bureau de la conduite étudiante.

c) Les droits des étudiants devant un jury d'audiences

Les répondants ont les droits suivants :

- i. Le droit d'amener un avocat ou un conseiller qui peut être toute personne choisie par le répondant pour l'aider à présenter son cas. Dans la mesure du possible, le Bureau de la conduite étudiante devrait recevoir le nom de cet avocat ou conseiller au moins deux jours avant l'audience.
- ii. Le droit de voir toutes les preuves que le Bureau de la conduite étudiante va présenter et de connaître quelles sanctions, s'il y en a, le Bureau va proposer.
- iii. Le droit de contester l'admissibilité de tout membre du jury sur la base d'une crainte raisonnable de partialité contre le répondant. Le jury déterminera si cette crainte est justifiée. Sa décision sera définitive. S'il trouve qu'il y a crainte raisonnable de partialité, il demandera au Bureau de la conduite étudiante d'organiser une nouvelle audience à une autre date avec un nouveau jury.
- iv. Le droit que son cas soit entendu à temps, c'est-à-dire que sauf circonstances exceptionnelles, comme les vacances universitaires par exemple, le répondant aura droit à une audience dans les 20 jours ouvrables¹³ après que le tribunal universitaire a accepté d'instruire la plainte.
- v. Le droit à un préavis de convocation à l'audience d'au moins sept jours, à moins de circonstances particulières déterminées par le Bureau de la conduite étudiante, en quel cas l'affaire peut être entendue avant que la période de sept jours ne soit écoulée.
- vi. Le droit à un avis de convocation : cet avis sera remis en main propre, ou envoyé par courriel, par la poste ou Xpresspost. C'est la responsabilité de l'étudiant de s'assurer que l'Université a tous les renseignements nécessaires pour le contacter. Si un étudiant ne reçoit aucun avis dans le cadre de ce code parce qu'il n'a pas rempli cette exigence, cet avis sera considéré comme étant valide et applicable.
- vii. Le droit à une audience privée, telle qu'expliquée dans la section 6 (b).

7. Appels des décisions du tribunal universitaire

- a) Le répondant ou l'Université peuvent faire appel d'une décision du tribunal universitaire uniquement pour les raisons suivantes :
- i. le tribunal universitaire n'avait pas le pouvoir dans le cadre de ce code d'arriver à la décision ou d'imposer les sanctions en cause;
 - ii. le jury d'audiences du tribunal universitaire a commis une erreur de procédure fondamentale qui a gravement porté préjudice au répondant;
 - iii. le répondant a de nouvelles preuves à présenter qui ne pouvaient raisonnablement pas être présentées plus tôt; ou
 - iv. le répondant a droit à un redressement pour des raisons de compassion qui n'ont pas été prises en considération par le jury.

13. Dans ce code, « jours ouvrables » signifie de lundi à vendredi, sauf pendant les vacances stipulées dans l'annuaire de l'Université ou les fermetures imprévues dues au climat, aux urgences, ou aux arrêts de travail.

- b) Les appels doivent être transmis par écrit au directeur de la conduite étudiante dans les 14 jours suivant la date à laquelle la décision écrite du tribunal universitaire a été émise. Le répondant doit remettre une déclaration écrite expliquant les motifs sur lesquels il compte s'appuyer. C'est la responsabilité du répondant de s'assurer que l'université a tous les renseignements nécessaires pour le contacter. Tout avis non reçu parce que l'étudiant n'a pas rempli cette exigence n'aura aucun effet sur la procédure.
- c) Les sanctions non monétaires s'appliquent en attendant l'issue de tout appel. Les sanctions monétaires sont automatiquement interrompues en attendant l'issue de l'appel. Aucune compensation ne sera accordée si une sanction non monétaire est annulée en appel. Le répondant peut demander au jury d'appel de surseoir à l'exécution des sanctions en attendant l'issue de l'appel. Le jury d'appel doit organiser le plus rapidement possible une audience pour traiter de la demande de sursis d'exécution des sanctions. Si une réponse plus immédiate est exigée, il est possible d'adresser une demande au directeur de la conduite étudiante.
- d) Le jury d'appel comprendra trois membres du tribunal universitaire qui ne seront pas les mêmes que ceux qui ont entendu la cause en première instance.
- e) Le jury d'appel doit instruire l'appel dans les 20 jours ouvrables, sauf en cas de circonstances exceptionnelles, et informer le répondant et le Bureau de la conduite étudiante, de la date et du lieu de l'audience d'appel.
- f) Le jury d'appel rendra sa décision par écrit pas plus tard que 14 jours après la fin de l'audience d'appel, décision qui peut :
- faire droits à l'appel;
 - confirmer ou modifier la décision du tribunal;
 - confirmer, réduire ou aggraver les sanctions qui ont fait l'objet de l'appel; ou
 - demande que le tribunal préside une nouvelle audience ou réexamine certains aspects pertinents de sa décision.
- g) La décision écrite du jury d'appel doit être transmise au répondant et au plaignant par la poste, Xpresspost, ou courriel, et conservée au Bureau de la conduite étudiante.
- h) La décision du jury d'appel est définitive et exécutoire.
- i) Les répondants ont les droits suivants devant le jury d'appel:
- Le droit d'amener un avocat ou un conseiller qui peut être toute personne choisie par le répondant pour l'aider à présenter son cas. Dans la mesure du possible, le Bureau de la conduite étudiante devrait recevoir le nom de cet avocat ou conseiller au moins deux jours avant l'audience.
 - Le droit de contester l'admissibilité de tout membre du jury sur la base d'une crainte raisonnable de partialité contre le répondant. Le jury déterminera si cette crainte est justifiée. Sa décision sera définitive. S'il trouve qu'il y a une crainte raisonnable de partialité, il demandera au Bureau de la conduite étudiante d'organiser une nouvelle audience à une autre date avec un nouveau jury.
 - Le droit que l'appel soit entendu à temps.
 - Le droit à une audience privée telle qu'expliquée dans la section 6 (b).

8. Procès-verbal

Le procès-verbal des décisions définitives prises dans le cadre de ce code restera dans les dossiers du Bureau de la conduite étudiante et de la résolution de conflits.

9. Sanctions

Les sanctions suivantes peuvent être imposées pour manquement au code. Plus d'une sanction peut être imposée simultanément pour une seule violation. En imposant une sanction, on pourra prendre en considération les infractions antérieures.

a) Sanctions qui peuvent être imposées par les agents locaux d'audiences

Les sanctions suivantes peuvent être imposées par les agents locaux d'audiences :

- réprimande;
- excuses et/ou expression de regrets auprès du plaignant;
- excuses et/ou expression de regrets auprès d'une plus grande communauté, p. ex. une équipe ou des camarades de classe;
- service communautaire, réflexion écrite, ou recherche sur un sujet précis;
- promesse de bon comportement qui peut être garantie par une caution ne dépassant pas 500$;
- restrictions du comportement;
- amendes ne dépassant pas 250$;
- restitution financière pour des dommages ne dépassant pas 500$;
- retrait des services non essentiels¹⁴;
- changement de logement universitaire.

b) Sanctions supplémentaires qui peuvent être imposées par le tribunal universitaire

En plus des sanctions énumérées en 8(a) ci-dessus, le Tribunal universitaire peut imposer les sanctions suivantes :

- amendes ne dépassant pas 1000$;
- restitution;
- restrictions sur le campus;
- renvoi d'une résidence universitaire;
- note dans le dossier de l'étudiant;
- suspension;
- expulsion.

10. Mesure de suspension d'urgence

Si le directeur du Bureau de la conduite étudiante estime que la présence d'un étudiant à l'Université pose un risque de sécurité, il peut imposer une suspension immédiate de 10 jours au plus. L'étudiant sera averti de cette suspension d'urgence.

Si, après enquête, on décide que l'étudiant continue à poser un risque de sécurité, le directeur du Bureau de la conduite étudiante peut, en accord avec le vice-président aux affaires étudiantes, suspendre un étudiant pour plus de 10 jours jusqu'à un maximum de 60 jours. Une audience du tribunal universitaire doit être tenue dans les 60 jours.

11. Révision du code

Ce code fera l'objet d'une révision après une année, puis tous les deux ans.

Politique du Sénat sur l'intégrité universitaire

1. Politique du Sénat sur l'intégrité universitaire

La politique sur l'intégrité universitaire réaffirme et précise l'obligation qu'ont les membres de l'Université de maintenir les normes les plus strictes d'intégrité universitaire. Une notion claire et nette de ce que sont l'intégrité et la responsabilité universitaires est le fondement d'un enseignement de qualité. Cette politique stipule la responsabilité qui incombe aux professeurs de favoriser des normes acceptables d'intégrité universitaire et aux étudiants de connaître et de respecter ces normes.

14. Dans ce code, les « services non essentiels » signifie les services qui, s'ils sont retirés, peuvent réduire la participation complète de l'étudiant à la vie du campus, mais qui ne lui rendent pas impossible de terminer ses études universitaires.

Pour se conformer aux normes d'intégrité universitaire, tous doivent éviter de s'arroger les idées les écrits ou la propriété intellectuelle d'autrui soit en s'en attribuant la paternité, soit en usurpant l'identité de l'auteur. Ils doivent aussi s'abstenir de tricher (tenter d'obtenir un avantage illicite lors d'une évaluation universitaire), de modifier, supprimer ou inventer les données et les résultats de recherche ainsi que les dossiers scolaires, les demandes et documents.

Toute atteinte présumée à l'intégrité fera l'objet d'une enquête et des accusations seront portées s'il existe des motifs raisonnables et probables. Un étudiant accusé d'atteinte à l'intégrité universitaire sera présumé innocent jusqu'à ce que le comité estime avoir obtenu des preuves incontestables que l'étudiant a enfreint les normes d'intégrité de l'Université. Dans un tel cas, l'étudiant sera passible des sanctions décrites dans le guide qui accompagne cette politique. Dans certains cas, le règlement universitaire touchant les questions non universitaires peut prévaloir. L'ignorance de la politique du Sénat sur l'intégrité universitaire ne constitue pas une défense à l'accusation. Certaines infractions universitaires constituent aussi des infractions au Code criminel du Canada et il est possible qu'un étudiant accusé d'une infraction universitaire doive aussi faire face à des accusations criminelles. Les étudiants de York qui sont inculpés pour des infractions commises dans d'autres établissements peuvent également faire face à des accusations.

Vous pouvez vous renseigner sur les directives et procédures associées à la présente politique sur le site Web du Secrétariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

Pétitions et révision des notes

Directives pour l'examen des pétitions et appels par les comités de la faculté

Ces directives doivent sous-tendre les actions et les décisions des comités de la faculté et celles du personnel administratif concernant les pétitions et appels des étudiants. Elles ne sont pas là pour régir les décisions de la faculté en ces matières; la juridiction relative à la dispense des règlements universitaires, l'extension des dates limites et la révision d'un travail est clairement du ressort des facultés en tout premier lieu. Ces directives servent à conseiller les parties en cause dans leur travail afin de les aider à en arriver à des décisions équitables et uniformes dans toute l'Université. Il est clair que la nature (performance, professionnelle, supérieure) et la taille des diverses facultés rendent hautement improbable d'avoir des procédures et des démarches uniformes. Il y a cependant des domaines où l'on peut obtenir une plus grande cohérence dans les démarches des différentes facultés et c'est à cette fin que ces directives sont proposées.

1. Structure

Les facultés peuvent, et on les y encourage, avoir une structure en deux volets pour l'examen des pétitions : a) un comité des pétitions/vice-doyen et b) un processus administratif approuvé.

- a) Comité des pétitions/vice-doyen : Comme toutes les facultés ont accepté d'examiner les demandes pour exception aux règlements universitaires, il y aura un comité ou un cadre supérieur de l'administration qui sera responsable d'examiner les pétitions et de prendre une décision sur la base des raisons et des documents justificatifs fournis par l'étudiant.
- b) Pétitions approuvées par l'administration : Pour aider à contrebalancer le grand nombre de cas, les pétitions peuvent être soumises pour approbation par le préposé aux pétitions (ou son équivalent) et confirmées par le président du comité des pétitions (ou son désigné)¹⁵. En accord avec les règles générales pour accorder une pétition (décrites ci-dessous), le préposé aux pétitions identifiera les cas qui entrent clairement dans ces règles et les présentera comme telles au président pour confirmation. Tous les cas qui ne sont pas clairs et qui exigent de la discrétion seront envoyés pour décision au comité des pétitions.

15. À l'exception des pétitions pour éviter l'exclusion qui devraient être examinées par un comité.

Aucune pétition ne sera refusée par l'administration sur la base de ses mérites. La pétition des étudiants qui ne fournissent pas la documentation nécessaire requise par la faculté dans un délai spécifique ne sera pas examinée, et le préposé aux pétitions en informera l'étudiant par écrit.

2. Principes

- a) Procédures : Chaque faculté devra avoir des règles de procédure écrites mises largement à la disposition des étudiants (p. ex., dans l'annuaire, sur le site de l'Université, au Bureau du registraire). Les procédures de la faculté relatives aux pétitions et appels doivent être compatibles avec les directives du Sénat.
- b) Dates limites : La politique approuvée par le Sénat sur la date limite pour soumettre une pétition pour abandon tardif stipule que « Normalement, les pétitions pour abandon tardif d'un cours seront seulement examinées si elles sont soumises dans les 30 jours après la dernière journée des classes (du cours en question). Ces pétitions peuvent être examinées pendant une période d'une année au plus si elles sont basées sur des circonstances spéciales. » La politique du Sénat sur la date limite pour les demandes de cote différée est que « Normalement, les demandes de cote différée doivent être communiquées dans la semaine qui suit un examen manqué ou le dernier jour pour soumettre le travail du cours. » La période où l'Université est officiellement fermée pour les vacances de décembre ou les jours fériés pendant l'année ne compte pas dans la détermination des dates limites.
- c) Représentation : Les appelants ont le droit d'avoir un représentant qui aide à préparer les soumissions écrites et, s'ils ont le droit d'apparaître devant un comité, peut les représenter à la séance.
- d) Juridiction : Les étudiants peuvent pétitionner tous les sujets à leur faculté d'origine à l'exception des révisions de notes qui sont examinées par le département/la faculté offrant le cours. Autrement, les facultés examineront les demandes d'exception à tous les règlements universitaires.
- e) Partialité : Tout membre d'un comité de pétitions ou d'appel ou toute personne examinant une pétition qui manque de neutralité sur la question à décider doit se retirer du cas. Une apparence de partialité ou une crainte de partialité est aussi suffisante pour disqualifier une telle personne.
- f) Apparences : Les étudiants et/ou leurs représentants ne peuvent apparaître devant un comité qu'à la discrétion ou sur invitation du comité.
- g) Anonymat : Les demandes d'anonymat par les étudiants dans le processus de pétition doivent être respectées. Cependant, les étudiants ayant la possibilité d'apparaître devant un comité devront décider s'ils désirent renoncer à l'anonymat. Dans ce processus, la confidentialité sera toujours maintenue.
- h) Décisions : Pour aider à remplir les exigences de la justice naturelle et de l'équité dans les processus juridictionnels, les comités de pétitions et appels et les administrateurs qui rendent une décision sur les pétitions doivent donner par écrit les raisons de leur décision. Sans ces raisons, la partie en cause peut se demander pourquoi une décision négative a été prise et ne pas être capable de décider de faire appel ou non. De la même façon, un comité suivant ou une cour de révision peut avoir de la difficulté à comprendre la justification d'une décision rendue sans en donner les raisons et tirer des inférences négatives à l'encontre du comité initial pour les avoir omises.
- i) Appels : La voie d'appel pour les étudiants devra être incluse dans la décision écrite.

Principes touchant à la révision des notes

1. Les étudiants peuvent, s'ils ont des motifs suffisants sur le plan scolaire, demander la révision d'une dernière note dans un cours (ce qui peut signifier de revoir des parties spécifiques du travail accompli). Les motifs autres que scolaires ne sont pas valables pour la révision des notes; dans ces cas-là, on conseille aux étudiants de présenter leur pétition à leur faculté d'origine. Normalement, on s'attend à ce que les étudiants contactent en premier le professeur du cours pour discuter de la note reçue et demander que le travail effectué soit revu. Le travail effectué peut inclure du travail écrit, graphique, numérisé, sous forme de maquette, d'enregistrement vidéo ou audio, but pas de travail oral.

Les étudiants doivent être conscients qu'une demande de révision de note peut avoir comme résultat que la note originale soit augmentée, diminuée ou confirmée.

2. Dans le cas où les étudiants ne sont toujours pas satisfaits de leur dernière note OU si le chargé de cours n'est pas disponible pour revoir le travail, ils peuvent soumettre, par écrit, une demande officielle de révision de note au département ou à l'unité où le cours est offert¹⁶. La date limite approuvée par le Sénat pour soumettre une demande de révision des notes est le 15 février pour les notes du trimestre d'automne, le 15 juin pour les notes de la session automne/hiver et le 30 septembre pour les notes de la session d'été, ou au moins 21 jours après la remise des notes, selon la date la plus éloignée. Si une date limite de soumission tombe un jour de fin de semaine ou un jour férié, les demandes seront acceptées jusqu'à la fin du prochain jour ouvrable. Une certaine discrétion est allouée pour les retards mineurs à respecter la date limite provoqués par la lenteur du système postal ou des circonstances extraordinaires.
3. Si les conditions sont satisfaites sur le plan des motifs scolaires, le comité du département en question, le directeur du département, le vice-doyen ou le directeur du programme de troisième cycle ou de premier cycle aura la responsabilité de s'assurer que le travail est révisé par un membre approprié du corps professoral, que l'anonymat de l'étudiant et celui du réviseur est respecté, et que le résultat de la révision (y compris les commentaires du réviseur) et la voie d'appel soient communiqués à l'étudiant et au chargé de cours. Le réviseur devra obtenir la nature du travail demandé et la justification de la note originale. On s'attend à ce que tous les efforts soient faits pour rendre la décision dans les 30 jours après réception du travail par le réviseur.
4. Les participants peuvent faire appel d'une décision négative sur une demande de révision des notes, ou le résultat de la révision elle-même à un comité d'appel au niveau de la faculté où le cours est offert (ou, dans le cas de la Faculté des études supérieures, au doyen) seulement sur la base d'un vice de procédure. Les vices de procédure sont définis comme tels actions prises ou non par un département, une faculté, le programme d'études supérieures, ses administrateurs, comités, ou ses membres à l'égard de la disposition du cas qui viole ou annule un ou tous les aspects suivants :
 - a) les procédures normales et écrites de l'Université, de la faculté, du programme d'études supérieures ou du département concerné;
 - b) l'uniformité dans le traitement des cas largement semblables au cas en appel de la part de la faculté, du programme d'études supérieures ou du département;
 - c) les principes d'équité, de justice naturelle ou d'impartialité, qu'un manquement ait eu lieu ou non en accord avec les procédures écrites ou habituelles. Les appels basés sur l'allégation de ces derniers vices de procédure devraient alléguer et démontrer les préjugés évidents ou autre inconduite de la part des administrateurs ou agents de l'Université et pour lesquels des mesures de réparation n'ont pas été prises par une autorité ayant examiné le cas avant l'appel.

Les appels doivent être soumis dans les 21 jours suivant l'annonce de la décision. Les comités de la faculté peuvent renoncer à cette date limite quand l'appelant établit que des circonstances spéciales existent. Aucun membre de comité de la faculté ne peut considérer un appel s'il a déjà examiné la question précédemment. À la discrétion du comité, l'étudiant et/ou le membre de la faculté peut pour Osgoode, Schulich, et la Faculté d'éducation les demandes de révision sont soumises au bureau du vice-doyen approprié.

16. Les exceptions sont les suivantes :

être invité à rencontrer le comité pour présenter son cas oralement. La décision du comité sera prise à huis clos et on s'attend à ce que les parties soient informées de la décision par écrit dans les 30 jours suivant le dépôt de l'appel.

Entente sur la cote différée

L'Entente sur la cote différée est un processus par lequel les étudiants qui ne sont pas capables d'écrire leur dernier examen à la date fixée ou de soumettre le travail du trimestre avant la date limite fixée par la faculté pour donner les dernières notes parviennent à un accord avec le chargé de cours pour obtenir la cote différée dans le cours et fixer une date pour l'examen ou la soumission du travail en suspens. C'est la responsabilité de l'étudiant, utilisant le formulaire prévu à cet effet, de faire le nécessaire auprès du chargé de cours pour terminer le cours et faire parvenir le formulaire au bureau de l'unité ou du département approprié à la date limite mentionnée sur le formulaire. Les chargés de cours peuvent refuser d'examiner les demandes de cote différée; dans ce cas, les étudiants doivent soumettre, dans la date limite établie, une pétition auprès du comité de la faculté approprié pour examen.

Les responsabilités des étudiants dans les processus de pétition et d'appel

Par l'intermédiaire de ses corps législatifs, l'Université a établi des règlements, procédures et dates limites auxquels les étudiants doivent adhérer. Les étudiants doivent surveiller leurs progrès dans les cours, en tenant compte de leurs circonstances personnelles et scolaires, et faire les changements nécessaires pour remettre le travail et respecter les dates limites. L'Université reconnaît cependant que des circonstances particulières peuvent justifier une dispense aux règlements, exigences, dates limites sur une base individuelle. Les demandes pour dispenser d'un règlement, d'une exigence ou d'une date limite sont initiées par une pétition.

Les étudiants optant pour lancer une pétition sont assurés que la confidentialité est une caractéristique de ce processus et que les renseignements fournis pour appuyer leur pétition ou appel ne seront utilisés pour aucun autre motif.

Alors que c'est la responsabilité de l'Université de fournir aux étudiants les renseignements, l'orientation et les conseils nécessaires, il est de la responsabilité des étudiants de :

- connaître et respecter tous les règlements, exigences et dates limites publiées de la faculté ou du programme;
- se familiariser avec les procédures écrites de pétition ou d'appel de leur faculté et faire leur demande en temps voulu;
- fournir toute la documentation nécessaire pour appuyer leur pétition ou leur appel et le faire en temps voulu;

- indiquer et documenter toutes les circonstances pertinentes lorsqu'ils soumettent leur pétition en premier lieu.

Les responsabilités de l'Université dans les processus de pétition et d'appel

Juste comme les étudiants soumettant des pétitions ou appels ont la responsabilité de satisfaire aux exigences du processus, l'Université a la responsabilité de l'administrer.

Personnel non enseignant :

Il est de la responsabilité des membres du personnel non enseignant de :

- conseiller et guider les étudiants en ce qui concerne les options, les dates limites, la documentation nécessaire et les voies d'appel par le moyen d'une annonce écrite, du site Web de l'Université, des rendez-vous personnels ou de la communication par téléphone;
- diriger les étudiants vers le bureau approprié pour des renseignements sur les pétitions et appels;
- s'occuper des pétitions et appels de façon efficace pour éviter les retards injustifiés;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Membres du corps enseignant :

Il est de la responsabilité du corps enseignant de :

- répondre aux demandes de renseignements des étudiants et du personnel non-enseignant en temps voulu;
- aider à diriger les étudiants vers le bureau approprié pour des renseignements sur les pétitions et appels;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Comités et préposés aux pétitions et appels :

Il est de la responsabilité des comités et préposés aux pétitions et appels de :

- s'assurer que les parties reçoivent un traitement équitable, uniforme et respectueux de l'éthique;
- accorder une attention approfondie et sérieuse à toutes les demandes;
- rendre les décisions seulement après un examen consciencieux;
- fournir aux parties les raisons des décisions prises;
- maintenir le droit des étudiants à la confidentialité.

Adaptations religieuses/Directive du Sénat sur le Jour du souvenir pour les femmes

La politique du sénat régissant les dates de session et les horaires d'examens inclut un énoncé en deux parties sur l'observation des pratiques religieuses :

Tous les efforts possibles seront déployés afin d'éviter de programmer des examens en salle de classe ou des examens officiels les jours de fêtes religieuses spéciales tout au long de l'année. Un horaire des dates de fêtes religieuses de diverses religions sera compilé annuellement et largement distribué. On informera les étudiants des procédures à suivre pour demander et arranger des dispositions.

Le sénat a approuvé, en mai 1998, une directive pour la commémoration du Jour du souvenir pour les femmes qui encourage la préparation et le financement d'activités reliées au Jour du souvenir pour les femmes. La directive du Sénat encourage également les professeurs à marquer dans leurs cours le Jour du souvenir pour les femmes en présentant à leurs étudiants certaines questions auxquelles font face les femmes et notamment les questions de violence faites aux femmes. L'administration est invitée à soutenir l'organisation d'ateliers destinés à aider les professeurs à se préparer pour cette journée.

D'autres renseignements sur cette directive sont publiés dans les annuaires de cours. Les diverses activités organisées dans le cadre de cette Journée du souvenir pour les femmes seront annoncées à l'avance dans l'Université.

Règlement du Sénat concernant les conséquences pour les études des perturbations ou interruptions des activités de l'Université par des conflits de travail ou par d'autres causes

Le Sénat de l'Université a adopté des règlements qui s'appliquent dans le cas où les activités universitaires seraient sérieusement perturbées ou arrêtées à la suite de grèves, lock-out, manifestations, désastres naturels ou d'autres causes. Ces règlements comprennent trois grands principes, présentés ci-dessous. Pour tout renseignement supplémentaire, s'adresser au Secrétariat de l'Université (<http://www.yorku.ca/secretariat/policies/>).

A. Intégrité des études

Dans tous les cas de perturbations, il incombe au Sénat de maintenir l'intégrité de tous les programmes d'études. Il convient de ne pas abaisser ni modifier les normes de travail normalement appliquées aux étudiants et de réduire aussi peu que possible le soutien pédagogique qui leur est normalement offert.

B. Équité envers les étudiants

Les étudiants qui ne participent pas aux activités d'études parce que (a) ils sont dans l'impossibilité de le faire en raison de toute perturbation des cours ou parce que (b) ils choisissent de ne pas y participer en raison d'une grève ou d'un lock-out sur le campus, ne peuvent pas être pénalisés. Ils devront pouvoir avoir accès, dans la mesure du possible, aux matières étudiées en leur absence, bénéficier d'un délai suffisant pour la remise d'un travail et de toute autre mesure jugée raisonnable par le Sénat et qui respecte les principes fondamentaux de l'intégrité des études. Ces mesures prises en raison des perturbations des activités d'études ne doivent pas abaisser les normes universitaires et les étudiants ne sont pas pour autant dispensés de l'obligation d'acquiescer les connaissances prévues. Les mesures spéciales prévues par ce règlement ne permettent pas de garantir aux étudiants le même type d'apprentissage qu'ils auraient reçu s'il n'y avait pas eu de perturbation des études.

C. Accès aux renseignements

Tous les membres de l'Université, étudiants, membres du personnel et professeurs ont le droit d'être informés rapidement des changements apportés aux exigences et dates limites, du report des cours et autres activités, qui entreront en vigueur à la fin des perturbations.

General Information

Within the broad mandate of the University, York's Faculty of Education offers innovative pre-service, professional development and graduate programs. The Faculty is distinguished by its commitment to exploring ways to address equity, social justice and environmental issues in all of its programs. The Faculty values collaboration and an interdisciplinary orientation to education within an academic framework of inquiry into the interrelatedness of language and culture, teaching and learning. These values are evidenced in our staffing model and in our programs. York's pre-service, professional development and graduate programs are staffed by full-time tenure stream faculty, faculty seconded full-time from local school boards and faculty cross-appointed from other programs within the University.

The Faculty of Education at York offers concurrent undergraduate programs for students simultaneously enrolled in other undergraduate faculties and a full- and part-time consecutive undergraduate program for prospective teachers who have already graduated in another discipline. The Faculty's Deaf and Hard of Hearing Education post-baccalaureate program is the only one of its kind in Ontario. Our unique graduate program focus in language, culture and teaching has resulted in interdisciplinary faculty and student collaboration across several departments within the University. Our research and field development program, offered conjointly with school boards, is based on a teacher-as-researcher model.

Teacher education at York is understood as an intellectual as well as a practical endeavour. Students in the program are exposed to current theory and research in education and education-related fields. As well, students have the opportunity to work extensively in schools and their communities. This balance between theory and practice is made possible, in part, by York's complementary staffing model which brings together faculty working on on-going research and writing projects with faculty who have extensive and current professional expertise across all aspects of compulsory schooling. Together they are able to provide students with a program which is based on current theory, research and classroom practice. Boards of education inside and outside the province highly value York's bachelor of education graduates because of their awareness of social justice issues, their knowledge of current theory and research and their strong classroom experience.

BEd Degree Programs

Teacher candidates entering the Faculty of Education's Concurrent program at York generally do so in the second year of their academic program. They are carefully selected on the basis of academic achievement, oral communication abilities, experience and personal characteristics relevant to the teaching profession. One year is added to their undergraduate studies and they work concurrently to complete the requirements of their bachelor's degree as well as the requirements of their bachelor of education degree. In three of those years, they spend one day a week in school or community placements along with a block practice teaching period at the end of Years 2 and 3. Concurrent candidates may also pursue the Jewish Teacher Education option, a course of study designed to prepare teachers with qualifications not only for an Ontario Teaching Certificate (OTC) but also for Hebrew language and Jewish studies in the Jewish Boards of Education. The Faculty also offers a BEd (French) program to prepare teacher candidates to teach French at the elementary level (K-6) with emphasis on French Immersion education in Ontario.

The new BEd (Summer Science) Concurrent program is designed for students in the Faculty of Science and Engineering to pursue a career in teaching. Applicants for the intermediate/senior certification level may be able to elect to take all the education requirements during the summer sessions. Students who have science and math areas as their two teaching subjects (biology, chemistry, physics, general science, mathematics and environmental science) will be able to complete their teaching subject courses during the summers. In the course of three summer sessions, teacher candidates in the program will complete 30 credits for their BEd degree plus the required days of in-school practicum.

A new BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) Concurrent program will be launched in 2010-2011 and has been designed to prepare teacher candidates in the concurrent and part-time consecutive BEd programs to teach at all certification levels (primary/junior, junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior) and to meet the needs of teaching indigenous material in appropriately respectful ways to both Indigenous and non-Indigenous students in a range of contexts. This program includes two additional required courses, ED/EDUC 2200 3.00 (Issues in Indigenous Education) and ED/EDUC XXXX 3.00 (Pedagogy of the Land), which will be counted towards satisfying the BEd elective requirements. The former will need to be completed prior to admission to the BEd program with a minimum C+ final grade.

Teacher candidates entering the Faculty of Education's full- or part-time Consecutive program at York must have completed a three- or four-year undergraduate degree. They are carefully selected on the basis of academic achievement, oral communication abilities, experience and personal characteristics relevant to the teaching profession. The full-time Consecutive program runs over an extended academic year. Candidates receive an introduction to the teaching profession and are oriented to campus facilities and to their host schools in the last week of August. The practice teaching and course work of the program continue through to the following June. Candidates normally spend two days a week in schools from early September to early June. As well, nine weeks of block teaching practice are embedded within this time frame. This strong emphasis on practicum is a vital connection in linking theory and practice. The part-time consecutive program is taken over a three-year period. Teacher candidates typically take their courses and practicum in two to three full week days and complete a one-week (Year 1) or a four-week (Years 2 and 3) practicum block in May at the end of the University academic year. The full-time Consecutive program offers primary/junior, primary/junior articulated for graduates in early childhood education, primary/junior and junior/intermediate urban diversity, junior/intermediate, junior/intermediate in fine arts and intermediate/senior.

The Faculty of Education takes seriously the eradication of discriminatory practices based on race, gender, ethnicity, social class, sexual orientation and disability. As such, the Faculty has established structures, procedures and practices that are designed to eliminate those barriers.

The Faculty is committed to educating students to work in a pluralistic society. To this end, we recommend that students select academic and educational courses that offer a wide range of experience and knowledge, as well as diverse theoretical and ideological perspectives.

Successful completion of any one of these programs leads to recommendation following convocation for the basic Ontario Certificate of Qualification with qualifications to teach within the two divisions included in the particular program title.

The divisions of the school system of the province of Ontario are defined as:

- Primary - junior kindergarten to Grade 3
- Junior - Grade 4 to Grade 6
- Intermediate - Grade 7 to Grade 10
- Senior - Grade 11 to Grade 12

Practicum/Seminar Approach

Much of the curriculum for all pre-service programs of the Faculty of Education is linked to practicum experiences. The teacher candidate spends extensive time in field settings or practica that are supported by coursework and school/community partnerships.

In addition to providing direct experience and an opportunity to apply newly acquired skills and knowledge, the practica are a major source of curriculum in the sense that they bring candidates face to face with concrete situations. These situations are related to seminars held at the University. The underlying assumptions of this approach are that teaching can be considered as a form of problem solving and that teacher candidates learn best that which allows them to understand and to master their environment.

A host school which is most suitable for York's program is defined, in part, by the presence of a pool of committed mentor teachers, a supportive principal and, in addition, a teacher articulate about the process of education who will fill the role of site coordinator. Our program operates in the schools with the continuing consent of the board and the staff of the school. Teacher candidates are assigned their placements. They do not choose their own host schools.

Duration of the Academic Year

Students seeking admission to the Faculty of Education should note that the academic year in the Faculty is somewhat longer than is usual in other Faculties. This longer year is owing to the practicum requirements. Consult the Concurrent and Consecutive program sections above with respect to the specific practicum requirements.

Criminal Background Checks

All teacher candidates in the Faculty of Education Consecutive (full- and part-time) and Concurrent programs are required to have completed a satisfactory criminal background check. Further information on criminal background checks can be obtained from the Ontario Education Services Corporation at <http://www.oesc-cseo.org>.

Medical Tests

The University may, at any time, require a teacher candidate to undergo a medical examination and may appoint a duly qualified medical practitioner to conduct the examination.

Access Initiative – Concurrent and Consecutive Programs

The Faculty of Education Access Initiative is designed to recruit and admit individuals who are from groups which confront or who have themselves confronted identifiable barriers to education. Applicants from the following target groups may choose to apply to the Faculty of Education through this initiative:

- First Nations/Aboriginal Peoples;
- people with disabilities;
- racial minorities/people of colour;
- people whose personal education or career have been affected by the refugee experience.

Applicants to the Access Initiative must meet York Faculty of Education admission requirements.

Information on the Access Initiative may be obtained from BEd Student Services, 128 Winters College or by calling 416-736-5001.

Expectations of Catholic School Boards

Many of the Catholic school boards in Ontario require that applicants for teaching positions have completed successfully a course in religious education methods. To help candidates meet this requirement, the Faculty of Education, in cooperation with the Catholic Office of Religious Education (CORE), offers an optional (ED/EDUC 3000 3.00*) course in Religious Education. Please consult the timetable and register for this course during the registration period. Priority enrolment in this course is given to ED III candidates (Concurrent and Part-time Consecutive programs only).

The Catholic school boards prefer that all applicants for positions have had some experience in Catholic schools. Candidates wishing some practicum experience in Catholic schools should make their wishes known on the practicum request form. Every effort will be made to provide interested candidates with a Catholic school placement during at least one of their practica. Some Catholic school boards also prefer applicants to have had some university-level course work in the area of religious studies.

Please note that ED/EDUC 3000 3.00 is a requirement for employment with the Toronto Catholic District School Board. Please check if this is a requirement for other Catholic boards where employment is being sought.*

Ontario Certificate Of Qualification

The Ontario Certificate of Registration certifies that the holder is qualified to teach in Ontario elementary and secondary schools. The basic and additional qualifications of the teacher are recorded on a second form, the Certificate of Qualification. The Certificate of Qualification will be updated as the teacher acquires additional qualifications.

The regulations require a candidate to earn basic qualifications in two consecutive divisions during the pre-service teacher education program. To teach in the intermediate division one must have completed courses in one teaching subject, and in the senior division two teaching subjects, selected from an approved list.

Certificates to teach in Ontario schools are issued by the Ontario College of Teachers on the recommendation of the dean of the Faculty of Education. All information in this publication about regulations with respect to certification is governed by the Ontario College of Teachers.

The Ontario College of Teachers requires that candidates provide an official transcript indicating that they have successfully completed a BEd degree. Transcripts must be requested by the candidate from the Registrar's Office.

New graduates from Ontario Faculties of Education must apply for membership in the Ontario College of Teachers in order to obtain a license to teach in publicly funded schools in Ontario.

Citizenship

Applicants to the Faculty of Education should note that, while there are no citizenship, permanent residency or other requirements for entrance to York University or to the Faculty of Education, the Ontario College of Teachers will grant the Certificate of Registration and the Certificate of Qualification only to individuals who are Canadian citizens, permanent residents or otherwise entitled under Canadian regulations to obtain work as a teacher in Canada.

Evaluation Policy and Procedures

Course Weight

A minimum of 30 credits (five full university courses) is required to complete the BEd pre-service degree. A course which is allocated 6.00 credits (ED/XXXX 6.00) is the equivalent of a standard full-year course. Any course which is allocated 3.00 credits (ED/XXXX 3.00) is the equivalent of a half course. Any course which is allocated 1.50 credits (ED/XXXX 1.50) is the equivalent of a quarter course.

Grade Requirements

a. Concurrent Candidates

In order to remain coregistered in the Faculty of Education or to graduate, candidates must maintain a superior standard of performance in both their academic Faculty and in the Faculty of Education. Teacher candidates will be ineligible to continue or to graduate if they fall into any one of the categories listed below.

- Candidates who fail to maintain a C+ overall average or a 5.00 grade point average in the Faculty of coregistration will not be considered eligible to proceed in education.

- Candidates will be ineligible to continue in the BEd degree program if they receive less than a grade of C+ in any course taken for education credit.
- Candidates are expected to achieve a minimum of C+ in each course fulfilling the requirements for a teaching subject for junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior. Failure to do so may result in a suspension or involuntary withdrawal from the program or other appropriate recommendation at the discretion of the Faculty adviser and the associate dean (pre-service).
- Candidates are required to complete one practicum seminar during each of the three years of the program. These seminars, which consist of both seminars and placements in a school/community (Year 1) or in a school/classroom (Years 2 and 3) are evaluated on a pass/fail basis. Candidates who fail to achieve a pass in a practicum seminar are ineligible to continue in the program.
- Practicum seminars are corequisite with appropriate courses.

b. Consecutive Candidates

In order to remain registered in the Consecutive program and to graduate, candidates must maintain a superior standard of performance in their course work. Teacher candidates will be ineligible to maintain their registration status or to graduate if they receive less than a grade of C+ in any half or full education course.

- Candidates who fail to achieve a pass in a practicum seminar are ineligible to continue in the program.
- Practica are corequisite with appropriate courses.
- Candidates in the part-time program are required to complete one practicum seminar during each of the three years of the program. These seminars, which consist of both seminars and placements in a school/community (Year 1) or in a school/classroom (Years 2 and/ or 3) are evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

Evaluation Policies and Procedures

- All evaluation procedures and criteria will be clearly specified in the course outline and made known to the candidate.
- Information in a candidate's file will be released outside the University only upon the written request of that candidate.
- Candidates will have the opportunity to assess their progress in each practicum/seminar course in consultation with instructors at least once in each term.

It is an important goal of the Faculty of Education that graduates be able to operate as independent problem solvers who have the capacity to evaluate their own performance and to muster evidence of achievements and progress. Thus, while the professional staff of the Faculty bear the ultimate and final responsibility for evaluation, each teacher candidate is also expected to play an important role in self-evaluation.

Grading Scheme

Grade Scales

All undergraduate courses in the Faculty of Education are graded with the common nine-point grading scheme approved by Senate. Please note that Faculty of Education students must achieve a minimum of C+ in any course taken for education credit. For further information on the Faculty of Education evaluation policy, please see Grade Requirements above.

Grade	Point Value
A+	9	Exceptional
A	8	Excellent
B+	7	Very Good
B	6	Good
C+	5	Competent
C	4	Fairly Competent
D+	3	Passing
D	2	Barely Passing

E	1	Marginally Failing
F	0	Failing

Practicum Seminar

Practicum seminars are evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is defined as the presentation of work as one's own which originates from some other, unacknowledged source. In examinations, term papers and other graded assignments, verbatim or almost verbatim presentation of someone else's work without attribution constitutes plagiarism. This is deemed to include the presentation, without acknowledgement, of someone else's argument in the candidate's own work as if it were one's own.

For further information on plagiarism, please consult the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty in the University Policies and Regulations section of this publication.

Cheating

Cheating is defined as the giving or receiving or utilizing, or attempt at giving or receiving or utilizing, unauthorized information or assistance during or before an examination; or the presentation of a single work to more than one course without the permission of the instructors involved.

In all cases of suspected breaches of academic honesty, the course director must consult with the candidate. Minor or major penalties may be applied should the instructor believe that grounds exist for official action. The candidate has the right to appeal any allegation of plagiarism or cheating.

If candidates are uncertain whether a course of action might constitute cheating or plagiarism, they should consult the instructor concerned in advance.

Academic Honesty

For information on academic honesty, please consult the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty in the University Policies and Regulations section of this publication.

Withdrawals

Course withdrawals: candidates may withdraw from any education course without receiving a grade if they do so by the published withdrawal dates. Candidates who withdraw from an education practicum seminar, or from any course in the Consecutive program, however, should note that they will be required to re-apply for admission to the Faculty of Education if they wish to resume their education program. To withdraw from an education course, candidates must report their intent to the Faculty of Education, Undergraduate Student Services, in accordance with the published withdrawal dates. Those who withdraw from a course after these dates are normally deemed to have failed it and receive a grade of F.

Program withdrawals: candidates who withdraw from the Faculty of Education, and who are registered in the Concurrent program, may transfer their accumulated education credits to their academic Faculty subject to the rules and procedures of that Faculty. Any grades so transferred are then subject to the regulations governing maintenance of standing in their academic Faculty. Candidates must report their intention to withdraw both to the Faculty of Education, Undergraduate Student Services and their academic Faculty.

Faculty Legislation on Involuntary Withdrawal

A candidate may be required to withdraw from a course if:

- a) the candidate fails to meet the requirements of a course, either through unsatisfactory seminar and/or practicum attendance/participation, or through unprofessional behaviour in fulfilling course requirements; or

b) the candidate's performance is judged to disrupt seriously the functioning of the host classroom and/or the well-being of the students in that classroom.

The decision to require the candidate to withdraw will be taken by the associate dean (pre-service) on the recommendation of the course director following a meeting with the candidate. Candidates will have access to the usual appeal procedures in such instances.

Education Program and/or Subject Changes

Candidates are advised that a change in education program (movement among primary/junior, junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior programs) or in teaching subjects at the junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior levels may only be made with the approval of the associate dean. Considerations which may affect the approval of such a change include the year level completed in the education program, standing of the candidate and the adequacy of academic background for the proposed change, and matters having to do with enrolment limits and availability of the education courses which would be required for the candidate to complete the altered program. Program changes may result in delays in graduation.

Deferred Standing

Deferred standing may be granted with the support of the relevant course director in cases where final grades cannot be assigned because all course requirements have not been completed. The grounds for granting deferred standing are for rare and unforeseen circumstances.

When granted, deferred standing is an interim measure pending completion of regular or alternative assignments.

The granting of a deferral may result in candidates missing June convocation for degree conferral. Deferred Standing Agreement forms may be obtained at Student Client Services, the Faculty of Education, Undergraduate Student Services or online at <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca>. Requests must be accompanied by a medical certificate and other written documentation. Deferred Standing Agreement forms should be completed in consultation with the course director prior to the submission of final grades.

Reappraisal

While all grades and evaluation decisions are carefully assessed, a candidate may request a reappraisal of a grade by making a formal request to the associate dean (pre-service) within three weeks of the release of final grade reports. The request must be in writing and should state clearly why the applicant believes that the grade should be re-evaluated. A reappraisal may result in a lower, higher or unchanged grade. Please note that before submitting a formal request for re-evaluation, candidates must first discuss the assigned grade with the course director. If the candidate is unable to reach the course director before the three-week deadline, a letter of intent to appeal the grade can be submitted to the associate dean's office pending contact with the course director.

Petitions Procedure

Students may petition on reasonable grounds and in writing any of the regulations of the Faculty of Education. Enquiries about procedures should be made to the Faculty of Education, Undergraduate Student Services.

University Policies and Procedures

Disruptive and/or Harassing Behaviour by Students in Academic Situations

Students and instructors are expected to maintain a professional relationship characterized by courtesy and mutual respect and to refrain from actions disruptive to such a relationship. Moreover, it is the responsibility of the instructor to maintain an appropriate academic atmosphere in the classroom and the responsibility of the student to cooperate in that endeavour. Further, the instructor is the best person to decide, in the first instance, whether such an atmosphere is present in the class.

Religious Practices and the Pre-Service Practicum

The Faculty of Education at York University is enhanced by serving a diverse population. In accordance with the laws of Ontario and Ministry regulations that recognize and support religious differences, it is essential for our teacher candidates to be able to observe their own religious traditions and practices, both within the Faculty and during school placements. Course directors, administrators, site coordinators and mentor teachers should be sensitive to individual needs and discuss with their teacher candidates how these needs can best be accommodated within the practicum. Teacher candidates are encouraged to initiate discussion about their religious traditions, obligations and practices early in the school year so that necessary arrangements can be made. Course directors will support candidates by making this policy known to host schools and teacher candidates early in the school year.

Sexual Harassment, York University

York is both an institution of learning and a workplace. As such, this University does not condone sexual harassment or any other exploitation of power. In fact, the University views sexual harassment to be a serious offence and it will impose disciplinary measures in the case of such an offence. This is in keeping with the Ontario Human Rights Code (1981) which affirms the right of individuals to study and work in environments free from sexual harassment. York University seeks to prevent its students and employees from being sexually harassed.

In consultation with principals or relevant school board administrators, school board policies may be invoked if sexual harassment occurs in field placements.

Concurrent BEd Programs

The Faculty of Education offers a Concurrent coregistered BEd degree, a Concurrent coregistered program in Jewish Teacher Education and a Concurrent coregistered BEd (French) degree. The Faculty also offers a BEd (Summer Science) program. Beginning in 2010-2011, the Faculty will also be offering a Concurrent BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) program. Teacher candidates pursuing BEd studies also work towards the completion of a BA, BES, BHS, BSc or BFA degree. The academic bachelor program, normally requiring three years for completion, will require four years when taken concurrently with the education degree. Similarly, a program normally requiring four years for completion could require five years.

Students must have a minimum C+ overall average or a 5.00 grade point average in their academic Faculty to be eligible for admission to and to maintain coregistration in any one of the three basic programs. Students wishing to graduate with a three-year bachelor program degree from their academic Faculty are eligible to enrol in the primary/junior or junior/intermediate programs only.

In order to coregister, students must be admitted to each Faculty separately. Only those students who are admitted to an undergraduate degree program at York are eligible to be admitted to the Faculty of Education. While coregistered, the combined study program of each candidate is subject to the approval of the two Faculties. The BEd degree is awarded only in conjunction with an academic degree as described above.

Successful graduates receive both a BA degree (or BES or BHS or BSc or BFA degree) and a BEd degree, as well as a recommendation for the Ontario Certificate of Qualification.

Note: the Concurrent program is a three-year program with a practicum to be completed in each year.

Standards and Procedures for Admission to the Concurrent BEd Program

To apply to the Faculty of Education, a student must:

- have completed by April 30th a minimum of 24 credits (four full university courses) of a first year of undergraduate studies or the equivalent, and

- have a minimum of 36 credits (six full university courses) left to complete their academic degree.

Applicants must have a minimum 5.00 (C+) overall average and be admitted to and continuing in an undergraduate program in one of the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Glendon, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering.

Applicants to the BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) program, should also have completed ED/EDUC 2200 3.00 with a minimum C+ grade prior to admission to the Faculty of Education.

Applicants normally complete both degrees (e.g. BA and BEd) within four years of coregistering if they are taking a three-year undergraduate degree. Both degrees must be conferred at the same convocation.

Applicants must attend both education classes and fulfill practicum requirements during the daytime throughout the academic year. A limited number of sections of some courses are offered in the evening.

Applicants must complete at least 12 credits (two full university courses) towards their academic degree in each calendar year (i.e. September to August) to comply with the concurrency requirements of the Faculty of Education.

Successful candidates are normally selected on the basis of education-related experience, references, university grade point averages and individual interviews.

Note: an application will not be regarded as complete until all documents and materials have been received by the Faculty of Education. It is the responsibility of applicants to ensure that their file is complete by the application deadline.

Application forms for Concurrent programs are available in January for admission to the Faculty of Education for the following academic year. Application forms can be downloaded from the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/>. For information contact BEd Student Services, Faculty of Education, 128 Winters College, tel.: 416-736-5001.

Please note that, with the exception of the BEd (French) program, Glendon students take their Concurrent BEd education courses at the Keele campus. Students in the BEd (French) program take their electives at the Keele campus.

Concurrent BEd Program Practicum

The first year field placement explores schools and their communities. Candidates spend 50 hours in this field placement during their first year in the program. The second and third year practica occur in schools and classrooms. This long-term association with a school's program allows the candidate to observe the development of the curriculum and pupils over the course of the school year and to acquire an understanding of the school and its community. Over the three-year period of the program, every attempt is made to familiarize candidates with different boards in the area, pupils of different age levels, a range of school offerings and a variety of social groups of pupils. (For further details on the Concurrent program practicum, please see the Faculty of Education Web site <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/bed/practicum.html>.)

BEd (French)

Students entering the Faculty of Education's Concurrent BEd (French) program generally do so in Year 2 of their academic program.

Considerable emphasis in the program is placed on ensuring excellent French language proficiency and a deep understanding of francophone cultures. To satisfy the francophone cultural component of the program, teacher candidates participate in a one-year study program in a francophone context during Year 3 of a four-year program or Year 4 of a five-year program on a stop-out from the Faculty of Education, or enrol in two full course equivalents (12 credits) in francophone culture as part of the bachelor's degree requirements. A significant proportion of the practicum is carried out in Ontario French Immersion schools. Candidates also have experiences in English language elementary settings.

Note: the BEd (French) degree is currently offered for the most part at the Glendon campus. The program option is available at the primary/junior level only.

All students are required to apply to the Faculty of Education and will be selected as per the requirements listed below:

- Must have completed by April 30 a minimum of four (4) full courses (24 credits) of a first year of undergraduate studies or the equivalent.
- Have a minimum C+ overall average in an undergraduate program at York University or the equivalent.
- Have a minimum of six (6) full courses (36 credits) left to complete their academic degree.

Applicants who do not present one of the following must successfully complete a written and oral French placement test:

- Four full years of study in French at the secondary school level.
- One full year of study in French in an accredited university degree program.
- Two full years of study in French in an accredited college diploma program.

Note: the Faculty does not count time spent in FSL courses, letters written by applicants or senior-level high-school French course(s) as proof of French language proficiency.

The above requirements are general guidelines only. The Faculty reserves the right to require a successfully completed language proficiency test.

Applicants must have a minimum 5.00 (C+) overall average and be admitted to and continuing in an undergraduate program in one of the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Glendon, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering.

Applicants normally complete both degrees (e.g. BA and BEd) within four years of coregistering if they are taking a three-year undergraduate degree and both degrees must be conferred at the same convocation.

Applicants must attend both education classes and fulfill practicum requirements during the daytime throughout the academic year. A limited number of sections of some courses are offered in the evening.

Applicants must complete at least 12 credits (two full university courses) towards their academic degree in each calendar year (i.e. September to August) to comply with the concurrency requirements of the Faculty of Education.

Successful candidates are normally selected on the basis of education-related experience, references, university grade point averages, a written test in French and individual interviews conducted in both English and French.

Note: an application will not be regarded as complete until all documents and materials have been received by the Faculty of Education. It is the responsibility of applicants to ensure that their file is complete.

Application forms for Concurrent programs are available in January for admission to the Faculty of Education for the following academic year. Application forms can be downloaded from the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/>. For information contact BEd Student Services, Faculty of Education, 128 Winters College, tel.: 416-736-5001.

Please note that Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Science and Engineering students take the majority of their BEd (French) education courses at the Glendon campus.

BEd (French) Practicum

Practicum seminars in each of the three years are designed to cover basic issues of observation, inquiry, reflection, school structures, portfolios, lesson planning, curriculum design, classroom management and assessment. Each seminar is supported by university coursework and a relevant placement.

Placements in Year 1 of the BEd (French) program consist of a set of experiences in francophone community-based and/or French Immersion school-based sites (not individual classrooms). Teacher candidates complete a 50-hour placement.

In Year 2, one day per week in the fall term takes place in an English school/classroom. A winter placement plus a four-week final block take place in a French Immersion setting in the same panel (i.e. primary or junior). In Year 3, teacher candidates are placed in school settings in which a variety of French Immersion classroom experiences are offered. The emphasis of the placement is on the panel not addressed in Year 2. This placement consists of one day per week and a four-week culminating block.

BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education)

Beginning in 2010-2011, candidates in the Faculty of Education's Concurrent or Part-time Consecutive programs may pursue the Indigenous Teacher Education program, a course of study designed to prepare teachers of Aboriginal studies, under guidelines established by the Faculty. Students entering the Faculty of Education's Concurrent BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education Program) generally do so upon successful completion of the first or second year of their bachelor program.

Prior to admission, students should have completed ED/EDUC 2200 3.00 (Issues in Indigenous Education) with a minimum C+ grade. This course will later count as a BEd elective, once admitted into the Faculty of Education.

Teacher candidates may wish to pursue the Certificate in Indigenous Studies offered at York but are not necessarily required to do so in order to achieve the 24-credit requirement for the Indigenous Teacher Education program. Even those students who are not pursuing the Certificate in Indigenous Studies are expected to successfully complete 24 credits from an approved list of existing courses that have an Indigenous focus with a grade of C+ or higher in each course.

Considerable emphasis in the program is placed on Indigenous language skills and deep understanding of Native Canadian cultures. It is strongly recommended that at least one Indigenous language course be taken prior to graduation. To further support the Indigenous cultural component of the program, community organizations and schools related to the Indigenous experience may be used for practicum placements throughout the three years of the BEd program.

All students are required to apply to the Faculty of Education and will be selected as per the requirements listed below:

- Must have completed by April 30th a minimum of four full courses (24 credits) of a first year of undergraduate studies or the equivalent.
- Have a minimum of six full courses (36 credits) left to complete their academic degree.

Applicants must also present a minimum C+ final grade in the course ED/EDUC 2200 3.00 prior to admission.

Applicants must have a minimum 5.00 (C+) overall average and be admitted to and continuing in an undergraduate program in one of the following Faculties at York University: Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Glendon, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering.

Applicants normally complete both degrees (e.g. BA and BEd) within four years of coregistering, if taking a three-year degree, and both degrees must be conferred at the same convocation.

For further information on the BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) program, please visit <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/bed/indigenous.html>.

Jewish Teacher Education – Concurrent and Part-time Consecutive

Candidates in the Faculty of Education's Concurrent and Part-time Consecutive programs may pursue the Jewish Teacher Education option, a course of study designed to prepare teachers of Hebrew language arts and Jewish studies under guidelines established by the Faculty in consultation with the Board of Jewish Education of Greater Toronto.

During the course of the candidate's professional training, appropriate practicum placements in Jewish day schools enable candidates to develop teaching skills in Jewish studies and general studies leading to certification by the Toronto Board of Jewish Education as well as the preparation necessary to be recommended for certification by the Ontario College of Teachers.

Jewish Teacher Education

Teacher candidates enrolled in this program should be sure to include:

AP/HEB 3210 3.00 or AP/HEB 3211 3.00
AP/HEB 3220 3.00 or AP/HEB 3221 3.00
AP/HEB 3230 3.00 or AP/HEB 3231 3.00

These courses are offered on a rotating basis over a three-year cycle.

ED I students are asked to make an appointment for an informal Hebrew language assessment to determine the section in which to enrol: Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics, tel.: 416-736-2100, ext. 55016.

Teacher candidates in Jewish Teacher Education usually major in religious studies in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies. Even those students who are not majoring in religious studies are expected to take a coherent program of Hebrew language and courses in Jewish studies. All students, regardless of major, are expected to qualify for the Advanced Certificate in Hebrew and Jewish Studies (six approved courses with a grade of C+ or higher in each; for details visit the Jewish Studies Web site <http://www.arts.yorku.ca/huma/jsp/>).

Teacher candidates enrolled in the Jewish Teacher Education program should carefully prepare their academic programs each year in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the program's coordinator in order to be sure that they meet the academic requirements of their chosen programs in the Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, including the Advanced Certificate in Hebrew and Jewish Studies. Two courses, ED/HEB 2030 3.00 and ED/HEB 3030 3.00, are offered by the Faculty of Education. Teacher candidates in the Jewish Teacher Education concurrent option must take these courses. The credits can be transferred to be counted toward the undergraduate degree.

BEd (Summer Science) Program

Applicants to the Concurrent bachelor of education (BEd) program for the intermediate/senior certification level may elect to take all the education requirements during summer sessions. Students who have science and math areas as their two teaching subjects (biology, chemistry, physics, general science, mathematics and environmental science) will be able to complete their teaching subject courses during the summer months through an intensive and integrated approach to teaching beginning in the Summer 2010.

In the course of three summer sessions, the teacher candidate will complete 30 credits for their BEd degree plus the required days of in-school practicum in order to be certified by the Ontario College of Teachers. The program, taught at the Keele campus, includes first year placements in both community organizations and summer school classrooms.

All graduates of the intermediate/senior certification level (Grades 7 to 12) must complete a four-year degree with at least 36 credits (six full-year university courses) in the first teaching subject and 24 credits (four full-year university courses) in the second teaching subject.

Other teaching subjects available to teacher candidates studying at the intermediate/senior level are only offered during the fall/winter sessions.

As a Concurrent BEd student, teacher candidates are coregistered in both the Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Science and Engineering.

Concurrent students must complete both degrees (e.g. BSc and BEd) within four years of coregistering and both degrees must be conferred at the same convocation. Successful graduates will receive both a BSc degree and a BEd degree, as well as a recommendation to the Ontario College of Teachers for the Ontario Certificate of Qualification.

Faculty of Education Concurrency Requirements

While coregistered in the Faculty of Education, a candidate's combined academic and professional program must meet the following requirements:

1. Candidates should consult with their adviser or designate about any academic courses which they propose to add or drop, as changes in academic courses may make one ineligible to remain in a program or to qualify for certification. Normally both degrees must be completed within four years of coregistering.
2. Concurrent with their education course work, candidates shall normally be enrolled in the equivalent of at least 12 credits (two full university courses) in their academic degree program during the calendar year.
3. Candidates must complete a practicum seminar in each year of their BEd degree.

Coregistration in the Faculty of Education makes heavy demands on one's time and energy. Candidates are, therefore, advised to register in no more than a total of 30 credits (five full university courses) in the Faculty of Education and their coregistered Faculty during any one academic session.

Primary/Junior Program

The primary/junior program is open to prospective teachers who wish to teach Grades JK to 6.

Teacher candidates should ensure that they complete at least 30 credits (five full university courses) with a 6.00 (B) average in their major for salary categorization.

Since the primary/junior teacher must be a generalist, it is strongly recommended that candidates in the primary/junior program take as part of their coregistered program:

- six credits in science
- six credits in fine arts
- six credits in history or geography
- six credits in English or humanities
- six credits in mathematics
- six credits in kinesiology and health science

Junior/Intermediate Program

The junior/intermediate program qualifies candidates to teach in Grades 4 to 10. By current College of Teachers' regulations all candidates must prepare themselves to teach one subject at the intermediate level as well as to teach at the generalist level all subjects in the junior/intermediate division. Candidates may choose their intermediate division subject from the following list:

dance	history
dramatic arts	mathematics
English	music - instrumental
French as a second language	religious education
geography	science - general
health and physical education	visual arts

When selecting their teaching subject, candidates should note the academic requirements for each subject and the prerequisites for particular curriculum and instruction courses.

For the junior/intermediate program a minimum of 18 credits (three full university courses) in a subject must be taken in order to register in the teaching subject curriculum and instruction course. A candidate requires a minimum of 24 credits (four full university courses) in the teaching subject in order to graduate.

Intermediate/Senior Program

The intermediate/senior program qualifies candidates to teach in Grades 7 to 12. It may be taken only in conjunction with a four-year degree program with a minimum C+ overall average or a 5.00 grade point average and over a period of three or four years of coregistration. By Ontario College of Teachers' regulations all candidates in the intermediate/senior program must prepare themselves to teach two subjects at the intermediate/senior level. Candidates may choose their intermediate/senior division subjects from the following list:

business studies - accounting	history
business studies - general	international languages (German, Italian, Spanish)
business studies - entrepreneurship	law
business studies - information and communication technology	mathematics
classical studies (Greek or Latin)	music - instrumental computer studies	Native studies
dance	philosophy
dramatic arts	politics
economics	religious education
English	science - biology
environmental science	science - chemistry
family studies	science - general
French as a second language	science - physics
geography	social sciences - general
health and physical education	visual arts

There is potential for conflicts or repetition in choosing similar teaching subjects, such as ones that fall under the business, computer studies or economics, geography, environmental science and science category. Although you may select these combinations, we would like to advise you that you may have the same course director and same course outline for both teaching subject classes.

Some of the above subjects (e.g. business studies), depending on numbers, may only be available through independent study courses. When selecting your two teaching subjects, candidates should note the academic requirements for each subject and the prerequisites for curriculum and instruction courses.

For the intermediate/senior program a minimum of 24 credits (four full university courses) in the subject area must be taken in order to register in the teaching subject curriculum and instruction course. A candidate requires a minimum of 36 credits (six full university courses) in one teaching subject area and 24 credits (four full university courses) in the other area to graduate.

It is highly recommended by the Qualifications Evaluation Council of Ontario (QECO) and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation (OSSTF) that teacher candidates complete 54 credits (nine full university courses) in a teaching subject to qualify for the highest pay rate as a teacher.

Concurrent Program Academic Requirements for Junior/Intermediate and Intermediate/Senior Teaching Subjects

The requirements noted below are for admission to the teaching subject curriculum and instruction course (ED/XXXX 3041 3.00 or ED/XXXX 3051 6.00) and separate from the requirements for the home Faculty degree.

For the junior/intermediate program a minimum of 18 credits (three full university course equivalents) in a subject must be taken in order to register in the teaching subject curriculum and instruction course. A candidate requires a minimum of 24 credits (four full university course equivalents) in the teaching subject in order to graduate.

For the intermediate/senior program a minimum of 24 credits (four full university courses) in the subject area must be taken in order to register in the teaching subject curriculum and instruction course. A candidate requires a minimum of 36 credits (six full university courses) in one teaching subject area and 24 credits (four full university courses) in the other area to graduate.

Candidates are expected to achieve a minimum of C+ in each course fulfilling the requirements for a teaching subject for junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior. Failure to do so may result in a suspension or involuntary withdrawal from the program or other appropriate recommendation at the discretion of the Faculty adviser and the associate dean (pre-service).

It is highly recommended by the Qualifications Evaluation Council of Ontario (QECO) and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation (OSSTF) that teacher candidates complete 54 credits (nine full university courses) in a teaching subject to qualify for the highest pay rate as a teacher. For further details, please visit <http://www.qeco.on.ca> and <http://osstf.on.ca>.

Academic courses should be taken according to the following patterns (note that Glendon, environmental studies or other equivalents may be designated by an adviser).

12 credits of the 36 must at the 3000 or 4000 level.

International Languages (Intermediate/Senior only)

Italian

The best preparation for teaching Italian is a BA degree or an equivalent Honours degree in Italian. Courses are to be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the subject course director.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

12 credits in language, such as:

AP/IT 2000 6.00
AP/IT 2030 6.00
AP/IT 3000 6.00
AP/IT 4000 6.00
AP/IT 3030 6.00

12 credits in literature, such as:

AP/IT 2200 6.00
AP/IT 3550 6.00

12 Italian credits must be completed at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Second Teaching Subject

Of the 24 credits needed:

12 credits in language, such as:

AP/IT 2000 6.00
AP/IT 2030 6.00
AP/IT 3000 6.00

AP/IT 4000 6.00

AP/IT 3030 6.00

Six credits in literature, such as:

AP/IT 2200 6.00
AP/IT 3550 6.00

Six Italian credits must be completed at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Spanish

The best preparation for teaching Spanish is a BA degree or an equivalent Honours degree in Spanish. Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser if necessary.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

Candidates will complete 12 credits in language, such as:

AP/SP 1000 6.00
GL/SP 1520 6.00
AP/SP 2000 6.00
GL/SP 2610 6.00 (cross-listed to: GL/LIN 2610 6.00)
AP/SP 3000 6.00
AP/SP 3050 6.00

Candidates will complete an additional 12 credits in literature, such as:

GL/SP 1530 6.00
AP/SP 2200 6.00
GL/SP 2300 6.00
AP/SP 3210 6.00
AP/SP 3360 3.00
AP/SP 3370 3.00

Remaining 12 Spanish credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

Second Teaching Subject

Of the 24 credits needed:

Candidates will complete 12 credits in language, such as:

AP/SP 3360 3.00
AP/SP 3370 3.00

Remaining six Spanish credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

Law (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching law is a BA degree or equivalent Honours degree in law and society or criminology. Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the subject course director.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

12 credits minimum in criminal law, such as:

AP/SOSC 1650 6.00
AP/SOSC 2650 6.00

12 credits from the following fields of study - philosophy of law or crime and social conditions, such as:

AP/SOSC 1210 9.00
AP/SOSC 1350 9.00

AP/SOSC 2350 6.00
GL/SOSC 2925 3.00

12 credits of the 36 must be at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

12 credits minimum in criminal law, such as:

AP/SOSC 1650 6.00
AP/SOSC 2650 6.00

Six credits from the following fields of study - philosophy of law or crime and social conditions, such as:

AP/SOSC 1210 9.00
AP/SOSC 1350 9.00
AP/SOSC 2350 6.00
GL/SOSC 2925 3.00

Six credits of the 24 must be at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Additional courses in law, criminal procedure, justice and other areas related to law may be included this teaching subject.

Mathematics

Courses are to be chosen in consultation with an education mathematics adviser. The following courses, or approved equivalents, must be included for a first or second teachable in mathematics:

- Six credits in calculus: preferably SC/MATH 1300 3.00 and SC/MATH 1310 3.00; alternatively SC/MATH 1013 3.00 and SC/MATH 1014 3.00;
- Six credits in linear algebra: SC/MATH 1021 3.00 and SC/MATH 2022 3.00; alternatively SC/MATH 2221 3.00 and SC/MATH 2222 3.00;
- Six credits in probability and statistics - recommended combination: SC/MATH 1131 3.00 and SC/MATH 2030 3.00;
- Six credits in proof-based mathematics or three credits in proof-based mathematics and three credits in modeling.

Suggested proof-based courses: SC/MATH 1200 3.00; SC/MATH 3020 6.00; SC/MATH 3050 6.00; SC/MATH 3140 6.00; SC/MATH 3260 3.00; SC/MATH 4160 3.00; SC/MATH 4161 3.00.

Suggested modeling courses: SC/MATH 3090 3.00; SC/MATH 4090 3.00; SC/MATH 3170 6.00.

These courses cover the requirements for a second teachable (24 credits). For a first teachable in mathematics (36 credits), and for additional breadth in a second teachable, students are encouraged to include a wider range of mathematics and should consider courses such as Topics in Mathematics Education SC/MATH 4100 3.00; History of Mathematics, SC/MATH 4400 6.00 as well as additional credits from the list of proof-based mathematics and modeling above.

Students working towards an Honours specialist in mathematics (54 credits plus additional Ministry of Education requirements), may major in any of the programs within mathematics and statistics i.e. Mathematics for Education, Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, Statistics, Mathematics for Commerce, Computational Mathematics. With appropriate course selection, each of these programs offers good opportunities for preparation in mathematics. A minor in any of these programs is also appropriate for a first teachable in mathematics.

Music

The best preparation for teaching music, either in junior/intermediate (24 credits) or as a first (36 credits) or second (24 credits) teaching subject in intermediate/senior, is a BFA or equivalent Honours degree in music. Before taking the practicum-seminar(s), teacher candidates are generally required to have completed the core curriculum as set out by the Music Department, Faculty of Fine Arts (listed below as required). Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser if necessary.

Junior/Intermediate or Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

FA/MUSI 1000 6.00
FA/MUSI 1200 9.00
FA/MUSI 2200 6.00

or

FA/MUSI 2201 3.00 and FA/MUSI 2202 3.00

Remaining credits at the 3000 or 4000 level, for example:

FA/MUSI 3300 6.00
FA/MUSI 3320 6.00

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

FA/MUSI 1000 6.00
FA/MUSI 1200 9.00
FA/MUSI 2200 6.00
FA/MUSI 2201 3.00 and FA/MUSI 2202 3.00

Remaining nine credits at the 3000 or 4000 level, such as:

FA/MUSI 3300 6.00
FA/MUSI 3320 6.00

It is highly recommended that teacher candidates plan to include the following music courses in their study:

FA/MUSI 3000 6.00
FA/MUSI 3470 3.00
FA/MUSI 3450 3.00 or FA/MUSI 3460 3.00

Philosophy (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching philosophy is a BA degree or an equivalent Honours degree in philosophy. Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser if necessary.

Candidates for intermediate/senior philosophy must complete a total of 36 credits for a first teaching subject and 24 credits for a second teaching subject from the following list:

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits such as:

AP/PHIL 1000 6.00
AP/PHIL 1100 3.00
AP/PHIL 2020 3.00

12 credits at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits such as:

AP/PHIL 1000 6.00
AP/PHIL 1100 3.00
AP/PHIL 2020 3.00
AP/PHIL 3170 3.00

Six credits at the 3000 or 4000 year level.

Political Science (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching political science is a BA degree or equivalent Honours degree in political science. Courses are to be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the subject course director.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

One or more introductory courses, such as:

AP/POLS 1000 6.00
AP/POLS 1090 3.00
GL/POLS 1400 6.00

At least six credits in methods of inquiry, research or methodology, such as:

AP/POLS 2300 6.00
GL/POLS 2610 3.00
GL/POLS 2620 6.00
AP/POLS 3300 6.00
GL/POLS 3680 3.00

At least six credits in a course that deals with the following field of Canadian politics, global or international politics and political theory or thought such as:

18 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level in the field of political science.

Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

One or more introductory courses, such as:

AP/POLS 1000 6.00
AP/POLS 1090 3.00
GL/POLS 1400 6.00

At least six credits in methods of inquiry, research or methodology, such as:

AP/POLS 2300 6.00
GL/POLS 2610 3.00
GL/POLS 2620 6.00
AP/POLS 3300 6.00
GL/POLS 3680 3.00

At least six credits in a course that deals with the following field of Canadian politics, global or international politics and political theory or thought, such as:

AP/POLS 2900 6.00
AP/POLS 2910 6.00
AP/POLS 2930 6.00

Six credits at the 3000 or 4000 level in the field of political science.

Religious Studies

Religious studies as a teachable subject offers courses that include areas of religion, culture, biblical, Jewish and Christian studies. Courses are also offered which support students' inquiry into Islamic studies, religious traditions of Asia, and North American First Nations spirituality.

Students wishing to teach religious studies must take 36 credits for a first teachable. Students wishing to teach religious studies as a second teaching subject or as a junior/intermediate teaching subject must take 24 credits. Courses must be selected from within the course list of the Religious Studies program. The resulting qualifications will enable the student to design a comparative religion course as well as teach within public, private and secondary school settings. Course selections should be made in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the education religious studies adviser.

All nine credit courses will be counted as six credits towards the teaching subject.

Junior/Intermediate or Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

AP/HUMA 2800 9.00 (cross-listed to: AP/SOSC 2600 9.00)

Six credits at the 2000 level from courses in the Religious Studies program, such as:

AP/HUMA 2830 9.00
AP/HUMA 2815 9.00
AP/HIST 2790 6.00
GL/SOCI 2525 3.00

12 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level from courses in the Religious Studies program, such as:

AP/HIST 3809 6.00
AP/HUMA 3819 3.00
GL/SOCI 4615 6.00
AP/HUMA 4655 6.00

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

AP/HUMA 2800 9.00 (cross-listed to: AP/SOSC 2600 9.00)

Science

Biology (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching biology as a first teaching subject is an Honours BSc degree in biology. However, Faculty of Science and Engineering students who select biology as their first teaching subject and either chemistry, physics or mathematics as their second teaching subject, may wish to consider the Honours Science degree program which allows for a broader range of courses than in Specialized or Combined Honours. There is potential for conflicts or repetition in choosing similar teaching subjects, such as ones that fall under the science category. Although you may select these combinations, we would like to advise you that you may have the same course director and same course outline for both teaching subject classes.

Candidates for intermediate/senior must complete a total of 36 credits for biology as a first teaching subject and any 24 credits for biology as a second teaching subject from the following list:

SC/BIOL 1010 6.00
SC/BIOL 2010 4.00
SC/BIOL 2020 4.00
SC/BIOL 2021 4.00
SC/BIOL 2030 4.00 or SC/KINE 2031 3.00
SC/BIOL 2040 4.00
SC/BIOL 2050 4.00
SC/BIOL 3001 3.00 or SC/BIOL 3002 3.00 or SC/BIOL 3003 3.00
Any 3000 or 4000 level course in biology
SC/KINE 2011 3.00
SC/NATS 1690 6.00

Recommended for science teacher candidates:

SC/NATS 1710 6.00
SC/NATS 1840 6.00

Chemistry (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching chemistry as a first teaching subject is an Honours BSc degree in chemistry. Social Science - General (Intermediate/Senior only)

The best preparation for teaching social sciences - general is a BA degree or equivalent Honours degree in anthropology, sociology, psychology, social science or philosophy. Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser if necessary.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

12 credits in introductory courses across two of the following fields of study - anthropology, sociology, psychology, humanities, philosophy and social science, such as:

AP/ANTH 1100 6.00
 AP/SOCI 1010 6.00
 HH/PSYC 1010 6.00
 AP/PHIL 1000 6.00

Six credits that focuses on methods of inquiry, research or methodology in one of these fields:

HH/PSYC 3010 3.00 or AP/ANTH 3110 6.00 or AP/SOCI 2030 6.00 or AP/PHIL 2200 3.00

18 credits of the 36 at the 3000 or 4000 level in the range of other courses in the fields of anthropology, sociology, psychology, philosophy, humanities and social science.

Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

12 credits in introductory courses across two of the following fields of study - anthropology, sociology, psychology, humanities, philosophy and social science, such as:

AP/ANTH 1100 6.00

Visual Arts

The best preparation for teaching visual arts is a BFA degree or equivalent Honours degree in visual arts. Courses can be chosen in consultation with a Faculty of Education adviser and/or the subject course director.

Junior/Intermediate or Second Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 24 credits as follows:

FA/VISA 1000 3.00

FA/VISA 1110 6.00 or FA/VISA 2340 6.00 or FA/VISA 2620 6.00

Candidates will complete the remaining credits in two of the following categories:

Drawing, painting, sculpture or printmaking, such as:

FA/VISA 2021 3.00

FA/VISA 2073 3.00

FA/VISA 2081 3.00

FA/VISA 3030 6.00

Any 3000 or 4000 level course.

First Teaching Subject

Candidates must complete 36 credits as follows:

FA/VISA 1000 3.00

FA/VISA 1110 6.00 or FA/VISA 2340 6.00 or FA/VISA 2620 6.00

Candidates will complete the remaining credits in three of the following categories:

Drawing, painting, sculpture or printmaking, such as:

FA/VISA 2021 3.00

FA/VISA 2073 3.00

FA/VISA 2081 3.00

FA/VISA 3030 6.00

Any 3000 or 4000 level course.

Other Subjects

Other teaching subjects, including Greek, Latin, Native studies and modern languages such as German, Japanese and Portuguese, may be arranged on an independent study basis. It should be noted that each independent study course requires the approval of the curriculum committee (with regard to academic aspects) and the associate dean (pre-service) with regard to financial and programmatic aspects. Such approval should not be assumed and should be sought during the advising period and prior to course enrolment.

Stop-Out Year*

Candidates in the Concurrent program may be eligible to take a stop-out year; that is, a year in which the candidate enrolls in courses in the academic degree, but does not enrol in any education courses.

The stop-out year permits candidates to progress toward completion of the academic degree, while not progressing further toward the education degree. This may be appropriate to permit a candidate a period of concentrated study in the discipline, to extend one's teaching subject academic background prior to an intermediate or senior division practicum seminar, or simply to balance the progress in the two degrees to ensure that concurrency regulations will be fulfilled and both degrees will be completed in the same year.

Stop-out years are normally taken between the education I and education II years but may also be taken between the education II and education III years. Candidates are not eligible to do more than one stop-out year during the course of their BEd program. Regulations governing concurrency must be adhered to by candidates exercising the stop-out option. Stop-out forms are available from the Education Office of Student Programs and online at <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca/services/forms.htm>.

Please note that stop-out years are not mandatory and should only be used where necessary to ensure that concurrency is maintained and that both degrees are completed in the same year.*

Consecutive BEd Program – Full-time and Part-time

The full-time Consecutive BEd program runs over an extended academic year. Candidates receive an introduction to the teaching profession and are oriented to campus facilities and to their host schools in the last week of August. The practice teaching and course work of the full-time program continue through to the following May. The part-time Consecutive BEd program runs over a three year period.

Successful graduates of the full- and part-time programs receive a BEd degree as well as a recommendation for the Ontario Certificate of Qualification.

Standards and Procedures for Admission to the Consecutive Program

Applicants must hold an approved degree from an accredited degree granting institution and must present a minimum overall grade point average of B (on a 14-point scale or equivalent 73 percent) based on the final 60 credits or equivalent (10 full courses, or final two years of full-time study) in an undergraduate degree program.

Applicants must be able to speak, write and understand English well in order to be successful in the program. Applicants whose first language is other than English will be required to provide proof of proficiency of English by completing a language proficiency test.

Primary/Junior: applicants do not choose teaching subjects. Applicants will be given preference if they have completed six credits (one full university course) or equivalent, in English, as well as six credits (one full university course or equivalent) in a curriculum subject area.

Primary/Junior ECE (available to full-time teacher candidates only): articulated for graduates in early childhood education. In addition to the requirements above, applicants must also hold an ECE Diploma from a College of Applied Arts and Technology. Applicants will be given preference if they have completed six credits (one full university course or equivalent) in English as well as six credits (one full university course or equivalent) in a curriculum subject area.

Junior/Intermediate: applicants must choose one teaching subject and must have completed 24 credits (four full university courses) in the selected teaching subject. Applicants will be given preference if they have completed six credits (one full university course or equivalent) in English, as well as having a B average on the selected teaching subject courses. Teaching subjects available are:

dance	history
dramatic arts	mathematics
English	music - instrumental
French as a second language	religious education
geography	science - general
health and physical education	visual arts

Junior/Intermediate (Fine Arts) (available to full-time teacher candidates only): must have either a degree in fine arts or an undergraduate degree with at least 12 credits (two full university courses) in one of the teaching subjects, as well as training and/or professional experience in the field. Teaching subjects available are: dance, drama, music, visual arts.

Intermediate/Senior: must choose two teaching subjects and must have completed, or be completing, an Honours program with at least 36 credits (six full university courses) in the first teaching subject and 18 credits

(three full university courses) in the second teaching subject. Preference will be given to applicants who have a minimum B average on the courses applicable to each teaching subject. Teaching subjects available are:

business studies - accounting	history
business studies - general	international languages (German, Italian, Spanish)
business studies - entrepreneurship	law
business studies - information and communication technology	mathematics
classical studies (Greek or Latin)	music - instrumental
computer studies	Native studies
dance	philosophy
dramatic arts	politics
economics	religious education
English	science - biology
environmental science	science - chemistry
family studies	science - general
French as a second language	science - physics
geography	social sciences - general
health and physical education	visual arts

There is potential for conflicts or repetition in choosing similar teaching subjects, such as ones that fall under the business, computer studies or economics, geography, environmental science and science category. Although you may select these combinations, we would like to advise you that you may have the same course director and same course outline for both teaching subject classes.

BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) – Part-time Consecutive

Beginning in 2010-2011, candidates in the Faculty of Education's Concurrent or Part-time Consecutive programs may pursue the Indigenous Teacher Education program, a course of study designed to prepare teachers of Aboriginal studies, under guidelines established by the Faculty. Students entering the Faculty of Education's Concurrent BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) program generally do so upon successful completion of the first or second year of their bachelor program.

Prior to admission, students should have completed ED/EDUC 2200 3.00 (Issues in Indigenous Education) with a minimum C+ grade. This course will later count as a BEd elective, once admitted into the Faculty of Education. In addition to the requirements above, applicants are expected to have successfully completed 24 credits with an Indigenous focus, with a grade of C+ or higher in each course.

Considerable emphasis in the program is placed on Indigenous language skills and deep understanding of Native Canadian cultures. It is strongly recommended that at least one Indigenous language course be taken prior to graduation. To further support the Indigenous cultural component of the program, community organizations and schools related to the Aboriginal experience may be used for practicum placements throughout the three years of the BEd program.

For further information on the BEd (Indigenous Teacher Education) program, please go to <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/bed/indigenous.html>.

Jewish Teacher Education – Part-time Consecutive

Candidates in the Faculty of Education's Concurrent program may pursue the Jewish Teacher Education option, a course of study designed to prepare teachers of Hebrew language arts and Jewish studies under guidelines established by the Faculty in consultation with the Board of Jewish Education of Greater Toronto.

During the course of the candidate's professional training, appropriate practicum placements in Jewish day schools enable candidates to develop teaching skills in Jewish studies and general studies leading to certification by the Toronto Board of Jewish Education as well as the preparation necessary to be recommended for certification by the Ontario College of Teachers.

Jewish Teacher Education Program

Teacher candidates enrolled in this program should be sure to include:

AP/HEB 3210 3.00 or AP/HEB 3211 3.00
 AP/HEB 3220 3.00 or AP/HEB 3221 3.00
 AP/HEB 3230 3.00 or AP/HEB 3231 3.00

These courses are offered on a rotating basis over a three-year cycle.

ED I students are asked to make an appointment for an informal Hebrew language assessment to determine the section in which to enrol: Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics, tel.: 416-736-2100, ext. 55016.

Teacher candidates in Jewish Teacher Education are expected to take a coherent program of Hebrew language and courses in Jewish studies.

Teacher candidates enrolled in the Jewish Teacher Education program should carefully prepare their academic programs each year in consultation with a Faculty of Education advisor and/or the program's coordinator in order to be sure that they meet the academic requirements of their chosen programs in the Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, including the Advanced Certificate in Hebrew and Jewish Studies.

Application Procedures

Application forms for the Consecutive program are available from the middle of September to the beginning of December through the Ontario Universities' Application Centre (OUAC) at <http://www.ouac.on.ca/teas/>. Supplementary application forms can be downloaded from <http://www.ouac.on.ca/teas/> or <http://www.edu.yorku.ca>. Please see the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/prospective.html> for deadline dates.

Note: an application will not be regarded as complete until all documents and materials have been received by the Faculty of Education.

Consecutive Program Practicum – Full-time

Teacher candidates in the Consecutive program typically have two practicum placements in the primary/junior and junior/intermediate divisions and three at the intermediate/senior division. Candidates spend the opening week of school in their placement as a means of orientation to teaching and to the mentor classroom. Depending on the program, candidates spend one or two days a week in the classroom, or alternating weeks in and out of the classroom. The first placement extends from September through to mid-December and the second from January through to the end of May in the primary/junior and junior/intermediate divisions. In addition, all teacher candidates have blocks of intensive practicum experience during the year culminating in a final four-week block in May. Intermediate/senior candidates have a two to three week observation block in an elementary school in the winter term. Every attempt is made to familiarize candidates with different boards in the area, pupils of different age levels, a range of school offerings, and a variety of social groups of pupils. (For further details on the Consecutive program practicum, please see the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/>).

Consecutive Program Practicum – Part-time (3-Year Program)

The first year field placement explores schools and their communities. Candidates spend 50 hours in this field placement during their first year in the program. The second and third year practica occur in schools and classrooms. This long-term association with a school's program allows the candidate to observe the development of the curriculum and pupils over the course of the school year and to acquire an understanding of the school and its community. Over the three-year period of the program, every attempt is made to familiarize candidates with different boards in the area, pupils of different age levels, a range of school offerings, and a variety of social groups of pupils. (For further details on the Consecutive program part-time practicum, please see the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.edu.yorku.ca/>).

Basic Qualifications

Primary/Junior program: Qualified to teach classes in the primary and junior divisions (Grades JK to 6).

Junior/Intermediate program: Qualified to teach classes in the junior division and academic and general subjects in all four years of the intermediate division (Grades 4 to 10).

Intermediate/Senior program: Qualified to teach academic and general subjects in the senior division and all four years of the intermediate division (Grades 7 to 12).

The divisions of the school are defined as:

- Primary: junior kindergarten to Grade 3
- Junior: Grade 4 to Grade 6

- Intermediate: Grade 7 to Grade 10
- Senior: Grade 11 to Grade 12

Student ServicesFaculty of Education Resource Centre and Computer Lab

These facilities support students by providing a network of computers and a collection of books, activity files, manipulatives and other types of educational resources. Computer and circulation staff help students with their computing and resource needs. For further information, please visit <http://www.yorku.ca/foe/>.

Faculty of Education Students' Association (FESA)

All undergraduate students registered in the Faculty, including stop-out students, are members of the Faculty of Education Students' Association (FESA). The FESA Council is the official student government of the Faculty, and seeks to represent student opinion and interest within the Faculty and University as a whole. FESA representatives sit on several Faculty committees, on the York Federation of Students, and on the University Senate. Serving pre-service teacher candidates from concurrent and consecutive programs, FESA strives to cultivate a sense of community among over 1,600 students, across two campuses and 10 off-campus sites. Among other initiatives, FESA sponsors professional development workshops, social activities, book fairs and an annual conference. FESA also produces a newspaper and Faculty of Education merchandise. The FESA Office is located in 116 Winters College, tel.: 416-736-2100, ext. 88779.

Teacher Preparation Program in the Education of Deaf and Hard of Hearing Students

The York University Faculty of Education Teacher of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing education program prepares teachers to work in a variety of educational settings and communication/modality options. The program provides the broadest possible base for candidates to learn about the field, and to make decisions about future areas of specialization.

The program is offered on a full-time or part-time basis and is available partially online.

Program course work deals with areas pertinent to deaf and hard of hearing education. These areas include: language and literacy development; oral communication; deaf and hard of hearing studies; bilingual/bicultural education; American Sign Language; audiology; speech; principles of auditory/verbal learning; working with deaf and hard of hearing learners in inclusive settings and amplification systems. Candidates also participate in two practicum placements in two different settings over a two month period.

Candidates are considered for admission on the basis of education-related experience, academic achievement, communication abilities and personal characteristics relevant to teaching in the field. Requirements include:

- an undergraduate degree;
- membership in the Ontario College of Teachers or eligibility for membership in the case of out-of-province applicants (usually a bachelor of education (BEd) degree or its equivalent);
- BEd with minimum 6.00 (B) average;
- two courses in American Sign Language.

When the program is successfully completed, candidates receive a York Diploma in the Education of Deaf and Hard of Hearing Students. Graduates of the program who hold membership in the Ontario College of Teachers are recommended to the college for Additional Qualification in Deaf Education. Currently, for eligible Ontario candidates, no tuition fees are charged for the program. Applications are normally due in mid-March.

For further information, please call the Deaf and Hard of Hearing program Office at 416-736-5971 or TTY 416-736-5972.

Bachelor in Environmental Studies (BES) Program Vision Statement and Learning Objectives

Vision Statement

The BES program provides a well-rounded and interdisciplinary education in various fields relating to natural, built and social environments. The program is designed to equip students with the knowledge, critical understanding and capacity to deal effectively yet sensitively with complex environmental and social challenges arising at the local, regional, national and/or global scale.

The BES program introduces students to the relationships between the exploitation of the natural world and justice issues related to class exploitation, racism, homophobia and gender inequity. Aware of the growing interdependencies of human and natural life worlds in a globalized environment, the Faculty of Environmental Studies (FES) believes that non-Western and Indigenous perspectives are essential to a fruitful discussion of all environmental issues. To that end, faculty members strive to include a broad range of perspectives in their course offerings.

In this light, the BES program is committed to preparing students to take action on critical environmental issues. Students are encouraged to explore alternatives, strategies and action related to social and environmental change. Our specific commitments include:

- interdisciplinary expertise to critically understand and address environmental problems;
- opportunities to develop both specific skills and in-depth learning;
- a wide range of courses covering the humanities, social sciences and environmental science;
- an outlook that includes local and global, historical and contemporary, and philosophical and applied questions;
- an emphasis on bringing theoretical and practical matters together in the classroom;
- the knowledge and skills needed for graduate studies and environmental careers (e.g. community arts, environmental education, urban design and planning, climate change policy, human/gender rights, green business, international development policy, environmental conservation and management).

Learning Objectives

- to provide a well-rounded and interdisciplinary education in various fields relating to natural, built, organizational and social environments;
- to be exposed to a wide range of perspectives from the humanities, social sciences and environmental science, including issues relating to environmental ethics, class, racialization, Indigeneity, sexual orientation and gender;
- to develop both specific skills and in-depth learning, and acquire analytical and critical skills;
- to develop an outlook that includes local and global, historical and contemporary, and philosophical and applied questions; and
- to acquire the knowledge and skills needed for environmental careers and graduate studies.

BES Program Structure

The Faculty of Environmental Studies (FES) offers both the Specialized Honours BES program (120 credits) and the BES program (90 credits). Environmental studies at FES is a combination of core courses and four distinct academic and professional areas of concentration:

- environment and culture: philosophy, arts, technology and education;
- urban and regional environments: analysis, planning and design;
- environmental politics: development, globalization and justice;
- environmental management: policy, resources and conservation.

A coherent set of core courses, area of concentration courses and elective courses provides a well-rounded education in various fields relating to natural, built, organizational and social environments. Faculty members come from a wide range of backgrounds including political science, ecology, planning, philosophy, sociology, geography, economics, education, architecture and anthropology. All share a commitment to exploring the complex questions and solutions of the human and environmental challenges facing the world.

In the first two years of the program, students take required courses that introduce them to the wide range of environmental studies while building critical academic and practical knowledge, including research, writing, analytical and communication skills. During the latter half of the first year, students start thinking about areas of concentration within the BES program they are interested in. In the second year, students choose at least two foundation courses that are associated with the areas of concentration in which they wish to pursue in more detail in subsequent years in the BES program. A specific set of courses is associated with each area of concentration. The course selections within a given area of concentration are designed to give structure and focus to a student's program. The course selection process is supported through the completion of a program checklist that is completed on the basis of individual preferences and consultation with the BES program adviser.

BES Program Areas of Concentration

The BES program's four areas of concentration reflect the Faculty's broad understanding of environmental studies. Their coherence is established with scholarly, professional and pragmatic considerations. Students use these areas of concentration to help define their own path through the program.

Environment and Culture: Philosophy, Arts, Technology and Education

This area focuses on the conceptual, historical and cultural roots of environmental issues, and on environmental arts, education, policy and cultural organizations as crucial sites of environmental action. A focus in this area leads students to develop both a strong theoretical grasp of complex ecological-environmental relations, and critical and creative skills important in transforming these relations.

Sample topics include:

- environmental ethics and philosophy
- environmental and sustainability education
- environment, media and communication
- human and other animal relations
- science, technology and the environment
- environmental literatures
- community arts

Required course:

- ES/ENVS 2100 6.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 2100 3.00)

Nine credits at the 3000 level from the following list:

- ES/ENVS 3000 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3110 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3120 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3122 3.00

Note: ES/ENVS 3900 and/or ES/ENVS 4900 directed reading/study courses do not fulfill the area of concentration requirements, unless prior approval is received by the undergraduate program director.

Urban and Regional Environments: Analysis, Planning and Design

This area of concentration focuses on the interrelationships of the ecological, social, built and organizational environments within the urban and regional setting. It is the intention of this area is to provide a critical understanding of urban and regional environments along with a solutions-based approach to addressing urban and regional issues with an explicitly environmental perspective. By doing this students will attain a thorough knowledge of the theories, histories and current issues of urbanization and regionalization and their effect on environments, but also will learn practical methods of analysis and intervention in different human settlements.

Sample topics include:

- migration and settlement
- urbanization and the urban process
- environmental design/landscape design
- urban sustainability
- urban governance and regulation
- global cities and global urbanization
- urban social and environmental movements
- urban and regional planning
- healthy and sustainable community development
- urban social relations (class, race, gender)
- Native/Canadian relations

Required course:

Environmental Politics: Development, Globalization and Justice

Communities and environments are being dramatically transformed by the globalization of economies and cultures. This area is concerned with the analysis of these forces and possible responses to them at local, regional, national and international levels. It involves exploring competing approaches to development, politics and justice that are being formulated and put into practice by a variety of social groups, communities, NGOs, governments, corporations and international organizations.

Sample topics include:

- economic globalization
- international development
- sustainable development
- gender and development
- human rights and refugee studies
- social/environmental movements
- climate change
- green international business
- culture and global media

Required course:

- ES/ENVS 2300 6.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 2300 3.00)

Nine credits at the 3000 level from the following list:

Note: ES/ENVS 3900 and/or ES/ENVS 4900 directed reading/study courses do not fulfill the area of concentration requirements, unless prior approval is received by the undergraduate program director.

Environmental Management: Policy, Resources and Conservation

This area examines the origins and nature of environmental challenges facing society through the study of their scientific, socio-economic and political dimensions, and explores ways of addressing these challenges through environmental and natural resource management, conservation and policy approaches. It is concerned with existing and emerging strategies for preventing and managing the impacts of human activities and for conserving the resources of the biosphere in ways that are supportive of sustainable development. It provides concepts, knowledge, and skills that are needed to be effective in environmental management in government, business, and not-for-profit sectors.

Sample topics include:

- ecology and conservation
- environmental assessment
- resource management
- environmental monitoring and auditing
- energy and the environment
- environment and health

Required courses:

- ES/ENVS 2400 6.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 2400 3.00)
- ES/ENVS 2410 3.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 2500 6.00)

Academic Advising and the BES Program Checklist

It is critical that students enrolled in BES programs meet with the program adviser to ensure that all degree requirements are met through a completed BES program checklist form. The advising meeting will guide second-, third- and fourth-year course selections and allow students to discuss future objectives and ensure that the courses selected keep important options open for each student.

The BES program checklist is extremely important; it ensures that all students meet the requirements of their declared area of concentration. Each student is required to submit to the program adviser a completed BES program checklist by the end of April. An incomplete or improper submission of a BES program checklist form may result in a delay in registration and may prohibit enrolment in desired and/or required courses.

Students considering the course-based option (CBO) for their program of study are not required to enrol in: ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 Introduction to Senior Honours Work or ES/ENVS 4000 6.00 Senior Honours Work Seminar. However, students must select alternative courses in their area of concentration to replace the requirements. Those who have already completed ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 are under no obligation to complete ES/ENVS 4000 6.00 and can still opt for the CBO. Students pursuing the CBO must submit the appropriate petitions form available from the Office of Student Academic Services, 137 HNES.

Please note that those considering taking ES/ENVS 4000 6.00 (i.e. the thesis option) should be prepared to devote a considerable amount of time and attention to their research, analysis and write-up in a relatively unstructured format that some may find very challenging, labour-intensive and time-consuming. Only those who understand this and are committed to such a process should consider the thesis option.

Advising appointments can be made through the main reception line at 416-736-5252 or in person, 137 HNES. Students who fail to follow the above will be blocked from enrolment and registration for fall/winter sessions, unless they have an advising appointment or hand in a completed BES program checklist.

Degree Requirements

Honours BES Degree Course Requirements – 120 Credits

Students must pass courses worth a minimum of 120 credits (equivalent to 20 full-year courses) in order to graduate with the Specialized Honours BES degree. At least 60 credits and a maximum of 90 credits shall be environmental studies courses. An overall grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) must be maintained.

Students choose their courses in the Honours BES program according to the following requirements:

General education (12 credits):

Following York's philosophy of undergraduate education, BES students are required to study in the humanities and natural sciences.

- Humanities requirement: the BES humanities requirement can be satisfied by taking ES/ENVS 1800 6.00 or a 1000-level course (at least six credits) from the following: classical studies; English; French studies; history; humanities; languages, literature and linguistics or philosophy.
- Science requirement: the science requirement is met by taking ES/ENVS 1500 6.00 Introduction to Science for Environmental Studies or a first-year (six-credit) course from the Faculty of Science and Engineering (excluding natural science courses).

Note: students who declared environmental management as their area of concentration are required to take either ES/ENVS 1500 6.00 or SC/BIOL 1010 6.00 to fulfill their science requirement.

Required core environmental studies courses (18 credits):

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- ES/ENVS 1200 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2009 3.00

or

- ES/ENVS 3010 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3011 3.00*

Notes:

1. Students choosing the course-based options (CBO) will not be required to enrol in ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 or ES/ENVS 4000 6.00. However, students must select alternative courses in their declared area of concentration to replace the requirements. Those who have already completed ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 are not under any obligation to complete ES/ENVS 4000 6.00 and can still opt for the CBO.

2. Students enrolled in the environmental management area of concentration are required to take ES/ENVS 2410 3.00, ES/ENVS 2420 3.00, ES/ENVS 2009 3.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 3009 3.00) and ES/ENVS 3010 3.00.

Area of concentration requirement (at least 12 credits):

- ES/ENVS 2100 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2200 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2300 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2400 6.00

Faculty requirement (27 credits):

A minimum of 27 credits at the 3000 and 4000 level in environmental studies (ENVS) courses in addition to the above. Of these, at least nine credits must be at the 3000 level in the declared area of concentration and at least nine credits must be at the 4000 level in the declared area of concentration. The remaining nine credits will be satisfied by taking ES/ENVS 4000 6.00 and one other three-credit course at the 4000 level. For the course-based option (CBO) students need to take two three-credit 4000-level courses in their area of concentration to replace ES/ENVS 4000 6.00.

Out-of-Faculty elective requirements (24 credits in student area of concentration):

In addition to the general education requirements, students must take 24 credits of electives outside of the Faculty. These courses are selected in the context of the student's program checklist.

Free electives:

Students must take up to 27 credits from any undergraduate program (including FES). These courses are selected in the context of the student's program checklist.

Note: course-based option (CBO): students requesting the CBO are not required to complete ES/ENVS 3011 3.00, however they must make a formal request at their annual advising appointment and prior to enrolling in the selected course for CBO.*

BES Degree Course Requirements – 90 Credits

Students will automatically be placed in the 90-credit bachelor program if they do not achieve or maintain the minimum grade requirements for the Specialized Honours degree program. Students registered for a Specialized Honours degree may choose to graduate with a 90-credit BES if they fulfill that program's requirements.

In order to graduate with a BES degree, a student must successfully complete 90 credits and achieve the minimum grade point average of 4.00 (C) as well as the requirements as outlined below:

General education (at least 12 credits):

Following York's philosophy of undergraduate education, BES students are required to study in humanities and the natural sciences.

- Humanities requirement: the BES humanities requirement can be satisfied by taking ES/ENVS 1800 6.00 or a 1000-level course (at least six credits) from the following: classical studies; English; French studies; history; humanities; languages, literature and linguistics or philosophy.
- Science requirement: the natural science requirement is met by taking ES/ENVS 1500 6.00 Introduction to Science for Environmental Studies or a first-year (six-credit) course from the Faculty of Science and Engineering (excluding natural science courses).

Note: students who declared environmental management: policy, resources and conservation as their area of concentration are required to take either ES/ENVS 1500 6.00 or SC/BIOL 1010 6.00 to fulfill their natural science requirement.

Required core environmental studies courses (15 credits):

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- ES/ENVS 1200 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2009 3.00

or

- ES/ENVS 3010 3.00

Note: students enrolled in the environmental management area of concentration are required to take ES/ENVS 2410 3.00, ES/ENVS 2420 3.00; further, they are required to take both ES/ENVS 2009 3.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 3009 3.00) and ES/ENVS 3010 3.00.

Area of concentration requirement (at least 12 credits):

- ES/ENVS 2100 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2200 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2300 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2400 6.00

Faculty requirement (24 credits):

A minimum of 24 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level in environmental studies (ENVS) courses in addition to the above. Of these, at least 12 credits must be in the declared area of concentration; the remaining 12 credits must be taken in the context of the program checklist.

Out-of-Faculty elective requirements (12 credits):

In addition to the general education requirements, students must take 12 credits of electives outside of the Faculty. These courses are selected in the context of the student's program checklist.

Free electives:

Students must take up to 15 credits from any undergraduate program (including FES). These courses are selected in the context of the student's program checklist.

Students pursuing the 90-credit bachelor in environmental studies are required to declare an area of concentration. Course selection will be determined through the normal academic advising and program checklist processes.

Honours Double Major, Honours Major/Minor, Concurrent Education Program

In addition to taking courses in the BES program, students have the opportunity to decide to specialize in a specific subject or combination of subjects. The area or primary concentration is known as the major. An area of secondary concentration (if any) is known as the minor. In such cases, an application must be made using the application form available through the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>). This request is subject to approval by the undergraduate program director and the other academic unit involved. Each program sets the details of the requirements for each double major or minor program with options available in the Faculties of Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Science and Engineering. BES students should consult the York University Undergraduate Calendar or the York University Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca>) for specific program requirements.

General Requirements

Regardless of the type of combination degree that is sought, Honours Double Major or Honours Major/Minor, all students will have a "home" Faculty; students enrolled in the Faculty of Environmental Studies will receive a BES degree upon successful completion of their program; students in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies will receive a BA; students in the Faculty of Fine Arts will receive a BFA or BA; students in the Faculty of Health will receive a BA or BSc and students in the Faculty of Science and Engineering will receive a BSc.

All students in these programs must maintain Honours standing; for Faculties of Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering that will mean a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 (C+) over all courses including those in environmental studies; for Faculty of Environmental Studies students that will mean a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 (C+) over all courses including those in the Faculties of Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering. Students must meet the degree and program requirements of their home Faculty.

Degree Double Major Requirements in Environmental Studies

Students whose home Faculty is Health or Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, who want to pursue a major in environmental studies are required to complete seven full courses (42 credits) in environmental studies:

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- two full-courses (12 credits) in the "foundations" series at the 2000 level (2100, 2200, 2300 or 2400)
- ES/ENVS 2009 3.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 3009 3.00)

or

- ES/ENVS 3010 3.00
- nine credits at the 3000 level
- 12 credits at the 4000 level

Note: Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies students in the linked interdisciplinary Science and Society program are required to complete six full courses (36 credits). Urban studies students who have declared environmental studies as their double major before September 2002 are required to complete 36 credits in environmental studies. Effective September 2002, students who declare environmental studies as a double major with urban studies are required to satisfy the 42 credits requirement listed above.

Degree Minor Requirements in Environmental Studies

Students whose home Faculty is Fine Arts, Health, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering, who want to pursue a minor in environmental studies, are required to complete five full courses (30 credits) in environmental studies:

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- two full-courses (12 credits) in the "foundations" series at the 2000 level (2100, 2200, 2300 or 2400)
- six credits at the 3000 level or higher
- six credits at the 4000 level

Students should be aware that in order to complete the requirements of the Honours Double Major or Honours Major/Minor programs it may be necessary to complete more than 120 credits.

Second Major/Minor Options for BES Students

Faculty of Fine Arts

BES students may apply to do a minor in any of the disciplines within the Faculty of Fine Arts with the exception of the Design program. Students should consult the York Undergraduate Calendar and visit the Faculty of Fine Arts for information on specific programs at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>.

Faculty of Health Studies

Faculty of Environmental Studies students pursuing an Honours Major in environmental studies may combine their program with an Honours Double Major or an Honours Major/Minor program with the Faculty of Health, subject to the following regulations.

Honours Double Major and Honours Minor options may be pursued with the Faculty of Environmental Studies in the following Faculty of Health BA programs:

- Kinesiology and Health Science
- Psychology

Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies

Students in the BES program may apply to pursue an Honours Double Major program or an Honours Major/Minor program in many disciplines in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies along with their major in environmental studies. Second major programs are available with any seven- or eight-course major discipline. Minors may be pursued in several programs. For detailed information on requirements and application forms, please consult the departmental offices and York Undergraduate Calendar at <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca>.

Faculty of Science and Engineering

BES students who want to integrate their interest in environmental studies with science may apply to pursue an Honours Minor with the following Faculty of Science and Engineering programs:

- Biology
- Chemistry
- Earth and Atmospheric Science
- Mathematics
- Physics and Astronomy

Students who intend to apply to any of these programs must complete relevant science courses in high school and take their University first-year environmental science course from Faculty of Science and Engineering instead of the ES/ENVS 1500 6.00 course offered in FES. For detailed information, please consult the York Undergraduate Calendar at: <http://calendars.registrar.yorku.ca>.

Faculty of Education Concurrent Education Program

The Faculty of Education at York University offers the BEd degree in both a consecutive program (i.e. requiring a one-year period of study after obtaining a bachelor's degree), and a concurrent program, where students who are enrolled in the BES program may apply to coregister in the Faculty of Education.

BES students may apply to enter the concurrent program after completing one or two years in the BES program. Candidates admitted to the Concurrent Education program would add a minimum of one year to their undergraduate studies. Successful candidates then work to complete their BES program in addition to completing their education studies for a bachelor of education degree.

Admission requirements for the Concurrent Education program:

- You must have a minimum of 24 credits (four full courses) of the first year of undergraduate studies or the equivalent or have a minimum of 36 credits (six full courses) left to complete your academic degree.
- You must have a minimum C+ overall average or Honours standing, and be admitted to and continuing in an undergraduate program (in this case, Environmental Studies).
- Selection is based on grade point average, related experience (as a classroom volunteer, coach, mentor, tutor etc.), a personal statement, an interview and two letters of reference.

Successful coregistrants are usually selected on the basis of education-related experience, references, university grade point averages and individual interviews. Applications should be directed to the Faculty of Education. The application deadline is in early March of each year.

For further information, please visit the Faculty of Education Web site at <http://www.edu.yorku.ca/academicprograms/>.

BES Certificate Programs

While working towards the completion of their BES degree, students may opt to pursue a certificate in addition to their degree program. Students can choose from one of four areas: geographic information systems and remote sensing, community arts practice, refugee and migration studies or urban ecologies. In order to do so, students are required to complete a number of required and elective courses, in addition to completing other degree requirements. Contact the FES Office of Student and Academic Services, 137 HNES, for more information on applying to these certificate programs.

Minimum Requirements for Multiple Certificates

Students may acquire more than one certificate during the course of their studies provided that at least 18 credits in each certificate program are unique to the specific certificate.

Residency Requirements

The University residency requirement for undergraduate certificate programs is 18 credits for certificate programs requiring up to 36 credits, and 50 per cent of the required credits for certificates comprising more than 36 credits. Normally, for undergraduate certificate programs requiring 18 credits or less, all credits are completed at York.

Certificate in Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and Remote Sensing

York University degree candidates and non-degree students may earn a Certificate in GIS and Remote Sensing. GIS and Remote Sensing encompasses the art, science and technology involved in collecting and managing geographically-referenced information.

Required courses (24 credits):

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2009 3.00 (formerly ES/ENVS 3009 3.00)
- ES/ENVS 3520 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3521 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4520 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4521 3.00

or

- ES/ENVS 4522 3.00
- 3.00 credits from the following list of elective courses.

Elective courses:

- ES/ENVS 3225 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3226 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4455 3.00
- SC/EATS 4220 3.00
- SC/EATS 4230 3.00
- AP/SC/GEOG 2130 3.00
- AP/SC/GEOG 2350 3.00
- AP/GEOG 3140 3.00
- AP/GEOG 4240 3.00

Note: students intending to pursue the GIS certificate with the Faculty of Environmental Studies should enrol in ES/ENVS 2009 3.00 in their second year of study.

Other requirements:

Students working towards this certificate must:

- maintain a cumulative grade point average of 6.00 (B) in the certificate required courses and achieve a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 (C+) in all courses; and
- register in the program after completing 24 credits.

Students who have been exempted from any of the required courses or non-degree students who have successfully completed the equivalent of any of the required courses must substitute additional credits from the certificate program elective courses list, for an overall total of 24 credits in the certificate program.

Certificate in Community Arts Practice (CAP)

The Certificate in Community Arts Practice (CAP) may be completed either concurrently with a degree program at York University or completely separate from an active degree program. Candidates who previously completed an undergraduate degree in a related field must have a minimum grade point average of 5.00 (C+). As well, individuals without an undergraduate degree but have previous relevant work experience may also apply to this program. Consideration of non-degree applicants will be based on the level and appropriateness of their work experience and applicants may be invited to an interview by the program coordinator.

The certificate prepares students to collaborate with communities to make art of all forms, to express diverse identities, to explore and take action on social and environmental issues. Students develop artistic skills, deepen their social analysis and learn to facilitate creative processes with groups working for social change.

Requirements for the Community Arts Practiced (CAP) Certificate

Other requirements:

Students working towards this certificate must:

- meet the minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) requirement for an Honours program.
- to receive the certificate, candidates must achieve a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 4.00 or greater in the courses taken to satisfy certificate requirements; and, York students must complete their degree in order to be granted the certificate.

Note: BES students pursuing the CAP certificate are not required to enrol in ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 and ES/ENVS 4000 6.00. Information on elective courses is available by contacting the Faculty of Environmental Studies and the Faculty of Fine Arts.

General Certificate in Refugee and Migration Studies

Faculty of Environmental Studies students may earn a General Certificate in Refugee and Migration Studies while, and in addition to, fulfilling the requirements for the BES program.

Students should apply to enter the certificate program at the beginning of their third year. Students admitted to the certificate program must submit a completed checklist for the General Certificate in Refugee Migration Studies to the education coordinator at the Centre for Refugee Studies (CRS), to ensure that all certificate requirements have been considered. Further information is available from the education coordinator, Centre for Refugee Studies, or the coordinator's academically accredited designate.

Required courses:

- AP/SOSC 1130 9.00

or

- AP/SOSC 2000 6.00

- AP/GEOG 2310 6.00
- three additional pre-approved full courses (18 credits) of which 12 credits must be at 3000 or 4000 level.

A list of pre-approved environmental studies courses follows. Other relevant courses may be selected and submitted for approval with the student's study plan, which must be reviewed by the education coordinator, Centre for Refugee Studies or the coordinator's designate.

Environmental studies courses for the General Certificate in Refugee and Migration Studies:

- ES/ENVS 2300 6.00
- ES/ENVS 3160 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3310 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4210 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4220 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4312 3.00

Other requirements:

To be awarded the certificate, students must:

- maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 5.00 (C+) or higher in the certificate required courses.
- must attend a minimum of eight Centre for Refugee Studies seminar presentations over the course of their degree.
- must complete 15 hours of volunteer participation in the Student Caucus and/or Centre for Refugee Studies activities.

Other courses are listed in the Faculties of Glendon and Liberal Arts and Professional Studies sections of the Undergraduate Calendar. For more information, please visit the Centre for Refugee Studies Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/crs/>.

Certificate in Urban Ecologies

The Urban Ecologies (UE) Certificate is an interdisciplinary program designed to help you learn how the many conflicts between the natural and urban environments emerge, is represented and can be addressed. The certificate program emphasizes urban ecology as an innovative and interactive approach to critically study the social and biophysical configuration of urban landscapes, places, sites and ecologies.

Through this certificate, you will develop theoretical and practical knowledge to help address complex contemporary urban environmental challenges through thoughtful planning, design and ecological action.

Application form:

The certificate is open to any York University student enrolled in an undergraduate Honours program. To register for the Urban Ecologies Certificate program, you must fill out the urban ecologies application form and submit it to the Office of Student and Academic Services (OSAS) in 137 HNES. Your application will be forwarded to the Urban Ecologies program coordinator.

Required courses (24 credits):

- ES/ENVS 3230 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3710 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3740 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3760 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4225 3.00
- ES/ENVS 4700 6.00
- ES/ENVS 4750 3.00

Other requirements:

To be awarded this certificate, students must:

- maintain a minimum grade of 5.00 (C+) in each course credited to the certificate.
- maintain a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 (C+).

Note: BES students pursuing the Urban Ecologies Certificate are not required to enrol in ES/ENVS 3011 3.00 and ES/ENVS 4000 6.00.

BES Joint Programs

Joint programs offer students the opportunity to receive a combined university degree and a college diploma from either Seneca College or Sir Sandford Fleming College and a certificate from Humber College in what would otherwise take seven years. The York/Humber program may be completed in four years, while the York/Seneca and York/Sir Sandford Fleming programs are five years in duration. These accelerated programs can begin either at the respective college or at York University (with the exception of the York/Humber joint program) and are then completed at the partner institution. Students enrolled in joint programs must fulfill the joint program requirements of both institutions.

Students who are enrolled in FES are required to complete a minimum of 90 credits within the first three years of the joint program with a minimum 5.00 (C+) grade point average, including core, Faculty, area of concentration and general education requirements. They are also required to submit an application to the joint program at the respective college in October of their third year of study.

With the exception of the York/Humber joint program, students who begin their diploma at the college should apply to the joint program in Faculty of Environmental Studies through the normal York admission process in the final year of their diploma. Acceptance is contingent upon students successfully completing the diploma with a minimum 3.00 grade point average at the college. Successful applicants will be awarded 60 block credits toward their BES program. Students who choose to opt out of the joint program at York and attend another program or do not meet the cumulative grade point average required for Honours standing, will have their advanced standing re-evaluated.

Note: students enrolled in the 90-credit BES degree program are not eligible to apply to any joint program directly.

York/Humber College Joint Program in International Development Management Studies (Formerly International Project Management)

York University students in the BES program may apply to the Joint Program in International Development Management Studies at Humber College at the beginning of their third year of studies and must maintain a minimum grade point average of 5.00 (C+). Upon successful completion of the joint program, students receive an Honours BES degree and a post-diploma Certificate in International Development Management Studies. Students who intend to pursue this option must declare environmental politics as their area of concentration and must fulfill those requirements.

Note: admission to this joint program is contingent upon Humber College's own admissions criteria and is, therefore, not automatic or guaranteed. To be considered for admission, applications to Humber College must be submitted by February 1 through the Ontario College Application Centre.

BES Degree Requirements

Year 1 - (30 credits):

- ES/ENVS 1000 6.00
- ES/ENVS 1200 6.00
- ES/ENVS 1500 6.00

- ES/ENVS 2009 3.00

or

- ES/ENVS 3010 3.00
- ES/ENVS 2300 6.00
- ES/ENVS 2400 6.00
- electives (15 credits): recommended to include AP/ANTH 1110 6.00

Year 3 - (30 credits):

- ES/ENVS 3000 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3226 3.00

or

- ES/ENVS 3310 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3340 3.00
- ES/ENVS 3430 3.00
- 18 credits at the 4000 level from the area of concentration in environmental politics

Year 4 - at Humber College:

Course selections will be determined by the Humber College program coordinator during an individual advising appointment.

For more information on the Humber College program, visit <http://postgraduate.humberc.c/20501.htm>.

York/Seneca Joint Program in Urban Sustainability

York University students in the Honours BES program may apply to the Joint Program in Urban Sustainability (JPUS) at Seneca College during their third year of studies and must maintain a minimum grade point average of 5.00 (C+). After successfully completing the JPUS, students will receive their Honours bachelor in environmental studies degree and their civil engineering technology diploma. Students who intend to pursue this option must declare Urban and Regional Environments as their area of concentration and must fulfill those requirements.

Note: admission to this joint program is contingent upon Seneca College's own admissions criteria and is, therefore, not automatic or guaranteed.

BES Degree Requirements

Academic Honours

The Faculty recognizes the academic excellence of its students in appropriate ways. The following honours will be recorded on a student's transcript.

Scholarships and Merit Awards

These include FES Awards and Scholarships, Merit Awards, Entrance Scholarships, Renewable Scholarships and In-Course Scholarships.

Sessional Dean's Honour Roll

The Dean's Honour Roll recognizes a student's academic achievements in a given session based on the following criteria:

- students taking 12 to 17 credits in a given session and have attained a sessional grade point average of 8.00.
- students taking 18 or more credits in a given session and have attained a sessional grade point average of 7.50.

Graduating Honours

Students with high grade point averages are eligible for the following honours upon graduation from the Faculty:

Specialized Honours BES Degree – 120 Credits

- Summa cum laude: cumulative grade point average 8.00+
- Magna cum laude: cumulative grade point average 7.80 to 7.99
- Cum laude: cumulative grade point average 7.50 to 7.79
- Member of the Dean's Graduating Honour Roll: cumulative grade point average 7.00+
- Dean's Sessional Honour Roll: 8.00 sessional cumulative grade point average on 12 to 17 credits or 7.50 sessional cumulative grade point average on 18 or more credits.

BES Degree – 90 Credits

- With Distinction: cumulative grade point average 8.00+
- With Merit: cumulative grade point average 7.50 to 7.99
- Member of the Dean's Graduating Honour Roll: cumulative grade point average 7.00 to 7.49
- Dean's Sessional Honour Roll: 8.00 sessional cumulative grade point average on 12 to 17 credits or 7.50 sessional cumulative grade point average on 18 or more credits.

FES Policy on Student Work

All written or visual work that is submitted as part of an academic program must be submitted in hardcopy (not electronically), unless previously agreed to by the instructor or adviser.

Please note that the above policy statement outlines the required format for submission of student work for a course and/or an academic program, as outlined in BES course syllabi.

Grading and Academic Standards

The Faculty of Environmental Studies follows the York University undergraduate grading scheme which awards letters ranging from A+ to F and assigns a point value from 0 to 9 to each letter grade. The various grades that may be awarded in satisfying the requirement of a BES course or assignment are outlined in the Undergraduate Handbook, available at the Office of Student and Academic Services in 137 HNES.

BES Term Work, Tests and Examinations

Term work: term work includes reports, assignments, essays, tests, and other written and oral work assigned in a course, with the exception of final examinations, as outlined in the approved course syllabus. Course directors set the deadlines for submission of term work. All term work must be submitted by the last day of classes of the term in which the course ends. Term work submitted after the last day of classes of the term in which the course ends will not be accepted for grading. Students will be penalized five per cent of the value of the assignment per day that their assignment is late. Exceptions to the lateness policy for valid reasons such as illness, compassionate grounds etc. will be entertained by the course director only when supported by written documentation (e.g. a doctor's letter).

Examinations: examinations may be held in any BES course in such form and manner as decided by the course director and as described in the approved course syllabus. Examinations are an essential part of the learning and evaluation process. They must be conducted under fair conditions which allow students to analyse, synthesize, and demonstrate what they have learned. Disruptions or attempts to obtain an unfair advantage are offences against due academic processes and carry severe penalties.

End of term restrictions: the total value of any test(s) or examination(s) given during the last two weeks of classes in a term must carry a combined weighting of no more than 20 per cent of the final mark for the course. Note: exceptions are made for some third- and fourth-year courses, such as seminars that often have one or two major assignments due at the end of the term.

Scheduling of tests: except where testing is conducted during individual appointments which accommodate a student's schedule (e.g. individually scheduled make-up tests), tests or examinations given during the term must be held within the hours regularly scheduled for the course in question.

Students' rights of refusal: students who are asked to write tests or examinations in contravention of the preceding two regulations may refuse to do so without academic penalty. They also have the right to raise the matter with the undergraduate program director.

General Regulations for Tests and Examinations

Identification: students who are being tested or examined are required to present their YU-card and/or an acceptable form of photographic identification when asked to do so by an instructor or invigilator. Acceptable forms of photographic identification include a valid driver's license with photograph attached, a valid passport or other certificate of citizenship with photograph attached.

Formally Scheduled Examinations

Final examination period: there is a final examination period at the end of each term, as published on the Current Students Web site.

Examination schedules: the dates, times and places of formally scheduled examinations are published each term on the Current Student's Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>). Examinations may last two or three hours. Students are responsible for making themselves aware of the appropriate examination details.

Missed examinations: a student who misses an examination must contact the Office of Student and Academic Services or the Registrar's Office within 48 hours of the examination. A student who wishes to write a make-up examination must petition for deferred standing in the course.

Rewriting of examinations: there shall be no rewriting of a final examination to improve a mark.

Assessment of Students in BES Courses

The course director shall assess students enrolled in each BES course in light of the requirements set at the beginning of the course as articulated in the course syllabus. These assessments shall be based on a combination of tests or formal examination(s), participation in classes, term work submitted, and other evidence as determined by the course director.

Marking Scheme

- Announcement in class: the means of determining the final grade in a course shall be provided to students by the course director. Such information must include the types of assignments, essays, examinations, and other components, which make up the grade, their relative weight(s), and any other procedures, which enter into the determination of the final grade.
- Subsequent changes: in exceptional circumstances, a previously announced marking scheme for a course may be changed, but only with the consent of all students and the approval of the undergraduate program director. The course director must distribute the new marking scheme in written form to the students.
- Feedback during course: instructors are obliged to provide a mechanism by which students can be apprised of their progress in a course and that the grading scheme (i.e. kinds and weights or assignments, essays, exams etc.) be announced, and be available in writing, within the first two weeks of class, and that, under normal circumstances, graded feedback worth at least 15 per cent of the final grade for fall, winter or summer term, and 30 per cent for "full year" courses offered in the fall/winter term be received by students in all courses prior to the final withdrawal date from a course without receiving a grade, with the following exceptions:
 - graduate or upper-level undergraduate courses where course work typically or at the instructor's discretion, consists of a single piece of work and/or is based predominantly (or solely) on student presentations (e.g. honours theses or graduate research papers not due by the drop date etc.);
 - practicum courses;
 - ungraded courses;
 - courses in Faculties where the drop date occurs within the first three weeks of classes;
 - courses which run on a compressed schedule (a course which accomplishes its academic credits of work at a rate of more than one credit hour per two calendar weeks).

Note: under unusual and/or unforeseeable circumstances which disrupt the academic norm, instructors are expected to provide grading schemes and academic feedback in the spirit of these regulations, as soon as possible.

Alternate Grading Method

Pass/Fail

Students in the Faculty of Environmental Studies can request a pass/fail option only after completing 24 credits. Courses taken under the pass/fail option will be annotated on their transcript as "Pass" or "Fail." Neither of these grades will be calculated into their grade point average. The following rules apply to the pass/fail option:

- only students who have good academic standing may choose this option (i.e. above 4.00 (C) or 5.00 (C+) grade point average, depending on degree program);
- students are required to have completed 24 credits before requesting this option;
- courses taken under this option may not be used to satisfy major, minor, general education or certificate requirements or 1000-level science courses;
- students in the Honours BES program can take a maximum of 12 credits on the pass/fail option;
- students in the 90-credit BES program may take a maximum of six credits on the pass/fail option;
- students who intend to take a course on the pass/fail option must request to do so within the first two weeks of classes in the term in which the course is being offered;

- students are required to fill out an application form – available at Student Client Services or online at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>). The student will return the completed form with the course director's approval to Student Client Services;
- students who select the pass/fail grading option can switch back to a graded option without academic penalties until the last day to drop the course.

Repeated Passed or Failed Courses

Students may repeat either a passed or failed course once for academic degree or certificate credit, only if the student has failed to achieve sufficient standing to proceed in a core or prerequisite course in a degree or certificate program and if no alternative remedies are provided (e.g. alternative qualifying examination). Students should note that course availability and space considerations may preclude the possibility of repeating a course in the session they choose.

A course can be credited only once towards satisfaction of degree or certificate academic credit requirements. When a student is allowed to repeat a course for academic degree or certificate credit, the second grade will be the grade of record and the only grade calculated in the students' grade point average (major, cumulative, sessional and overall). The grade for the repeated course will remain the grade of record, regardless of the number of times that the course is repeated; the first instance of the course being taken will appear on the student's transcript with the designation NCR (No Credit Retained).

A student must be declared eligible to proceed in a degree or certificate program in order to be eligible to repeat a course. Restrictions regarding repeating a passed or failed course also apply to cross-listed courses and course credit exclusions.

Students who repeated a passed course prior to fall 2004 may submit a petition to their home Faculty.

Grade Reappraisals

Reappraisal of Final BES Course Grades

Students may, with sufficient academic grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised (which may mean the review of specific pieces of tangible work). Non-academic grounds are not relevant for grade reappraisals; in such cases, students are advised to petition to their home Faculty. Students are normally expected to first contact the course director to discuss the grade received and to request that their tangible work be reviewed. Tangible work may include written, graphic, digitized, modelled, video recording or audio recording formats, but not oral work.

Students need to be aware that a request for a grade reappraisal may result in the original grade being raised, lowered or confirmed.

In the event that students are still not satisfied with the final grade or the course director is not available to review the work, they may submit in writing a formal request for a grade reappraisal to the department or unit in which the course is offered*. The Senate approved deadline for submitting grade reappraisals is within three weeks of the release of final grade reports in any term. Exercising discretion about minor delays in meeting the deadline which result from slow mail delivery or extraordinary circumstances is reasonable.

- For courses offered by Osgoode Hall Law School, Schulich School of Business and the Faculty of Education, the requests for reappraisal are submitted to the office of the relevant associate dean.
- If the condition of sufficient academic grounds has been met, the relevant department committee, department Chair, associate dean or graduate/undergraduate program director will be responsible for ensuring that the work is reappraised by an appropriate faculty member, ensuring anonymity of both the student and the reappraiser and for communicating the result of the reappraisal (including the reappraiser's comments) and the route of appeal to both the student and the course director. The reappraiser will be given the nature of the assignment and the rationale for the original grade. It is expected that every effort will be made to render the decision within 30 days of the reviewer having received the work.

Date by Which to Request a Grade Reappraisal

Requests for grade reappraisals must be submitted by the scheduled date for the term in which a course is completed and the grade released.

Winter term – June 15

Summer term – September 30

Fall term – February 15

In all cases, a minimum of 21 days from the date of the release of grades will be allowed. Whenever the grade reappraisal reflects a grade change it will be annotated on the student's transcript.

Further Appeal for Reappraisal of a Final BES Course Grade

If the student is not satisfied with a reappraised final course grade, the procedure shall be as follows:

- the course director and the student shall discuss the matter with the undergraduate program director, who may or may not arrange another reappraisal;
- if the matter remains unresolved, the student may appeal the grade by petition on the appropriate form provided by the Office of Student and Academic Services to the BES program and Admissions Subcommittee, clearly stating the grounds for appeal;
- the decision of the BES program and Admissions Subcommittee shall be final, and may be appealed to the FES Appeals Committee only on grounds of procedural irregularity.

Reappraisal of Grades Other Than Final Course Grades

If a student is not satisfied with any grade — other than a final course grade — received from an instructor or teaching assistant, the student is expected to discuss the matter (and at such time may request a reappraisal) with the person from whom the student received the grade, normally within two weeks. A reappraisal may result in a lower, higher or unchanged grade. If the student is not satisfied with the result of the reappraisal, the instructor or teaching assistant (where appropriate) shall discuss the matter with the course director. The course director shall decide whether or not to reappraise the student's work and the decision is final for all grades other than final course grades.

Deferred Standing

In some cases, students may be eligible for deferred standing (an extension) to write a test or final examination or to complete an assignment after the Faculty's deadline for submission of term work. Senate policy states that students must request deferred standing through the department responsible for the course within one week following a missed examination or the last day to submit course work.

Students are responsible for ensuring that full documentation (medical or other) is provided in support of a petition for deferred standing. Application forms are available at Student Client Services or online at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/currentstudents/mystudentrecords/>), under My Grades and Transcripts.

Aegrotat Standing

In cases where a student cannot be expected to complete the work for a course, the phrase "aegrotat standing" (from the Latin for "she/he is ill") is substituted for a grade on the transcript. Aegrotat standing is seldom granted, and only in exceptional circumstances where deferred standing is inappropriate. For more information, please contact your course director.

Academic Penalties

Students whose academic record does not meet Faculty standards are subject to the academic penalties of academic warning, required withdrawal, debarment warning, debarment and academic probation.

Academic Warning

Students whose cumulative grade point average falls below 4.00 (C) at the end of any session or who enter the Faculty with a grade point average equivalent to less than 4.00 (C) on the York University undergraduate grading scheme, receive an academic warning. Students who receive an academic warning must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.00 (C) within the next 24 credits taken or must earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in the session in which the 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative average reaches 4.00 (C) or be required to withdraw.

Required Withdrawal

Students whose academic record show marked weaknesses may be required to withdraw from their studies for one year, during which time they are encouraged to identify and remedy any problems which may have contributed to their failure to perform up to their potential, and to reflect on their reasons for pursuing a university education. The following regulations apply to required withdrawals:

Grade Point Average Below 3.00 (D+)

Students whose cumulative grade point average on at least 24 credits is below 3.00 must withdraw for 12 months.

Grade Point Average Below 4.00 (C) and Greater than 3.00 (D+)

Students who have received an academic warning for a cumulative grade point average below 4.00 (C) must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.00 (C) within their next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in the session in which the 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until the cumulative average reaches 4.00 (C); otherwise, they must withdraw for 12 months. Should the student's cumulative grade point average fall below 3.00 (D+) at any time after completion of 24 credits, they will be required to withdraw.

Petition to Continue Without Interruption

Students who have been required to withdraw may submit a petition to the Faculty of Environmental Studies Petitions (BES program and Admissions) Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. For further information, contact the undergraduate program administrative and records assistant in the Office of Student and Academic Services, 137 HNES.

Reactivation After Required Withdrawal

Students who have been required to withdraw may apply for reactivation (to continue their studies) after the requisite period of absence by submitting a form obtainable from Student Client Services or online at the Current Students Web site (<http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>). Students who return to their studies after such a required withdrawal (as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the FES Petitions Committee) will receive a debarment warning.

Debarment Warning

Students who have been required to withdraw from the Faculty of Environmental Studies or from another Faculty at York or elsewhere receive will a debarment warning upon returning or continuing their studies in the Faculty of Environmental Studies. Students on a debarment warning must achieve a cumulative grade point average of at least 4.00 (C) within the next 24 credits taken or earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in the session in which the 24th credit is completed and in each subsequent session until their cumulative average reaches 4.00 (C), and must then maintain this average. Students who do not fulfill these conditions will be debarred from the University. Students whose cumulative grade point average falls below 3.00 (D+) at any time while on a debarment warning will be debarred.

Debarment

Students who have already been required to withdraw because of their unsatisfactory academic record and whose record does not show improvement will be debarred from the University. Debarment, the minimum period for which is normally two years, means that a student is no longer a student at York University.

Petition to Continue Without Interruption

Students who have been debarred may submit a petition to the Faculty of Environmental Studies Petitions Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. For further information, contact the undergraduate program administrative and records assistant in the Office of Student and Academic Services, 137 HNES.

Reapplying After Debarment

Students who have been debarred and who wish to resume their studies must apply for admission through the Admissions Office and must provide persuasive evidence that they are ready and able to complete a degree program.

Academic Probation

Students who have been debarred and who subsequently resume their studies in the Faculty of Environmental Studies – by petitioning to continue without interruption or by reapplying for admission – receive an academic probation. The conditions for continuing on an academic probation are the same as those for a debarment warning.

Breach of Academic Honesty

Conduct that violates the ethical or legal standards of the University community is a serious matter. In particular, any breach of academic honesty is a most serious offence to both the University community and the academic enterprise. Therefore, all faculty members are required to treat any breach of academic honesty, no matter how small the breach may appear, as a most serious matter demanding most thorough investigation. The rules embodied in the University Senate Policy on Academic Honesty and the Procedures Governing Breach of Academic Honesty apply to all BES students and are described in the University Policies section of this publication.

In the Faculty of Environmental Studies it is a serious offence against academic honesty, among other things, to cheat, to impersonate, to plagiarize or misappropriate the work of others, to practice improper research procedures, to be dishonest in publication, to aid and abet academic misconduct or to undertake any other action that runs counter to academic honesty. In addition, some forms of breach of academic honesty might constitute offences under the Criminal Code of Canada. While the pressures of school may be such that a student may feel pressured to breach academic honesty, students must completely resist such pressures. Students who are unsure of what may constitute a breach of academic honesty should consult with the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty (in the University Policies and Regulations section) or with the Faculty of Environmental Studies Office of Student and Academic Services.

Academic Standing

Academic standing depends on several factors, including the number of courses a student has passed, the grade point average achieved during a particular session (sessional grade point average) and the overall grade point average (cumulative grade point average).

Honours BES Degree

Qualifying for Honours: Students with no Previous Postsecondary Education

Students who are admitted to the Faculty of Environmental Studies with no prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution (such as a university or college) are automatically enrolled in an Honours program.

Transfer Students

Students who are admitted to the Faculty of Environmental Studies with prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution are enrolled in an Honours program if their prior cumulative grade point average (including failed courses) is at least the equivalent of 5.00 (C+) on the York scale.

Note: courses taken at other postsecondary institutions are not calculated as part of the student's grade point average at York, nor do they appear on the York University transcript.

Continuing and Revisions to Progression Requirements: Honours Standing

To continue in an Honours program, students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of at least 5.00 (C+). Students whose cumulative grade point averages fall below 5.00 (C+) during the course of their studies may proceed in an Honours program, on academic warning, provided that they meet the year level progression requirements as set out below.

Year Level	Credit Range	CGPA
1	0 to 23	4.00
2	24 to 53	4.25
3	54 to 83	4.80
4	84 to 120	5.00

Students must successfully complete (pass) at least 120 credits, meet Faculty and program requirements, and achieve a CGPA of 5.00 (C+) for all courses taken to satisfy their program in order to graduate with an Honours degree. Students who are permitted to continue in an Honours program on warning will be required to attend an advising appointment with their adviser.

Ineligibility to Continue in Honours

Students who do not meet the conditions outlined above may continue their studies only in the BES 90 credit degree program.

Graduating in Honours

To graduate from an Honours program, students must successfully complete (pass) at least 120 credits which meet the Faculty of Environmental Studies' program requirements. The cumulative grade point average for all courses taken must be at least 5.00 (C+).

Courses Taken Beyond the Normal Maximum

Students in an Honours BES program who successfully complete more than 120 credits and whose cumulative grade point average is at least 5.00 (C+) will have all credits counted towards their Honours BES and their cumulative grade point average.

Opting to Graduate in the BES Program – 90 credit

Students registered in the 120-credit Honours program may opt to graduate with a 90-credit degree if they fulfill those program requirements. Students who wish to take advantage of this option should complete the relevant form at the Office of Student Academic Services, 137 HNES, by early December for graduation the following spring or by mid-August for graduation the following fall (refer to the 90 credit program requirements).

Students registered in an Honours BES program whose cumulative grade point average after completion of 90 credits falls below 5.00 (C+), but remains 4.00 (C) or above, may request to graduate with a 90-credit BES degree if they fulfill the degree requirements or may continue in the program until the requirements for the 90-credit degree are fulfilled. They may not continue in an Honours program and they may not take extra courses in a subsequent session in an effort to raise their cumulative grade point average to re-enter the Honours program.

Re-entering Honours

Students who are ineligible to continue in the Honours program because their cumulative grade point average has fallen below the minimum requirement as outlined above may re-enter the Honours BES program only if they raise their cumulative grade point average to 5.00 (C+) or above by the time they have successfully completed their 90th credit.

BES Degree

Students must successfully complete (pass) courses for at least 90 credits which meet the bachelor of environmental studies program requirements. The cumulative grade point average for all courses taken must be at least 4.00 (C).

Courses Taken Beyond the Normal Maximum – in Order to Raise Cumulative Grade Point Average

Students in the BES program who have passed 90 credits in accordance with the Faculty of Environmental Studies program requirements, but whose cumulative grade point average is below 4.00 (C), may attempt to raise their average to 4.00 (C) by taking up to 12 additional credits, to a maximum of 102 credits. These courses must be above the 1000 level and a minimum of six credits must be taken in FES; regulations on equivalent and excluded courses apply.

Courses Taken Beyond the Normal Maximum

Students in the BES program who successfully complete more than 90 credits and whose cumulative grade point average is at least 4.00 (C) and less than 5.00 (C+) will have all credits counted towards their BES degree and their cumulative grade point average.

Transferring to Honours

Students in the BES program who become eligible for Honours will automatically be transferred to the Honours BES degree program. Students who have graduated from the Faculty of Environmental Studies with a BES degree and whose record makes them eligible for an Honours BES may apply to the Faculty to pursue the Honours degree.

Academic Standing Requirements for Visiting Students

Individuals who wish to enrol in undergraduate credit courses, but who do not intend to complete a degree or a certificate may be admitted to York as a visiting student (see the Admissions section for more information). There are three categories of visiting students:

- a) those who hold an undergraduate degree (three-year bachelor's degree minimum) from an accredited university/university-level institution;
- b) those who do not hold an undergraduate degree but wish to enrol in York courses to fulfill the academic, upgrading or professional development requirements of a professional designation;
- c) those who are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take York courses on a letter of permission issued by their home institution.

Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirement

Students in categories a) and b) whose overall cumulative grade point average (OCGPA) falls below 4.00 (C) based on a minimum of 24 credits will not be allowed to enrol in any subsequent session as visiting students. Students who are not permitted to re-enrol must apply for re-admission through the Admissions Office.

Note: repeated course legislation does not apply to visiting students but only to academic degrees and certificates. Therefore, all courses attempted or taken will count in the OCGPA.

Credit Limits

Students in category b) who have maintained an OCGPA of 4.00 (C) or higher throughout their studies and who have completed 30 credits will not be allowed to enrol in subsequent sessions and must either reactivate to proceed as visiting students or may choose to apply for admission to a degree or certificate program. This pause allows students in category (b) an opportunity to reconsider options to apply to degree studies given the transfer credit implications.

Office of Student and Academic Services:

231 Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135

General Information

The Faculty is committed to excellence in the fine arts and defines its role and mission as follows:

- To prepare and encourage critically informed practitioners, scholars and teachers of the fine and performing arts, who will make new and significant contributions in Canada and internationally.
- To offer comprehensive training that integrates practical, critical, historical and theoretical approaches toward understanding and innovation in the context of a broad university experience.
- To offer undergraduate and graduate programs in six major disciplines of the fine and performing arts: dance, design, film, music, theatre and visual arts, as well as interdisciplinary courses and programs leading to the degrees of BA, Honours BA, Honours BFA, Honours BDes and in specified areas, MA, MFA and PhD.
- To build, maintain and sustain a faculty complement of high quality, a community of scholars and practitioners in all disciplines.
- To provide education in the fine arts to the larger University community and to advance the teaching of the arts at all levels.
- To investigate, enliven and promote the fine arts in Canadian society while serving the varied constituencies of the community, locally, regionally, nationally and internationally.

Academic Advising and Student Responsibility

The information contained in the Undergraduate Calendar and other publications is designed to be self-explanatory. The Faculty recognizes, however, there may be specific questions about regulations which are not answered here. Those questions should be addressed to one of the following sources of information given below.

Advising

The Faculty of Fine Arts considers academic advising an important responsibility.

Advising functions may vary in their significance to students at different times of the academic year and at different points in a student's academic career. Non-academic advising and counselling is offered by Career Services, the Counselling and Development Centre and the Centre for Student Community and Leadership Development.

Advising students is a shared responsibility of the Student Client Services office, Student and Academic Services, the departments of the Faculty and the Student Peer Advising Centre.

Registrar's Office

The Registrar's Office administers most of the academic regulations contained in the Faculty of Fine Arts section (416-872-YORK; <http://www.registrar.yorku.ca>). This office provides a wide range of administrative services to students, staff and faculty members, including:

- performing general registrarial functions relating to enrolment and record-keeping;
- applying the Faculty's rules on academic standing, including eligibility to graduate;

- reporting final grades to students;
- producing official university transcripts;
- advising students about petitions and receiving petitions for exemptions from academic regulations.

Student and Academic Services

Student service/guidance personnel, prospective and current students and other interested persons wishing further information about the Faculty, the University and its programs or who wish to arrange a visit to the campus may contact the Student and Academic Services office, 2nd floor, Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135. This office also coordinates academic and peer advising programs for new students and provides information and advice to undergraduates and faculty concerning admissions, academic planning, interpretation and application of academic regulations and procedures, petitions, student awards, convocation and referrals to a network of other resources and services for students on campus.

Department Offices

Enquiries regarding auditions and evaluations, course offerings and faculty should be addressed to the various department offices. Office locations and telephone numbers are listed in the departmental sections of this publication.

Student Peer Advising Centre

The Student Peer Advising Centre is the home of FASAM (Fine Arts Student Ambassadors and Mentors) and is located in the Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts lobby. The Student Peer Advising Centre is a drop-in centre staffed by knowledgeable upper-year students. It offers peer mentoring for personal and academic matters, provides study tips, tutoring contacts, workshop, event and job opportunity information. The Student Peer Advising Centre also provides a wide range of referral and resource information on services at York and the wider community.

In addition, the Student Peer Advising Centre also house the Faculty of Fine Arts Mentoring program. Mentors provide support and encouragement to students throughout the academic year. As well as the office hours, e-advising is offered by the mentors through fasam@yorku.ca. Students are referred to the department offices throughout the year for advice and information related to their academic career including academic performance, degree programs and requirements. Open weekdays from 10am to 4pm.

Student Responsibilities

Every effort is made to ensure that students in the Faculty of Fine Arts have access to accurate information and individual advice and guidance. Within this context, and within the framework of Faculty and program regulations, students are responsible for making their own choices regarding courses and programs. Students should take special care to:

- ensure the courses they choose meet all the requirements for graduation;
- ensure the courses they choose meet prerequisites and are not exclusions or equivalents of other courses already taken;
- ensure the times of the courses they choose do not conflict;
- ensure the accuracy of their registration records, including all changes;
- note and observe deadlines and procedures, especially deadlines for adding and dropping courses;
- ensure full documentation is provided in support of petitions and other requests for special consideration;
- keep themselves informed about their academic progress, including their performance in individual courses. It is incumbent on faculty members to make available to their students assessments of their work and, if requested, to discuss students' progress with them.

Letters of Permission

Letters of permission allow Faculty of Fine Arts students to receive credit at York for courses taken at other universities. In order to receive credit for such courses, a letter of permission must be obtained prior to enrolling.

Application forms for letters of permission are available at Student Client Services or on the Current Students Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkuweb/cs.htm>.

Courses which students propose to take on a letter of permission must be acceptable to the Faculty of Fine Arts teaching unit best able to judge their academic merit. The Faculty is under no obligation to accept courses taken without its permission.

Students must be in good academic standing to be eligible for a letter of permission; students under academic warning or debarment warning are not eligible.

In order to receive credit for courses taken on a letter of permission, students must arrange for the host institution to submit an official transcript to the Registrar's Office, Bennett Centre for Student Services. Credit is granted when an approved course is completed with a minimum equivalent grade of C+ (65 per cent) in major courses or C (60 per cent) in non-major courses. Grades earned in courses taken at other postsecondary institutions are not part of the student's York transcript and are not incorporated into the student's grade point averages in the Faculty of Fine Arts.

Should a student leave York University to pursue study at another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission, upon return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.

Undergraduate Degree Programs

The Faculty of Fine Arts believes in an interdisciplinary education integrated with pre-professional and professional work in the arts. The curriculum is designed to acquaint students with contemporary knowledge in the humanities, the social sciences and the natural sciences, as well as in the fine arts. In all programs, students pursue both theory and practice in the arts, in one or more fields, according to their artistic and scholarly needs and abilities.

The Faculty of Fine Arts offers four undergraduate degrees: the BA, the Honours BA, the Honours BFA and, in partnership with Sheridan Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning, the Honours BDes. In general, students who concentrate in fine arts history, theory and/or criticism graduate with either a BA or Honours BA degree and students concentrating in studio, performance and/or production work graduate with an Honours BFA or Honours BDes degree. Upon admission to the Faculty, students select a degree program which may be changed during subsequent registration periods with the approval of the related department.

Specialized Honours Program

The Specialized Honours program is designed for students who wish to concentrate in a particular discipline within a university context and obtain an intensive experience in that discipline. Specialized Honours programs are available in dance, design, film, music, theatre and visual arts.

BA Program

The BA in fine arts with majors in dance, film, fine arts cultural studies, music, theatre, and visual arts is designed to provide students with a further range of options, including preparation for a number of professional careers such as: creative arts therapy, arts administration, arts journalism, arts marketing, cultural tourism, community arts and cultural management.

Honours Double Major Program

The Honours Double Major program allows students to combine a major in dance, film, fine arts cultural studies, music, theatre or visual arts with a second major offered through the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies. Fine arts students in the Honours Double Major program must satisfy the basic degree requirements of the Faculty of Fine Arts and graduate with either an Honours BA or Honours BFA degree from the Faculty of Fine Arts. Some Honours Double Major combinations may require more than 120 credits.

Honours Double Major BA Degree Program Within the Faculty of Fine Arts

The Honours Double Major BA degree within the Faculty of Fine Arts allows students to combine a major in dance, film, music, theatre or visual arts with a second major offered through dance, film, music, theatre or visual arts. The Specialized Honours BA program may be pursued jointly with other Specialized Honours BA or BFA programs in the Faculty of Fine Arts. While the Honours Double Major BA degree within the Faculty of Fine Arts may be pursued jointly with another Specialized Honours BA or BFA program in the Faculty of Fine Arts, the Honours Double Major combination of two Honours BFA programs is not an option.

Honours Major/Minor Program

The Honours Major/Minor program is designed for students who wish to combine a primary concentration in dance, film, fine arts cultural studies, music, theatre or visual arts with a secondary concentration in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, the Faculty of Environmental Studies, the Faculty of Fine Arts or the Faculty of Science and Engineering. Fine arts students in the Honours Major/Minor program must satisfy the basic degree requirements of the Faculty of Fine Arts and graduate with either an Honours BA or Honours BFA degree from the Faculty of Fine Arts. Some Honours Major/Minor combinations may require more than 120 credits.

Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA Program

Fine arts cultural studies or film (cinema and media studies) majors may pursue an Honours Double Major Interdisciplinary BA with a major in communication studies in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies. Students complete the requirements for the second major within the context of their degree requirements. Please see the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies Programs of Study section for details.

Coregistration in the Faculty of Education

Students registered in the Faculty of Fine Arts may apply for admission to the Concurrent program of the Faculty of Education. Coregistered students work towards the separate degree requirements of both Faculties concurrently and if successful are awarded two degrees: the BA or the Honours BA or the Honours BFA from the Faculty of Fine Arts and the BEd from the Faculty of Education.

A Faculty of Fine Arts Honours degree which normally takes four years to complete, will take five years when pursued concurrently with the bachelor of education degree. For those students interested in teaching at the primary, junior and intermediate levels, a BA degree and a BEd could be completed in four years. For further information, please consult the Faculty of Education section.

Graduate Studies in Fine Arts

York University's Faculty of Graduate Studies offers several programs in fine arts including the master of design, and the MA degree in art history, dance, historical, critical, historical and theoretical studies in film, theatre studies, ethnomusicology and musicology. Programs leading to the MFA degree include film, theatre and visual arts. It is also possible to obtain the MA or MFA in combination with an MBA degree. A PhD program in Ethnomusicology and Musicology is also available.

Applicants should be aware that application deadlines and admission requirements vary from program to program. For further information, please consult the Faculty of Graduate Studies Calendar.

Admission

Please refer to the Admission section of this publication for general information on admission requirements and procedures.

Applicant Evaluation Procedures

In addition to the regular requirements for admission to the University, the Faculty of Fine Arts requires an evaluation of an applicant's suitability for many of its programs. The requirements for each department are detailed below. In order to be evaluated, a candidate must have applied for admission to the Faculty of Fine Arts.

For details on the process leading to an appointment for an evaluation interview/audition and for further information regarding the evaluation procedures, refer to the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>. Invitations to attend an evaluation interview/audition may be contingent on an applicant's previous or current year's grade point average. For general information concerning the Faculty of Fine Arts, contact Student and Academic Services, second floor, Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135.

Applicants who reside outside the Greater Toronto Area should contact the department to enquire about alternate arrangements for the audition/evaluation. Several departments hold auditions in selected major cities across Canada, appointments and details for which can be obtained by contacting the department offices.

Department of Dance

Admission to the BFA in dance is based on your academic history as well as on the successful completion of a supplemental departmental audition. The audition consists of a short class in modern dance, ballet and improvisation taught by dance faculty followed by a personal interview. If distance precludes an on-campus evaluation, please contact the department to make alternative arrangements. Admission to the BA in dance is based on academic grades; no supplemental evaluation is required.

For further information visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/> or contact the Department of Dance (ACE 301) at 416-736-5137 (dance@yorku.ca).

Department of Design

The final selection of qualified candidates is based on the ranking of three criteria: overall academic results, a questionnaire and a portfolio. Questionnaires will be provided to all applicants to the program. Selected candidates invited to an interview must bring a portfolio of creative work, with detailed documentation. Specific requirements will be forwarded to the selected candidates. The interviews will focus upon the applicants' understanding of communications design and their conceptual, visual and communications abilities. For further information, please visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/> or contact the Department of Design (TEL 4008) at 416-736-5885 (ysdn@yorku.ca).

Department of Film

Applicants must download the BFA supplementary application package, complete and return it to the Department of Film. Completion of the supplemental application package will aid us in making the best match between applicants and our program. Selected candidates will then be asked to attend a personal interview. For a supplementary application package and/or further information, please contact the Department of Film (CFT 221) at 416-736-5149 (filmvideo@yorku.ca). An early application is strongly recommended. For further information, please visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>.

Admission to the BA in cinema and media studies is based on grades alone. No supplemental evaluation is required.

Department of Music

Music applicants must satisfy the program's supplemental evaluation. All applicants will automatically be sent an evaluation package once the department is advised of your application by the Ontario Universities' Application Centre. The department's supplemental evaluation package requires applicants to complete the application questionnaire; submit a 500-word essay describing your musical background and the contributions further training will enable you to make to music and society; complete the listening exercises defined in the package; complete the theory test included in the package.

Applicants have the option of auditioning "in person" or mailing in a recorded submission. Those who wish to attend the "in person" audition should contact the Department of Music (ACE 371) at 416-736-5186 to arrange an audition time.

If you are mailing in your evaluation, please record and submit two contrasting pieces or styles to show the range of your musical skills and interests. Any recording format will be acceptable, i.e. tape cassette, CD, mini disc, DAT, VHS or MP3 files. We do not require a professionally produced recording. A good basic audio-cassette recording using a traditional "boom-box" will suffice as long as we can hear your performance clearly.

Although proficiency on more than one instrument is not required, if you wish to show aptitude on a secondary instrument, one additional piece on the second instrument will suffice. We also invite you to submit scores and/or recordings of arrangements or compositions that you have created and essays on music that you have written.

If you have formal training, you are invited to provide copies of any documentation showing the level of theory/performance/history completed, i.e. RCM grades etc.

For further information, please contact the Department of Music, 416-736-5242 (musicprg@yorku.ca) or visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>.

Department of Theatre

All applicants will automatically be mailed an evaluation package. Invitations to evaluations will be based on your academic record to date. Applicants are evaluated on the basis of the following:

- A questionnaire focusing on their background in theatre. This is not a theatrical skills assessment, but rather an opportunity for applicants to express themselves and exhibit their interest in theatre.
- A public oral presentation of no more than three minutes. This presentation could take many forms: for instance, a monologue from a play; or a talk about a production recently seen, directed or designed; or information about a play written by the applicant, or a reading from it giving the background to the work. The Department of Theatre needs to ascertain how applicants present themselves in public, how they perform, or how they speak about some aspect of theatre. All applicants — no matter what their area of prime interest — must be prepared to make this public presentation. Therefore, this should be planned in advance.
- A brief personal interview. Normally the questionnaire/presentation/interview process will take place during a half-day visit to the Keele campus or in another location closer to the applicant's home town. If there are significant reasons that an applicant cannot attend a personal interview/evaluation, the applicant should discuss with the department other evaluation methods, such as video auditions, portfolio or written submissions and/or telephone interviews.

Successful applicants will be expected to complete a medical questionnaire prior to beginning classes.

If further information is required, please contact the Department of Theatre (CFT 318) at 416-736-5172 (theatre@yorku.ca) or visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/>.

Department of Visual Arts

All BFA applicants will automatically be sent an evaluation package. This provides applicants with an opportunity to outline related background and interests. Selected studio applicants will be invited to show a portfolio of six pieces including a sketchbook, idea-book or journal. Applicants are encouraged to show variety in their work; no fewer than two different media should be represented. There will also be a personal interview with one of the department's instructors. Art history applicants are not required to submit a portfolio but have the option of a personal interview.

Admission to the BA in art history is based on grades alone. No supplemental evaluation is required.

For information about the departmental evaluation process please visit the Faculty of Fine Arts Web site <http://www.yorku.ca/finearts/> or contact the Department of Visual Arts (GCFA 235) at 416-650-8191 (visarts@yorku.ca).

Second Degree Candidates

Students who hold a degree from an accredited institution may apply to the Faculty of Fine Arts to obtain a second undergraduate degree in a different discipline. Students who hold a BA degree (not an Honours degree) from another accredited institution may apply to the Faculty of Fine Arts to obtain an Honours degree in the same discipline. In all cases, second degree candidates are required to:

- complete a minimum of 30 additional credits at York University in accordance with the Faculty of Fine Arts residency requirement (courses taken as part of the first degree cannot be used to satisfy this requirement);
- fulfill all the requirements of the new major and minor programs; general education and elective requirements are waived.

The in-Faculty requirement should be regarded as the minimum number of additional courses; depending on the program selected and the amount of credit awarded for previous studies, the actual number of courses required for a second degree may well exceed that number.

No student will be permitted to pursue a second Honours degree in the same discipline.

Degree Reclassification

A student who has completed a York University BA degree (90 credit program) in the Faculty of Fine Arts may continue, after graduation, in an Honours BA program in the same subject area or in an Honours Double Major BA or Honours Major/Minor BA program including the same subject area, provided the cumulative and major grade point average are those required for the Honours program. A student who wishes to pursue an Honours BFA in the same field of study, may continue in the second degree, subject to the approval of the Faculty of Fine Arts, by submitting a change of degree form to the Registrar's Office. Please note that students who are approved by the Faculty to proceed, would normally receive 90 credits towards the Honours BFA in the same subject area.

A student who wishes to pursue a second Honours BFA or Honours BA in a different field of study must apply to the Admissions Office for admission as a second degree candidate. The deadline to apply for fall admission is June 1.

General Regulations

The academic regulations of the Faculty of Fine Arts have been carefully prepared to outline for students the specific demands and expectations of a fine arts degree program. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with the rules and regulations of the Faculty and the University, and to abide by them. All students are subject to changes in regulations and requirements made after their first registration unless, in the opinion of the Faculty Council, undue hardship is involved.

Advising and Enrolment

Students newly admitted to the Faculty of Fine Arts will attend both an advising enrolment and fine arts orientation session at Student and Academic Services. Continuing students are encouraged to seek advising from their major departments prior to the summer and fall/winter enrolment periods. Students wishing to drop major courses during the term should check with an adviser first, as special permission may be required.

Maximum Course Load

Full-time students are those registered in 24 or more credits during the fall/winter academic session. 36 credits are allowed during the fall/winter session and 15 credits in the summer session for students majoring in dance, film, fine arts cultural studies, music, theatre and visual arts.

Students majoring in design may take a maximum of 36 credits during a calendar year.

Auditing

Students who wish to attend (audit) a course in the Faculty of Fine Arts on a non-credit basis must obtain written permission from the course instructor and the department Chair. For further information on courses available and course fees, please contact the fine arts department offering the course.

Residence Requirement

While allowing students to take a certain number of courses at other universities and in other Faculties of York University, in order to meet the residence requirement, the Faculty of Fine Arts requires that students complete a portion of their courses as follows:

- A minimum of 30 credits must be taken at York University.

Furthermore:

- No fewer than half of the credits required for the fine arts major must be taken in the Faculty of Fine Arts (i.e. courses with the prefix FA), including at least 12 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level, subject to any further prescriptions of the major department.

For students completing a minor in the Faculty of Fine Arts, no fewer than half of the credits required for the minor must be in-Faculty courses, i.e. courses with the prefix FA.

Academic Withdrawal

Before withdrawing from the University, students are encouraged to request an interview with the associate dean. In order to avoid receiving failing grades students must drop their courses by the published deadline.

Reactivation

Students who have been absent from the University for one or more academic sessions may apply to the Registrar's Office for reactivation, provided that they left their fine arts degree program in good standing and have not attended another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission. Information concerning reactivation can be obtained from the Current Students Web site. Students who were ineligible to continue in the Faculty of Fine Arts at the time of their leaving must apply for re-admission. For more information see the Academic Penalties section.

Petitions

Petitions for Exemptions from the Regulations

The purpose of academic regulations is to allow students to develop their interests and talents to the fullest in ways consistent with the philosophy and standards of the Faculty. In establishing academic regulations, the Faculty also recognizes that instances will arise where it makes sense, in the context of a student's academic career, to petition or request a waiver of an academic regulation or deadline.

Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee

Academic petitions from fine arts students for exceptions to all Faculty regulations, including petitions to continue their studies without interruption from students who have been required to withdraw or are debarred, are adjudicated by the Fine Arts Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee during the fall/winter academic session. During the summer months, petitions are heard by summer authority as designated by Faculty Council.

Note on Grade Reappraisals

Requests for the reappraisal of final grades are not petitions in the formal sense. Such requests should be directed to the teaching unit offering the course in question.

Right to Petition

Students in the Faculty of Fine Arts have the right to petition on reasonable grounds for special consideration. It should be noted, however, that a petition is a request for the waiver of a regulation; it cannot be used to create legislation (e.g. a degree program) that does not exist. Normally, petitions will not be considered by the Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee more than one year beyond the date of the release of grades for the session to which the petition relates.

Petitions Procedure

Students shall petition all matters to their home Faculty with the exception of grade reappraisals, which are considered by the department/Faculty offering the course. Petitions are held in the strictest confidence. The committee considers the petition itself, any supporting documents (from professors or medical practitioners) and other relevant information contained in the student's record. Students and/or their representatives may appear before a committee only at the discretion or invitation of the committee. Appeals to decisions rendered on petitions are heard by the committee solely on the grounds of either new evidence or evidence of procedural irregularity. Appeals should be directed to an adviser, in Student and Academic Services, Fine Arts.

Initiating a Petition

To initiate a petition, a student must complete an undergraduate academic petition package. Petition packages are available from Student Client Services, 416-872-YORK or online at the Current Students Web site.

Petitions relating to a student's enrolment status or academic standing must be submitted within 30 days of the release of grade reports for the session. Such petitions may be considered for a period of up to one year if they are based on special circumstances.

Advice on petitioning is available from Student and Academic Services, Fine Arts, second floor, Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135. Petitions should be brought or mailed to the appropriate committee in care of the Registrar's Office, Bennett Centre for Student Services.

Grading and Academic Standards

Refer to section on Grades and Grading Schemes within the Academic Information section of this publication for general information.

Alternative Grading Option (Pass/Fail)

Students in good standing may, after successfully completing 24 credits, enrol in up to 12 credits on an ungraded (pass/fail) basis. Courses taken on an ungraded basis may not be used to satisfy major, minor, general education or certificate requirements. Courses taken on an ungraded basis are recorded as P (pass) or F (fail), and neither grade is included in the calculation of grade point averages.

To designate a course as ungraded, a student must complete an application form available at Student Client Services and submit it to that office before the end of the second week of classes in the course.

It is possible to revert to the regular grading scheme after choosing the alternative grading option. The Registrar's Office must be notified of this decision no later than the last day to withdraw from the course without academic penalty.

Grading Policy

- a. Within the first two classes, a written course outline must be provided to each student. Such an outline should announce the means of determining the final grade in a course. Such information must include the kinds of assignments, essays, examinations and other components which make up the grade; their relative weights; and any other procedures which enter into the determination of the final grade.
- b. In exceptional circumstances, a previously announced marking scheme for a course may be changed; the new marking scheme must also be distributed in written form. Any changes to a previously announced marking scheme must have the consent of all students registered in the course, such consent to be signified by their signatures.

- c. Feedback during course: instructors are obligated to provide a mechanism by which students can be apprised of their progress in a course; in particular, students must be able to make an informed decision on whether to withdraw from a course. This will normally mean that students will receive graded feedback on work worth at least 15 per cent of the course grade before the deadline to withdraw from that course.
- d. No examination or test worth more than 20 per cent of the course grade may be scheduled during the last two weeks of class time, but must be scheduled during the formal exam period.
- e. Grades submitted by an instructor are subject to review by the teaching unit in which the course is offered, and by the Faculty of Fine Arts Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee.

Grade Reappraisals

Students may, with sufficient academic grounds, request that a final grade in a course be reappraised. Further information may be obtained from the Student and Academic Services Office, Faculty of Fine Arts or from the unit offering the course. Students applying to have a grade reappraised in a Faculty of Fine Arts course should note the following:

Deadlines: requests for reappraisal must be filed within three weeks of the release of grade reports for the term.

Reassessable work: students may question the overall course grade or the marking of the specific pieces of work. For reassessment of specific projects or assignments, tangible evidence of the original submitted work must be provided. Written, graphic, modelled, video recording or audio recording are acceptable formats for reassessment.

Possible grade changes: when a student asks for a reappraisal of a grade or assignment, an original grade may be raised, lowered or confirmed.

Faculty appeal procedures: the decision of the department may be appealed to the Faculty of Fine Arts Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee (AAPPC) only on grounds of procedural irregularity or new evidence. Appeals to AAPPC must be submitted to Student and Academic Services, Faculty of Fine Arts.

Deferred Standing

Deferred standing may be recorded and in effect in the following cases:

- a. If a student has missed an examination, or has not completed the course work due to sickness or other misfortune, it is the student's responsibility to make arrangements with the instructor to complete the course and to file a deferred standing agreement with the department by the specified deadline.
- b. If the nature of the academic exercise precludes the completion of certain course requirements before the grading deadlines, it is the instructor's responsibility to provide a written rationale to the Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee.

Aegrotat Standing

In cases where deferred standing is not possible, students may be granted aegrotat standing (AEG) on the grounds of sickness, accident or family misfortune. Aegrotat standing excuses students from completing the remaining and required work for a course or courses although course credit is granted. The notation AEG is recorded on the transcript in place of a final grade. Aegrotat standing is normally dependent upon the student's having completed 75 per cent of the required course work at a minimum C+ level. Requests for aegrotat standing will not be considered before the final date for withdrawal from a course.

Petitions for aegrotat standing must be submitted to the Registrar's Office with documentation substantiating the misfortune and written support from the instructor(s). The petition will then be considered by the Faculty Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee.

Aegrotat standing is seldom granted and will not be granted for more than one academic session prior to the completion of a degree.

Academic Standing

Academic standing depends on several factors including the number of courses a student has completed, the overall grade point average, the sessional grade point average and the major grade point average.

Grade reports include notice of academic standing and eligibility to proceed in Honours or BA programs.

Note: advancement into second-year and upper-year studio/performance course in some programs may be determined by the designated departmental committee.

Grade Point Average Calculations

There are three different grade point averages (GPAs) calculated for Faculty of Fine Arts students:

- Overall grade point average: includes all courses (passed and failed) that the student has completed at York.
- Major grade point average: includes all courses (passed and failed) which count towards the major that the student has completed at York.
- Sessional grade point average: includes all courses (passed and failed) that the student has completed in the current session at York.

All courses taken at York, including failures, are included in grade point average calculations. Courses completed outside York University are not included in grade point averages at York.

Honours BA, Honours BFA and Honours BDes

The following minimum grade point averages are required to graduate with an Honours degree in the Faculty of Fine Arts:

- An overall grade point average of 5.00 (C+).
- A major grade point average of 5.00 (C+).

To graduate, students must also have successfully completed (passed) at least 120 credits which meet the Faculty of Fine Arts and program requirements.

Admission to an Honours BA, Honours BFA and Honours BDes

Students with no previous postsecondary education: students who enter the Faculty of Fine Arts with no prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution (such as university and college) are automatically admitted to an Honours program.

Transfer students: students who enter with prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution are admitted to an Honours program if their prior overall grade point average (including failed courses) is at least the equivalent of 5.00 (C+) on the York scale.

Transferring from an Honours BA, Honours BFA to a BA Program

Ineligibility to continue in Honours: students whose overall and/or major GPA falls below the progression requirements, may continue their studies only in a BA degree program. Please see the eligibility to maintain Honours status chart below. Honours BA students will automatically be placed in the BA program. Honours BFA students must fill out a change of degree form if they wish to continue their studies.

Re-entering Honours: students who have been transferred to the BA program because of a GPA which falls below the requirements to maintain Honours status, may re-enter Honours if they raise their overall and major grade point averages to the requirements or above as specified in each year level, by the session in which they have successfully completed their 90th credit. Students who have not reached 5.00 (C+) in the session in which they successfully complete their 90th credit may request to graduate with a BA degree if they fulfill the BA degree requirements, or may continue in a BA program until those requirements are fulfilled. Students in this situation may petition for an Honours waiver.

Year Level	Credits Completed	Major Grade Point Average Requirement	Cumulative Overall Grade Point Average
1	Fewer than 24	5.00	4.00
2	24 to 53	5.00	4.25
3	54 to 83	5.00	4.80
4	84	5.00	5.00

Honours Bachelor of Design

Please note that the Honours progression requirements do not apply to the York-Sheridan Joint Bachelor of Design degree program. This program is exempted from the Honours progression requirements stated above. Students in this program must maintain both an overall and major GPA of 5.00 in each year of study throughout their program. Students who fall below the 5.00 (C+) in either their overall and/or major GPA will be required to transfer into another degree program and/or petition for an Honours waiver.

BA Degree

Graduating with a BA

The following minimum grade point averages are required to graduate with a BA in the Faculty of Fine Arts:

- An overall grade point average of 4.00 (C).
- A major grade point average of 4.00 (C).

To graduate, students must also have successfully completed (passed) at least 90 credits which meet the Faculty of Fine Arts and program requirements.

Opting to graduate in a BA program: students who are eligible for Honours may opt to graduate in a BA program in the session in which they have completed their final course(s). This should be indicated on the application to graduate form.

Admission to a BA

Transfer students: students who enter with prior experience at a postsecondary educational institution are admitted to a BA program if their prior overall grade point average (including failed courses) is at least the equivalent of 4.00 (C) on the York scale.

Transferring/Re-applying to Honours

Continuing students: students in a BA program whose overall and major GPAs are at least 5.00 (C+) are automatically transferred to an Honours BA program. Students who wish to transfer from the Honours BA to the Honours BFA must apply on a change of degree form and fulfill any evaluation or audition requirements.

Graduating students: students who have completed a York University BA degree (90 credit program) in the Faculty of Fine Arts may continue, after graduation, in an Honours BA program in the same subject area or in an Honours Double Major BA or Honours Major/Minor BA program including the same subject area, provided the cumulative and major grade point average are those required for the Honours program. A student who wishes to pursue an Honours BFA in the same field of study, may continue in the second degree, subject to the approval of the Faculty of Fine Arts, by submitting a change of degree form to the Registrar's Office. Please note that students who are approved by the Faculty to proceed, would normally receive 90 credits towards the Honours BFA in the same subject area.

A student who wishes to pursue a second Honours BFA or Honours BA in a different field of study must apply to the Admissions Office for admission as a second degree candidate. The deadline to apply for fall admission is June 1.

Courses Taken Beyond the Normal Maximum – in Order to Raise Cumulative and/or Major Grade Point Average

Students in a BA program who have passed 90 credits in accordance with Faculty and program requirements, but whose overall and/or major grade point average is below 4.00 (C) may attempt to raise their average to 4.00 (C) by taking up to 12 additional credits, to a maximum of 102 credits. These courses must be above the 1000 level and must be taken at York; regulations on equivalent and excluded courses apply.

Dean's Honour Roll

The Dean's Honour Roll recognizes the academic achievements of the following:

- Students who have taken 12 to 17 credits in a given session who have achieved a sessional overall grade point average of 8.00 (A) or higher.
- Students who have taken 18 or more credits in a given session who have achieved a sessional overall grade point average of 7.50 or higher.
- Graduating students who have achieved an overall and major grade point averages of 7.00 (B+) or higher.

Graduation Honours

Students who graduate with cumulative grade point averages as specified below, both in their major discipline and overall, will have their degrees classified as follows:

Honours BA, Honours BFA and Honours BDes

7.50	Cum laude
7.80	Magna cum laude
8.00	Summa cum laude

BA Degree

7.00	Dean's Honour Roll
7.50	With merit
8.00	With distinction

Academic Standing Requirements for Visiting Students

Individuals who wish to enrol in undergraduate credit courses, but who do not intend to complete a degree or a certificate may be admitted to York as a visiting student (see the Admissions section for more information). (Please note: in addition to the regular requirements for admission to the University, the Faculty of Fine Arts requires an evaluation of an applicant's suitability for many of its programs). There are three categories of visiting students:

- those who hold an undergraduate degree (three-year bachelor's degree minimum) from an accredited university/university-level institution;
- those who do not hold an undergraduate degree but wish to enrol in York courses to fulfill the academic, upgrading or professional development requirements of a professional designation;
- those who are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take York courses on a letter of permission issued by their home institution.

Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirement

Students in categories a) and b) whose overall cumulative grade point average (OCGPA) falls below 4.00 on at least 24 credits attempted will not be allowed to enrol in any subsequent session as visiting students. Students who are not permitted to re-enrol must apply for re-admission through the Admissions Office.

Note: repeated course legislation does not apply to visiting students but only to academic degrees and certificates. Therefore, all courses attempted or taken will count in the OCGPA.

Credit Limits

Students in category b) who have maintained an OCGPA of 4.00 or higher throughout their studies and who have completed 30 credits will not be allowed to enrol in subsequent sessions and must either reactivate to proceed as visiting students or may choose to apply for admission to a degree or certificate program. This pause allows students in category (b) an opportunity to reconsider options to apply to degree studies given the transfer credit implications.

Academic Penalties

Students whose academic record does not meet Faculty or program standards are subject to the academic penalties of academic warning, major warning, required withdrawal, debarment warning, debarment and academic probation.

Academic Warning

Students whose overall grade point average falls below 4.00 (C) at the end of any session, or who enter the Faculty with a grade point average equivalent to less than 4.00 (C) on the Faculty of Fine Arts scale, receive an academic warning. Students on academic warning must earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in each session until the overall grade point average reaches 4.00 (C). Students who do not meet these conditions will be required to withdraw.

Major Warning

Students whose major grade point average falls below 4.00 (C) at the end of any session receive a major warning. Students on major warning must earn a sessional major grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in each session until the major average reaches 4.00 (C). Students who do not meet these conditions will be required to withdraw.

Required Withdrawal

Students whose academic record shows marked weakness may be required to withdraw from their studies for one year, during which they are encouraged to identify and remedy any problems which may have contributed materially to their failure to perform up to their potential, and to reflect on their reasons for pursuing a university education. The following regulations apply to required withdrawals:

Overall grade point average below 4.00 (C): students who have received an academic warning for an overall grade point average below 4.00 (C) and who do not meet the conditions outlined in the academic warning section must withdraw for 12 months.

Major grade point average below 4.00 (C): students who have received a major warning for a major grade point average below 4.00 (C) and who do not meet the conditions outlined in the major warning section must withdraw for 12 months.

Grade point average below 3.00 (D+): students whose overall and/or major grade point averages have dropped below 3.00 (D+) must withdraw for 12 months.

Petition to continue without interruption: students who have been required to withdraw may submit a petition to the Faculty of Fine Arts Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. For further information see the Petitions section.

Reactivation after required withdrawal: students who have been required to withdraw must apply for reactivation after the requisite period of absence by submitting a Reactivation form to Student Client Services (form is available on the Current Students Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/yorkweb/cs.htm>). Students who return to their studies after such a required withdrawal, as well as those who have been allowed to continue their studies by virtue of a petition to the Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee, receive a debarment warning.

Debarment Warning

Students who have been required to withdraw from the Faculty of Fine Arts or from another Faculty at York or another postsecondary institution, receive a debarment warning upon continuing their studies in the Faculty. Students on debarment warning, upon continuing their studies in the Faculty, must earn a sessional grade point average of at least 5.00 (C+) in each subsequent session until the overall and/or major average reaches 4.00 (C), and must then maintain this average. Students who do not fulfill these conditions will be debarred from the University. Students whose cumulative average fall below 3.00 (D+) while on debarment warning will be debarred.

Debarment

Students who have already been required to withdraw because of their unsatisfactory academic record and whose record does not show improvement are debarred from the University. Debarment, the minimum period for which is normally two years, means that the student is no longer a student at York University.

Petition to continue without interruption: students who have been debarred may submit a petition to the Faculty of Fine Arts Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee requesting permission to continue their studies without interruption. For further information see the Petitions section.

Re-applying after debarment: students who have been debarred and who wish to resume their studies must apply for admission through the Admissions Office and must provide persuasive evidence that they are ready and able to complete a degree program.

Debarment warning remains in effect: students who have been debarred and who subsequently resume their studies in the Faculty of Fine Arts, whether by petition to continue without interruption or by reapplying for admission, receive an academic probation.

Scholarships, Awards and Bursaries

Full-time and part-time students in the Faculty of Fine Arts are eligible for a variety of in-course scholarships and bursaries awarded by the Faculty. Some are available to all Faculty of Fine Arts students regardless of major; others are department-specific. Fine arts awards are offered in fall and spring of the academic year. A special notice will be posted or otherwise communicated to students in the departments to solicit applications for the relevant awards, outlining eligibility and selection criteria and the application deadline. Nominations and applications are handled by the student's major department, which provides the necessary application forms. Awards with financial need criteria require completion of a bursary application in addition to the award application.

The Faculty of Fine Arts Committee on Awards adjudicates applications and approves nominations. Departments post the names of recipients of all awards after the nominations have been duly confirmed.

In addition to department and Faculty-based awards, fine arts students are eligible for some other scholarships and bursaries that are offered University-wide. Please refer to the Student Financial Services section of this publication for additional information about scholarships, awards and bursaries available at York University.

Policy on Academic Honesty

Definitions

Student work: fine arts student work covered by rules regarding academic honesty includes papers, research, tests, examinations and all forms of studio and production work as practised within the Faculty.

Breaches of academic honesty: please consult the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty for a discussion of academic honesty and definitions of breach of academic honesty. Among other issues, the senate policy discusses offences such as cheating; submission of one piece of work in satisfaction of two assignments without prior informed consent; impersonation; plagiarism and other misappropriation of the work of another; abuse of confidentiality; falsification or forgery of documents; obstruction of the academic activities of another; aiding or abetting academic misconduct; failure to divulge previous attendance at another postsecondary educational institution on an admissions application etc. In particular, students taking courses in the Faculty of Fine Arts should be mindful of the dangers of misappropriation and misrepresentation which are breaches of academic honesty.

Misappropriation of another's work: in the creation and presentation of all studio and performance work, and all other artistic and technical works, students who use the work of others must clearly state the extent and nature of the appropriation to their instructor. Failure to do so shall constitute a breach of academic honesty.

Misrepresentation of collaborative projects: failure to give appropriate credit to collaborators, or the listing of others as collaborators who have not contributed to the work, shall constitute a breach of academic honesty.

Procedures

- The Senate Policy on Academic Honesty governs the procedure of the Faculty in cases of alleged breaches of academic honesty.
- Any faculty member suspecting that a student has engaged in a breach of academic honesty shall notify the associate dean, or designate, who shall in turn assist the faculty member in following the procedures provided in the senate policy.
- The associate dean of the Faculty shall be the Faculty person responsible for the carriage of all cases of breaches of academic honesty.
- The Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee shall be the body responsible for hearing cases of breaches of academic honesty and imposing penalties.

Procedural Guidelines

- If an instructor believes an offence has occurred, the student should be sent a notice in writing from the assistant director, Academic Affairs that an offence is suspected, and that the instructor or course director wishes to meet with the student. The student will be informed that a representative may accompany her/him and that the meeting will be on the record. A deadline for responding of no less than seven calendar days will be imposed. The student will also be informed that the course in question may not be dropped (as per Senate Policy, E 4). Further procedures as defined in the Senate Policy, item D 3, a and b will apply.
- If the instructor or course director decides to pursue the matter, the following material will be sent to the associate dean's office:
 - the contested piece of work, (if possible);
 - the evidence supporting the alleged offence;
 - the record of the meeting;
 - the course syllabus and relevant assignment sheets;
 - any handout on academic offences;
 - record of student's performance in the course to date;
 - student's written admission of guilt and joint recommendation of instructor and student as to penalty, if applicable;
 - any other relevant materials.

If the student chooses not to attend the aforementioned meeting, this material will be sent after the time limit for arranging that meeting has expired.
- The associate dean will present the case to the Academic/Administrative Policy and Planning Committee, which is the relevant committee empowered to hear such cases and to impose penalties. All further procedures as defined in the senate policy will be followed.

Penalties

When a student has been found to have committed a breach of academic honesty, without limiting the ultimate discretion of the Faculty committee to impose any or all of the penalties set out in the senate policy as may be warranted in the circumstances, the committee may impose any or all of the following penalties:

- a failure in the course;
- failure in the course and a notation of breach of academic honesty on the transcript;
- suspension;
- expulsion with transcript notation.

Degree Requirements

Candidates for a BA or Honours degree in the Faculty of Fine Arts degree must pass at least the respective 90 or 120 credits, chosen in conformity with curriculum requirements and in consultation with an adviser. The chart on the following page is a synopsis of degree requirements.

Course Types

Degree requirements in the Faculty of Fine Arts refer to the following categories of courses:

General Education Courses

Six credits in each of the general areas of the humanities, the social sciences and the natural sciences must be completed within the first 90 credits. Courses may be selected from the following departments:

Humanities	Natural Science	Social Science
classical studies	biology	anthropology
English	chemistry	economics
French studies	earth and atmospheric science	geography
history	environmental studies ES/ENVS 1500 6.00	political science humanities	natural science	psychology
languages and linguistics	physics and astronomy	social science modes of reasoning	science and technology studies (SC/STS)	sociology philosophy

Faculty of Fine Arts students may also satisfy the humanities general education requirement by taking either FA/FACS 1900 6.00 or FA/FACS 2900 6.00. However, if either course is counted as a humanities course, it cannot also be counted in another category.

Note: FA/FACS 1900 6.00 is required for all Faculty of Fine Arts degrees.

Non-Fine Arts Electives

In addition to the general education courses, most fine arts students are required to complete additional courses outside the fine arts disciplines. The number of non-fine arts electives required varies according to the major and degree program. Courses taken towards a major or a minor program in the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering will satisfy this requirement.

Fine Arts Electives

All students in a fine arts degree program or an Honours Major/Minor program must complete at least 12 credits in fine arts outside their major discipline. Courses completed as part of a minor program in the Faculty of Fine Arts will satisfy this requirement. Fine arts electives are not required in any Honours Double Major program.

Upper-level Courses

In all fine arts Honours programs, at least 24 credits in the major discipline must be at the 3000 or 4000 level. In fine arts BA programs, a minimum of 18 credits (including the 12 major credits) must be at the 3000 or 4000 level. Specific programs and streams may have additional upper-level requirements.

Degree Requirements

The following requirements are in effect for 2009-2010. Students admitted to a fine arts program prior to 2009-2010 should consult previous calendars for a synopsis of requirements.

	BA - 90 credits 18 credits in general education; 12 credits in fine arts outside the major department; 36-45 credits in the major department including at least 12 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level; 15-24 additional credits, which may be taken inside or outside the major department; a minimum of 18 credits (including the 12 major credits) must be at the 3000 or 4000 level.	Honours BA - 120 credits At least 24 fine arts major credits must be at the 3000 or 4000 level, including at least 12 credits in studies/history/theory/criticism, subject to any further prescriptions of the major department.	Honours BFA - 120 credits At least 24 fine arts major credits must be at the 3000 or 4000 level, including at least 12 credits in practicum/studio/performance/production, subject to any further prescriptions of the major department.	Specialized Honours BDes - 120 credits This is a Specialized Honours program only. There is no double major or major/minor program with a design major.
Fine Arts Cultural Studies	18 credits in general education; 24 credits in FACS; 24 credits in fine arts; 24 additional credits	18 credits in general education; 36 credits in FACS; 24 credits in fine arts/FACS; 18 credits outside fine arts; 24 additional credits	N/A	N/A

Students enrolled in the Concurrent BEd program are required to take 66 dance credits. Please contact the Dance Department for further information.

Notes:

1. FA/FACS 1900 6.00 is required for all Faculty of Fine Arts degrees. This course may be used to satisfy either the humanities general education requirement or a fine arts requirement (i.e. a fine arts elective, or a major or minor requirement in fine arts cultural studies), but not both. For students admitted to the Faculty of Fine Arts with a minimum of 54 transfer credits, FA/FACS 1900 6.00 is optional.
2. Fine arts credits outside the major are not required in the Honours Double Major program. They are required in the Honours Major/Minor program; students with a fine arts minor will automatically satisfy the requirement.

Major and Minor Courses

The specific course requirements for fine arts major and minor programs are outlined in the section following. A department may set further prescriptions, such as the requirement of a major thesis or production to be completed in conjunction with final courses.

Double Major and Major/Minor Programs

Honours BA or Honours BFA students in the Faculty of Fine Arts may pursue a second Honours Major in the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies, in any program or department offering a 42 or 48 credit Honours Major. Students may not pursue two major programs within the Faculty of Fine Arts. Students complete the program requirements for the second major within the context of their fine arts degree requirements. Please see the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies Programs of Study section for details. Some Honours Double Major combinations may require more than 120 credits.

Honours BA and Honours BFA students in the Faculty of Fine Arts may pursue an Honours Minor in the Faculties of Environmental Studies, Fine Arts, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies or Science and Engineering. Program requirements for specific Honours Minors in the Faculties of Fine Arts, Liberal Arts and Professional Studies and Science and Engineering are listed in the Programs of Study sections of the appropriate Faculty portions of this publication. For the minor in environmental studies, fine arts students must complete 30 credits in environmental studies, including six credits at the 1000 level and six credits at the 4000 level, and normally including three credits in the foundations series at the 2000 level.

Note: Faculty of Liberal Arts and Professional Studies Honours degree students may pursue a second major or a minor in the Faculty of Fine Arts. Students in the Faculties of Environmental Studies or Science and Engineering may also pursue an Honours Minor in the Faculty of Fine Arts. The requirements of specific minor programs are outlined in the Programs of Study sections.

Certificate Programs

Cross-Disciplinary Certificate in Digital Media

York University students may work towards a Cross-Disciplinary Certificate in Digital Media in addition to fulfilling the requirements for a bachelor's degree.

Students must successfully complete 24 credits as follows:

- FA/FACS 2930 6.00;
- Plus an additional 18 credits selected from the approved list of courses vetted by the Faculty of Fine Arts, Arts and Technology Committee, meeting the following requirements:
 - six credits in a department(s)/unit(s) outside the student's major;
 - six credits at the 4000 level;
 - six credits of electives.

Students must declare their intention to pursue the Cross-Disciplinary Certificate in Digital Media prior to the completion of 10 credits that are applicable to the certificate. They must submit an application with evidence of satisfactory academic standing. Applications will be reviewed and accepted by a sub-committee of the Arts and Technology Committee. No more than three credits from outside York University will be accepted as transfer credits for this certificate.

In order to be awarded the Cross-Disciplinary Certificate in Digital Media, students must obtain a 5.00 (C+) overall grade point average in the 24 required credits.

Application forms and the list of approved courses for this certificate are available through the Faculty of Fine Arts Office of Student and Academic Services, 232 Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135.

Please note: students who are concurrently taking a certificate and undergraduate degree must successfully complete the certificate and degree requirements prior to convocation. Certificates will not be retroactively granted.

Professional Certificate in Digital Design

Students may elect to complete the Professional Certificate in Digital Design concurrently with the 120-credit Honours BDes. The BDes is offered through the York/Sheridan joint program in Design. The Professional Certificate in Digital Design recognizes a unique grouping of courses within this joint program: interactive design.

Students must successfully complete 36 credits from the approved list of courses, vetted by the Faculty of Fine Arts, Arts and Technology Committee, as follows:

- six credits outside the Department of Design (YSDN), e.g. FA/FACS 2930 6.00;
- nine credits in YSDN at any level;
- 18 credits in YSDN at the 3000 or 4000 level;
- three credits of electives chosen from the list vetted by the Arts and Technology Committee.

Students must declare their intention to pursue the Professional Certificate in Digital Design prior to the completion of 10 credits that are applicable to the certificate. They must submit an application with evidence of satisfactory academic standing. Applications will be reviewed and accepted by a sub-committee of the Arts and Technology Committee.

No more than six credits from outside York University will be accepted as transfer credits for this certificate.

Students must obtain a 5.00 (C+) overall grade point average in the 36 required credits.

Application forms and the list of approved courses for this certificate are available through the Faculty of Fine Arts Office of Student and Academic Services, 232 Joan and Martin Goldfarb Centre for Fine Arts, 416-736-5135.

Please note: students who are concurrently taking a certificate and undergraduate degree must successfully complete the certificate and degree requirements prior to convocation. Certificates will not be retroactively granted.

Certificate in Community Arts Practice (CAP)

York University students may earn a Certificate In Community Arts Practice (CAP). The certificate focuses on working with communities by using art as a tool to express diverse identities and to explore and take action on social and environmental issues. Students will develop creative artistic skills, expand their social analysis and learn to work collaboratively with groups for social change.

Required courses:

Students must successfully complete 24 credits as follows:

- FA/FACS 2122 3.00;
- FA/FACS 3122 3.00;
- FA/FACS 4122 6.00;
- ES/ENVS 2100 6.00 or FA/VISA 2053 3.00 and FA/VISA 3001B 3.00;
- six credits from the electives list.

Information on elective courses is available by contacting the Faculty of Fine Arts and the Faculty of Environmental Studies.

Dance Science Certificate

The Department of Dance offers a disciplinary certificate in dance science in conjunction with the Honours BA or Honours BFA degrees.

This proposal is unique within the Faculty of Fine Arts, as no other department is approaching their field from a science perspective. Regarding the university and educational goals, this certificate provides an approach to dance education that is multidisciplinary, and the courses are open to majors from other departments and Faculties, such as the School of Kinesiology and Health Science.

For students to be accepted into the dance science certificate, they must first complete the core courses (Human Anatomy and Dance Kinesiology) and have attained a minimum of B+ in Dance Kinesiology, with an overall grade point average in the dance major of 6.00.

Students must successfully complete a minimum of 27 credits as follows:

Summary of course work for the Dance Science Certificate

- 1000 or 2000 level: nine credits; both courses required
 - Anatomy: six credits
 - 2320 Dance Kinesiology: three credits
- 3000 or 4000 level: a minimum of 18 credits (12 of these credits cannot also be used as credits towards the major degree requirements of the BA or BFA degrees)
 - 3320 Somatic Education: three credits
 - 3321 Prevention and Care of Dance Injuries: three credits
 - 3322 Embodied Thought: Moving, Sensing and Learning: three credits
 - 4320 Motor Learning Issues in Dance: three credits
 - 4400 Senior Projects: six, nine or 12 credits

Please note: not all of the courses at the 3000 or 4000 level will be offered every year.

In order to receive this certificate, students may be required to take more than the credits required for their degree.

York/Sheridan Joint Program in Film and Media Arts

Film students concentrating in production may study towards an Honours BFA degree and a diploma in one of five areas of study in the Media Arts program at Sheridan Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning. The joint program allows a full-time student to complete an Honours BFA degree in film at York and a three-year diploma in Sheridan's Media Arts program, normally in five years of study. Participants must successfully complete 90 credits (15 full course equivalents) at York University comprising Years 1, 2 and 3 of the film production stream before enrolling at Sheridan Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning. During Years 4 and 5, students take the equivalent of years two and three of Sheridan's Media Arts program. Sheridan Media Arts offers specialization in audio, multimedia, television and film. In addition, York students will participate in Sheridan's 12-week field placement program.

Admission Requirements and Procedures

Students who wish to enter the joint degree/diploma program must submit an application to both the York joint program coordinator and the Sheridan College joint program coordinator by February 15 of their third academic year at York. Minimum academic standing for applicants is a 6.00 (B) cumulative grade point average. Applicants must have successfully completed:

- 18 credits general education courses requirements*;
- 12 fine arts elective credits outside film*;
- six credits outside fine arts;
- 33 foundation credits in film that comprise: FA/FILM 1010 3.00, FA/FILM 1020 3.00, FA/FILM 1400 6.00, FA/FILM 2010 6.00, FA/FILM 2020 3.00, FA/FILM 2120 6.00 and FA/FILM 2400 6.00;
- a minimum of 12 credits in film chosen from the 3000-level studio courses;
- nine free electives.

* FA/FACS 1900 6.00 is required of all Faculty of Fine Arts degrees. This course may be used to satisfy either the humanities general education requirement or a fine arts elective requirement, but not both.

Information and application materials may be obtained from 225 Centre for Film and Theatre, 416-736-5149. Applications must include two letters of reference to be sent directly to the York coordinator by the referees. Prospective candidates will be interviewed by the York and Sheridan Selection Committees. Programs will be tailored to each student through discussion with the coordinators.

Glendon College

Glendon is York's bilingual liberal arts Faculty. It is the only institution in southern Ontario where university programs are offered in both French and English. Glendon offers an ideal environment for pursuing undergraduate studies. Situated in a park-like setting, bordering the glen of the Don River Valley, the Glendon campus is an oasis of peace and beauty. With a small, close-knit community and an excellent student/teacher ratio Glendon students are extremely well-supported in the classroom and outside of their studies.

Glendon is dedicated to the proposition that an undergraduate liberal arts education is more relevant today than ever before. Upon graduation, students must be prepared to evolve in society and understand its workings in order to get involved and contribute in a constructive and positive manner. A good liberal arts curriculum imparts basic skills of study, thought and expression, and stimulates individual curiosity and exploration, both of the inner personality and of the external environment. Glendon is proud of its quality programs that prepare students for interesting careers in fields as diverse as business, commerce, finance, public administration, diplomacy, education, communications and translation. Glendon offers 21 programs leading to a bachelor's degree, as well as master's degrees in translation, études françaises and public and international affairs. A unique bachelor of education program for French teachers is offered at Glendon through the Faculty of Education. Prerequisite courses are offered for the BBA, MBA and JD programs.

Glendon students may take university-level courses in both of Canada's official languages within the integrated bilingual programs. Students do not have to be bilingual to be admitted to Glendon. All students will study in both languages in order to meet the bilingual requirement for graduation. Students can choose second language courses based upon their level of proficiency and their linguistic goals. Anglophones and francophones from Canada and other parts of the world find what they are looking for at Glendon: a solid, liberal arts education and a thorough knowledge of Canadian French and English language and culture.

With its small size and ideal location in the heart of Toronto, Glendon, operating within the ambit of a big University, can offer students the best of both worlds. The size and cohesiveness of the campus mean that students have direct and ready access to professors, fellow students and administrators. In a college of about 2,000 students, relations can be more personal and Glendon students also have the opportunity to study abroad in their third year of an Honours program, at French-Canadian universities or universities around the world, thanks to exchange programs. Glendon has negotiated formal exchange agreements with l'Université libre de Bruxelles in Belgium, l'Université de Rouen in France, l'Université de Montréal in Québec, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona and all French Canadian universities outside Québec. Glendon students may also participate in the York University exchange program, which include agreements with more than 34 countries such as Mexico, Sweden, Israel, Japan and Hong Kong.

At Glendon, students may study part time or full time, primarily during the day. Students who are interested in education may coregister with the Faculty of Education to complete concurrent degrees in liberal arts and education. Glendon has also negotiated an agreement with the Faculty of Education of the University of Ottawa and students from the centre-south-west region may now be registered at the University of Ottawa and attend their Consecutive BEd program on the Glendon campus.

Student life at Glendon is full of extracurricular activities organized by and for students on campus. These include such events as Theatre Glendon productions, the winter carnival, the musical ensemble, poetry nights etc. Students come from all parts of the world to benefit from Glendon's academic excellence, reputation and bilingual culture, and in turn offer us the cultural richness and different viewpoints of more than 100 countries.

Regulations for the Bachelor of Arts Degree

Note: in these regulations the term academic session refers to the period from the beginning of instruction in September until the end of the annual examinations in the spring; academic year refers to the period from September 1 to August 31; year of study refers to the division of degree studies according to the number of courses already satisfactorily completed.

1. All candidates for the BA degree are subject to changes in regulations and requirements made after their first registration unless, in the opinion of the Faculty Council, undue hardship is involved. All inquiries about regulations and requirements shall be addressed to the Office of Student Programs.

Bilingual Program

Bilingual Requirement

- 2.1 All students admitted to a bachelor of arts degree program at Glendon must satisfy the bilingual requirement.
- 2.2 All students must take a language placement assessment to determine their appropriate level of French and/or English.
- 2.3 In order to satisfy the bilingual requirement, students must successfully complete at least six credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) Courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language and/or in English as a second language;
 - b) Courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement. A student who wants to satisfy the bilingual requirement with courses other than FRLS and ENSL must submit to the Office of Student Programs a statement signed by the course instructor stating that they completed all of the required course work, tests and exams in the language of instruction of the course.

2.4 The following courses are not eligible for the bilingual requirement:

- GL/FRLS 0400 6.00
 - All FRLS 1000-level courses
 - All ENSL 1000-level courses
 - All SP courses
 - GL/HUMA 2500 6.00
 - GL/HUMA 3200 6.00
 - GL/HUMA 3400 6.00
- All courses taught in two languages or in any language other than English and French.

Certificate of Bilingualism – French and English

To receive the Certificate of Bilingualism, students must successfully complete at least 18 credits in their second language with a minimum grade of C in each course. These courses must be at the second-year level and above in French as a second language or any courses at any level in another discipline of the college which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirements.

Certificate of Bilingual Excellence – English and French

3.1 Students who successfully pass the Glendon examination of bilingual excellence will receive the Certificate of Bilingual Excellence. Information about registering for the exam is available from the Office of Student Programs.

3.2 Eligibility:

To sit for this exam, students must fulfill the following requirements:

Students whose declared language is English must:

- be registered and enrolled in a York degree program.
- be in their final year of studies and submit an application by the annually announced deadline.
- have obtained or be reasonably certain of obtaining a minimum grade of B in 18 credits taken in French.

Courses which are acceptable are: FRLS courses at the 2000 level or above; FRAN courses; and courses designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement from any discipline of the college.

Students whose declared language is French must:

- be registered and enrolled in a York degree program;
- be in their final year of studies and submit an application by the annually announced deadline;
- have obtained or be reasonably certain of obtaining a minimum grade of B in 18 credits taken in English.

Courses which are acceptable are: ENSL courses at the 2000 level or above; EN courses; and courses designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement from any discipline of the College.

Note: courses taken outside of York University, which meet the above criteria, are acceptable for the purposes of sitting for the Glendon examination of bilingual excellence.

Certificate of Trilingual Excellence – English, French and Spanish

3.3 Students who successfully pass the Glendon examination of trilingual excellence will receive the Certificate of Trilingual Excellence. Information about registering for the exam is available from the Office of Student Programs.

3.4 Eligibility:

To sit for this exam, students must fulfill the following requirements:

Non-hispanophone students must:

- be registered in a York degree program;
- fulfill the relevant second-language requirement as set out in the regulations for the Certificate of Bilingual Excellence (see section 3.2);
- have obtained or be reasonably certain of obtaining a minimum grade of B in 18 credits taken in Spanish.

Courses which are acceptable are: SP courses at the 2000 level or above.

Hispanophone students must:

- be registered in a York degree program;
- fulfill the relevant second-language requirement as set out in the regulations for the Certificate of Bilingual Excellence (see section 3.2);
- obtain the approval of the coordinator for the Bilingual/Trilingual Excellence Exam.

Note: courses taken outside of York University, which meet the above criteria, are acceptable for the purposes of sitting for the Glendon examination of bilingual excellence.

Language Credit

4.1 A language credit, equal to six credits, will be awarded on application to English-speaking students who obtain a minimum grade of C in 12 credits taken entirely in French.

4.2 Courses designated as language training courses will not count in satisfaction of the course requirements. Courses given partly in one language and partly in the other will not be counted. Where a course has the main lectures in French with the option of a seminar in English afforded, the course is excluded if students take the English seminar. All written work submitted in connection with the course must be done in the language of the course, with the exception of non-take-home examinations.

4.3 Courses taken in the Department of French by English-speaking students doing a major in French will not be counted for purposes of the award of a language credit. In this context major means the 36 credits in the department required for a bachelor of arts degree, the 60 credits in the department prescribed for Specialized Honours, both the 42 credit and the 24 credit component in Combined Honours, the 42 credit component in General Honours and Honours Double Major.

4.4 If students complete, with the appropriate standing, only six of the 12 credits required, they will be eligible to receive one-half of a language credit.

4.5 Though a language credit will be equivalent to six credits and will enable students who obtain such a credit to graduate with 84 credits instead of 90 credits for a bachelor of arts degree and 114 credits instead of 120 credits for an Honours degree, it will allow students to be exempted only from a free elective. They will still have to do the number of courses in their major prescribed for a bachelor of arts program or for any Honours program and they will also have to satisfy the general education requirements.

4.6 The language credit will not be shown on students' cumulative records and it will not be counted in the academic average they are required to maintain. It will be shown only on the final transcript when students graduate. Until graduation, the official record of students who have earned a language credit will show an apparent deficiency of one course. Students who wish to earn a language credit should pay careful attention to this procedure because it means that the language credit will count towards degree requirements only if students graduate from Glendon. If students transfer to another Faculty of York University or to another university, their language credit will not be shown on their transcript and therefore will not count in any way towards the degree program to which they transfer.

4.7 English-speaking students who intend to earn a language credit should, in most cases, take a normal course load in their first two years, including the required French language training course in each of those years. If they are Honours students they should normally plan to take a course in French in third year and another in fourth year. This would give them the option of taking a 27 credit load in each of the two upper years, or a 24 credit load in one of the two years and a 30 credit load in the other, depending on their estimate of the point at which their course load needs to be lightened to enable them to devote the necessary extra time to the courses they are taking in French. Bachelor of arts degree students should aim at earning only one half of a language credit by taking a course in French in their third year, unless they are proficient enough in French to have been exempted from first year language training or to be able to carry 12 credits in French in their third year.

- 4.8 Some graduate schools do not recognize the language credit as equivalent to a course. Students contemplating enrolling at a graduate school who wish to take courses in French are therefore strongly advised not to seek a language credit.

Note: students in the Translation program are not eligible to receive the language credit. However, anglophone students who complete TRAD II in a francophone university may receive a credit or a half-credit at the discretion of the director of the school depending on the number of courses completed and the grades obtained.

Study in a Francophone University

5. Students in the Honours degree program, with an adequate knowledge of French, may receive credit towards a Glendon degree for a year's study in a francophone university in Canada or abroad. Enquiries should be addressed to the Subcommittee on Study in a Francophone University (SSFU), c/o the Office of Student Programs. Students re-entering Glendon after such a year of study, approved by the SSFU, need not make formal re-application, but should inform the Office of Student Programs of their intention to return and arrange to have transcripts forwarded to that office as early as possible.

English as a Second Language

6. All students admitted to the college whose mother tongue is a language other than English are required to take an English language placement test before registering. Continuing students who are non-native speakers of English should meet with the director of English as a second language or the English as a second language adviser before choosing their courses.

General Education Requirement

7. Every student in the college shall complete the equivalent of at least six credits in each of three of the four general education divisions: humanities, modes of reasoning, natural science, social science. For detailed information about these divisions, see the description under multidisciplinary studies.

BA Degree With Honours

Specialized Honours Program

- 8.1 Specialized studies for the Honours BA degree may be taken in business economics, Canadian studies, drama studies, economics, English, études françaises, history, international studies, mathematics, multidisciplinary studies, philosophy, political science, psychology, sexuality studies, sociology, translation and women's studies. Students who wish to obtain a Specialized Honours BA shall become a candidate for the degree in one of these areas.
- 8.2 A detailed description for the Specialized Honours program in each discipline can be found at the beginning of the schedule of courses offered in that discipline.

Combined Honours Program

- 8.3 Candidates for an Honours BA degree may, with the approval of the departments concerned, divide their studies between two of the disciplines offered in the college. They will then become candidates for Combined Honours, and take at least 60 credits in the two areas concerned. Information concerning the courses required or recommended for different combinations can be found at the beginning of the schedule of courses offered in the disciplines of their choice.

General Honours Program

- 8.4 Studies in this program typically require the same calibre of work as required for Combined or Specialized Honours and will entail at least 36 credits in one area of study. For a specific description of course requirements for General Honours in each discipline, students should consult the program description found at the beginning of the schedule of courses offered in the various disciplines.

Honours Double Major Program

- 8.5 Studies in this program typically require the same calibre of work as required for Combined or Specialized Honours, and will entail at least 36 credits in each area of study. For a specific description of course requirements for Honours Double Major, students should consult the program description found at the beginning of the schedule of courses offered in the various disciplines.

BA Honours Degree Requirements

- 9.1 For graduation with an Honours degree students must have the equivalent of 120 credits and must have obtained the requisite cumulative average in the major and overall. Honours students are eligible to enrol in a year according to the number of credits they have obtained (see below):

Year	Credits
1	Fewer than 24
2	Fewer than 54
3	Fewer than 84
4	At least 84

- 9.2 Subject to the selection criteria of the major department(s), students will be registered in the Honours program who, upon completion of each academic session, have a cumulative average as follows:

Year	Cumulative Major Average	Cumulative Overall Average
1	-	4.00
2	-	4.25
3	4.50	4.80
4	5.00	5.00

Students who have taken 84 credits, and who wish to proceed in an Honours program must have a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 in their major and 5.00 overall.

- 9.3 Students whose averages do not meet these requirements at the end of an academic session may be given special permission by their Honours departments to continue as Honours students. Otherwise such students will be reclassified as bachelor of arts degree students. No student, however, may graduate with an Honours degree if the student's cumulative overall and major averages do not meet the fourth year requirements.
- 9.4 Authorization of advising documents: All second-, third- and fourth-year candidates shall arrange their study plan before the registration period with the department in which they intend to take their Honours subject.
- 9.5 Candidates who fail to meet the cumulative overall or major averages for an Honours program will be allowed to continue in bachelor of arts degree studies or to qualify for the bachelor of arts degree provided that their standing is sufficient to warrant this; or they may petition to have their session counted as a failure and excluded from their cumulative overall average. They will then be placed on academic probation (see Regulation 32).
- 9.6 Candidates who successfully completed the third year of Honours degree studies, and who have fulfilled the requirements for the bachelor of arts degree or who expect to have done so on completion of the current session, may be awarded the bachelor of arts degree by applying to the Office of Student Programs not later than January 31.

9.7 Candidates who have been permitted to take the bachelor of arts degree in accordance with Regulation 9.6 may apply for re-admission to fourth-year Honours studies in the Honours subject(s) previously carried in third year and, if re-admitted, will have their BA degree reclassified with Honours upon successful completion of their fourth-year program.

BA Degree, Bachelor Program

10. The BA degree requires completion of 90 credits and normally consists of three years of satisfactory study. Programs leading to a BA degree are offered in Canadian studies, computer science, drama studies, economics, English, études Françaises, hispanic studies, history, information technology, mathematics, mathematics for commerce, multidisciplinary studies, philosophy, political science, psychology, sexuality studies, sociology and women's studies. The detailed description for the bachelor program in each discipline can be found at the beginning of the schedule of courses offered in that discipline.

Bachelor of Arts Degree Requirements

11.1 For graduation with a bachelor of arts degree students must have 90 credits and must have obtained the requisite cumulative average in the major and overall. Bachelor of arts degree students are eligible to enrol in a year according to the number of credits they have obtained (see below):

Year	Credits
1	Fewer than 24
2	Fewer than 54
3	At least 54

11.2 Students enrolled in a bachelor of arts degree program must maintain a cumulative average as follows:

Year	Cumulative Major Average	Cumulative Overall Average
1	-	3.60
2	-	3.80
3	4.00	4.00

11.3 A major in the bachelor program shall consist of 30 or more credits in the discipline chosen. (For specific requirements in each discipline, candidates should consult the schedule of courses offered in that discipline.)

11.4 Authorization of advising documents: All second- and third-year candidates shall arrange their advising documents before the registration period with the department in which they intend to take their major subject.

11.5 Transfer from the bachelor to the Honours program: Students in the third year of a bachelor of arts degree program who have achieved Honours standing will be permitted to transfer to the Honours program. Students who have graduated in the bachelor of arts degree program may apply for admission to fourth year of an Honours program and, if re-admitted will be eligible to have their degree reclassified with Honours if their cumulative overall and major averages meet the fourth-year requirements.

11.6 Students who fail to meet graduation requirements for the bachelor of arts degree or Honours degree may take up to 12 additional credits above the 2000 level, selected with the approval of the major department, for the purpose of raising their cumulative grade point average to the level required for graduation.

Number of Courses Required for a Second or Subsequent BA Degree

12. Students who have completed an undergraduate degree or equivalent at an accredited postsecondary institution, and who wish to earn a BA through Glendon in a different subject may be admitted to the BA program on the following conditions:
 - a) they must have achieved a cumulative grade point average of 5.00 on all previous courses for admission to an Honours program or a cumulative grade point average of 4.00 on all previous courses for admission to a bachelor program;
 - b) they must satisfy the following in-Faculty requirements (courses taken in fulfillment of the first degree may not be used to meet this requirement): a minimum of 30 new credits at York, including at least 50 per cent of the credits required in their major and minor within the Faculty of Glendon;
 - c) they must also satisfy all the requirements in the major/minor subject(s);
 - d) the in-Faculty requirements must be regarded as the minimum number of additional courses; if the department does not award credit towards the major/minor for courses taken in fulfillment of the previous degree, the required number of courses may well exceed that number;
 - e) all other applicable requirements of the University must be fulfilled.

Changes in Program

13. Students may change their degree program or major or Honours subject, providing they have the required standing and approval of the department(s) concerned, by notifying the Office of Student Programs no later than October 30.

Number of Courses Required for a First BA Degree

14. No student may receive a BA degree through Glendon unless the student has completed at least 30 credits of the program within York, including at least 50 per cent of the credits required in their major and minor within the Faculty of Glendon.

Transfer Credit

- 15.1 Students who, prior to entering Glendon, have attended an accredited postsecondary institution must arrange to have an official transcript of their records mailed directly to the Admissions Office at York University. Students who have successfully completed courses with a grade of C/60 per cent at another accredited postsecondary institution may be considered for transfer credits. (Applicants presenting credentials from a CAAT may be eligible for advanced standing if they complete two full years of study with an average of 3.00.)
- 15.2 Students transferring to Glendon with a bachelor of arts degree from another accredited postsecondary institution and wishing to obtain a York Honours degree through Glendon must complete a program which meets the following conditions: completion of a minimum of 30 new credits at York, including at least 50 per cent of the credits required in their major and minor within the Faculty of Glendon. In addition to the above, students must also satisfy any further requirements of the major/minor department(s).
- 15.3 Glendon students pursuing a York degree must seek a letter of permission (LOP) in advance from the Office of Student Programs for courses to be taken outside of York. Should a student leave York University to pursue postsecondary studies at another postsecondary institution without a letter of permission, upon return to York, a new application to York is required and all previous transfer credit will be reassessed.
- 15.4 Courses taken at an accredited postsecondary institution other than York may be credited as courses taken and passed, provided that a grade of C/60 per cent or better is obtained. Actual grades will not be included in the cumulative averages. Transcripts should be submitted to the Office of Student Programs.

15.5 Credit for courses taken at other York Faculties is granted on the same basis as for courses taken at Glendon.

Interfaculty Transfer

Note: students seeking information about inter-Faculty transfer should contact the Office of Student Programs of the Faculty to which they wish to transfer.

Class Hours

16. Unless otherwise noted, all courses meet for three hours per week.

Course Numbering System

17.1 Glendon courses are denoted by the Faculty prefix GL. The year of study in which a course is normally offered is indicated by the first digit (1, 2,3,4). (0 is used as a first digit for language-training introductory courses only.)

17.2 Full courses are indicated by 6.00 following the course number. Half courses, offered in the fall or in the winter term, are distinguished by 3.00 following the course number.

Cross-Listed Courses

18.1 A course which is cross-listed in more than one department or division usually has the second digit 6 or 9 and is described only under the department or division by which the course is given.

18.2 A general education course cross-listed as a departmental course may be used to satisfy both the general education and the departmental requirements.

18.3 A course cross-listed in two or more departments may be used to satisfy the requirement of one department only.

Exemption from Curricular Requirements

19. Students may fulfill curriculum requirements with passed courses for which they did not receive credit and which were excluded from their cumulative total of courses. A grade of D in a second language or unilingual course taken at Glendon, or C in any other course or in any course taken elsewhere than at Glendon, will be acceptable.

Enrolment in Courses

20.1 Full-time students register in 18 to 36 credits each term and have grades recorded for a total of 18 to 36 credits during an academic session.

20.2 Students who are on probation may not take more than 30 credits during a session. Waiver of this regulation can only be granted under extenuating circumstances by petition.

20.3 Part-time students will take no more than 15 credits in one academic session.

20.4 Enrolment is permitted in full and half courses within the deadlines published in the enrolment guide. Enrolments at later dates will be made only with the written permission of all course directors and Chairs of the departments involved. Withdrawals are permitted as outlined in Regulation 21.

20.5 At the time of registration, all students, except those in first year, must register in a major discipline or disciplines.

20.6 Students wishing to take courses more than one year above or below their year must secure approval of the department or division offering the course.

20.7 First year students may be admitted to second-year courses where indicated in the Undergraduate Calendar. To be admitted to other second-year courses, first year students must secure approval of the department or division offering the course.

20.8 These regulations are subject to the provision that a course may be closed by departments and divisions when its enrolment ceiling is reached.

20.9 All students who are permitted to register in courses offered in a year below their own year should take note that the standards employed in assigning and assessing their work in these courses will be such as are generally appropriate for courses in their own year.

a) Students are allowed to repeat a passed or a failed course once for academic degree or certificate credit. Students should note that course availability and space considerations may preclude the possibility of repeating a course in the session they choose.

b) When a student is allowed to repeat a course for academic degree or certificate credit, the second grade will be the grade of record and the only grade calculated in the student's grade point average (major, cumulative, sessional and overall). A course can be credited only once towards satisfaction of degree or certificate academic credit requirements.

c) The record of both the first and second time the course was taken will appear on the student's transcript, with the first course designated as No Credit Retained.¹

d) The restrictions regarding repeating a passed or failed course also apply to cross-listed courses and course credit exclusions.

20.10.2 The above items do not apply to graduate degree or diploma programs, the BEd degree programs of the Faculty of Education, or the JD degree program of Osgoode Hall Law School.

20.10.3 The above items do not apply to practicum courses offered in the Bachelor of Social Work degree program or practicum courses offered in the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BScN) degree program.

20.11 Courses which are offered on an ungraded pass/fail basis only and where the fail grade is to count as zero in the grade point average, will be designated as credit/no credit courses.

Withdrawal from Courses

21. Students may withdraw from a course before the deadline to receive a grade. The dates are published in the enrolment guide.

Students who withdraw after the published dates will receive a grade of F for the course.

Withdrawal from Glendon

22.1 Students may withdraw from the college before the deadlines outlined in Regulation 21 without incurring any academic penalty.

22.2 If a student withdraws after the deadlines without approval of the petitions committee, grades will be entered on the student's official record. The student will be placed on academic probation and will be required to apply for re-admission if the student wishes to resume studies at Glendon in some subsequent session.

22.3 First-year students or students on probation who obtain an average of less than 3.00 in two or more courses at the end of the first term will be required to discuss their situation with a Faculty adviser and may be advised to withdraw from the college.

22.4 Under some circumstances the college may require students to withdraw involuntarily.

Auditing Students

23.1 Full-time students of York University may audit a course without an additional tuition fee. Other auditors must pay the regular fee for each full or half course.

1. It should be noted that when a course is repeated, the first instance of the course being taken and the grade that was awarded will continue to appear on the transcript with the designation NCR (No Credit Retained) – added as a qualification beside the grade. The transcript legend will explain that the NCR designation means that neither the course credit nor grade have been included in the calculation of the student's grade point average.

23.2 No academic credit will be granted to students who audit a course. Before attending classes, auditors must obtain permission of the instructor and notify the Office of Student Programs.

Standing

24. Students shall obtain a standard of work in their courses of instruction satisfactory to the departments or divisions concerned, and they shall attend examinations, unless prevented by illness or by some other special circumstance.

Grading System

25.1 All courses at Glendon are graded on the following system:

Letter	Point Value	Percentage Grade	Definition
A+	9	90-100	Exceptional
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Very Good
B	6	70-74	Good
C+	5	65-69	Competent
C	4	60-64	Fairly Competent
D+	3	55-59	Passing
D	2	50-54	Barely Passing
E	1	40-49	Marginally Failing
F	0	0-39	Failing

P	Ungraded	Pass
F	Ungraded	Fail

25.2 Pass/Fail Alternative Grading Option

Students may take a limited number of courses for full degree credit on an ungraded (pass/fail alternative grading option) basis. Courses taken on this basis are listed on the transcript as P for pass or as F for fail. Neither of these two grades is calculated into the student's grade point averages.

The following regulations apply to courses to be taken on an ungraded (pass/fail alternative grading option) basis:

Academic standing: only students who are in good standing, (i.e. not on temporary probation, academic warning or debarment warning) are allowed to take such courses.

Prerequisite: students may apply to take such courses only after they have successfully completed 24 credits.

Elective courses only: courses taken on an ungraded (pass/fail alternative grading option) basis cannot be used to satisfy major, minor, general education, certificate requirements or 1000-level science courses.

Maximum number of ungraded courses:

a) Honours program: students registered in an Honours program are allowed to take up to 12 credits on an ungraded (pass/fail alternative grading option) basis.

b) Bachelor program: students registered in a bachelor program are allowed to take up to six credits on an ungraded (pass/fail alternative grading option) basis.

Deadline: students who wish to designate a course as ungraded must do so within the first two weeks of the term in which the course begins; they must first obtain the signature of the course director on the form available for this purpose from the Office of Student Programs. The completed form should then be returned to the Office of Student Programs by the deadline date.

Changing from ungraded to graded: with the permission of the course director, students may change the designation of a course from ungraded to graded until the last day to withdraw from that course without academic penalty. Formal notification of such a change must be received by the Office of Student Programs by the deadline date.

Definitions of Standing

26. The following definitions will apply.

Exceptional: thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques and exceptional skill or great originality in the use of those concepts, techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

Excellent: thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a high degree of skill and/or some elements of originality in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

Very Good: thorough knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with a fairly high degree of skill in the use of those concepts, techniques in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

Good: good level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

Competent: acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with considerable skill in using them to satisfy requirements of an assignment or course.

Fairly Competent: acceptable level of knowledge of concepts and/or techniques together with some skill in using them to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

Passing: slightly better than minimal knowledge of required concepts and/or techniques together with some ability to use them in satisfying the requirements of an assignment or course.

Barely Passing: minimum knowledge of concepts and/or techniques needed to satisfy the requirements of an assignment or course.

Cumulative overall average: the sum of the point value of all courses taken (including those failed) divided by the number of courses. For purposes of computing averages, half courses receive half the weight of a full course.

Cumulative major average: the sum of the point value of all courses taken in the major (including those failed) divided by the number of courses. Major indicates the area of concentration which students must select in one of four programs: a) Specialized Honours, b) Combined Honours, c) General Honours, d) bachelor.

Credit: is given for all York University courses in which a D or better is achieved.

First Class Standing: awarded on graduation to students with a cumulative overall average of at least 7.50. All students with a cumulative overall average of 7.50 are eligible for inclusion in the Dean's Honour Roll.

First Term Progress Reports

27. Course directors are required to report to the Office of Student Programs the names of any students who are obtaining less than 3.00 (D+) in the following categories:

- a) Students on probation (Regulation 32.8)
- b) First year students (See also Regulation 22.3)

Submission of Term Work

28. Term work in half courses given in the first term shall be submitted by the end of the December examination period. Term work in all other courses shall be submitted by the Friday of the first week of the annual examination period unless an earlier date has been set by the instructor in consultation with the students. Where there is no final examination in a course, no students may be required to submit their last piece of term work before the first day of the examination period.

Examinations

- 29.1 Final examinations are held during December for half courses offered in the first term and in April or May for half courses offered in the second term and for full courses. Examinations for students who have successfully petitioned for deferment on the grounds of illness or misfortune will be scheduled by instructors and will take place before the middle of March (in fall term courses) and before the middle of July (in winter term and full courses). Deferred assignments must be handed in no later than the middle of March (for fall term courses) and the middle of July (for winter term and full courses). Petitions for deferred standing must be initiated by the student not later than five working days after the end of examination period for the appropriate term. Faculty legislation specifies that no test or examination worth more than 20 per cent of the final grade will be given in the final two weeks of classes in a term with the exception of classes which regularly meet Friday evenings or the weekend (Saturday and Sunday at any time). Tests or examinations scheduled during the term must be held within the hours regularly scheduled for that course; such tests or examinations may be held in other hours only if no students' obligations are infringed upon. Students have the right to refuse, without penalty, an exam held in contravention of this regulation.
- 29.2 Departments and divisions may waive final examinations by substituting a variety of written and oral tests in courses that do not require the evaluation of a final examination.
- 29.3 All written work, including examinations, may be done in English or French at the candidate's option, except in cases where the use of the language constitutes an integral and essential part of the course concerned. Students will be duly notified of any restrictions concerning the use of either language.
- 29.4 Students should report any conflicts, i.e. two or more examinations scheduled for the same time, without delay to the Office of Student Programs.

Final Grades

30. All final grades are calculated on the basis of a specific weighting scale set by the department or division concerned and may or may not include a final examination (written or oral). Students will be notified by their instructors shortly after the commencement of classes of the weighting scale and grading system assigned to each course.

Reappraisal of Final Grades

- 31.1 Examination scripts and class records of students are carefully assessed, especially in marginal cases, and there is little likelihood of the original standing being changed on appeal. However, a written request for reappraisal may be made to the Chair of the department or division in which the course is offered within three weeks of the release of the final grades in any term. Applicants must state clearly in the petition the reasons why they believe that their work in the course deserves a higher rating.
- 31.2 Reappraisals are dealt with by the Chair of the department, or course director, in consultation with members of the staff. The student and the Office of Student Programs will be notified in writing of the results within three weeks of the appeal.

Academic Probation

- 32.1 The academic records of all students are reviewed at the end of each year of study.
- 32.2 Students are placed on probation when they: a) are admitted with a marginal academic record; b) fail to obtain the required cumulative overall average for their year level.
- 32.3 They are removed from probation when they obtain the required cumulative overall average for their year level.

- 32.4 They may proceed on probation in the bachelor program if they maintain a 4.40 average on the courses taken while on probation, even if their cumulative average is below the minimum to be removed from probation.
- 32.5 Similarly, they may proceed on probation in the Honours program if they maintain a 6.00 average on the courses taken while on probation.
- 32.6 They are debarred from further registration if they do not satisfy Regulation 32.3 or 32.4 above.
- 32.7 Students who fail to obtain the cumulative average for their year and whose average for the current year is below 3.00, will have failed the year, and will receive no credit for courses taken in that year. The grades will appear on their record but will not enter into the calculation of their cumulative averages. If they wish to continue their studies at Glendon, they must apply for re-admission, and, if accepted, will be placed on academic probation.
- 32.8 Students who are not debarred may petition by the closing date for registration of the next academic session in which they register to have their last year (or equivalent) counted as a failed year. The students would be placed on probation.
- 32.9 Students on probation may not take more than 30 credits in an academic session.
- 32.10 Students on probation who do not attain at the end of the first term a cumulative average of more than 3.00 (D+) are required to discuss the situation with their adviser.

Debarment

- 33.1 Students on probation will be debarred from the University if they fail to satisfy Regulation 32.3 or 32.4.
- 33.2 Students who have been debarred, whether at York or another university, may be re-admitted in some subsequent session only if they give convincing evidence that they can profit from university work. Application for re-admission will not be entertained in less than two years from date of debarment.

Special Provisions for Illness and Misfortune

34. Students who suffer unforeseeable hardship during an academic session, which makes it impossible to complete assigned work in the allotted time, may receive special consideration. The recognized categories of hardship are:
- illness
 - personal misfortune
 - unforeseeable economic hardship
 - academic misfortune (unforeseeable inability to obtain necessary research materials or a confirmed error on the part of the institution).
- Students may petition through the Office of Student Programs, if they have appropriate evidence, for:
- 34.1 Withdrawal from any number of courses without penalty. Normally petitions for late withdrawal from a course will only be considered if they are submitted within three weeks of the release of final grades in any term. Such petitions may be considered for a period of up to one year if they are based on special circumstances.
- 34.2 Deferred standing in one or more courses, for work expected to be in progress during the period of hardship.
- 34.3 Aegrotat standing in one or more courses. Aegrotat standing shall not be granted in more than one year of study and will seldom be granted in any but the final year.

There are deadlines for all petitions. Check with the Office of Student Programs.

Breach of Academic Honesty

35.1 Definitions

Consult the definitions contained in the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty, in the University Policy and Regulations section of this publication. For further clarification, contact the Office of Student Programs, C102 York Hall.

35.2 Procedures

See also detailed description of Senate procedures.

Note: once the process outlined in Sections B and D has begun, a student accused of academic dishonesty may not drop or be deregistered from the course in question until a final decision is reached. Requests for transcripts made during the process will be treated in accordance with the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. A student who is suspended and is otherwise eligible to graduate may not apply to graduate until a suspension expires or is lifted.

A. If, in the instructor's informed view, the case may be dealt with informally by the instructor and the student involved, the two parties agree on the adopted measure. In any event, a document is signed by the instructor and the student, stating the measure adopted to remedy the situation and the reasons that motivated the measure. The document is then sent to the Office of Student Programs. This record is strictly confidential and can be cited only in the case of determining penalty in the event of a subsequent offence(s) of a breach of academic honesty.

B. Cases in which the course director/instructor decides to proceed with an allegation of plagiarism, cheating or other form of academic dishonesty,

Step 1

The student shall provide the Chair with a written summary of the circumstances and all evidence i.e.:

- in cases involving cheating in an exam, the confiscated material;
- in cases involving plagiarism, the work in question, all sources/books from which student has allegedly copied.

Step 2

Once Step B.1. has begun, the student involved may not drop or be deregistered from the course in question until a final decision is reached.

Step 3

The Chair of the department will arrange to meet with the student and the course director/instructor in the presence of the associate principal, student services (or delegate) - as a neutral third party, and will for this purpose notify the student programs director who will inform the student, by registered letter, with at least seven calendar days notice, with a copy to the student's file:

- a) of the date, time and place of the meeting;
- b) of the reason for such a meeting;
- c) that the student may be accompanied by a representative at the meeting.

Step 4

At the meeting with the student, the course director/instructor shall:

- a) outline the alleged offence to the student;
- b) ask student to respond to the allegation.

Step 5

a. No Breach

If following the above meeting, the Chair and course director/instructor are satisfied that there has been no breach of academic honesty, the Chair notifies the student of the decision in writing. All evidence submitted will then be destroyed and no record will be kept in the student's academic file.

or

b. Breach

If following the above meeting, the Chair and course director/instructor are of the belief that there has been a breach of academic honesty, the Chair asks the student if she/he will plead guilty or not guilty to the offence.

Step 6

Plea

a. Guilty Plea

If student pleads guilty to a breach of academic honesty:

- the Chair prepares a document to be signed by the student and the course director/instructor, in the presence of the associate principal, enrolment and student affairs (or delegate), outlining the nature of the offence, the penalty agreed upon by the student and the instructor (not to exceed failure on the assignment or in the test or exam) and the student's admission to the charge. (If the instructor seeks a more severe penalty, then a hearing before the Committee on Academic Standards, Teaching and Learning (CASTL) must be held, as indicated in 7 below.)

Note:

The following penalties may be imposed singularly or in combination (but only a, b and c may be the subject of a joint recommendation):

- a) oral or written disciplinary warning or reprimand;
- b) a make-up assignment or examination;
- c) lower grade or failure on the assignments or examination;
- d) failure in the course;
- e) suspension from the University for a definite period;
- f) notation on transcript;
- g) withholding or rescinding a York degree, diploma or certificate.

A permanent record of the offence will be placed in the student's academic file, but this record is strictly confidential and can be cited only in the case of determining penalty in the event of a subsequent offence(s) of a breach of academic honesty.

- the Chair sends a copy of the signed document and the documents indicated in B.1. above to:
 - i) CASTL for review, and;
 - ii) the Office of Student Programs (OSP) for student's academic file. (Note: this record is for internal academic purposes only.)

In the absence of endorsement of the signed document, CASTL will call a hearing.

b. Not Guilty Plea - preparation for hearing

If student pleads not guilty to the alleged offence, or if the course director/instructor seeks a penalty which exceeds failure in assignment/test/exam, or if CASTL does not approve the joint recommendation as to penalty, then a hearing will be scheduled. The course director/instructor submits to the secretary of CASTL, a report outlining:

- the alleged offence and relevant circumstances
- the meeting with the student and its outcome
- all documents relating to the case.

The secretary of CASTL will then arrange a hearing that will take place before CASTL. The student will be notified of the hearing by registered letter and will be given at least 21 calendar days' notice of the hearing with copies to the Chair of the department, the course director/instructor, the principal and all members of CASTL. The student will also be sent a written copy of the charge, a copy of the procedures to be followed and copies of all materials submitted by the faculty member and be informed that he/she may be accompanied by a representative and may call witnesses. The student may submit a written response.

Step 7

Hearing

A hearing shall take place before CASTL to consider the charges. At that hearing the principal (or designate) shall act as presenter. The hearing shall be conducted according to the procedures mandated by the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

Step 8

If the student is found guilty, CASTL shall proceed to consider submissions as to the appropriate penalty.

Step 9

The secretary of CASTL shall inform the student by registered mail of the committee's decision, and, in the case of a guilty verdict, of appeal procedures; a copy will also be sent to the department concerned and to the Office of Student Programs.

A permanent record of the offence will be placed in the student's academic file. This record is for internal academic purposes only.

Step 10

Appeal Procedures

The decision of the committee may be appealed to the Senate Appeals Committee on grounds of either new evidence (i.e. evidence which could not be presented at the Faculty level) or on procedural irregularity in the Faculty's consideration of the case.

Part-time Studies

Part-time studies are particularly convenient for students who wish to combine University work with employment or personal commitments. They also provide a stepping stone to full-time studies for students who have been away from formal education for a few years and wish to try out University before committing themselves to a full-time program.

One of the advantages of Glendon's part-time day studies program is the availability of some block-scheduled courses, classes which meet one day a week, cutting down on commuting time and allowing for ease in scheduling other commitments around University work.

About a third of Glendon students are pursuing their degrees on a part-time basis, taking from six to 15 credits per session. They enjoy the same privileges and freedoms as full-time students in terms of course choice, accessibility of resources and participation in campus life, and are subject to the same regulations.

Academic Standing Requirements for Visiting Students

Individuals who wish to enrol in undergraduate credit courses, but who do not intend to complete a degree or a certificate may be admitted to York as a visiting student (see the Admissions section for more information). There are three categories of visiting students:

- those who hold an undergraduate degree (three-year bachelor's degree minimum) from an accredited university/university-level institution;
- those who do not hold an undergraduate degree but wish to enrol in York courses to fulfill the academic, upgrading or professional development requirements of a professional designation;
- those who are currently attending another recognized university and wish to take York courses on a letter of permission issued by their home institution.

Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirement

Students in categories a) and b) whose overall cumulative grade point average (OCGPA) falls below 4.00 on at least 24 credits attempted will not be allowed to enrol in any subsequent session as visiting students. Students who are not permitted to re-enrol must apply for re-admission through the Admissions Office.

Note: repeated course legislation does not apply to visiting students but only to academic degrees and certificates. Therefore, all courses attempted or taken will count in the OCGPA.

Credit Limits

Students in category b) who have maintained an OCGPA of 4.00 throughout their studies and who have completed 30 credits will not be allowed to enrol in subsequent sessions and must either reactivate to proceed as visiting students or may choose to apply for admission to a degree or certificate program.

General Information

Recruitment and Liaison Office

The Recruitment and Liaison Office is the welcome centre of the campus, responsible for promoting Glendon to prospective students. The Liaison team attends university and career fairs and visits high schools in Ontario across Canada and abroad. They host on-campus special events and tour programs, run an admissions enquiries service, and produce a host of promotional materials in English and French. Liaison also works closely with educational and cultural organizations to support bilingual education.

Library

The Leslie Frost Library's collection consists of approximately 250,000 monographs, 18,000 electronic or print journals and 20,000 government documents. The language ratio is approximately 70 per cent English, 30 per cent French with a growing Spanish collection. Instruction is available on a variety of topics: general research methods, research in specialized databases or any special request. Students and faculty of Glendon have full privileges at all the York libraries, giving them access to Canada's third largest academic collection. Most material from the other York libraries can be sent to Frost on a day's notice.

Bookstore

The bookstore is located in the basement of York Hall. All required textbooks for courses are stocked. The bookstore also stocks a large range of used books. All books are priced at the Canadian publishers' or distributors' recommended list price. Any book not in stock may be special ordered. The bookstore also carries stationery, Glendon and York clothing, confectionary, and a selection of other items. The Glendon Bookstore has access to the large stock of the Keele campus bookstore.

Glendon Gallery

The Glendon Gallery is a public art gallery located on the Glendon campus. The gallery presents a program of monthly exhibitions from September to May. Emphasis is placed on the educative function and contemporary art. Literature in French and English, as well as guided tours, lectures by artists, curators complement the exhibition program. Additional information is available in the gallery or by calling 416-487-6721 or 416-487-6859 or visit the Web site <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/gallery>.

Theatre Glendon

Theatre Glendon, in York Hall, is a fully equipped theatrical performance space with its own staff of production professionals. It annually houses a full season of in-course and extracurricular student productions, and hosts visiting professional companies as well. The theatre is the second home of everyone enrolled in drama studies. Additional information is available at the theatre or by calling 416-487-6722.

Residence

Glendon has two residences, Wood and Hilliard, which together house 401 students in comfortably furnished single, small single and double rooms. There is a large proportion of single rooms open to students in all years of study. Residence is guaranteed to first-year students who meet the application deadline.

Each residence is divided into houses of 30 to 45 students; some are designated to be exclusively for women, while others are coed. Please note that all members of the house share all facilities in a house, including its washroom(s).

Residence rooms are carpeted and completely furnished with beds, desks, dressers, clothes cupboards, bookshelves, chairs, drapes and recycling baskets. Please note that linen is available for purchase upon request. The rooms are designed to encourage personal additions such as posters, wall hangings, plants and the like. Due to a lack of storage space, however, all University furnishings must remain in the rooms. For the safety of all residents, microwave ovens, toasters, pets, waterbeds and air conditioners are among some of the items not permitted in residence rooms.

The residences have kitchen facilities available for a limited number of senior students. Most residents eat in the Caf  teria Glendon or the Bistro at Proctor Field House. Please see the Meal Plan section for details.

Each residence house has a common room with cable television. Students also have access to vacuum cleaners, irons, video cassette recorders and DVD players, pool and billiard equipment and a study room. Each residence room includes a York Telecomm phone line, which includes voicemail and caller ID. Card operated laundry facilities are located in the basement of each residence.

Applications to residence are made through Glendon Housing Services, 416-487-6844. In the residences themselves, a team of housing professionals endeavour to enrich the experience of residence life, including administrators, the residence life coordinator, residence life assistants, night porters, caretakers and dons who act as resource people while helping to foster a sense of community in each house.

Residence students are at the heart of the academic, social, artistic and athletic life of the campus. Here, the opportunity for building lasting friendships and communicating with students from all over the world allows residents to practice both of Canada's official languages in a friendly environment. Suggestions and concerns are brought to the Residence Council which is composed of student representatives living in residence.

Summer residence accommodation is also available for students and visitors.

Glendon also offers limited accommodation for visiting parents and friends during the school year.

Meal Plan

All students living in residence are required to purchase a meal plan. This plan enables students to retain the responsibility for satisfying their own dietary needs within the range of available    la carte selections.

The residence fee includes the cost of the meal plan. A debit card, the YU-card, is issued to each resident student as per the meal plan and can be spent at any University-controlled food service outlet on food and non-alcoholic beverages. At Glendon, the outlets are the Caf  teria Glendon, Mr Sub and the Bistro at Proctor Field House. The card system allows for flexibility and choice, and it allows for students to spend as little or as much as they like at each meal. Suggestions and concerns are brought to the Food Services Committee which is composed of student representatives living in residence.

It is unlikely that the amount of meal plan money included in the residence fee will purchase 100 per cent of the resident's food requirements for eight months unless he or she is a very light eater or plans to dine frequently off-campus. Thus, residents will generally need to supplement the meal plan with cash purchases.

Residence Fees

The residence fees for the 2008-2009 academic sessions are as follows and may change for the 2009-2010 academic year:

Room Type	Double	Small Single	Single	Large Single
Room Charge	$4,088	$4,411	$4,689	$4,910

Athletics

The Glendon Athletic Club is situated in the Proctor Field House, located on the lower level of the campus. Facilities include a 25-yard indoor pool, a gymnasium, a Group Exercise room, a weight room equipped with free weights, Lifefitness machines and top-of-the-line cardio equipment, four International squash courts, a Spinning@ studio and an indoor golf driving range. Outdoors you will find a soccer pitch, three tennis courts, a baseball diamond and a cricket pitch. In addition, health and wellness services (physiotherapy, massage therapy and chiropractic and nutritional counselling) are available on a fee-for-service basis. Change areas and day-use lockers are provided.

Student memberships include access to all of the facilities and most classes; however instructional classes (personal training, karate, learn to swim, masters swim, squash lessons) do cost extra. In addition, wellness services (physiotherapy, massage therapy and chiropractic) are available on site on a fee-for-service basis. For more information regarding the Glendon Athletic Club call 416-487-6717 or visit our Web site at <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/gac/>.

Counselling and Career Centre

The Counselling and Career Centre offers a wide variety of bilingual counselling and career services to Glendon students. To make an appointment you can either drop by the centre, located in E103 Glendon Hall or call 416-487-6709.

Personal counselling: students come to the Counselling and Career Centre with a diversity of problems and needs. Some common concerns experienced by students at university are: living away from home for the first time, work pressures, forming new relationships and confusion over goals and identity. At the Counselling and Career Centre you will find professionally trained counsellors who will listen to your concerns and help you sort things out. All matters discussed at the centre are strictly confidential.

Career counselling: career issues are a major concern for everyone. While some students have clear career goals, the majority are not yet sure which career path suits them. The centre offers individual and group career planning sessions to help you explore your interests, abilities and values. Interest tests are also available to assist you with your career planning. In addition there are career information days and employment fairs held during the year.

Group programs: the Counselling and Career Centre offers workshops on many topics including: avoiding procrastination, stress management, communication skills, weight management, increasing self-confidence, relaxation training, career options, job search strategies, resume writing and interview preparation. In addition, there is a support group for students who have been out of school for a period of time.

Learning skills: students often lack a systematic approach to studying and therefore feel overwhelmed by their studies. Throughout the year, the Counselling and Career Centre offers workshops on study skills which include time management, note taking, reading a textbook and exam preparation strategies. You can also make an individual appointment with a counsellor to discuss any of your study problems.

Services for students with disabilities: the Counselling and Career Centre has a comprehensive support program for students with disabilities. The program includes individual consultations, a peer tutoring program for help with learning strategies and adaptive technology. The centre also arranges with faculty for special accommodations needed for course evaluations and examinations.

Sexual Harassment Complaint Centre: the Counselling and Career Centre acts as a liaison to the Sexual Harassment Education and Complaint Centre located on the Keele campus.

Resource Centre: there is an excellent resource library in the Counselling and Career Centre, where you are welcome to drop in and browse. It contains educational and occupational information, career planning reference guides, as well as self-help materials on personal issues, job search techniques, resume writing, job interview tips and study skills. In addition, you can access volunteer positions and job postings, and an Internet employment site.

Students With Disabilities

The Counselling and Career Centre, 416-487-6709 works in conjunction with the York Centre for Persons with Disabilities 416-736-5140. Most of the buildings and rooms at Glendon are accessible to disabled persons; however students wishing to study at the college or live in residence are encouraged to contact either of the offices mentioned, to discuss their own particular situation.

Academic Writing Workshop

The Academic Writing Workshop offers free services designed to help students make significant and immediate improvements to their academic work.

This series of one-hour workshops includes several strategies for developing strong academic writing skills and for improving overall achievement in specific academic tasks including essay writing, grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, argumentation, citation, oral presentations and exam writing. Each workshop is supplemented with a useful selection of additional Web resources and handouts.

Students are encouraged to participate whether they are writing in their first or second language, as workshops are designed to address all skill levels. Students are invited to attend as many workshops as they wish. Each workshop is followed by one hour of dedicated time for individual consultation.

For further information or to register for a workshop, please visit the Writing Workshop Web site located under Academic Services on the MyGlendon site.

Off-Campus Housing

Glendon runs an off-campus housing service for students. Housing lists can be mailed to out-of-town students for a small fee. The lists are also available online at <http://www.yorku.ca/sclcd/offcampushousing/>. During the school year, all listings received are posted on the notice boards. The telephone number for enquiries is 416-487-6844.

International Students

The Office of Student Affairs (416-487-6844) in conjunction with York International (416-736-5177) acts as an information centre for international students at Glendon. International students with questions, comments or problems are encouraged to contact the Glendon office at any time. Senior international students are often available to help new students in their adjustment to life at Glendon.

Glendon-Keele Shuttle Service

Transportation Services offers a complimentary Glendon-Keele Shuttle Service for the York community. For further information and schedule details, please call Transportation Services.

Glendon Parking

A limited supply of parking permits are available to all community members on a first come, first serve basis. Parking Services encourages early purchases for the availability of space and to avoid any line-ups.

Please ensure you have fully completed an application form. Incomplete applications will be returned to the applicant and result in unnecessary delays. In order to purchase a parking permit you must provide valid proof of vehicle ownership or registration (photocopy of the front and back of your vehicle ownership will be sufficient for mail and drop off applications).

Parking permits cannot be issued to persons or vehicles with outstanding violations on their parking account. For information about outstanding violations please call 416-736-5705 for the Keele campus and 416-487-6788 for the Glendon campus and ask to speak with a Violations Officer.

Acceptable payment methods to purchase your permit are cash, cheque, debit, Visa, Mastercard and AMEX. To avoid line-ups and the need to apply in person, applications can be processed by mail.

Applicants renewing their parking permit may be eligible to renew online. Please visit our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/parking/> for more information.

Glendon Security

We are Security: Security, Parking and Transportation Services provide proactive community-based services to York University. The Security section is a 24 hour a day, 365 days of the year operation, comprised of full-time staff members and specialists as well as additional support positions that are staffed by York students working on a part-time basis. We facilitate, support and promote Glendon College, York University Campus as a safe and secure environment to the students, staff, faculty and visitors that make up our community. Predicated on a problem-solving philosophy in partnership with community stakeholders, our services are delivered through outreach programs such as the Undergraduate Residence-Security Liaison Program, patrolling of the campuses by security staff, and advanced security systems such as closed circuit television and Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design.

When and how to call Security: Security Services is a 24-hour-a-day, 365 day-a-year operation and can be called toll-free at 416-736-5333 from any campus pay-telephone.

The security office at the Glendon Campus is located in the Greenhouse.

911 emergencies: any situation that exists where people or property is immediate risk, for example, medical emergencies, crimes in progress, domestic incidents or fires.

911 and then call Security at ext. 33333 or 416-736-5333: in emergency situations the Security Control Centre should also be contacted to facilitate an expedited 911 response. York Security meets and expedites emergency vehicles directly to the location of the emergency so that valuable time is not lost searching for a particular building or residence.

Urgent matters: ext. 33333 or 416-736-5333:

- If you observe suspicious persons or situations
- Bomb threats
- When crimes such as thefts or vandalism are taking place

- First aid for non-life threatening incidents
- Potential hazards
- When conflict resolution is required
- Hate Crime Incidents

Non-urgent matters and service enquiries: ext. 58000 or 416-650-8000:

- Building or room access
- Minor floods, spills
- When crimes such as thefts or vandalism have occurred
- General security information
- Lost or stolen keys
- Broken windows, walls or graffiti

For any additional information visit our Web site at <http://www.yorku.ca/security/>.

Glendon Student Security and Escort Service

Student security officers will meet you at parking lots, bus stops, buildings and residences, and escort you to your campus destination. The Student Security Escort Service operates seven days a week, all year round (except for the university winter closure). Hours of operation are: September to April from 6pm to 2am and May to August from 8pm to 2am. Call the Student Security Office at ext. 66799 or 416-487-6799 during hours of operation. You can call free of charge from any pay phone located on campus.

Lost and Found

Enquiries should be directed to the Glendon Security Office, the Greenhouse, call ext. 66808 or 416-487-6808.

The University regrets that it cannot be responsible for items of personal property left unattended on the grounds or within the buildings.

You can find more information about the Department of Safety, Security and Parking Services at our Web site <http://www.yorku.ca/csbo/>.

Student Government

The Glendon College Student Union is the social and political expression of students at Glendon. The union executive consists of a president, a vice-president and six directors (cultural affairs, bilingual affairs, academic affairs, clubs and services, communications, and external affairs) elected during the spring election along with six councillors.

Fall elections are held to elect four more councillors, as well as part-time student representatives and first year student representatives. The Glendon Alumni Association also sends an elected representative.

The two main purposes of the union are, first, to protect the interests of students in the academic and administrative affairs of the college and, second, to coordinate and promote student participation in cultural, intellectual and social activities such as dances, clubs, union meetings and colloquia. The three major events of the year are orientation week (at the beginning of September), the Snow Ball (early in December) and the winter carnival (first week of February).

Please get in touch with us and participate in the union. Student solidarity. Our office is in 175 York Hall, opposite the cafeteria, 416-487-6720.

Faculty Council and Committees

Faculty Council is the highest academic body governing Glendon College and includes membership of students, staff and faculty. It meets regularly to deliberate on academic issues which concern the college. These may range from policies and planning for the future to academic standards and student petitions.

Most of the committees of the council are composed of an equal number of faculty and students, including those which handle student petitions, the tenure and promotion of faculty, bilingualism and the screening of all curriculum proposals. Student representation on council comprises up to 15 per cent of the total membership. Elections for these positions are held in March of each year.

Web site: <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/facultycouncil/>

Clubs and Organizations

There is a wide variety of formal and informal groups on the campus, with interests ranging from poetry to politics. Students and members of the faculty and staff are encouraged to participate in existing activities, and to start new clubs to meet their interests. The Glendon College Students' Union (GCSU) will act as a centre of information and support.

Collège universitaire Glendon

Le Collège universitaire Glendon est la faculté bilingue de sciences humaines et de lettres de l'Université York. C'est le seul établissement universitaire du sud de l'Ontario à offrir des programmes à la fois en anglais et en français. Compte tenu de sa petite taille le rapport professeurs/étudiants y est des plus favorables.

La philosophie éducative de Glendon repose sur le constat que l'enseignement des sciences humaines et des lettres est plus pertinent que jamais. Une fois diplômés, les étudiants doivent être prêts à évoluer dans la société; ils doivent être en mesure d'en comprendre les fondements afin de mieux s'y insérer et de contribuer de manière constructive à l'améliorer. Un bon programme d'étude en humanités affine leur aptitude à apprendre, à penser, à s'exprimer; il éveille leur curiosité et les lance à la découverte de soi et du monde extérieur. Glendon est fier de ses programmes de qualité qui préparent ses étudiants à des carrières intéressantes dans des domaines aussi divers que l'administration des affaires, le commerce, la finance, la fonction publique, la diplomatie, les communications et les relations publiques, l'enseignement, ou encore la traduction. Le Collège universitaire Glendon offre vingt-et-un programmes de baccalauréat, ainsi que trois programmes de maîtrise en traduction, études françaises et administration publique et internationale. La Faculté d'éducation offre un BEd pour enseignants de français au campus Glendon. On peut aussi y suivre des cours en vue de l'admission aux programmes de BBA, MBA et JD.

Le Collège universitaire Glendon doit en grande partie son caractère unique au fait que les cours y sont offerts dans les deux langues officielles du Canada et ce, dans le cadre de programmes intégralement bilingues. Toutefois, être bilingue n'est pas un préalable pour être admis à Glendon. En outre, les étudiants choisissent le nombre de cours qu'ils suivront dans leur deuxième langue officielle canadienne, en fonction de leurs propres objectifs et leurs compétences linguistiques. Les anglophones et francophones du Canada et d'ailleurs trouvent à Glendon ce qu'ils viennent y chercher – en l'occurrence, une solide éducation en humanités, conjuguée à la possibilité d'acquérir ou d'approfondir une connaissance des langues et des cultures canadienne-anglaise et canadienne-française.

De plus, l'environnement de Glendon convient parfaitement à la poursuite d'études de premier cycle. Situé sur un escarpement dominant la vallée de la rivière Don, son très beau campus est une véritable oasis de paix. Par sa petite taille et sa situation avantageuse au cœur de Toronto, le Collège Glendon, qui fait néanmoins partie d'une grande université, peut offrir à ses étudiants le meilleur de deux mondes. Ainsi, sa taille modeste et la cohésion de ses programmes, tout autant que la situation privilégiée de son campus, favorisent les contacts personnels entre les étudiants, les professeurs et le personnel administratif. Dans un établissement dont l'effectif total est d'environ 2000 étudiants, les relations peuvent être plus personnelles, et plus directes. La qualité des études s'en trouve rehaussée, de même que la recherche et le travail intellectuel des professeurs – ce qui, en retour, contribue encore à enrichir l'enseignement. Étudier à Glendon, c'est aussi avoir la possibilité de faire sa troisième année d'un programme spécialisé dans une université canadienne-française ou dans une université étrangère grâce au réseau d'échanges de Glendon d'une part, et de l'Université York d'autre part. Le programme d'échange de Glendon, qui lui est spécifique, comprend des ententes avec l'Université libre de Bruxelles (Belgique) ; l'Université de Rouen (France) ; l'Université autonome de Barcelone ; l'Université de Montréal (Québec), ainsi que toutes les universités canadiennes-françaises hors Québec. Le programme de l'Université York, auquel Glendon souscrit également, est encore plus vaste et comprend des ententes avec plus de 34 pays, comme le Mexique, la Suède, Israël, le Japon ou Hong Kong par exemple.

Glendon offre la possibilité de poursuivre des études à plein temps ou à temps partiel, principalement durant le jour. Les étudiants de Glendon qui se destinent à l'enseignement peuvent suivre en parallèle leur programme en humanités et le programme de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation afin d'obtenir un double baccalauréat. Par ailleurs, Glendon a signé un accord avec la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation de l'Université d'Ottawa, afin que les étudiants qui y sont inscrits et qui résident dans la région du Centre-sud-ouest de l'Ontario puissent suivre leur programme de baccalauréat à Glendon.

La vie étudiante à Glendon est riche d'activités parascolaires, organisées et encadrées par et pour les étudiants, telles que les productions du Théâtre Glendon ou le Carnaval d'hiver, les concerts de l'Ensemble musical de Glendon, les soirées de poésies etc. Enfin, des ressortissants des quatre coins du monde viennent à Glendon pour profiter de l'excellence de ses programmes d'études, de sa bonne réputation et de son environnement bilingue. En retour, ils y contribuent toute la richesse culturelle de plus de cent pays.

Règlements gouvernant l'obtention du baccalauréat ès arts

Remarques explicatives : Le terme "session scolaire" s'applique à la période de cours commençant en septembre et s'étendant jusqu'à la fin des examens au printemps ; "année universitaire" désigne la période du 1er septembre au 31 août ; "année d'études" indique la division des études selon le nombre de cours déjà réussis.

1. Les changements apportés aux règlements et aux exigences s'appliquent également à tous les candidats au BA - à moins que le Conseil de la Faculté ne décide qu'ils représentent une épreuve excessive. Prière d'adresser toute demande de renseignement concernant les règlements et les exigences au Bureau des programmes scolaires.

Programme Bilingue

Exigences en matière de bilinguisme

- 2.1 Tous les étudiants admis à un programme de baccalauréat ès arts au Collège universitaire Glendon doivent satisfaire aux exigences du Collège en matière de bilinguisme.
- 2.2 Tous les étudiants doivent passer un test linguistique afin de déterminer leur niveau de français et d'anglais.
- 2.3 Pour satisfaire aux exigences en matière de bilinguisme, tous les étudiants doivent obtenir au moins six crédits dans chaque langue officielle (français et anglais) au Collège universitaire Glendon dans les deux catégories suivantes :
 - a) des cours de 2e année ou d'un niveau supérieur en Français langue seconde ou en Anglais langue seconde ;
 - b) des cours dans une discipline qui respecte les exigences en matière de bilinguisme du Collège. Tous les étudiants qui préfèrent suivre des cours autres que les cours de Français langue seconde ou d'Anglais langue seconde pour respecter les exigences en matière de bilinguisme doivent soumettre au Bureau des programmes scolaires une attestation signée par le professeur du cours indiquant que tous les travaux, tests et examens ont été réalisés dans la langue d'instruction du cours.
- 2.4 Les cours suivants ne sont pas admissibles pour satisfaire aux exigences de bilinguisme du Collège :
 - GL/FRLS 0400 6.00

 - GL/HUMA 3400 6.00
 - tous les cours enseignés dans deux langues ou dans une langue autre que le français ou l'anglais.

Certificat de bilinguisme – français et anglais

Pour l'obtention du Certificat de bilinguisme il faut avoir réussi, avec une note minimum de C, à au moins 18 crédits dans sa langue seconde : cours de 2e année ou au-dessus en Anglais langue seconde ou tout cours, à tous les niveaux, dans une autre discipline du collège qui sont désignés comme satisfaisant à l'exigence de bilinguisme.

Certificat d'excellence bilingue – anglais et français

- 3.1 Les étudiants qui réussissent à l'examen d'excellence bilingue de Glendon recevront le Certificat d'excellence bilingue. Les renseignements concernant l'inscription à l'examen sont disponibles auprès du Bureau des programmes scolaires.
- 3.2 Conditions d'admission :

Pour pouvoir se présenter à l'examen, les étudiants doivent satisfaire aux pré-requis suivants :

Les étudiants dont la langue première est l'anglais doivent :

 - être inscrits à un programme de baccalauréat de York ;
 - être dans leur dernière année d'études et doivent faire une demande avant la date limite annoncée ;
 - avoir obtenu ou être raisonnablement assurés d'obtenir une note minimale de B dans 18 crédits pris en français.

Les cours acceptables sont : tout cours FRLS au niveau 2000 ou plus ; tout cours FRAN et tout cours dans une autre discipline du Collège désigné comme satisfaisant aux exigences en matière de bilinguisme.

Les étudiants dont la langue première est le français doivent :

- être inscrits à un programme de baccalauréat de York;
- être dans leur dernière année d'études et doivent faire une demande avant la date limite annoncée;
- avoir obtenu ou être raisonnablement assurés d'obtenir une note minimale de B dans 18 crédits pris en anglais.

Les cours acceptables sont : tout cours ENSL au niveau 2000 ou plus; tout cours EN et tout cours dans une autre discipline du Collège désigné comme satisfaisant aux exigences en matière de bilinguisme.

Remarque : Les cours suivis en dehors de l'Université York, et qui répondent aux critères susmentionnés, sont acceptables pour remplir les conditions d'admission à l'examen d'excellence bilingue de Glendon.

Certificat d'excellence trilingue – anglais, français et espagnol

3.3 Les étudiants qui réussissent à l'examen de l'excellence trilingue de Glendon recevront le Certificat d'excellence trilingue. Les renseignements concernant l'inscription à l'examen sont disponibles auprès du Bureau des programmes scolaires.

3.4 Conditions d'admission :

Pour pouvoir se présenter à l'examen, les étudiants doivent satisfaire aux pré-requis suivants :

Les étudiants non-hispanophones doivent :

- être inscrits à un programme de baccalauréat de York;
- satisfaire aux exigences de langues susmentionnées sous les règlements du Certificat d'excellence bilingue (voir la section 3.2);
- avoir obtenu ou être raisonnablement assurés d'obtenir une note minimale de B dans 18 crédits pris en espagnol.

Les cours acceptables sont : tout cours SP au niveau 2000 ou plus.

Les étudiants hispanophones doivent :

- être inscrits à un programme de baccalauréat de York;
- satisfaire aux exigences de langues susmentionnées sous les règlements du Certificat d'excellence bilingue (voir la section 3.2);
- obtenir l'approbation du Coordonnateur du Certificat d'excellence bilingue/trilingue.

Remarque : Les cours suivis en dehors de l'Université York, et qui répondent aux critères susmentionnés, sont acceptables pour remplir les conditions d'admission à l'examen d'excellence trilingue de Glendon.

Crédit linguistique

4.1 L'équivalent de six crédits, sera décerné, sur demande, à l'étudiant francophone qui reçoit une note minimum de C dans 12 crédits suivis entièrement en anglais.

4.2 Les cours décrits comme cours d'apprentissage de langue ne comptent pas en vue de l'obtention du Crédit. Les cours donnés, moitié dans une langue et moitié dans l'autre, ne comptent pas non plus. Si le cours magistral est donné en anglais, et le séminaire au choix, le cours ne compte pas si l'étudiant choisit le séminaire français. Tous les travaux écrits relevant du cours doivent être rédigés dans la langue du cours, exception faite des examens.

4.3 Les cours suivis dans le Département d'anglais par les étudiants francophones qui suivent un programme d'études avec concentration en anglais ne comptent pas en vue de l'obtention d'un crédit linguistique. Dans ce contexte "concentration" veut dire les 30 crédits dans la discipline exigés pour le baccalauréat, les 60 crédits requis pour le baccalauréat spécialisé, les groupements de 36 crédits et de 24 crédits dans le programme spécialisé bidisciplinaire, le groupement de 36 crédits dans les programmes spécialisé général et spécialisé avec double majeure.

4.4 Un demi-crédit linguistique sera attribué à celui qui réussit 6 des 12 crédits requis avec une note minimum de C.

4.5 Le crédit linguistique étant équivalent à six crédits, cela permettra à son détenteur d'obtenir le baccalauréat avec 84 crédits au lieu de 90 crédits, et le baccalauréat spécialisé avec 114 crédits au lieu de 120 crédits. Cependant, le crédit linguistique ne dispensera que d'un cours facultatif. L'étudiant devra de toute façon suivre le nombre de cours exigé dans le champ de concentration du baccalauréat auquel il est inscrit, et il sera également tenu de satisfaire aux exigences du programme de formation générale.

4.6 Le dossier scolaire de l'étudiant ne portera la mention "crédit linguistique" que lors de l'attribution du diplôme de baccalauréat, et le crédit n'entrera pas dans le calcul de la moyenne scolaire. Jusqu'à la remise du diplôme le dossier de l'étudiant ayant obtenu un crédit linguistique indiquera un cours de moins que la norme. L'étudiant qui aimerait obtenir un crédit linguistique devrait garder à l'esprit que le crédit ne comptera en vue de l'obtention du Baccalauréat que si l'étudiant termine son diplôme à Glendon. S'il change de faculté à l'Université York, ou d'université, son crédit linguistique n'apparaîtra pas dans son dossier et ne comptera pas dans le programme d'études de l'institution où il s'inscrira.

4.7 L'étudiant francophone qui n'est pas très fort en anglais devrait profiter de la possibilité d'obtenir plus tard un crédit linguistique en suivant 24 crédits ou 27 crédits en première année au lieu de 30 crédits. Mais il doit tenir compte des faits suivants : a) il sera tenu de faire tous ses travaux écrits en anglais dans les 12 crédits qu'il désignera pour le crédit ; b) il devra recevoir une note d'au moins C dans ces 12 crédits ; c) le crédit linguistique ne comptera que s'il termine son Baccalauréat à Glendon.

4.8 Certaines facultés de 2e et 3e cycles ne reconnaissent pas le crédit linguistique comme l'équivalent d'un cours. On conseille donc aux étudiants qui pensent poursuivre des études avancées de ne pas demander de crédit linguistique mais plutôt de suivre un cours de composition avancée du Département d'anglais s'ils désirent améliorer leur anglais écrit.

N.B. : Les étudiants du programme de Traduction ne peuvent pas recevoir le crédit linguistique.

Année d'études dans une université francophone

5. Un étudiant inscrit dans un programme spécialisé, ayant une bonne connaissance du français, peut demander à passer une année dans une université francophone, au Canada ou à l'étranger, et recevoir des crédits pour l'obtention de son diplôme à Glendon. Pour de plus amples renseignements, prière de s'adresser au Sous-comité des études dans des universités francophones ou au Bureau des programmes scolaires. Un étudiant revenant à Glendon après son année d'études approuvée par le SCEUF n'a pas à refaire une demande d'admission mais il doit informer le Bureau des programmes scolaires de son retour et doit s'occuper de faire transmettre à ce bureau le relevé de ses notes le plus tôt possible.

Anglais comme langue seconde

6. Tous les étudiants qui entrent au Collège Glendon et dont la langue maternelle n'est pas l'anglais doivent, avant même de s'inscrire, passer un test de classement. Chaque année, les étudiants dont la langue maternelle n'est pas l'anglais devraient, avant de choisir leurs cours, avoir un entretien avec le directeur ou le conseiller du Programme d'anglais langue seconde.

Formation générale

7. Pour l'obtention de son diplôme, chaque étudiant du Collège doit avoir réussi l'équivalent d'au moins six crédits dans trois des quatre divisions du programme en éducation générale : humanités, logique, sciences naturelles, sciences sociales. Pour de plus amples renseignements sur ces domaines, veuillez voir la description sous Études pluridisciplinaires.

Baccalauréat ès arts spécialisé

Programme spécialisé

- 8.1 On peut suivre un programme spécialisé dans une des disciplines suivantes : Économie et commerce, études internationales, études anglaises, études canadiennes, études d'arts dramatiques, études des femmes, études françaises, études hispaniques, études pluridisciplinaires, études sur la sexualité, histoire, mathématiques, philosophie, psychologie, science économique, science politique, sociologie, technologie de l'information et traduction.
- 8.2 La description détaillée du programme spécialisé pour chaque discipline se trouve en tête de la liste des cours offerts par le département intéressé.

Programme spécialisé bidisciplinaire

- 8.3 Les candidats à un baccalauréat ès arts spécialisé peuvent, avec l'assentiment des départements intéressés, répartir leurs études entre deux des matières offertes au Collège. Ces étudiants sont considérés comme candidats au diplôme spécialisé bidisciplinaire et ils sont tenus de suivre au moins 60 crédits dans les deux domaines choisis. Les départements intéressés sont à la disposition des étudiants pour de plus amples renseignements sur les cours exigés ou recommandés pour les différentes combinaisons.

Programme spécialisé général

- 8.4 Les exigences générales dans ce programme ressemblent aux exigences des programmes spécialisés et spécialisés bidisciplinaires, à la différence qu'il suffit d'obtenir un minimum de 36 crédits dans une seule discipline. Pour obtenir plus de renseignements sur les cours exigés dans chaque discipline pour ce type de programme, les étudiants doivent consulter la section décrivant les programmes, au début de la partie traitant des différentes disciplines.

Programme spécialisé avec double majeure

- 8.5 Les exigences générales dans ce programme ressemblent aux exigences des programmes spécialisés et spécialisés bidisciplinaires, à la différence qu'il suffit d'obtenir un minimum de 36 crédits dans chacune des deux disciplines. Pour obtenir plus de renseignements sur les cours exigés dans chaque discipline pour ce type de programme, les étudiants doivent consulter la section décrivant les programmes, au début de la partie traitant des différentes disciplines.

Conditions pour l'obtention du baccalauréat spécialisé

- 9.1 Pour l'obtention d'un baccalauréat spécialisé, un étudiant doit avoir obtenu l'équivalent de 120 crédits et posséder la moyenne cumulative exigée dans ses cours de spécialisation et dans ses autres cours. Un étudiant du programme de spécialisation s'inscrit à une année d'études comme suit :

1ère année	Moins de 24 crédits
2e année	Moins de 54 crédits
3e année	Moins de 84 crédits
4e année	Au moins 84 crédits

- 9.2 Un étudiant qui satisfait aux critères de sélection du département de spécialisation choisi peut demeurer inscrit au programme de baccalauréat spécialisé si sa moyenne cumulative s'établit ainsi à la fin de chaque année :

Année	Moyenne cumulative des cours de spécialisation	Moyenne cumulative
1ère		4.00
2e		4.25
3e	4.50	4.80
4e	5.00	5.00

Les étudiants qui ont obtenu 84 crédits ou plus et qui désirent poursuivre leurs études dans un programme spécialisé doivent avoir une moyenne cumulative minimum de 5.00 dans leur sujet de spécialisation et également de 5.00 dans l'ensemble de leurs cours.

- 9.3 À la fin d'une session, l'étudiant qui n'a pas obtenu ces résultats peut recevoir la permission du département de sa spécialisation de continuer le programme de baccalauréat spécialisé. Dans le cas contraire, l'étudiant sera reclassé dans un programme de baccalauréat. Aucun étudiant ne peut obtenir un baccalauréat spécialisé si sa moyenne cumulative à la fin de la quatrième année n'atteint pas le niveau requis.
- 9.4 Confirmation des Programmes scolaires : Avant l'inscription, chaque candidat à la 2e, 3e ou 4e année est tenu d'établir son programme scolaire en consultation avec le département offrant la spécialisation de son choix.
- 9.5 Un candidat qui n'obtient pas la moyenne cumulative au cours d'un programme de baccalauréat spécialisé peut obtenir la permission de poursuivre un programme de baccalauréat à condition que ses notes soient suffisantes ; sinon il peut soumettre une pétition en vue de classer sa session comme échec et de la faire exclure de la moyenne cumulative. Dans ce cas, il se verra imposer le régime de la probation (voir le règlement 32).
- 9.6 Un candidat qui a réussi sa 3e année d'études dans un programme spécialisé et qui remplit les conditions nécessaires à l'obtention d'un baccalauréat, ou compte les remplir à la fin de la session courante, peut obtenir le BA sur demande auprès du Bureau des programmes scolaires, déposée au plus tard le 31 janvier.
- 9.7 Un candidat qui a obtenu la permission de suivre un programme de baccalauréat (voir le règlement 9.6) peut se présenter à la quatrième année du programme de la ou des spécialisations suivies en troisième année. Après avoir réussi sa quatrième année, il peut demander la reclassification de son diplôme avec spécialisation.

Baccalauréat ès arts

10. Le baccalauréat ès arts exige 90 crédits et comprend normalement trois ans d'études. On offre des programmes de baccalauréat en études anglaises, études canadiennes, études d'arts dramatiques, études des femmes, études françaises, études hispaniques, études pluridisciplinaires, études sur la sexualité, histoire, informatique, mathématiques, philosophie, psychologie, science économique, science politique, sociologie et technologie de l'information. La description détaillée du programme pour chaque discipline se trouve en tête de la liste des cours offerts par le département intéressé.

Conditions pour l'obtention du baccalauréat

- 11.1 Pour l'obtention d'un baccalauréat, un étudiant doit avoir obtenu l'équivalent de 90 crédits et posséder la moyenne cumulative exigée dans ses cours de spécialisation et dans ses autres cours. Un étudiant du programme s'inscrit à une année d'études comme suit :

1ère année	Moins de 24 crédits
2e année	Moins de 54 crédits
3e année	Au moins 54 crédits

- 11.2 Un étudiant inscrit au programme de baccalauréat doit maintenir une moyenne cumulative comme suit :

Année	Moyenne cumulative des cours de spécialisation	Moyenne cumulative
1ère		3.60
2e		3.80
3e	4.00	4.00

- 11.3 Un programme de baccalauréat comprend un minimum de 30 crédits dans l'option choisie. (Consultez la liste de cours de chaque discipline pour avoir plus de précisions sur les conditions.)
- 11.4 Confirmation des Programmes scolaires : Avant l'inscription, tout candidat à la 2e ou 3e année doit établir son programme scolaire en accord avec le département offrant l'option de son choix.
- 11.5 Changement de programme : Un étudiant en troisième année d'un baccalauréat peut, si ses résultats atteignent la moyenne requise, s'inscrire à un programme de baccalauréat spécialisé. Un étudiant qui a obtenu son baccalauréat peut se faire admettre en quatrième année d'un programme de baccalauréat spécialisé et faire changer la catégorie de son diplôme s'il a atteint la moyenne requise pour la quatrième année.
- 11.6 Les étudiants qui ne satisfont pas aux exigences du BA ou du BA spécialisé pourront suivre jusqu'à 12 crédits supplémentaires au niveau de la troisième ou quatrième année, choisis en accord avec le département de spécialisation, en vue de porter leur moyenne cumulative au niveau exigé pour l'obtention du diplôme.

Nombre de cours exigés pour un second diplôme ou diplôme ultérieur

12. Les étudiants déjà titulaires d'un Baccalauréat ou l'équivalent d'un établissement post-secondaire accrédité et qui désirent obtenir un Baccalauréat dans une autre discipline au Collège universitaire Glendon peuvent être admis au programme de Baccalauréat sous les conditions suivantes :
- Dans tous les cours antérieurement suivis, les étudiants devront avoir obtenu une moyenne de 5 points pour l'admission à un programme de baccalauréat spécialisé, et une moyenne de 4 points pour l'admission à un programme de baccalauréat ;
 - Ils doivent satisfaire aux conditions particulières de la faculté (ne pourront être retenus pour satisfaire à ces conditions les cours suivis pour l'obtention du premier diplôme) : au minimum 30 nouveaux crédits doivent provenir de cours suivis à York et au moins 50% des crédits exigés dans la majeure et la mineure doivent provenir de cours suivis à Glendon ;
 - Doivent aussi être satisfaites les conditions particulières à la majeure/mineure ;
 - Les exigences particulières à la faculté ne constituent qu'un nombre minimum de cours supplémentaires. En effet, si le département n'accorde aucun crédit pour les cours suivis pour l'obtention du premier diplôme, le nombre total des cours requis pourra être sensiblement plus élevé ;
 - Toutes les autres conditions exigées par l'Université sont à remplir, le cas échéant.

Changements de programme

13. Les étudiants peuvent changer leur programme de baccalauréat ou leur option à condition d'avoir les notes requises et l'autorisation du ou des départements intéressés. Ils doivent en aviser le Bureau des programmes scolaires avant le 30 octobre.

Nombre de cours exigés pour un premier diplôme de Baccalauréat

14. Pour recevoir un diplôme de Baccalauréat au Collège universitaire Glendon, un étudiant doit avoir obtenu au moins 30 crédits d'un programme à York et 50% des crédits exigés dans la majeure et la mineure doivent provenir de cours suivis à Glendon.

Octroi d'équivalences

- 15.1 Les étudiants qui, avant de s'inscrire à Glendon, ont fréquenté un établissement post-secondaire accrédité doivent faire parvenir un bulletin officiel de leur notes directement au Service des admissions de l'Université York. Les cours suivis dans un autre établissement post-secondaire accrédité et auxquels l'étudiant a réussi avec une note de C/60% peuvent être considérés en vue de l'octroi d'équivalences. (Les candidats en provenance d'un Collège d'arts appliqués et de technologie peuvent recevoir des crédits s'ils ont complété deux années d'études avec une moyenne d'au moins 3.00).
- 15.2 Les détenteurs d'un Baccalauréat décerné par un autre établissement post-secondaire accrédité, s'inscrivant à Glendon en vue de l'obtention d'un Baccalauréat spécialisé de York doivent satisfaire aux conditions suivantes : obtenir au moins 30 nouveaux crédits à York ; 50% des crédits exigés dans leur majeure et leur mineure doivent provenir des cours suivis à Glendon. De plus, les étudiants doivent satisfaire à toutes les autres exigences des départements de la majeure/mineure.
- 15.3 Les étudiants inscrits à Glendon en vue de l'obtention d'un Baccalauréat de l'Université York, désireux de suivre un cours ailleurs qu'à York, doivent demander une lettre de permission du Bureau des programmes scolaires.
- 15.4 Les cours suivis dans un établissement post-secondaire accrédité autre que York peuvent être crédités comme des cours réussis, pourvu que l'étudiant ait reçu la note de C/60% ou plus. La note ne sera pas incluse dans sa moyenne cumulative. Les bulletins doivent être soumis au Bureau des programmes scolaires.
- 15.5 Les crédits pour les cours suivis dans une autre faculté de l'Université York sont accordés sur la même base qu'à Glendon.

Changement de faculté

Les étudiants désireux d'obtenir des informations sur la manière de changer de faculté devraient prendre contact avec le Bureau des programmes scolaires de la faculté à laquelle ils veulent s'inscrire.

Heures de classe

16. Sauf avis contraire, tout cours comprend trois heures de classe par semaine.

Numérotage des cours

- 17.1 Les cours de Glendon sont identifiés par le préfixe GL. L'année d'études pour laquelle un cours est conçu est indiquée par le premier chiffre (1,2,3,4). (0 est utilisé uniquement pour les cours élémentaires d'apprentissage de langue.)
- 17.2 Les cours complets sont identifiés par 6.00 après le numéro de cours. Les demi-cours, offerts soit au premier, soit au deuxième trimestre, sont indiqués par 3.00 après le numéro du cours.

Cours interdépartementaux

- 18.1 Ces cours portent normalement le deuxième chiffre 6 ou 9. Leur description se trouve seulement sous la rubrique du département ou de la division qui les offre.
- 18.2 Un cours de formation générale inscrit aussi sous la rubrique d'un département compte en vue de l'exigence du département en plus de celle de formation générale.
- 18.3 Un cours inscrit sous la rubrique de deux ou plusieurs départements compte en vue de l'exigence d'un seul département.

Exemption d'exigences du programme

19. Un étudiant peut satisfaire aux exigences du programme d'études grâce à des cours réussis pour lesquels il n'a pas obtenu de crédit et qui étaient exclus de son total cumulatif de cours. Une note de D dans un cours de langue (ou un cours requis pour le programme unilingue) suivi à Glendon, ou une note de C dans tout autre cours, ou dans tout cours suivi ailleurs qu'à Glendon, sera suffisante.

Inscription aux cours

- 20.1 Les étudiants à plein temps s'inscriront à un minimum de 18 crédits et à un maximum de 36 crédits par trimestre, ou l'équivalent, et leur dossier contiendra des notes pour un total de 18 crédits à 36 crédits pour chaque session scolaire.
- 20.2 Les étudiants en probation ne peuvent pas suivre plus de 30 crédits pendant une session. Il ne sera dérogé à ce règlement que par pétition pour des circonstances exceptionnelles.
- 20.3 Les étudiants à temps partiel suivront un maximum de 15 crédits dans une session scolaire.
- 20.4 L'inscription à des cours complets ainsi qu'à des demi-cours est permise jusqu'aux dates limites publiées dans l'horaire des cours. Après ces dates, les inscriptions ne seront autorisées que sur la permission écrite de tous les directeurs des cours et des départements intéressés. L'abandon des cours est autorisé selon le règlement 21.
- 20.5 Au moment de l'inscription, tous les étudiants, sauf ceux de première année, doivent choisir un ou plusieurs sujets de spécialisation.
- 20.6 Les étudiants désirant suivre des cours séparés de plus d'une année de leur propre niveau doivent obtenir la permission du département ou de la division offrant le cours.
- 20.7 Les étudiants de première année peuvent être admis aux cours de deuxième année autorisés dans l'annuaire. Pour être admis aux autres cours de deuxième année, les étudiants de première année doivent obtenir la permission du département ou de la division offrant ces cours.
- 20.8 Ces règlements peuvent être annulés quand le département ou la division déclare que la limite d'inscriptions à un cours a été atteinte.
- 20.9 Tous les étudiants qui ont obtenu la permission de s'inscrire à un cours d'un niveau inférieur sont avisés que les critères utilisés pour juger leur travail sont ceux qu'on appliquerait normalement à un cours de leur propre niveau.

- a) Les étudiants sont autorisés à se réinscrire une fois à un cours auquel ils ont échoué en vue d'obtenir un crédit pour un diplôme universitaire ou un certificat. Ils doivent savoir qu'il ne leur sera pas nécessairement possible de se réinscrire à un cours dans la session de leur choix pour des raisons de disponibilité et de place.
- b) Lorsqu'un étudiant est autorisé à se réinscrire à un cours en vue d'obtenir un crédit pour un diplôme universitaire ou un certificat, la seconde note sera celle qui sera enregistrée dans son dossier et la seule qui sera prise en compte dans le calcul de sa note moyenne pondérée (majeure, cumulative, par session et générale). Un cours ne peut être crédité qu'une seule fois pour satisfaire aux conditions d'obtention d'un diplôme universitaire ou d'un certificat.
- c) La mention de la première et de la seconde fois que l'étudiant a suivi un cours figurera sur son relevé de notes, la première portant la mention « aucun crédit ».¹

1. Il est à noter que, lorsqu'un étudiant se réinscrit à un cours, le cours pris la première fois et la note reçue figureront toujours sur son relevé de notes avec la mention NCR (aucun crédit) à côté de la note. La mention NCR (aucun crédit) signifie que ni les crédits reçus pour le cours ni la note ne seront pris en compte dans le calcul de sa note moyenne pondérée.

- d) Les restrictions relatives à un cours réussi ou échoué s'appliquent également aux cours jumelés et à certains cours incompatibles.

20.10.2 Les points précédents ne s'appliquent pas aux programmes pour grades ou diplômes supérieurs, ni aux programmes de baccalauréat en éducation (BEEd) de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation ou de baccalauréat en droit (JD) de la Faculté de droit Osgoode Hall.

20.10.3 Les points précédents ne s'appliquent pas aux cours de stage offerts dans le cadre du programme de baccalauréat en travail social ou aux cours de stage offerts dans le cadre du programme de baccalauréat de la Faculté des sciences en Nursing (BScN).

20.11 Les cours qui sont offerts sous l'option réussite/échec seulement, et dans lesquels la note "échec" compte pour zéro dans la moyenne, seront identifiés comme cours crédité/cours non crédité.

Abandon de cours

21. Il est possible d'abandonner des cours avant les dates limites sans obtenir de note jusqu'aux dates limites publiées dans l'horaire des cours.

Un étudiant qui abandonne ses cours après les dates limites publiées recevra une note d'échec dans son cours.

Abandon complet

22.1 Un étudiant peut quitter le Collège sans encourir de sanction jusqu'à la date limite indiquée dans l'article 21 du règlement.

22.2 Si un étudiant quitte le Collège après la date limite, sans l'autorisation du comité de pétitions, des notes seront inscrites à son dossier. Il sera mis en probation académique et sera tenu de faire une nouvelle demande d'admission s'il désire reprendre ses études au Collège Glendon plus tard.

22.3 Un étudiant de première année ou un étudiant en probation qui obtient une moyenne de moins de 3.00 dans deux ou plusieurs cours à la fin du premier trimestre sera tenu de discuter son cas avec un professeur-conseil. Il peut se voir encourager à quitter le Collège.

22.4 Dans certains cas, le Collège peut exiger d'un étudiant qu'il quitte le Collège.

Auditeurs libres

23.2 Il ne sera pas accordé de crédit à l'auditeur libre. Avant d'assister aux classes, l'auditeur doit obtenir la permission du professeur et aviser le Bureau des programmes scolaires.

Normes scolaires

24. Les étudiants devront obtenir des résultats qui satisfassent aux exigences des départements et divisions intéressés et ils devront passer les examens à moins de maladie ou d'autre circonstance extraordinaire.

Système de notation

25.1 Tous les cours du Collège Glendon sont évalués selon le système suivant :

Lettre	Valeur en points	Pourcentage	Explications
A+	9	90-100	Exceptionnel
A	8	80-89	Excellent
B+	7	75-79	Très bon
B	6	70-74	Bon
C+	5	65-69	Compétent

C	4	60-64	À peine compétent
D+	3	55-59	Suffisant
D	2	50-54	À peine suffisant
E	1	40-49	Échec de peu
F	0	0-39	Échec

P	Option réussite/échec	Pass
F	Option réussite/échec	Échec

25.2 Option réussite/échec

Les étudiants peuvent suivre un nombre limité de cours et obtenir des crédits universitaires sous l'option "réussite" ou "échec". Les cours suivis sous cette option figureront sur le bulletin avec la lettre de "P" pour réussite et "F" pour échec. Ces "notes" ne seront pas incluses dans le calcul des moyennes de l'étudiant.

Les règlements suivants s'appliquent aux cours que l'étudiant a l'intention de suivre sous l'option réussite/échec :

Statut universitaire : Seuls les étudiants dont le statut universitaire est en règle, (c.à.d. ceux qui ne sont pas sous le régime de probation, d'avertissement universitaire ou de renvoi) auront la permission de suivre des cours sous l'option réussite/échec.

Condition préalable : Les étudiants doivent avoir déjà réussi à 24 crédits afin de pouvoir faire une demande pour suivre des cours sous l'option réussite/échec.

Cours aux choix seulement : Les cours suivis sous l'option réussite/échec ne pourront pas satisfaire aux exigences de la majeure, de la mineure, des études générales, des certificats ou ne pourront pas être des cours de Sciences au niveau 1000.

Nombre maximum de cours sous l'option réussite/échec :

a) Programme de baccalauréat spécialisé : Les étudiants inscrits dans un programme de baccalauréat spécialisé auront la permission de suivre jusqu'à 12 crédits sous l'option réussite/échec.

b) Programme de baccalauréat : Les étudiants inscrits dans un programme de baccalauréat auront la permission de suivre jusqu'à six crédits sous l'option réussite/échec.

Date limite : Les étudiants qui désirent suivre un cours sous l'option "réussite/échec" doivent signaler leur intention durant les deux premières semaines du trimestre durant lequel le cours commence ; ils doivent d'abord obtenir la signature du Directeur du cours sur le formulaire approprié, disponible au Bureau des programmes scolaires. Ces formulaires doivent parvenir au Bureau des programmes scolaires avant la date limite.

Changement de l'option "réussite/échec" au système de notation en lettre : Avec la permission du Directeur du cours, les étudiants peuvent changer de l'option "réussite/échec" dans un cours au système de notation en lettre jusqu'à la date limite pour abandonner un cours sans pénalité universitaire. Une demande officielle pour un tel changement doit être soumise au Bureau des programmes avant la date limite.

Explications des cotes

26. Définitions des cotes.

Exceptionnel : Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, et compétence exceptionnelle ou très grande originalité dans le maniement de ces concepts et techniques et pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

Excellent : Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques, associée à une grande compétence ou originalité dans le maniement de ces concepts et techniques et pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

Très Bon : Connaissance approfondie des concepts ou des techniques et très bonne compétence dans le maniement de ces concepts et de ces techniques et bonne originalité pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

Bon : Bon niveau de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et bonne compétence pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

Compétent : Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques et compétence acceptable pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

À peine compétent : Niveau acceptable de connaissance des concepts ou des techniques ainsi qu'une certaine compétence pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

Suffisant : Quelque peu supérieur à la connaissance minimum exigée des concepts ou des techniques ainsi que certaines compétences pour leur utilisation dans les travaux exigés pour le cours.

À peine suffisant : Connaissance minimum des concepts ou des techniques pour satisfaire aux exigences du cours.

La moyenne cumulative est le total de la valeur en points de tous les cours déjà suivis (échecs inclus), divisé par le nombre de cours. Dans ces calculs, un demi-cours compte pour la moitié d'un cours entier.

La moyenne cumulative des cours de spécialisation est le total de la valeur en points de tous les cours déjà suivis pour la spécialisation (échecs inclus), divisé par le nombre de cours. Par cours de spécialisation, on entend ceux que l'étudiant doit choisir dans un des cinq programmes suivants : (a) le BA spécialisé ; (b) le BA spécialisé bidisciplinaire ; (c) le BA spécialisé général ; (d) le BA spécialisé avec double majeure et (e) le BA.

Les étudiants peuvent obtenir des crédits pour tous les cours réussis à l'université York avec une cote d'au moins D.

La mention d'honneur est accordée à un étudiant dont la moyenne cumulative s'élève à au moins 7.50 points. Tout étudiant qui obtient une moyenne générale cumulative de 7.50 est automatiquement candidat à l'inscription au Tableau d'honneur du doyen.

Notes du premier trimestre

27. Les directeurs de cours sont tenus de soumettre au Bureau des programmes scolaires le nom de tout étudiant dont la moyenne s'élève à moins de 3.00 (D+) si ce dernier se trouve dans un des cas suivants :

- a) en probation (Règlement 32.8) ;
- b) en première année (Règlement 22.3).

Remise des travaux

28. La date limite pour la remise de travaux dans les demi-cours du premier trimestre est la fin de la période d'examen de Noël. La date limite pour la remise des travaux de tous les autres cours est le vendredi de la première semaine des examens finals à moins que le professeur, après avoir consulté les étudiants, fixe une date plus avancée. Dans les cours où il n'y a pas d'examen final, aucun étudiant ne peut être tenu de remettre son dernier travail avant le premier jour de la période des examens.

Examens

29.1 Les examens finals ont lieu en décembre pour les demi-cours offerts pendant le premier trimestre et en avril-mai pour les demi-cours offerts pendant le deuxième trimestre et pour les cours entiers. Les examens des étudiants qui ont obtenu la permission de les ajourner, pour cause de maladie ou de malchance, auront lieu avant le milieu de mars (dans les cours du trimestre d'automne) et le milieu de juillet (dans les cours du trimestre d'hiver dans les cours complets). Les travaux différés doivent être remis avant le milieu de mars (pour les cours du trimestre d'automne) et le milieu de juillet (pour les cours du trimestre d'hiver) et pour les cours complets. Une première pétition en vue d'obtenir un sursis doit être présentée dans un délai de cinq jours ouvrables après la période des examens pour le trimestre en question. Les règlements de la faculté stipulent qu'aucun test ou examen, comptant pour plus de 20% de la note globale, ne peut être donné durant les deux dernières semaines de cours d'un trimestre, sauf dans les cours dont les classes ont lieu durant la fin de la semaine (samedi ou dimanche à n'importe quelle heure). Les tests et examens prévus durant le trimestre doivent être fixés aux heures régulières du cours ; ces tests ou examens ne peuvent être fixés à d'autres heures qu'à condition qu'aucune obligation d'un étudiant ne soit enfreinte. Un étudiant a le droit de refuser de se présenter à un examen qui contreviendrait à ce règlement, sans encourir de pénalités.

- 29.2 Les départements et les divisions peuvent remplacer les examens finals par une variété de tests écrits et oraux dans les cours qui ne requièrent pas une évaluation au moyen d'un examen final.
- 29.3 Tout travail écrit, y compris les examens, peut être rédigé soit en français, soit en anglais, au choix de l'étudiant, exception faite des cas où l'usage de la langue constitue une part essentielle et intégrante du cours. Les étudiants seront avertis en temps utile de toute clause restrictive que pourrait comporter l'usage de l'une ou l'autre langue.
- 29.4 Les étudiants doivent immédiatement avertir le Bureau des programmes scolaires de tout conflit d'horaire concernant les examens.

Notes finales

- 30. Toutes les notes finales sont calculées sur la base d'une échelle de valeurs établie par le département ou la division intéressé, avec ou sans examens finals (écrits ou oraux). Peu après le début des classes, les professeurs annonceront aux étudiants l'échelle et le système de notes qui s'appliquent au cours.

Révision des notes finales

- 31.1 Les copies d'examens et les travaux de classe des étudiants sont soigneusement évalués, particulièrement dans les cas douteux et il est peu probable qu'une révision ait lieu en appel. Un étudiant peut toutefois en faire la demande par écrit au directeur du département ou de la division offrant le cours, dans les trois semaines qui suivent la publication des notes finales de tout trimestre. Il doit indiquer sans ambiguïté les raisons pour lesquelles il pense que son travail mérite une meilleure note.
- 31.2 Les révisions sont du ressort du directeur du département ou du cours, en consultation avec les membres du corps enseignant. L'étudiant sera avisé des résultats de la révision dans les trois semaines qui suivent sa demande.

Probation scolaire

- 32.1 Le dossier de tout étudiant est revu à la fin de chaque année d'études.
- 32.2 La probation est imposée à l'étudiant qui : a) est admis avec des notes basses ; b) n'atteint pas la moyenne cumulative requise pour son niveau.
- 32.3 Le régime de probation sera levé quand il aura obtenu la moyenne cumulative requise pour son niveau.
- 32.4 Il peut continuer ses études en probation, dans le programme de baccalauréat, à la condition de maintenir une moyenne de 4,4 dans les cours suivis, même si sa moyenne cumulative est inférieure au minimum nécessaire pour sortir du régime de la probation.
- 32.5 De même, il peut continuer ses études en probation dans le programme de baccalauréat spécialisé, à la condition de maintenir une moyenne de 6.00 dans les cours suivis sous ce régime.
- 32.6 Il est renvoyé définitivement s'il ne remplit pas les conditions 32.3 ou 32.4 ci-dessus.
- 32.7 Un étudiant qui n'atteint pas la moyenne cumulative requise pour son niveau, et dont la moyenne n'atteint pas 3.00 pour l'année en cours, aura échoué à cette année et ne pourra obtenir de crédits pour aucun des cours suivis pendant cette année. Ses notes figureront dans son dossier mais n'entreront pas dans le calcul de sa moyenne cumulative. S'il veut continuer ses études à Glendon, il doit faire une nouvelle demande d'admission et s'il est accepté il se verra imposer le régime de probation.

- 32.8 Un étudiant qui n'est pas renvoyé peut faire une pétition avant la date limite pour son inscription à la session scolaire suivante en vue de faire classer sa dernière année (ou l'équivalent) selon le règlement 32.6, et il sera alors soumis au règlement 32.3 ou 32.4.
- 32.9 Un étudiant en probation ne peut pas suivre plus de 30 crédits pendant une session scolaire.
- 32.10 Un étudiant en probation qui n'atteint pas à la fin du premier trimestre une moyenne de plus de 3.00 (D+) est tenu de discuter son cas avec son conseiller scolaire.

Renvoi

- 33.1 Un étudiant placé sous le régime de probation sera renvoyé de l'Université s'il ne satisfait pas aux exigences du règlement 32.3 ou 32.4.
- 33.2 Un étudiant renvoyé, soit de cette Université, soit d'une autre, ne sera réadmis à une autre session qu'à la condition de démontrer de façon convaincante qu'il pourra tirer profit d'études universitaires. Les demandes de réadmission ne seront pas prises en considération avant deux ans à partir de la date du renvoi.

Dispositions spéciales en cas de maladie ou de malchance

- 34. Les étudiants qui subissent au cours de la session scolaire des épreuves inattendues les empêchant d'accomplir le travail requis à temps peuvent demander une considération spéciale. Les cas suivants sont reconnus : 1) maladie, 2) malchance personnelle, 3) difficultés financières inattendues, 4) malchance scolaire (impossibilité inattendue d'obtenir le matériel de recherche nécessaire, ou preuve d'une erreur imputable à l'institution). Un étudiant, avec pièces à l'appui, peut présenter une pétition au Bureau des programmes scolaires pour obtenir :
 - 34.1 l'abandon sans sanction d'un ou plusieurs cours. Normalement, les pétitions en vue d'un abandon d'un cours après la date limite d'abandon seront traitées si elles sont soumises durant les trois semaines suivant l'envoi des notes finales de tout trimestre. De telles pétitions pourraient être traitées jusqu'à un an après la fin du cours dans des cas spéciaux.
 - 34.2 la cote différée pour un ou plusieurs cours pour le travail à faire pendant la période couverte par la pétition.
 - 34.3 la cote "aegrotat" dans un ou plusieurs cours. La cote "aegrotat" ne sera accordée qu'une fois, en général en dernière année, à moins de cas exceptionnel. Pour tout renseignement concernant les dates limites, veuillez contacter le Bureau des programmes scolaires.

Atteinte à l'honneur universitaire

35.1) Définitions

Veuillez consulter les définitions contenues dans le livret des règlements du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire. Pour plus de renseignements, contacter le Bureau des programmes scolaires, C102 pavillon York.

35.2 Règlements

Veuillez consulter les définitions contenues dans le Règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire, dans la section "Politiques et règlements".

Remarque : Une fois que les procédures indiquées dans les sections B et D ont été entamées, un étudiant accusé d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire dans un cours ne peut plus abandonner le cours en question ni faire annuler son inscription tant qu'une décision n'a pas été prise sur son cas. Les demandes de relevé de notes effectuées alors qu'une procédure est en cours seront traitées selon les règlements du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire. Un étudiant suspendu et qui serait par ailleurs en position de recevoir son diplôme ne pourra pas demander à le recevoir tant que la suspension n'aura pas expiré ou n'aura pas été levée.

- A. Si, selon l'avis raisonnable de l'enseignant, le cas peut être réglé sans formalité, l'enseignant et l'étudiant en cause doivent s'entendre sur les mesures adoptées. Dans tous les cas, un document signé du professeur et de l'étudiant, précisant les mesures adoptées pour remédier à la situation et les raisons qui les ont motivées doit être envoyé au Bureau des programmes scolaires. Ce document est strictement confidentiel et ne peut être cité que dans le cas d'une infraction subséquente à l'honneur universitaire et uniquement au moment de décider de la sanction à adopter.

OU

- B. Les cas dans lesquels l'enseignant décide qu'il y a matière à allégation de plagiat, de tricherie ou d'une autre forme d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire seront traités de la façon suivante :

Étape 1

L'enseignant doit fournir au directeur de son département ou programme un résumé écrit donnant tous les renseignements nécessaires sur l'incident ainsi que les pièces pertinentes, soit :

- les documents confisqués, dans les cas de tricherie pendant un examen ;
- le travail incriminé, ainsi que les sources et livres que l'étudiant est soupçonné d'avoir copiés dans les cas de plagiat.

Étape 2

Une fois que l'étape B.1. est enclenchée, l'étudiant ne peut plus abandonner le cours en question ou être enlevé du cours tant qu'une décision n'a pas été rendue sur son cas.

Étape 3

Le directeur du département doit convoquer à une réunion l'étudiant, l'enseignant et le/la principal(e) adjoint(e), recrutement et affaires étudiantes (ou son délégué) qui agit comme tierce partie neutre. Pour ce faire, il passe par le responsable des programmes scolaires qui informe, par lettre recommandée, l'étudiant de la réunion, avec un préavis d'au moins 7 jours civils. Une copie de la lettre est versée dans le dossier scolaire de l'étudiant. La lettre doit indiquer :

- a) la date, le lieu et l'heure de la réunion,
- b) le motif de la réunion,
- c) que l'étudiant peut être accompagné par un délégué à cette réunion.

Étape 4

À la réunion avec l'étudiant, l'enseignant doit :

- a) présenter l'infraction que l'étudiant est censé avoir commise,
- b) demander à l'étudiant de répondre à cette allégation.

Étape 5

a. PAS D'INFRACTION

Si, à la suite de la réunion, le directeur et l'enseignant sont convaincus qu'il n'y a pas eu d'infraction à l'honneur universitaire, le directeur informe par écrit l'étudiant de la décision. Toutes les preuves soumises sont alors détruites et aucune mention de l'incident n'est conservée dans le dossier scolaire de l'étudiant.

OU

b. INFRACTION

Si, à la suite de la réunion, le directeur et l'enseignant sont d'avis qu'il y a suffisamment de preuves qu'il y a eu infraction à l'honneur universitaire, le directeur demande à l'étudiant s'il désire plaider coupable ou non coupable.

Étape 6

PLAIDOYER

a. Plaidoyer de culpabilité

Si l'étudiant plaide coupable d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire :

- le directeur prépare un document qui devra être signé par l'étudiant et l'enseignant, en présence du/de la principal(e) adjoint(e), recrutement et affaires étudiantes (ou de son délégué), indiquant la nature de l'infraction, la sanction acceptée par l'étudiant et l'enseignant (sanction maximale : échec au travail, au test ou à l'examen en cause) et l'aveu de la faute de la part de l'étudiant. [Si l'enseignant désire appliquer une sanction plus sévère, une audience doit être fixée devant le Comité des normes académiques et pédagogiques (CNAP) ; voir en 7. ci-dessous.]

REMARQUES

Les sanctions suivantes peuvent être imposées seules ou combinées, mais seules les sanctions indiquées en a, b, et c peuvent faire l'objet d'une recommandation adoptées conjointement par l'étudiant et le professeur.

- a) avertissement oral ou écrit ou réprimande ;
- b) obligation de refaire le devoir ou l'examen ;
- c) diminution de la note reçue ou note d'échec au devoir ou à l'examen ;
- d) échec au cours ;
- e) suspension de l'Université pour une période définie ;
- f) inscription dans le relevé de notes ;
- g) non-délivrance ou annulation du diplôme ou certificat de York.

Les sanctions suivantes peuvent être imposées seules ou combinées, mais seules les sanctions indiquées en a, b, et c peuvent faire l'objet d'une recommandation adoptée conjointement par l'étudiant et le professeur.

- Le directeur envoie une copie signée de cette lettre ainsi que des documents indiqués dans B.1. ci-dessus aux deux destinataires suivants :
 - i) CNAP pour examen ;
 - ii) Bureau des programmes scolaires pour insertion dans le dossier scolaire de l'étudiant. (N.B. : ce dossier scolaire est pour usage interne seulement.)

Si l'un des partis refuse de signer le document, le CNAP doit convoquer une audience.

b. Plaidoyer de non culpabilité - préparation à l'audience

Une audience doit être fixée si l'étudiant plaide non coupable d'atteinte à l'honneur universitaire, ou si l'enseignant demande une sanction plus sévère que la sanction maximale prévue, à savoir échec au travail, au test ou à l'examen en cause, ou si le CNAP n'approuve pas la recommandation conjointe de sanction. L'enseignant soumet au secrétaire du CNAP un rapport indiquant :

- l'infraction prétendue et les circonstances qui l'entourent
- le compte rendu de la réunion avec l'étudiant
- tous les documents pertinents.

Le secrétaire du CNAP fixe une audience qui se tiendra en présence des membres du comité. L'étudiant doit être informé de l'audience par lettre recommandée avec un préavis d'au moins 21 jours civils et une copie de la lettre de convocation est envoyée au directeur du département, à l'enseignant, au principal et à tous les membres du CNAP. L'étudiant doit également recevoir par écrit le texte de l'accusation, un exemplaire des règlements et procédures en vigueur, copie de tous les documents soumis par l'enseignant. Il doit aussi être informé qu'il peut être accompagné d'un représentant et qu'il peut convoquer des témoins. L'étudiant peut renvoyer une réponse écrite.

Étape 7

AUDIENCE

Une audience doit être tenue en présence du CNAP pour instruire la plainte. Pendant l'audience, le principal (ou son délégué) agit en tant que présentateur. L'audience doit être instruite selon l'ordonnance fixée par le règlement du Sénat sur l'honneur universitaire.

Étape 8

Si l'étudiant est trouvé coupable, le CNAP doit délibérer pour proposer la sanction qu'il juge appropriée.

Étape 9

Le secrétaire du comité doit informer l'étudiant par lettre recommandée de la décision du comité, et, dans le cas d'un verdict de culpabilité, des procédures d'appel. Une copie de la lettre est également envoyée au département concerné et au Bureau des programmes scolaires.

Une mention permanente de l'infraction est inscrite dans le dossier scolaire de l'étudiant. Ce dossier est pour usage scolaire interne seulement.

Étape 10

PROCÉDURES D'APPEL

On peut faire appel de la décision du comité auprès du Comité d'appel du Sénat soit sur la foi de nouvelles preuves (c.-à-d. de preuves qui n'avaient pas pu être présentées au niveau de la faculté), soit pour des raisons d'irrégularité de procédure dans l'examen du cas par la faculté.

Études à temps partiel

Les études à temps partiel conviennent tout particulièrement aux étudiants qui désirent combiner des études universitaires avec un emploi ou des responsabilités d'ordre personnel. Ce genre d'études sert aussi de tremplin pour faciliter la transition à ceux qui ont arrêté leurs études pendant plusieurs années et désirent savoir ce qu'ils peuvent faire à l'université avant de s'engager dans un programme complet.

Un des avantages des études à temps partiel offertes le jour à Glendon réside dans la possibilité de suivre des cours regroupés un seul jour par semaine. Cela permet de passer moins de temps à se déplacer et d'organiser son emploi du temps en fonction des autres engagements en dehors de l'université.

Environ un tiers des étudiants de Glendon sont inscrits comme étudiants à temps partiel et suivent de 6 à 15 crédits par session. Ils ont droit aux mêmes avantages et privilèges que les étudiants à plein temps en ce qui concerne le choix des cours, l'accès aux installations et la participation à la vie du campus, et ils sont soumis aux mêmes règlements.

Exigences académiques pour étudiants libres

Les candidats qui souhaitent s'inscrire à des cours à crédit de premier cycle, mais qui n'ont pas l'intention de préparer le crédit en question, peuvent être admis à l'Université York en tant qu'étudiants libres (pour plus de précisions, voir la partie Admissions de cet Annuaire). Il existe trois catégories d'étudiants libres :

- ceux qui possèdent un diplôme de premier cycle (au minimum baccalauréat de trois ans) dispensé par une université ou un établissement universitaire agréé ;
- ceux et celles qui ne possèdent pas de diplôme de premier cycle mais souhaitent s'inscrire à des cours de l'Université York afin de répondre aux exigences d'une catégorie professionnelle en matière d'études, de recyclage ou de perfectionnement professionnel ;
- ceux et celles qui fréquentent actuellement une université reconnue et souhaitent suivre des cours à York avec une lettre de permission délivrée par leur université.

Moyenne cumulative

Les étudiants des catégories a) et b), dont la moyenne cumulative générale tombe en dessous de 4.00 pour au moins 24 crédits préparés, ne pourront pas s'inscrire en tant qu'étudiants libres à une session ultérieure. Les étudiants qui ne sont pas autorisés à se réinscrire doivent faire une nouvelle demande au Bureau des admissions.

Remarque : Les règlements concernant les cours redoublés ne s'appliquent pas aux étudiants libres, mais uniquement à ceux qui préparent un diplôme ou un certificat universitaire. Tous les cours suivis, de façon complète ou incomplète, compteront donc dans la moyenne cumulative.

Limites de crédits

Les étudiants de la catégorie b) ayant obtenu une moyenne cumulative de 4.00 durant toutes leurs études et qui ont obtenu 30 crédits ne seront pas autorisés à s'inscrire à des sessions ultérieures et doivent soit réactiver leur dossier pour continuer en tant qu'étudiants libres soit choisir de faire une demande d'admission pour préparer un diplôme ou un certificat.

Renseignements généraux

Service de recrutement et de liaison

Le Service de recrutement et de liaison est le premier contact avec le campus pour la promotion de Glendon, obtenir de l'information au sujet de l'admission, l'organisation des activités portes-ouvertes etc. De plus, le bureau s'occupe de la production du matériel promotionnel, participe à des foires de carrière, crée des partenariats avec des écoles secondaires, soutient des activités spéciales dont certaines de langue française, et visite des écoles secondaires et des collèges à travers le Canada et le monde.

Bibliothèque

La collection de la bibliothèque Leslie Frost compte environ 250,000 monographies, 18,000 abonnements (sur papier ou support électronique) et 20,000 documents gouvernementaux. Cette collection reflète la nature bilingue de Glendon. Récemment nous avons commencé une collection hispanique pour appuyer les cours de plus en plus nombreux en espagnol. Au début de chaque trimestre, les nouveaux étudiants sont invités à participer à des cours de formation documentaire dans le but de les familiariser avec l'organisation des ressources de la bibliothèque et de ses règlements. Tout étudiant et professeur du collège a automatiquement accès à la collection entière de York, la troisième plus grande bibliothèque universitaire du pays. Les articles peuvent être transférés d'un campus à l'autre en 24 heures.

Librairie

La librairie est située dans le Pavillon York. Elle vend tous les livres exigés et la plupart des livres recommandés dans les cours. La librairie vend aussi une grande sélection de livres usagés. Les livres sont vendus au prix suggéré par la maison d'édition ou de distribution canadienne. Les livres qui ne se trouvent pas en rayon peuvent être commandés spécialement. La librairie vend également de la papeterie et des articles divers. La librairie de Glendon a accès au fonds important de la librairie du campus York.

La Galerie Glendon

La Galerie Glendon est une galerie publique située sur le campus de Glendon. Elle se spécialise dans l'art contemporain et offre un programme d'expositions mensuelles de septembre à mai. Sa mission est d'ordre éducatif. Outre son programme d'expositions, la Galerie Glendon offre de la documentation en français et en anglais, ainsi que des visites guidées et des causeries données par des artistes et des commissaires d'expositions. Pour de plus amples renseignements, s'adresser à la galerie ou téléphoner au 416-487-6721 ou 416-487-6859 ou consulter le site web : <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/gallery/>.

Théâtre Glendon

Le Théâtre Glendon, situé dans le pavillon York, est un lieu de représentations théâtrales complètement équipé et qui a son propre équipe de production professionnelle. Le Théâtre présente tout au long de l'année des productions étudiantes ainsi que des pièces de théâtre professionnelles. Pour de plus amples renseignements, s'adresser au théâtre au 416-487-6722.

Résidences

Le Collège Glendon dispose de deux résidences, les résidences Wood et Hilliard qui peuvent loger 401 étudiants dans des chambres simples ou doubles, ou de petites chambres simples meublées. Il y a une grande proportion de chambres simples à la disposition des étudiants de tous les niveaux.

Chaque résidence est divisée en "maisons" de 30 à 45 étudiants. Certaines maisons sont réservées exclusivement aux femmes, d'autres sont mixtes. Il faut noter que tous les services communs d'une maison, y compris les toilettes, sont partagés par tous les résidents.

Il y a de la moquette dans chaque chambre, et le mobilier comprend lit, bureau, commode, penderie, étagères, fauteuils, rideaux et un panier de recyclage. La literie est disponible sur demande à un prix raisonnable. Les étudiants peuvent apporter à leur chambre une touche personnelle en ajoutant affiches, tableaux, plantes vertes, à leur goût. Par manque d'espace d'entreposage, tout le mobilier fourni par l'université doit demeurer dans les chambres. Pour la sécurité des étudiants, il est important de savoir qu'il est interdit de cuisiner dans les chambres, d'y garder un animal, d'avoir un matelas d'eau ou un climatiseur parmi d'autres politiques de résidence.

Il existe dans les résidences des cuisines qui sont à la disposition d'un nombre limité d'étudiants avancés. La majorité des étudiants prennent leur repas à la Cafétéria Glendon, ou au restaurant au pavillon Proctor. Pour plus de détails, veuillez vous référer à la section "Les divers plans-repas". Chaque maison est équipée d'une salle commune avec télévision. Les étudiants ont aussi accès à des aspirateurs, fers à repasser, magnétoscopes, lecteur DVD, équipements de ping-pong et de billard et salle d'études. Chaque chambre de résidence a une ligne téléphonique de York Telecomm, la téléphone est équipé d'une boîte vocale et un service d'afficheur. Une buanderie automatique se trouve au sous-sol de chaque résidence.

Les demandes de résidence doivent être faites auprès du Bureau des résidences et affaires étudiantes de Glendon, tél. 416-487-6844. Dans les pavillons résidentiels, une équipe de professionnels incluant les administrateurs, la coordinatrice de la vie en résidence, les assistant-responsables de la vie en résidence, les portiers de nuit et le personnel d'entretien s'efforce d'enrichir l'expérience de vie en résidence alors que dans chaque maison, les Dons agissent comme personnes-ressources et aident à promouvoir un sens de vie communautaire en résidence. Lorsqu'on habite en résidence, on est au centre de la vie sociale, culturelle, sportive et universitaire du campus. L'environnement bilingue permet d'approfondir sa connaissance des deux langues officielles du Canada dans une ambiance amicale et chaleureuse. Toutes suggestions et commentaires sont discutés au Conseil des résidences qui est composé d'étudiants demeurant en résidence.

Les étudiants et les visiteurs peuvent aussi loger en résidence pendant l'été.

Il existe également un nombre limité de chambres disponibles aux parents, amis et connaissances pendant l'année scolaire.

Les divers plans-repas

Tous les étudiants qui habitent en résidence doivent souscrire à un plan-repas. Ce plan permet à chaque étudiant de conserver sa propre responsabilité dans le choix de son alimentation en fonction de ses besoins et des plats disponibles.

Les frais de résidence comprennent l'achat d'un plan-repas. Une carte-débit est remise à chaque résident, selon le plan auquel il a souscrit, et peut être utilisée pour acheter de la nourriture et des boissons non alcoolisées dans tous les points de vente de nourriture sous le contrôle de l'université. À Glendon, ces points de vente sont la Cafétéria Glendon, Mr Sub et le restaurant au pavillon Proctor. Le système de carte-débit permet choix et flexibilité, et permet aussi de dépenser la somme qu'on veut pour chaque repas. Toutes les suggestions et commentaires sont discutés au Comité de services de restauration qui est composé d'étudiants demeurant en résidence.

Il est très improbable que le montant du plan-repas inclus dans les frais de résidence suffise à couvrir tous les repas au Collège pendant huit mois, à moins qu'on soit un petit mangeur ou qu'on prenne beaucoup de repas hors du campus. La plupart des étudiants auront donc à compléter leur plan-repas.

Frais de résidence

Les frais de résidence pour l'année scolaire 2008-2009 sont les suivants et peuvent changer pour l'année scolaire 2009-2010 :

Type de chambre	Double	Petit simple	Simple	Grand simple
Tarif	$4,088	$4,411	$4,689	$4,910

Sports

Le Club athlétique de Glendon est situé à l'intérieur du pavillon Proctor, sur le niveau inférieur du campus. Parmi les installations du Club, on y retrouve une piscine intérieure d'une longueur de 25 mètres, un gymnase, une salle pour les exercices en groupe, une salle de musculation, des appareils de culture physique de type Lifefitness, des appareils cardio vasculaires à la fine pointe de la technologie, quatre terrains de squash de type international, un studio Spinning® ainsi qu'un terrain d'exercice intérieur pour le golf. Notre Bistro vous offre une sélection de repas santé ainsi que plusieurs boissons spécialisées. À l'extérieur, on trouve un terrain de soccer, trois terrains de tennis, un terrain de baseball ainsi qu'un terrain de cricket. De plus, des services de santé et de bien-être sont disponibles tels que : physiothérapie, massothérapie, chiropractie et conseil alimentaire et ce à des frais supplémentaires. Des vestiaires et des casiers sont également mis à votre disposition.

Si vous êtes étudiant de Glendon, les coûts reliés à l'utilisation des installations et à la participation aux cours offerts sont inclus dans vos frais de scolarité. Toutefois, certains services et programmes comme les services d'un entraîneur personnel, les séances Spinning®, les leçons de tennis ou de squash, les cours de natation ou ceux des Maîtres Nageurs du Canada, les cours de karaté, de hip hop, sont offerts à des prix réduits. Pour de plus amples renseignements concernant le Club athlétique de Glendon, composez le 416-487-6717. Vous pouvez également visiter notre site Web à l'adresse suivante : <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/gac/>.

Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle

Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle (CCPOP) offre une vaste gamme de services bilingues de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle. Pour prendre rendez-vous, il suffit de passer au Centre situé dans la salle E103 du manoir Glendon ou de téléphoner au 416-487-6709.

Consultation psychologique : Les étudiants qui s'adressent au CCPOP le font pour toutes sortes de raisons et de problèmes. Parmi les difficultés courantes que connaissent les étudiants à l'université, citons notamment l'éloignement pour la première fois du foyer familial, la pression exercée par le travail, l'établissement de nouvelles relations, et l'incertitude qui plane sur les objectifs et l'identité. Au Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle, les étudiants trouvent des conseillers qui, grâce à leur formation professionnelle, sont capables de les écouter et de les aider à y voir clair. Toutes les questions abordées au Centre sont tenues strictement confidentielles.

Orientation professionnelle : La question du choix de la carrière est un très grand sujet d'inquiétude pour tout un chacun. Certains étudiants peuvent avoir des objectifs très clairs pour leur carrière, mais la majorité ne savent même pas dans quelle direction aller. Le CCPOP organise des séances individuelles ou de groupe axées sur l'orientation professionnelle afin d'aider les étudiants à préciser leurs intérêts, à déterminer leurs compétences et à définir leurs valeurs. On organise aussi des tests portant sur les intérêts qui permettent de planifier sa carrière. Il y a en outre pendant toute l'année des journées d'information sur les professions et des Foires aux emplois.

Programme de groupe : Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle organise des ateliers sur divers sujets, notamment : comment éviter la procrastination, gestion du stress, aptitude à communiquer, prise de confiance, savoir se relaxer, choix de carrière, stratégies de recherche d'emploi, rédaction du C.V. et préparation aux entretiens d'embauche. On a en outre un groupe de soutien pour les étudiants qui ont interrompu leurs études un certain temps.

Aptitude aux études : Les étudiants manquent souvent de méthode rigoureuse pour mener leurs études à bien et ils se sentent alors complètement dépassés. Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle organise tout au long de l'année des ateliers sur les compétences à acquérir pour faire des études, notamment savoir gérer son temps, prendre des notes, lire un manuel ou connaître les stratégies de préparation aux examens. Il est également possible de prendre un rendez-vous personnel avec un conseiller ou une conseillère pour examiner des problèmes particuliers à ce sujet.

Services aux étudiants handicapés : Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle a un programme intégré de soutien pour les étudiants handicapés. Le programme offre de la consultation psychologique dans le domaine personnel, de l'emploi et des aptitudes aux études. Il comprend aussi un programme de tuteurs et des technologies d'adaptation. De concert avec les membres du corps enseignant, le Centre prend les dispositions nécessaires pour les évaluations et les examens.

Centre de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel : Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle agit à titre d'intermédiaire avec le Centre d'information et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel situé au campus de Keele.

Programme pour les troubles d'apprentissage : Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle a un programme intégré de soutien et de formation qui s'adresse aux étudiants ayant des troubles d'apprentissage. Le programme offre de la consultation psychologique dans le domaine personnel, de l'emploi et des aptitudes aux études. Il comprend aussi un programme de tuteurs et des technologies d'adaptation. De concert avec les membres du corps enseignant, le Centre prend les dispositions nécessaires pour les évaluations et les examens.

Centre de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel : Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle agit à titre d'intermédiaire avec le Centre d'information et de plaintes sur le harcèlement sexuel situé au campus de Keele.

Étudiants ayant un handicap

Le Centre de consultation psychologique et d'orientation professionnelle, 416-487-6709, en collaboration avec le Coordinateur du Centre de York pour les personnes ayant un handicap (416-736-5140), agit à titre de bureau de coordination pour les étudiants de Glendon ayant un handicap. La plupart des bâtiments de Glendon sont accessibles aux personnes handicapées. Il est cependant recommandé aux étudiants ayant un handicap qui souhaitent faire des études à Glendon ou vivre en résidence de se mettre en relation avec les bureaux susmentionnés pour examiner leur situation particulière.

L'Atelier de rédaction universitaire

L'Atelier de rédaction universitaire est un programme gratuit qui aide les étudiants à améliorer de façon rapide et importante leurs travaux.

Sept ateliers (regroupés en trois séries) d'une heure chacun font le tour des grands enjeux de la rédaction universitaire. La première série d'ateliers aborde les travaux universitaires : quelles sont les spécificités des travaux demandés à l'université? De quelle façon peut-on mieux se préparer et mieux étudier pour ses examens? Comment faire des présentations orales stimulantes? La deuxième série vise à parfaire la construction et la structure de la phrase, des paragraphes et des textes. La troisième et dernière série d'ateliers propose l'élaboration d'une méthodologie visant à mieux intégrer les citations dans un texte et à présenter adéquatement les références et la bibliographie. Dans cet atelier, il est aussi question des différents moyens offerts aux étudiants pour mieux réviser leurs travaux. Des références supplémentaires sont données lors de chaque séance.

Tous les étudiants sont encouragés à participer, qu'ils ou elles écrivent dans leur langue première ou dans leur langue seconde. Il est possible de s'inscrire à toutes les séries d'ateliers ou seulement à quelques ateliers. On peut également suivre les ateliers dans les deux langues. Après les séances de groupe d'une heure, les étudiants peuvent bénéficier de consultations individuelles pour discuter de leurs travaux en chantier.

Pour de plus amples renseignements et pour s'inscrire aux ateliers, consultez le site de l'Atelier de rédaction sous « Services scolaires » à la page Mon Glendon.

Logement à l'extérieur du campus

Le Bureau des affaires étudiantes organise un service de logement à l'extérieur du campus. On peut envoyer par la poste des listes de logements disponibles aux étudiants pour un coût minime. La liste est aussi disponible sur le Web au <http://www.yorku.ca/scld/offcampushousing/>. Durant l'année scolaire, toute annonce nouvelle est affichée sur les panneaux d'affichage. Pour de plus amples informations, le numéro de téléphone est le suivant : 416-487-6844.

Étudiants internationaux

Le Bureau des Affaires étudiantes 416-487-6844, en collaboration avec York International 416-736-5177, offre aux étudiants internationaux de Glendon tous les renseignements nécessaires pour faciliter leurs études. Les étudiants peuvent contacter ces deux bureaux pour répondre à leurs questions, entendre leurs suggestions et résoudre certains de leurs problèmes. En cas de besoin, des étudiants internationaux qui ont déjà une expérience de la vie au Canada peuvent aider les nouveaux venus à s'adapter.

Service de Navette Glendon-Keele

Le Service des transports de l'Université York offre aux membres de la communauté un service de navette Glendon-Keele. Pour de plus amples renseignements sur ce service gratuit, veuillez contacter le Service des transports.

Stationnement Glendon

Nous tenons à la disposition de tous les membres de Glendon un nombre limité de permis de stationnement, qui seront distribués par ordre d'arrivée des demandeurs. Si vous souhaitez acheter un permis et éviter les files d'attente, nous vous encourageons à vous y prendre tôt.

La demande doit être remplie en totalité. Les demandes incomplètes seront retournées, ce qui entraînera des retards inutiles. La présentation d'une preuve valide de propriété ou d'immatriculation du véhicule est nécessaire pour l'achat d'un permis (la photocopie du recto et du verso du certificat d'immatriculation suffira pour les personnes qui envoient leur demande par la poste ou la déposent dans une boîte).

Les permis ne seront pas délivrés aux personnes ayant des contraventions de stationnement impayées. Pour plus de précisions à ce sujet, appelez le 416-736-5705 pour le campus de Keele, et le 416-487-6788 pour le campus Glendon et demandez à parler à l'agent responsable des contraventions.

Nous acceptons les espèces, les chèques, les cartes de débit et les cartes de crédit (Visa, Mastercard et AMEX). Pour éviter les files d'attente ou la nécessité de se présenter personnellement, les demandes peuvent se faire par la poste.

Les personnes renouvelant leur permis peuvent le faire en ligne. Pour plus de précisions, consultez notre site Internet <http://www.yorku.ca/parking/>.

Voici l'adresse des services de stationnement et de transport pour les deux campus. Un personnel amical et dûment formé se fera un plaisir de vous servir.

Sécurité Glendon

Nous assurons la sécurité : Les Services de sécurité, de stationnement et de transport, installés sur le campus, devraient permettre à l'Université York, dans la mesure du possible, d'anticiper les accidents. La composante Sécurité est active 24 heures sur 24, 365 jours par an ; elle compte des postes à temps plein occupés par un personnel administratif et des spécialistes ainsi que des postes à temps partiel occupés par des étudiants de York. Nous faisons en sorte que les campus du Collège Glendon et de l'Université York soient un environnement sûr pour tous ceux qui constituent notre communauté – étudiants, personnel, professeurs et visiteurs. Fondés sur la notion de résolution des problèmes avec les intéressés eux-mêmes, nos services sont assurés par le biais de programmes d'intervention (liaison entre la sécurité et les résidences universitaires, patrouille des campus par le personnel de sécurité) et de systèmes perfectionnés de sécurité (télévision en circuit fermé et prévention de la criminalité par l'aménagement de l'environnement).

Quand et comment appeler la sécurité : Les services de sécurité fonctionnent 24 heures sur 24, 365 jours par an. On peut les appeler, sans frais, au 416-736-5333 de n'importe quel point-téléphone sur les campus.

Le bureau de la sécurité du campus Glendon se trouve dans le Pavillon des serres.

Les Urgences 911 : Une urgence comprend toute situation présentant un danger immédiat pour des personnes ou des biens ; par exemple, urgence médicale, délit en cours de perpétration, incident à l'intérieur du campus ou incendie.

Faites le 911, puis appelez la Sécurité au poste 33333 ou au 416-736-5333 : Dans une situation d'urgence, il faut également appeler le Centre de contrôle de la sécurité qui accélérera la procédure associée au numéro 911. Sécurité York dépêchera un véhicule d'urgence directement sur les lieux de l'accident de sorte qu'il n'y aura pas de temps perdu à chercher une résidence ou un bâtiment particulier.

Questions urgentes : Poste 33333 ou le 416-736-5333 :

- Témoin de personnes ou de situations suspectes
- Alertes à la bombe
- Vol ou vandalisme en cours
- Premiers secours pour des accidents ne constituant pas un danger de mort
- Dangers potentiels
- Nécessité de résolution d'un conflit
- Incidents motivés par la haine

Questions non urgentes et demandes de services : Poste 58000 ou le 416-650-8000 :

- Accès aux bâtiments ou aux salles
- Inondations ou déversements mineurs
- Vol ou vandalisme déjà commis
- Renseignements généraux sur la sécurité
- Clés perdues ou volées
- Vitres brisées, murs démolis ou graffitis

Pour tout renseignement complémentaire, visitez notre site <http://www.yorku.ca/security/>.

Le Service d'escorte de sécurité étudiante

Sur simple appel de votre part, des agents de la sécurité étudiante iront vous chercher au terrain de stationnement, à l'arrêt de bus, à la porte du bâtiment ou de la résidence et vous accompagneront jusqu'à votre destination sur le campus. Le service d'escorte de sécurité étudiante fonctionne tous les jours, durant toute l'année, aux heures suivantes : septembre à avril 18 h - 2 h et mai à août 20 h - 2 h. Appelez le bureau de la sécurité étudiante, poste 66799 (ou 416-487-6799) durant les heures indiquées ci-dessus.

Objets perdus

Sur le campus de Glendon, prière de s'adresser au bureau des services de sécurité, au pavillon des serres, appelez le 66808 (ou 416-487-6808).

L'Université rejette toute responsabilité en cas de perte d'articles personnels non surveillés laissés dans les bâtiments ou à l'extérieur.

Si vous désirez de plus amples renseignements sur les services de sécurité et de stationnement, consultez notre site Web : <http://www.yorku.ca/csbo/>.

L'association des étudiants

L'Association des étudiants du Collège universitaire Glendon est le porte-parole des étudiants pour les affaires sociales et politiques. Le comité exécutif se compose d'un président, d'un vice-président et de six directeurs (affaires culturelles, affaires bilingues, affaires universitaires, clubs et services, affaires externes, communications) élus en même temps que six conseillers à l'élection du printemps.

Chaque automne, on procède à des élections pour nommer quatre autres conseillers, ainsi que les représentants des étudiants à temps partiel et les représentants des étudiants de première année. L'Association des Anciens de Glendon délègue également un représentant élu.

Les deux principaux objectifs de l'Association des étudiants sont, premièrement, de protéger les intérêts des étudiants en participant aux affaires scolaires et aux affaires étudiantes et, deuxièmement, de promouvoir et de coordonner la participation aux activités culturelles, intellectuelles et sociales (bals, clubs, réunions de cours et conférences). Les trois événements majeurs de l'année sont la semaine d'orientation (début septembre), le banquet de Noël (début décembre), et le carnaval d'hiver (première semaine de février).

N'hésitez pas à nous contacter car, ne l'oublions pas, "solidarité étudiante". Nos bureaux sont situés au 175 pavillon York, face à la cafétéria (tél. 416-487-6720).

Le conseil de la faculté et ses comités

Le Conseil de la Faculté est la plus haute instance académique du Collège universitaire Glendon. Il est constitué de représentants des étudiants, des membres du personnel et du corps professoral. Il se réunit régulièrement pour étudier des questions touchant à la direction et à la planification, à la qualité de l'enseignement, aux pétitions des étudiants, etc.

La plupart des comités du Conseil sont formés d'un nombre égal de professeurs et d'étudiants : aussi bien le comité chargé d'examiner les pétitions des étudiants que celui qui étudie les dossiers des professeurs pour les questions de promotion et de permanence, ainsi que celui traitant du bilinguisme ou celui revoyant toutes les propositions de cours et de programmes. Les étudiants représentent jusqu'à 15% des membres du Conseil de la faculté. Les élections pour siéger au conseil ont lieu en mars.

Site Web : <http://www.glendon.yorku.ca/facultycouncil/>

Clubs et organisations

Il existe sur le campus une grande variété de groupes, structurés ou non, qui se réunissent pour des activités aussi diverses que la poésie ou les débats politiques. Étudiants, professeurs, employés sont les bienvenus dans ces clubs, ou sont invités à en créer d'autres dans les activités qui les intéressent. L'Association des étudiants du collège (AECG) peut servir de centre de renseignements et de base de support.

- 48 credits of core courses;
- 30 credits in business economics or economics.

Specialized Honours iBA

Students must complete at least 78 credits, including:

- 48 credits of core courses;
- 30 credits in business economics or economics.

In addition to the courses required for their major, students must also complete the following requirements:

- at least 12 credits of internationally-oriented courses;
- at least one full term abroad as a full-time student at an institution with which Glendon and/or York has a formal exchange agreement;
- for the iBA bilingual, students must complete at least 18 credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language (FRLS) and/or in English as a second language (ENSL);
 - b) courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement.
- for the iBA trilingual, in addition to the above 18 credits in English and French, students must complete 18 credits in Hispanic studies including GL/SP 2610 6.00 or another advanced-level course (six credits) in Hispanic studies or in a modern language offered by York University, including an advanced-level course in the chosen language.

Courses taken to fulfill the major requirements may also be used to fulfill the above iBA requirements.

Education/Sciences de l'éducation

Note: in addition to the following information on the BEd program and Glendon, full statements on the Faculty of Education appear in the Faculty of Education section.

Avis : En plus des renseignements suivants portant sur le programme de BEd à Glendon, on trouvera dans la page de cet Annuaire une description complète de la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation.

Coregistration in the Faculty of Education and the Glendon Campus

The Faculty of Education offers concurrent undergraduate programs on the Keele campus for students simultaneously enrolled in other undergraduate Faculties (including Glendon) leading to the bachelor of education degree (BEd). Generally, students are coregistered over a period of three years during which they take 30 credits in the Faculty of Education to earn the BEd degree.

The Faculty also offers a full- and part-time consecutive undergraduate program (BEd) at several on and off-campus sites (including Glendon) for prospective teachers who have already graduated or are about to graduate, in another discipline.

Students interested in the Concurrent or Consecutive BEd programs will find complete information on eligibility, procedures, standards and other relevant matters in the Faculty of Education section.

Co-inscription à la Faculté des Sciences de l'éducation

La Faculté des Sciences de l'éducation offre des programmes menant au baccalauréat en Sciences de l'éducation (BEd) au campus de York. Le programme de BEd exige que l'étudiant soit simultanément inscrit à deux programmes de baccalauréat, de façon à suivre l'équivalent du nombre de cours normalement requis pour un programme de BA pendant chaque année. La durée de la période de co-inscription est de trois ans, à la fin de laquelle le candidat aura suivi 30 crédits dans la Faculté des Sciences de l'éducation en vue de l'obtention de son BEd.

La Faculté offre également des programmes à temps plein et à temps partiel (BEd) à plusieurs succursales (Glendon inclus) à l'intention des enseignants potentiels qui détiennent déjà un baccalauréat ou qui sont sur le point de recevoir un baccalauréat, dans une autre discipline.

Les étudiants désirant se co-inscrire à la Faculté des sciences de l'éducation trouveront toutes les informations sur les conditions et les modalités d'inscription, les exigences etc., sous la rubrique de cette faculté dans l'Annuaire combiné.

English

Program Requirements

Foundation Set
GL/EN 1520 6.00
GL/EN 2510 6.00 or (six credits in literature written before 1660 and six credits in literature written between 1660 and 1900)
GL/EN 2605 6.00 or GL/EN 2608 6.00

Students taking a degree in English, whether BA, Honours BA or Honours iBA must complete the 18 credits of the foundation set.

These requirements will normally be satisfied before proceeding to upper-level (third- or fourth-year) courses.

No more than the equivalent of six English as a second language credits, to be taken at the 3000 level, may be counted towards a major or minor in English. For details see below under the Courses in English as a Second Language section.

All students taking a major in the English Department must have their program approved by a faculty member of the department.

Specialized Honours BA

Students must complete 60 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- a) six credits in pre-1660 literature (selected from GL/EN 3210 6.00, GL/EN 3220 6.00, GL/EN 3605 6.00, GL/EN 3620 6.00, GL/EN 3625 3.00, GL/EN 3630 3.00, GL/EN 4625 3.00, GL/EN 4625 6.00, GL/EN 4680 3.00, GL/EN 4680 6.00, GL/EN 4681 3.00, GL/EN 4681 6.00);
- b) six credits in literature written between 1660 and 1900 (selected from GL/EN 2580 6.00, GL/EN 3230 6.00, GL/EN 3330 6.00, GL/EN 3470 6.00).

For both a) and b) students may select from GL/EN 4010 3.00/GL/EN 4010 6.00, GL/EN 4100 3.00/GL/EN 4100 6.00, GL/EN 4250 3.00/GL/EN 4250 6.00 depending on the subjects covered.

Specialized Honours iBA

Students must complete 60 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- a) six credits in pre-1660 literature (selected from GL/EN 3210 6.00, GL/EN 3220 6.00, GL/EN 3605 6.00, GL/EN 3620 6.00, GL/EN 3625 3.00, GL/EN 3630 3.00, GL/EN 4625 3.00, GL/EN 4625 6.00, GL/EN 4680 3.00, GL/EN 4680 6.00, GL/EN 4681 3.00, GL/EN 4681 6.00);
- b) six credits in literature written between 1660 and 1900 (selected from GL/EN 2580 6.00, GL/EN 3230 6.00, GL/EN 3330 6.00, GL/EN 3470 6.00).

For both a) and b) students may select from GL/EN 4010 3.00/GL/EN 4010 6.00, GL/EN 4100 3.00/GL/EN 4100 6.00, GL/EN 4250 3.00/GL/EN 4250 6.00 depending on the subjects covered.

In addition to the courses required for their major, students must also complete the following requirements:

- at least 12 credits of internationally-oriented courses;
- at least one full term abroad as a full-time student at an institution with which Glendon and/or York has a formal exchange agreement;
- for the iBA bilingual, students must complete at least 18 credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language (FRLS) and/or in English as a second language (ENSL);

b) courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement.

- for the iBA trilingual, in addition to the above 18 credits in English and French, students must complete 18 credits in Hispanic studies including GL/SP 2610 6.00 or another advanced-level course (six credits) in Hispanic studies or in a modern language offered by York University, including an advanced-level course in the chosen language.

Courses taken to fulfill the major requirements may also be used to fulfill the above iBA requirements.

General Honours BA

Students must complete 42 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Honours iBA

Students must complete 42 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

In addition to the courses required for their major, students must also complete the following requirements:

- at least 12 credits of internationally-oriented courses;
- at least one full term abroad as a full-time student at an institution with which Glendon and/or York has a formal exchange agreement;
- for the iBA bilingual, students must complete at least 18 credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language (FRLS) and/or in English as a second language (ENSL);
 - b) courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement.
- for the iBA trilingual, in addition to the above 18 credits in English and French, students must complete 18 credits in Hispanic studies including GL/SP 2610 6.00 or another advanced-level course (six credits) in Hispanic studies or in a modern language offered by York University, including an advanced-level course in the chosen language.

Courses taken to fulfill the major requirements may also be used to fulfill the above iBA requirements.

Honours Double Major BA

The Honours BA program described above may be pursued jointly with any other Honours BA degree program offered at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours BA programs.

Students must complete 42 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Honours Double Major iBA

The Honours iBA program described above may be pursued jointly with any other Honours iBA degree program offered at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours iBA programs.

Combined Honours BA

The Honours BA program in English described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor BA program at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours Minor programs.

Major in English

Students must complete 42 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Minor in English

Students must complete 24 credits in English chosen in consultation with the Department.

Honours Major/Minor iBA

The Honours iBA program in English described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor iBA program at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours iBA programs.

Bachelor of Arts

Students must complete 30 credits in English, including:

- 18 credits of the foundation set;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

English as a Second Language

Students wishing or required to take English as a second language (ENSL) courses must meet with an adviser in ENSL before enrolling. Native users of English are not eligible to enrol in ENSL courses except under special circumstances (e.g. English as a second dialect) and with the permission of the director of the ENSL program. Advanced students at the 3000 level normally take a minimum of three ENSL credits and a maximum of 12 ENSL credits.

ENSL in the English major: no more than six ENSL credits, to be taken at the 3000 level, may be counted towards a major in English. These ENSL credits may be counted as part of the 3000- and/or 4000-level requirement in the BA degree program but not in the Honours BA.

Certificate Program in the Discipline of Teaching English as an International Language (D-TEIL)

The English Department offers a Certificate in the Discipline of Teaching English as an International Language.

Admission Requirements

Candidates must:

Certificat en rédaction professionnelle

Le Certificat en rédaction professionnelle du Département d'études françaises vise à former des rédacteurs et des rédactrices polyvalents, qui puissent être reconnus comme rédacteurs professionnels. À ce titre, il vise autant les personnes déjà engagées dans des activités professionnelles où la rédaction occupe une place importante, que des étudiants désirant se diriger vers ce secteur d'activités.

Conditions d'admission

1. Conditions générales

Avoir terminé une année d'université ou posséder une expérience professionnelle d'au moins deux ans dans un domaine pertinent (tout domaine dans lequel l'écriture occupe une place importante).

Les candidats internes doivent être admissibles à un diplôme de baccalauréat ès arts spécialisé et avoir conservé une moyenne de 5.00 (C+) pendant leurs études à l'Université York. Les candidats externes doivent remplir les conditions générales d'admission de l'Université York.

2. Compétences langagières

- 1) Être de langue maternelle française ou avoir une compétence équivalente.
- 2) Démontrer une compétence rédactionnelle générale suffisante pour pouvoir suivre avec profit une formation en rédaction professionnelle. Cette compétence sera jugée sur dossier soumis par les candidats au coordonnateur du Certificat. Les candidats internes doivent également avoir été classés au niveau 2000 (ou plus) au test de classement pour francophones.

Le dossier (à déposer au secrétariat du Département d'études françaises) doit comprendre des travaux scolaires ou des échantillons de travaux de rédaction ainsi que tout document que les candidats jugeront pertinent : lettre d'intention, curriculum vitae, etc. En l'absence d'un dossier suffisant, un examen de qualification sera proposé.

- 3) Connaissances informatiques

Maîtriser les fonctions générales du traitement de texte. Être prêt à essayer différents logiciels d'aide à la rédaction, d'édition et de gestion de l'information et de documents.

Exigences du Programme

Le Certificat en rédaction professionnelle compte 30 crédits, répartis comme suit :

Neuf crédits en rédaction générale (cours obligatoires)

Baccalauréat spécialisé avec double majeure

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Histoire est requis, incluant :

- 24 crédits aux niveaux 1000 et 2000 (cours d'introduction) ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000.

Au moins six crédits dans chacun de ces trois groupes : 1. Les Amériques, 2. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde avant 1800, 3. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde depuis 1800.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé avec double majeure

Les étudiants peuvent choisir Histoire dans un programme spécialisé international avec double majeure. Veuillez consulter l'Annuaire de l'Université pour les exigences de la deuxième majeure.

Baccalauréat spécialisé bidisciplinaire

Les étudiants peuvent choisir Histoire dans un programme spécialisé bidisciplinaire soit comme majeure ou mineure. Veuillez consulter l'Annuaire de l'Université pour les exigences de la majeure ou de la mineure.

Majeure en Histoire

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Histoire est requis, incluant :

- 24 crédits aux niveaux 1000 et 2000 (cours d'introduction) ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000.

Au moins six crédits dans chacun de ces trois groupes : 1. Les Amériques, 2. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde avant 1800, 3. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde depuis 1800.

Mineure en Histoire

Un minimum de 24 crédits en Histoire est requis.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé avec majeure et mineure

Les étudiants peuvent choisir Histoire dans un programme spécialisé avec une mineure dans une autre discipline. Veuillez consulter l'Annuaire de l'Université pour les exigences de la mineure.

Baccalauréat ès arts

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Histoire est requis, incluant :

- 24 crédits aux niveaux 1000 et 2000 (cours d'introduction) ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000.

Au moins six crédits dans chacun de ces trois groupes : 1. Les Amériques, 2. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde avant 1800, 3. Les civilisations de l'Europe et du monde depuis 1800.

N.B. : Certains cours figurant dans l'Annuaire ne seront offerts que s'il y a suffisamment d'inscriptions et si les professeurs sont disponibles. Les étudiants sont priés de consulter le mini-Annuaire du département d'histoire lorsqu'ils préparent leur programme d'études.

International Studies/Études internationales

This is a bilingual program that provides core and elective courses in key areas of international relations, notably the theoretical strategic, economic and cultural dimensions. The program aims to develop a systematic understanding of the problems and potentialities of international society. Students are equipped with the required analytic tools and are challenged to think constructively towards the creation of a more peaceful, humane and just world order. Due consideration is paid to the role of Canada and the francophone and anglophone cultures in this process. Particularly significant, in this era of globalization, is the program's emphasis on a broad interdisciplinary and multicultural conception of international society. Students are also actively encouraged to acquire proficiency in several foreign languages as well as relevant international experience, through inter-university exchanges and professional internships.

Program Requirements

Note that not all courses listed below will be offered in any one year. Students should consult with the departmental Chair before choosing their courses.

All students majoring in international studies must take the following 21 credits of core courses and seminars:

Core Courses
GL/ILST 2200 6.00
GL/ILST 2300 3.00
GL/ILST 3250 3.00
GL/ILST 3505 3.00
GL/ILST 3650 3.00
GL/ILST 4501 3.00

Students must complete 60 credits, including:

- 21 credits of core courses;
- GL/ECON 2500 3.00, GL/ECON 2510 3.00, GL/ILST 2920 6.00, GL/ILST 2930 6.00, GL/ILST 4000 6.00 or GL/ILST 4300 6.00;
- 15 credits in international studies and/or from the list of approved courses.

General Honours BA

Students must complete 42 credits, including:

- 21 credits of core courses;
- 21 credits in international studies and/or from the list of approved courses.

Honours Double Major BA

Students must complete 42 credits, including:

- 21 credits of core courses;
- 21 credits of international studies and/or from the list of approved courses.

Combined Honours BA (Major Only)

Students must complete 42 credits, including:

- 21 credits of core courses;
- 21 credits in international studies and/or from the list of approved courses.

Note: students must check the Undergraduate Calendar for the requirements of the other discipline in which they wish to major or minor.

Ce Programme bilingue offre des cours de base et des cours au choix dans les principaux domaines des relations internationales, notamment les domaines stratégique, économique et culturel. Il vise à faire comprendre de façon méthodique et approfondie les problèmes et le potentiel de la société internationale. Il fournit aux étudiants les instruments d'analyse voulus et amène chacun à réfléchir d'une manière constructive à la création d'un monde plus pacifique, plus humain et plus juste. Il considère le rôle du Canada et des cultures francophones et anglophones dans ce processus. Surtout, à l'âge de la mondialisation, il met l'accent sur une vision plus interdisciplinaire et multiculturelle de la société internationale. Il encourage aussi les étudiants à maîtriser plusieurs langues étrangères et à acquérir des expériences internationales précieuses, grâce aux échanges inter-universitaires et au stage professionnel.

Exigences du Programme

Il faut noter que tous les cours indiqués dans la liste ci-dessous ne sont pas nécessairement offerts chaque année. Les étudiants devraient consulter le/la Directeur/Directrice du Département au moment de la sélection de leur cours.

Tous les étudiants qui préparent une spécialisation en Études internationales doivent obtenir 21 crédits de cours de base et de séminaires.

Linguistics and Language Studies Program/ Programme de Linguistique et Sciences du Langage

Linguistics is the study of language in general. It is divided into several sub-disciplines, each of which is concerned with a particular aspect of language.

Phonetics is the study of the sound properties of language; phonology studies how sounds pattern to make meaning in specific languages. morphology explores patterning at the word level, while syntax does so at the level of sentence. Semantics is the study of meaning in general, while pragmatics is the study of speaker meaning. Historical linguistics explores the evolution of languages over time, while typology compares and categorizes languages. Sociolinguistics deals with the relationships between language-in-use and social contexts, whether in face-to-face situations or at the macro, societal level.

Psycholinguistics explores how first-and second-languages are acquired, and the study of bilingualism includes the study of individuals and contact situations involving two or more languages, such as Glendon College itself.

The Glendon Linguistics and Language Studies program/Programme de Linguistique et Sciences du Langage is a bilingual program which invites students to explore this rich menu of linguistics sub-disciplines. All students must begin with the foundation course – Introduction to Linguistics or Introduction à la linguistique – after which they will choose, according to their LIN degree type, credits from the seven categories of courses which constitute the program's curriculum.

These categories are:

- I. Introduction to Linguistics/Introduction à la linguistique
- II. Phonetics/Phonology
- III. Morphology/Syntax
- IV. Studies of Meaning
- V. Historical Linguistics and Typology
- VI. Language and Society/Language Acquisition
- VII. Other courses

Program Requirements

Specialized Honours BA

Students must complete at least 60 credits from the following categories:

- six credits from category I;
- six credits in category II;
- 12 credits in category III;
- six credits in category IV;
- six credits in category V;
- 12 credits in category VI;
- 12 credits from any category, including category VII.

General Honours BA

Students must complete at least 42 credits in Linguistics and Language Studies, including:

- six credits from each category (I-VI);
- six credits from any category.

Honours Double Major BA

Students must complete a total of 42 credits in Linguistics and Language Studies, including:

- six credits from each category (I-VI);
- six credits from any category.

Combined Honours BA

Major in Linguistics and Language Studies

Students must complete a total of 42 credits, including:

- six credits from each category (I-VI);
- six credits from any category.

Minor in Linguistics and Language Studies

Students must complete 24 credits, as follows:

- six credits from category I;
- three credits in category II;
- six credits from category III;
- three credits from category IV;
- six credits from categories V and VI.

Bachelor of Arts

Students must complete 33 credits as follows:

- six credits from category I;
- six credits from category II;
- six credits from category III;
- three credits from category IV;
- six credits chosen from categories V and VI;
- six credits chosen from any category.

Programme de Linguistique et Sciences du Langage

La linguistique est l'étude scientifique du langage humain. Elle est divisée en plusieurs domaines correspondant chacun à un aspect particulier du langage.

La phonétique étudie les propriétés physiques des sons du langage, alors que la phonologie étudie comment ces sons se combinent dans les différentes langues pour produire des unités à sens. La morphologie explore la forme des mots d'une langue, tandis que la syntaxe s'intéresse aux combinaisons de mots qui aboutissent à la construction des phrases. La sémantique est l'étude du sens en général ; la pragmatique est celle, plus particulière, du sens que les énoncés ont en situation de communication. La linguistique historique explore l'évolution des langues au cours du temps ; la typologie compare les langues entre elles et les classifie. La sociolinguistique s'intéresse aux relations entre langage et société, telles qu'elles se manifestent dans les échanges conversationnels ou dans des contextes sociaux plus larges. La psycholinguistique étudie, entre autres, la façon dont on acquiert une langue - maternelle, seconde ou étrangère. Quant à l'étude de bilinguisme, elle concerne les locuteurs parlant deux ou plusieurs langues ainsi que les diverses situations de contact entre les langues, telles que celles qu'on rencontre quotidiennement au Collège Glendon.

Le Programme de linguistique et sciences du langage de Glendon est un programme bilingue qui offre des cours dans tous les domaines décrits ci-dessus. Les étudiants doivent commencer par suivre le cours de base, à savoir Introduction à la linguistique ou Introduction to Linguistics - à la suite duquel ils sont libres de choisir, dans les sept catégories qui constituent le programme d'études, les cours nécessaires à l'obtention du diplôme de linguistique qu'ils ont choisi.

Ces catégories de cours sont les suivantes :

- I. Introduction à la linguistique
- II. Phonétique/Phonologie
- III. Morphologie/Syntaxe
- IV. Études portant sur la signification
- V. Linguistique historique et typologie
- VI. Langues et sociétés/Acquisition des langues
- VII. Autres cours

The Honours BA program described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor bachelor's degree program offered at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours Minor programs.

Major in Mathematics

Students must complete at least 36 credits in mathematics, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level with at least six credits at the 4000 level.

Minor in Mathematics

Students must complete at least 30 credits in mathematics, including:

- 18 credits of core courses.

Honours Major/Minor iBA

The Honours iBA program described above may be pursued jointly with any Honours Minor BA program at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours Minor programs.

Bachelor of Arts

Students must complete at least 30 credits in mathematics, including:

- 18 credits of core courses.
- 12 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

BA Program in Mathematics For Commerce

Students are required to take the following 42 credits: one introductory course in computer science, GL/CSLA 1620 3.00 and GL/CSLA 1630 3.00), one course in introductory statistics (GL/MATH 1610 3.00 and GL/MATH 1620 3.00 or, preferably, GL/MATH 2630 6.00), GL/MATH 1930 3.00, GL/MATH 1940 3.00, GL/MATH 2650 3.00, GL/MATH 2660 3.00, GL/MATH 2680 6.00, GL/MATH 3500 6.00 and GL/MATH 3660 6.00. Note that the program is almost entirely mathematics and contains only a small amount of commerce. It contains the mathematics intended for applications to commerce.

Exigences du Programme

Cours de base
GL/MATH 1930 3.00
GL/MATH 1940 3.00
GL/MATH 2650 3.00
GL/MATH 2660 3.00
GL/MATH 2670 6.00

Baccalauréat spécialisé

Un minimum de 60 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- GL/MATH 3510 3.00 et GL/MATH 3515 3.00 ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 4000.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé approfondi

Un minimum de 60 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- GL/MATH 3510 3.00 et GL/MATH 3515 3.00 ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 4000.

En plus des cours requis pour la majeure, les étudiants doivent satisfaire aux exigences suivantes :

- Au moins 12 crédits de cours axés sur la dimension internationale ;
- Au moins un semestre à temps plein dans un programme d'échange international et dans une institution reconnue par Glendon ou l'Université York ;
- Pour le programme iBA bilingue, les étudiants doivent obtenir 18 crédits dans chaque langue officielle (français et anglais) au Collège universitaire Glendon dans les deux catégories suivantes :
 - a) des cours de 2^e année ou d'un niveau supérieur en Français langue seconde ou en Anglais langue seconde ;
 - b) des cours dans une discipline qui respecte les exigences du Collège en matière de bilinguisme.
- Pour le programme iBA trilingue, en sus des exigences du programme bilingue, les étudiants doivent obtenir : 18 crédits en Études hispaniques (incluant GL/SP 2610 6.00 ou six crédits en Études hispaniques au niveau avancé) ou 18 crédits dans une autre langue vivante offerts par l'Université York (dont six crédits au niveau avancé).
- Les cours de la majeure peuvent aussi satisfaire aux exigences susmentionnées.

Baccalauréat spécialisé général

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- 18 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000 dont au moins six crédits au niveau 4000.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- 18 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000 dont au moins six crédits au niveau 4000.

En plus des cours requis pour la majeure, les étudiants doivent satisfaire aux exigences suivantes :

- Au moins 12 crédits de cours axés sur la dimension internationale ;
- Au moins un semestre à temps plein dans un programme d'échange international et dans une institution reconnue par Glendon ou l'Université York ;

- Les cours de la majeure peuvent aussi satisfaire aux exigences susmentionnées.

Baccalauréat spécialisé avec double majeure

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- 18 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000 dont au moins six crédits au niveau 4000.

Veillez consulter l'annuaire des programmes de premier cycle pour avoir des renseignements sur les exigences de l'autre domaine de spécialisation.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé avec double majeure

Les étudiants peuvent choisir Mathématiques dans un programme spécialisé international avec double majeure. Veuillez consulter l'Annuaire de l'Université pour connaître les exigences de la deuxième majeure.

Baccalauréat spécialisé bidisciplinaire

Majeure en Mathématiques

Un minimum de 36 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- 18 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000 dont au moins six crédits au niveau 4000.

Mineure en Mathématiques

Un minimum de 30 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base.

Baccalauréat international spécialisé avec majeure et mineure

Les étudiants peuvent choisir Mathématiques dans un programme spécialisé avec une mineure dans une autre discipline. Veuillez consulter l'Annuaire de l'Université pour les exigences de la mineure.

Baccalauréat ès arts

Un minimum de 30 crédits en Mathématiques est requis, incluant :

- 18 crédits de cours de base ;
- 12 crédits au niveau 3000 ou 4000.

Programme général du baccalauréat en Mathématiques pour le commerce

Les étudiants doivent obtenir les 42 crédits suivants : un cours d'introduction à l'informatique (GL/CSLA 1960 3.00 et GL/CSLA 1970 3.00 ou, de préférence, GL/CSLA 1620 3.00 et GL/CSLA 1630 3.00), un cours de statistique (GL/MATH 1610 3.00 et GL/MATH 1620 3.00 ou, de préférence, GL/MATH 2630 6.00), GL/MATH 1930 3.00, GL/MATH 1940 3.00, GL/MATH 2650 3.00, GL/MATH 2660 3.00, GL/MATH 2680 6.00, GL/MATH 3500 6.00 et GL/MATH 3660 6.00. À noter que ce programme est presque entièrement mathématiques et contient très peu de matières commerciales. Il se propose de donner aux étudiants la formation mathématique adéquate pour des études de commerce.

Multidisciplinary Studies and General Education/ Études pluridisciplinaires et formation générale

Multidisciplinary Studies

The Department of Multidisciplinary Studies enables students to pursue degree programs that go beyond traditional departmental disciplinary boundaries. Students who major or minor in multidisciplinary studies may (in consultation with the department Chair) construct programs of their own that draw on the courses and resources of the various departments of the college (including, of course, multidisciplinary studies itself). Some of the most successful areas of concentration in recent years have been comparative literature, medieval and Renaissance studies, religious studies, social and political thought, 19th century studies, and language and society. In addition to these wholly individualized programs, the department currently offers one formalized program of study: Environmental and Health Studies.

For detailed descriptions and specific program requirements, students must consult the departmental brochure available in the Multidisciplinary Studies Office, 162 York Hall. The Department of Multidisciplinary Studies also houses the four divisions of general education:

- humanities
- modes of reasoning
- natural science
- social science

Humanities courses generally combine the subject matter and/or methodologies of at least two of the "humane" disciplines taught at Glendon: literature, philosophy and history; social science courses do the same for the "social sciences": economics, linguistics, psychology, sociology and also history. Natural science courses draw from the physical and biological sciences; our courses often demonstrate the interrelationship of science and other disciplines, and some of them focus specifically on the history or philosophy or social context of science. Modes of reasoning focuses principally on the forms of reasoning and inquiry, on deductive and inductive logic. It invites reflection on these forms of thought and investigates their interconnections.

The Department of Multidisciplinary Studies offers students the opportunity to engage their intellectual curiosity by drawing upon a variety of academic resources. It is worth noting that one does not create a multidisciplinary approach merely by juxtaposing individual courses from two or more disciplines. Rather, what is sought is a true integration or synthesis of methodologies and knowledge from separate academic areas to create a program which is at once critical and innovative.

Core courses are defined in the department's programs of study brochure.

Specialized Honours BA

Students must complete 48 credits in an approved Multidisciplinary Studies program, including:

- 24 credits of core courses;
- 24 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Specialized Honours iBA

Students must complete 48 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 24 credits of core courses;
- 24 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

In addition to the courses required for their major, students must also complete the following requirements:

- at least 12 credits of internationally-oriented courses;
- at least one full term abroad as a full-time student at an institution with which Glendon and/or York has a formal exchange agreement;
- for the iBA bilingual, students must complete at least 18 credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language (FRLS) and/or in English as a second language (ENSL);
 - b) courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement.

- for the iBA trilingual, in addition to the above 18 credits in English and French, students must complete 18 credits in Hispanic studies including GL/SP 2610 6.00 or another advanced-level course (six credits) in Hispanic studies or in a modern language offered by York University, including an advanced-level course in the chosen language.

Courses taken to fulfill the major requirements may also be used to fulfill the above iBA requirements.

General Honours BA

Students must complete 36 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

Honours iBA

Students must complete 36 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at the 3000 or 4000 level.

In addition to the courses required for their major, students must also complete the following requirements:

- at least 12 credits of internationally-oriented courses;
- at least one full term abroad as a full-time student at an institution with which Glendon and/or York has a formal exchange agreement;
- for the iBA bilingual, students must complete at least 18 credits in each official language (French and English) at Glendon from the following two categories:
 - a) courses at the second-year level and above in French as a second language (FRLS) and/or in English as a second language (ENSL);
 - b) courses in any discipline which are designated as satisfying the bilingual requirement.
- for the iBA trilingual, in addition to the above 18 credits in English and French, students must complete 18 credits in Hispanic studies including GL/SP 2610 6.00 or another advanced-level course (six credits) in Hispanic studies or in a modern language offered by York University, including an advanced-level course in the chosen language.

Courses taken to fulfill the major requirements may also be used to fulfill the above iBA requirements.

Honours Double Major BA

Students must complete 36 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Candidates must check the Undergraduate Calendar for the requirements of the other discipline in which they wish to major.

Honours Double Major iBA

The Honours iBA program described above may be pursued jointly with any other Honours iBA degree program offered at Glendon. For further details on requirements, see the listings for specific Honours iBA programs.

Combined Honours BA

Major in Multidisciplinary Studies

Students must complete 36 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Minor in Multidisciplinary Studies

Students must complete at least 24 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 12 credits of core courses;
- 12 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Honours Major/Minor iBA

The Honours iBA in Multidisciplinary Studies described above may be pursued jointly with any existing Honours Minor BA program at Glendon College.

Bachelor of Arts

Students must complete at least 30 credits in an approved multidisciplinary studies program, including:

- 18 credits of core courses;
- 18 credits at 3000 or 4000 level.

Études pluridisciplinaires

Les étudiants qui font une majeure ou une mineure en Études pluridisciplinaires peuvent (après avoir consulté le directeur du département) proposer un programme de leur choix qui combine des cours et des ressources offerts par les différents départements du collège (y compris bien sûr le département d'Études pluridisciplinaires). Au cours des dernières années, des programmes en littérature comparée, études médiévales et de la Renaissance, études religieuses et pensée politique et sociale ont été populaires auprès des étudiants. En plus de ces programmes personnalisés, le département offre un programme spécifique de spécialisation : Études sur l'environnement et de la santé.

Les étudiants intéressés, désireux d'obtenir des précisions sur les exigences et les descriptions de ces programmes peuvent consulter la brochure du département, disponible au secrétariat : bureau 162, pavillon York.

Le département d'Études pluridisciplinaires abrite également les quatre divisions qui composent le programme d'Études générales :

- humanités
- logique
- sciences naturelles
- sciences sociales

Les cours d'humanités en général combinent l'objet d'étude et/ou la méthodologie d'au moins deux des disciplines humaines enseignées à Glendon : littérature, philosophie et histoire; les cours de sciences sociales font de même dans le domaine des "sciences de la société" : science économique, linguistique, psychologie, sociologie et également histoire. Les cours de sciences naturelles font appel aux sciences physiques et biologiques. Nos cours mettent souvent en valeur les liens qui unissent la science et les autres disciplines, et certains s'attachent plus particulièrement à explorer l'histoire, la philosophie ou le contexte social de la science. La logique étudie principalement les formes du raisonnement et de la recherche, ainsi que la logique déductive et inductive. Elle invite à réfléchir sur ces formes de pensée et explore leurs rapports.

Le Département d'études pluridisciplinaires permet aux étudiants de satisfaire leur curiosité intellectuelle en abordant des domaines très divers. Il faut toutefois remarquer que l'approche pluridisciplinaire ne consiste pas à juxtaposer des cours relevant de disciplines différentes, bien au contraire : elle vise à intégrer – ou à effectuer une synthèse – des méthodologies et des connaissances appartenant à divers domaines d'investigation de façon à créer un programme qui soit à la fois critique et innovateur.

Les cours de base sont indiqués dans le mini-annuaire du département.

General Certificate in Law and Social Thought

The Certificate in Law and Social Thought is offered by the Philosophy Department.

This program places the study of law in the context of a liberal arts education; that is, the law will be studied within both a humanities and a social science context. Some course offerings emphasize the moral and philosophical dimensions that inform legal life and link the study of law with social and political thought. Others focus on legal institutions: how they yield regulation and socially sanctioned force, how they interact with society.

Students may earn a Certificate in Law and Social Thought concurrent with fulfillment of the requirements for a bachelor's degree at York University. To register for the certificate students must submit an application to the Office of Student Programs.

Program Requirements

Students must complete 24 credits as follows:

- GL/PHIL 2923 3.00;
- GL/PHIL 2925 3.00;
- 18 credits from the list of approved courses.

The above courses must be completed at York University, and GL/PHIL 2923 3.00 and GL/PHIL 2925 3.00 at Glendon. A minimum overall grade point average of 4.00 (C) is required for all the above courses.

Certificat général en droit et pensée sociale

Le Certificat en droit et pensée sociale est offert par le Département de philosophie.

Ce programme aborde l'étude du droit dans le contexte d'une formation en arts libéraux, et plus précisément en sciences humaines et sociales. Les cours du programme abordent le droit sous son angle évolutif, angle sous lequel l'argumentation morale, les pratiques d'interprétation qui lui sont spécifiques et l'emploi de la force contribuent à l'organisation de la vie en société. Certains cours mettent l'accent sur les dimensions morale et philosophique qui sous-tendent le droit et lient son étude à la pensée politique et sociale. D'autres s'intéressent aux institutions légales : à leur façon d'élaborer la réglementation et à donner lieu à l'usage sanctionné de la force, ainsi qu'aux modes de leur interaction dans la société.

Le Certificat en droit et pensée sociale est décerné uniquement lors de l'obtention d'un Baccalauréat de l'Université York. Pour s'inscrire, s'adresser au Bureau des programmes scolaires.
